THORNCLIFFE STABLE TO BE SOLD.

It is understood that the will of the late Mr. Robert Davies provides for the disposal of the racing string carried on last season under the name of the Thorncliffe stable, and that the horses will be offered at auction following the Woodbine meeting. Some stallions, broodmares and home-bred youngsters will be retained for the continuance of the breeding operations at Thorncliffe.

QUEENS COUNTY JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

Aqueduct, the old course of the Queens County Jockey Club, will be the scene of many an important turf fixture this year. After the Brooklyn Jockey Club ceased making racing use of the Gravesend track many of the fixtures of that association were taken over by the Queens County Jockey Club, and as a result the program for this year will include the best of the old Gravesend stakes as well as the best Aqueduct fixtures.

Secretary Fred Rehberger announces in THE RECORD this week the fixtures that are to be decided at the meeting from June 24 to July 11, and it is a most attractive list. These stakes close April 20.

Naturally the big feature is the Brooklyn Handicap. It has been cut from a mile and a quarter to a mile and a furlong. It was a like distance last year when Richard T. Wilson's Tartar took the measure of Andrew Miller's champion, Roamer, to win in 1:50 3-5, and hang out a new track record for the distance. This year the Brooklyn Handicap will have a guaranteed value of $5,000.

Next in importance of the races for the handicap division is the Carter Handicap of seven furlongs. Its guaranteed value is $2,500.

The Brockdale Handicap is at a mile and a furlong and framed very like a renewal of the Brooklyn Handicap. Its guaranteed value is $1,500.

A like amount is guaranteed for the Queens County Handicap of a mile. This winds up the handicap stake offerings for the meeting. The two other offerings for three-year-olds and upward are both selling affairs, and each has a $1,500 value.

The first is the Myrtle Selling, of a mile, and the other the Rockaway, a six-furlong dash for the sprinters.

There are two stakes exclusively for the three-year-olds. These are the Brooklyn Derby of a mile and a furlong, with $2,000 added, and the Union Selling Stakes of seven furlongs, with $1,500 guaranteed.

Liberal provision has been made for the two-year-olds with six offerings. The Great American of five furlongs and the Tremont of six furlongs are the best of the juvenile prizes. Each has a value of $5,000. The Hudson is a condition affair of five furlongs with $2,500 guaranteed and the Clover, a five furlong dash for fillies, has a like value. The other two in this age division are the Canarsie and the Woodhaven. Each is a five furlong selling event and each has a $1,500 guaranteed value.

Entry blanks may be had at THE RECORD office.

SPRING YEARLING SALE.

The third annual spring sale of thoroughbred yearlings, under the management of The Kentucky Sales Company, will be held at Tattersalls, this city, on the evening of Monday, May 8, during the meeting of the Kentucky Association. It is almost needless to recount the success of these events in 1914 and 1915, suffice it to say that in the former year forty-four head realized an average of sixteen hundred and thirty-three dollars; while last year the average registered nine hundred and ten dollars. For the event to be held in May a number of classy yearlings have been listed and others are solicited. Breeders cannot make a mistake in entering yearlings in this sale, for there will be many probable buyers in attendance at the Lexington Spring Race Meeting.

HARRY STANHOPE DEAD.

Harry H. Stanhope, 51, a well-known farmer and breeder of thoroughbred horses, died at his home near Lexington Wednesday. He was the son of the late Wm. F. Stanhope and is survived by his brothers, Wm. F. Stanhope, Jr., and I. B. Stanhope, of this county. Three sisters also survive him, Miss Bettie Stanhope, Mrs. W. R Bowman and Mrs. J. E. Bassett.

Mr. Stanhope was the owner of Margerine, from which he bred The Commoner, Rhoda B. (dam of Orby, winner of the English Derby) and Margerique (dam of Nasturtium).

Wise Judge, b c, 4, by Golden Maxim out of Verdict, won his ninth race in South Africa when he carried off the Flying Handicap of $500 at Cape Town on February 17th. He was bred at Blue Ridge Stud, Virginia, by Henry T. Oxnard, who also bred from Verdict, the the good Italian winner, Not Guilty, by Ormondale. A winner of two races this season, Not Guilty won five races as a three-year-old in 1913.

Hitchy Koo, a chestnut daughter of Watercress and Lychee Nut, carried off her third race in South Africa when she won the Club Handicap at Port Elizabeth last month.

COL. "BOB" HOLLOWAY DIES IN WASHINGTON

Colonel Robert T. Holloway, well known turfman and clubman of Lexington, died in Washington on Tuesday from an attack of acute indigestion. Col. Holloway was en route with his daughter to Vassar College, when he was stricken on the train. He went as far as Washington and shortly after reaching his hotel, his condition grew worse and he died.

Colonel Holloway was 61 years old and was born in Richmond, Ky. He began life as a clerk in his father's dry goods store in Lexington. In 1886, he opened a poolroom here, and during a dozen years of its successful operation he amassed a fortune, which he had increased by judicious investment. For many years Colonel Holloway maintained a racing stable, which was composed of good horses, trained by the late Jim Murphy. Among the best to carry his colors were Faraday, Wadsworth, Tenton and Pocahontas. He was a true sportsman, and had spent his winters in Florida for many years hunting and fishing, being a master hand at both sports.

Accompanied by his two daughters, Misses Anna Holloway and Roberta Holloway, Colonel Catesby Woodford, Senator Thomas A. Combs and W. L. Threlkeld, the body of Colonel Holloway arrived in Lexington on the 4:45 o'clock Chesapeake & Ohio train from the East Wednesday afternoon. Miss Anna Holloway and Colonel Woodford met the train at Hinton, W. Va. Senator Combs and Mr. Threlkeld were in Washington at the time of Colonel Holloway's death.

The funeral services of Col. Holloway were held at the residence, 182 East High Street, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Dean Robert K. Massie officiated. Burial took place in the Lexington cemetery. The pallbearers were Catesby Woodford, Dr. Joseph Bryan, John E Madden, Judge George C. Webb, W. H. Landeman, Judge George B. Kinkead, John J. Murray and William F. Warren.

Expressions of regret at the sudden passing of Colonel Holloway and of sympathy for his daughters and sister were heard on all sides.

LABOLD'S TRIBUTE.

Colonel Alex. Labold a close friend of Colonel Holloway's expressed great sorrow when informed of his death. "Colonel Holloway was one of those sportsmen of the old school, only a few of which are left. Gentlemanly and kindly at all times, his loss in the turf ranks will be greatly felt," said Mr. Labold.

ROCKAWAY HUNTING CLUB.

In addition to its scheduled race meet on Saturday, April 29th, the Rockaway Hunting Club, will hold a second day of amateur thoroughbred racing on the following Saturday, May 6th, at Hewlett Bay Park, Long Island. The latter date was originally assigned to the Meadowbrook Steeplechase Association, but this organization has decided not to hold a spring meeting this season. A formal sanction for the added date will be given in a few days by the Hunts' Committee of the National Steeplechase and Hunts Association.

So promising are the prospects for the annual hunter and pony races of the veteran Rockaway Hunting Club, that its race committee jumped at the chance to make it a two day meet this year, when it was learned that the Meadowbrook Association had decided to give up its spring meet, which was scheduled for the Saturday following the Rockaway Hunting Club's date. This action on the part of the race committee was the result of definite assurances that sufficient entries would be forthcoming to make a successful two day meet. It also would seem to prove that this is to be a banner season for amateur thoroughbred racing.

A program of six events for the second day's racing is being prepared by George W. Gall, the racing secretary, and will be ready by the end of the week. Three of the events will be steeplechases and three run on the flat. Efforts are being made to include among the former, a race for the Meadowbrook Hunt Cup, a long established and famous steeplechase classic, which was first raced for in 1883. The program for the racing on April 29th was recently published. Entries for both days will close on April 19.

The popularity of the excellent course at Hewlett Bay Park with owners of thoroughbred horses, gentlemen riders and devotees of the sport, promises success for the coming two-day meeting of the Rockaway Hunting Club, which will inaugurate the amateur season in this country, by the first thoroughbred racing in the North, and the first outdoor social function in this section.

LOCAL NOTES.

At a meeting of the directors of the Kentucky Racing Association Thursday, they voted to give no purse of less than $500 for the races, which will begin here April 27 and a number of them will total $600, $700 and $800.

Officials were endorsed as follows, subject to the approval of the Racing Commission:

Presiding steward, Captain Thomas J. Clay; associate steward and placing judges, Garret D. Wilson and William H. Shelley; patrol judge, John T. Ireland; racing secretary and handicapper, William H. Shelley; entry clerk, John S. Wallace; timer; S. K. Hughes, supervisor of pari-mutuels, W. H. Laudeman; manager of pari-mutuel offices, Eugene Elrod; veterinarian and paddock, Dr. C. Cann.

Secretary Garret D. Wilson read a letter from Chairman Johnson N. Camden, of the Racing Commission, authorizing the Kentucky Association to go on with the preparation of its programme book and to select its officials because of the failure of the Commission to have a meeting for that purpose. Judge Shelley went to work on the programme book this week and said the ideas of the Commissioners and breeders in the matter of longer distance races would be conformed to. R. L. Baker, who is at Hot Springs, Ark., was the only absent director.

T. C. McDowell has some bad luck this week when the day-old colt by Ballot—Bracegirdle died at Ashland Stud.

In less than three weeks now the Lexington meet will be underway. Indications are that all former meetings will be eclipsed, both in point of attendance and class of horses, More money is being given than ever before. The hotels report that many visitors from all sections of the country have engaged quarters. The sale on May 8, is also attracting attention and inquiries are daily being received by The Kentucky Sales Co., as to what will be offered at that time. It looks like 1916 will be the banner year on all Kentucky tracks.

W. E. Wood, manager of Horse Lake Ranch, reports the following foal:

March 19—Bay filly by Johnny Lyons—Lovey Mary by St. Carlo. Mare will be bred to Hurst Park.

A peculiar incident happened at John Looney's Horse Lake Ranch last Monday. A mare by Aeronaut out of Sunrise, seeing a draft mare with a two day old colt, ran at the colt like a dog after a rat, caught it about the middle of the back, crushed it to the ground and broke its back. The mother and Mr. W. E. Wood, manager of Mr. Looney's ranch, trying to get her away. Finally Mr. Wood got a board and beat her off.

The racing stables of R. L. Baker, J. T. Looney, Ed W. Moore, John Lowe, W. F. King and J. C. Cahn, arrived at the Kentucky Association course Thursday from Hot Springs. The Baker horses were accompanied by Jockey Cooper, who will do much of the riding for his employer and his brother, Jack Baker, on the Kentucky tracks this season.

It is almost certain that the various Kentucky tracks will name their own officials this year, subject to the approval of the Racing Commission. At the last meeting of the Racing Commission Vice-Chairman T. H. Talbot proposed to abolish the rule giving the commission authority to name the racing officials. Under the rules it would have to lay over thirty days. When Senator Camden reconsidered his determination to resign he changed the date of meeting from April 10 to April 20. As the last meeting was held on March 20, this will permit the adoption of the old rule.

The Racing Commission, it is understood, is quite willing to go back to the old order of things.

Mr. Camden when asked how he stood on the question, replied: "I am in favor of returning to the old method of having racing associations name their own officials, subject to approval by the Racing Commission, and believe it will be adopted by the Commission and go into effect with the coming race meetings."

The favorable weather conditions of the past week have greatly increased training activities at the local track, where over four hundred horses are now in quarters.

Kinney, Tom Hayes' Kentucky Derby candidate worked a mile in 1:43 1-5, on Wednesday, the best move for that distance up to then, Indolence had gone a mile in 1:45 3-5, a few days before. Cheeks, T. Senator J. N. Camden's four-year-old filly One Step, trained by J. C. Milam, Thursday morning worked a mile in 1:42 3-5, the fastest of the season. She did it handily. THE LATONIA MEETING

COVINGTON, KY., April 3—As the early training of the great three-year-olds of the country advances the fact stands out that the Latonia Derby this season, will be the real race of the year for performers of this age. It has a greater array of entries in number than any other big races on the Kentucky Circuit tracks this season that carry $10,000 in added money. The summer meeting at Latonia begins this season on Wednesday, June 14, and runs for a period of twenty-four racing days, ending on Tuesday, July 11. By the time the Latonia Derby is run off all the best of the candidates for the rich stake will be well seasoned and at their best to go the distance of the race which like the English Derby, is over a mile and a half of ground. In this event will likely be seen quite a number of three-year-old starters which will in this stake be performers that have not raced in any of the earlier big Kentucky races. Some of these were not entered in the big races at Louisville, and others are of the class the trainers of which, prefer to not race them until mid June in any race over a route of ground like a Derby course. In recent years the Latonia Derby has always been a great race, but brilliant as it has been in the seasons past, this year the class of entries points to its overshadowing all records. Some wonderful races have made turf history in the Latonia Derby and in no less than three years of its running the winner has had to go a mile and a half as good or better than 2:31. The American record for this distance was set by Goodrich, a three year-old with 102 pounds up, at Washington Park, Chicago, in 1898, his time being 2:30¼, which is far overshadowed by the performances of Governor Gray in 1910, and John Gund in 1912, in the Latonia event each having covered the distance in 2:30 2 5, the former having up a 124 and the later 122 pounds. With the high-class field sure to go to the post this year it looks reasonable to expect that a new American record for distance will be established by the winner of this big $15,000 stake.

Another great feature race of the Latonia summer meeting is the Cincinnati Trophy, which has yearly grown more in importance and has with its $4 000 in added money in the last two seasons been the richest stake for two-year-olds run off on the Kentucky tracks. It was last year worth $5,740 net to the winner, Blackie Daw, and with the exception of the Eastern Futurity was the richest race run for by two-year-olds in 19.5. As the field will likely be larger this year than ever before there is every indication that its value this season will even exceed its rich worth of last year. There are seven other big stake races on the Latonia program for this season's summer racing at this magnificent plant. Two of these, the Clipsetta and Harold Stakes, with $2,000 added, are events with a history as long as the Latonia track. They are both for two-year-olds, as is the Valuation Stakes with $1,500 added. The other four events are for three-year-olds and upward and include the Inaugural, Independence and Quickstep Handicaps and the Merchants' Stakes. To the Inaugural and the Quickstep $2,000 is added, while $2,500 is added to the Independence Handicap and $1,500 to the Merchants' Stakes. It is believed that the great array of rich stakes and valuable purses hung up at Latonia this season will hold in Kentucky for this summer meeting this year most of the eastern cracks that are now in the state for earlier meetings. There will also be many English-bred horses racing at Latonia this year, giving the sport there the real international flavor. There is no question but that Latonia under its present management has in recent years become as popular a racing ground as has ever existed in this country, and in no year have promises been more flattering for as great a race meeting as ever was held than appears to be plainly on the surface this season. Locally the track now draws the best of all Cincinnati's social and commercial life, and the patronage it now receives from Kentucky cities and other great centers is a representation of the best class of citizens of all walks in life.

AUSTRALIAN RACING.

R. H. Carlisle, of London, writes as follows on Australian racing:

In no part of the world can be found more enthusiastic followers of the turf than in Australia, and I may also add New Zealand, and that tight little island, Tasmania. Racing, in my humble opinion, is the most absorbing and interesting of sports. To love horses is an inherent characteristic of Britishers, and the bulk of the colonial people come from good old British stock..

In England the climate is very often dead against enjoying racing under the most favorable circumstances, but in Australia there is very little to complain of as regards weather.

Sunny skies in that favored island are the rule, and it is the exception and not the rule to be let in for a drenching day's sport.

Turfites all over the world are very much alike, but I doubt if there can be found as much enthusiasm in a race crowd in any part of the globe as there is in the colonies. No matter under what circumstances racing takes place, the people enjoy it, and even the downfall of favorites has not much effect upon them. On the turf in the colonies is an exceedingly pleasant existence. There are the usual ups and downs connected with it, and the same amount of bad luck and good luck. The same superstitions exist as in the old land, and racing men are wont to regard certain signs and omens with an amount of awe not understandable to ordinary mortals. There is the same prejudice against walking under a ladder on a race day—not for fear it might drop on the pedestrian's head or because a brick might come down unexpectedly, but because it is unlucky.

It is a genuine cosmospolitan crowd on an Australian course. The Governor of the Colony appears to forget his office for the time being and to take a delight in mingling with the people. A racing Governor is bound to become popular. A Governor who has no fondness for sports of any kind has no hold upon the affections of the people. Lord Carrington was one of the most popular Governors New South Wales ever had, and so was Lord Hopetoun in Victoria, and both were real good sportsmen. In this respect Lord Brassey should be a popular Governor, for the Australians are great yachtmen.

Class distinctions are not so marked on Colonial race courses as in England. There are no reserves for the upper ten, as at Ascot, Goodwood, Sandown and other places. The Victorian Racing Club and the Australian Jockey Club have reserves for their members, and on the Jockey Club stand at Randwick ladies are not allowed, and the public can be admitted upon paying an extra five shillings—a privilege not availed of to any great extent. Such a reserve as that at Sandown for members of the club is unknown, and I not think the racing, or the pleasure connected with it, suffer on this account. For one thing there is far more extensive and better accommodation provided for the public in the colonies.

At Flemington and Randwick accommodation is far ahead of that on the principal English courses.

Racing in the sunny South is more of a pleasure than a business. Thousands of people are not cooped up in small rings as though they were so many sheep crowded into a pen. There is plenty of elbow room, and even on a Melbourne Cup day at Flemington there is ample room for the ladies to promenade on the spacious lawn, although there are from 50,000 to 80,000 people present on the course. Ten thousand is a very small attendance at a great race meeting in Australia, although it does not reach this number at suburban meetings without it be an exceptional day.

It is this feeling of freedom and comfort that makes turf life in the colonies so enjoyable. There is so much geniality and good will about it. Although men are keen about making money, and occasionally indulge in sharp practices, most owners are not averse to the public knowing what their horses can do and what chances they have of winning. No owner I ever met liked to be forestalled in the betting market, nor is it natural he should be. It is not in human nature that such should be the case. Granted the public pay freely toward the race fund in the shape of gate money, they should not forget that keeping race horses is a very expensive game. The public knows exactly what they pay to go to a race meeting to see five or six races, as the case may be. If they bet that is their lookout. But an owner does not known what he is going to see. He may see something that surprises him very much, such as his horse running last when it ought tohave been first, according to its trials.

Owners of racehorses have a lot to contend with, and I think they may be pardoned if occasionally they say bitter things when they find themselves forestalled in the market.

Nine months out of the twelve the climate of Australia is all that can be desired, and what more can a man expect.

The racing year commences on the first of August from which the ages of horses date, so that the three-year-olds running in the A. J. C. Derby the middle of September or the V. R. C. Derby in the first week of November or the last week in October are much younger three-year-olds than those taking part in the English Derby. So favorable is the climate that flat racing is going on all the year around, and there is no closed time, as in old country.

Occasionally in the winter months it is necessary to wear a top coat, but even then the sun is generally warm enough to make it pleasant. No biting East winds or frost and snow make racing a burden rather than a pleasure. At Christmas it is racing in sunshine to perfection, and the meeting of the A. J. C. at Randwick on Boxing Day may be described as a few hours turned into melting moments. Many a time, as I have watched the race for the Summer Cup at Randwick, has my mind wandered to the old land, and thoughts of snow and dull, leaden sky have almost made me shiver, even with the thermometer at close up to 100 in the shade.

Christmas in Australia is indeed a contrast to that in England. Boxing Day races in the two hemispheres are also vastly different.

In Australia we have flat racing amidst glorious sunshine. In England races under the G. N. H. rules, probably with a white mantle of snow covering the earth. There cannot be much pleasure even in backing a winner when your fingers are almost too cold to hold the money, and it must be, indeed, a dreary occupation to be "out in the cold" and backing losers with the thermometer down to zero.

If Fortune be cold to us in Australia we have the consolation of knowing Nature warms toward us.

It must be very depressing to return from a race course with empty pockets and a thaw setting in.

Men must have strong constitutions to stand wear and tear of English racing season after season, and they earn the money they make.

Racing in the colonies is conducted under most favorable atmospheric conditions as a rule, and therefore it is all the more delightful and enjoyable.

The best part of the day, in my opinion, is the early morning, and many pleasant hours have I spent on the training track watching the horses at work.

There are no restrictions placed upon the members of the sporting press watching horses do their gallops.

Formerly at Randwick anyone was allowed on the training track, but now only those persons who have business there are permited to be present. This is a change for the better.

Every facility is given the representatives of the various newspapers by the race-course authorities, and, with but few exceptions, they are treated with courtesy and respect.

To demonstrate the steady march of racing here a chapter on the Totalizer follows. This is shortly to be legalized. The total receipts are £6,000,000, and 7 1-3 per cent. is to be deducted by the Government, viz., £450 000, to be divided among the maintenance of booths, the clubs and soldiers returning from the front.

FAILED TO GET RECEIVER APPOINTED.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., April 3.—Efforts of Miss Jean Gordon, clubwoman and suffragette, and Alfred F. Page, former Auditor of the Business Men's Racing Association, to have a receiver appointed for the association which so successfully conducted the fifty-seven day meet at the Fair Grounds this year, failed today when E. K. Skinner, of the Civil District Court, held that Miss Gordon's complaint was not looked upon with favor by the bench and bar, and that of Mr. Page was proved false, since the association was in first-class financial condition. The Judge then dismissed both applications for the appointment of the receiver.

Today's Court action followed what Miss Gordon tried to make a public upheaval against the races. Just before the close she caused a grand jury investigation by stating that the Locke law was being violated. The grand jurors found not a true bill against the racing body, and that the law was not being violated as charged. Page was one of the principal witnesses at this hearing, and it has been openly charged and alleged here that he gave evidence which tended to damage the racing association.

Shortly afterward his services were dispensed with by the racing association. In the meantime Miss Gordon had secured two shares of stock from Joseph Rittenberg, keeper of a pawnshop. With these two shares she went into Court, claiming to be a stockholder, and asked for a receiver on the ground that the association was running a business contrary to law and in violation of the law.

THORNCLIFFE STABLE AT WOODBINE.

TORONTO, ONT., April 3.—Trainer Henry McDaniel has transferred the twenty-three horses of the Thorncliffe Stable to their quarters at Woodbine Park. Not a single case of sickness was recorded since the string went into winter quarters late last fall. Twelve two-year-olds and eleven older horses comprise the stable. Hampton Dame will also be trained by Mr. McDaniel again this year.

The Plate eligible, Thorncliffe, was fired during the winter. He looks good and is expected to be a much improved horse this spring.

Fountain Fay has rounded out well and looks exceptionally good. Matt H. and Starcress schooled well last fall. The latter is regarded as the best green jumper seen at Woodbine Park in several years.

Six of the eleven two-year-olds are Canadian-bred and a promising looking band.

NUMBER OF THOROUGHBREDS IN RACING.

The greatest number of thoroughbreds raced in any one year in this country and Canada was 6,232 in 1905. When the troubles that subsequently beset racing attained their greatest effect, there was a falling off to the 8,541 horses engaged in the racing of 1913. That was low water mark since 1900. There has been a slow, but steady trend upward since 1913, with 3,700 horses raced last year. Owing to the establishment of new breeding farms and the influx of several hundred horses from abroad, 1916 should show nearly, if not quite, 4,000 horses participating in its racing. The present tendency is gratifying. At the same time it will be many years before figures of ten years ago will be reached again. The respective number of horses started in each year from 1900 to 1915 inclusive, was as follows:

Year.	Horses.	Year.	Horses.
1902	5,271	1910	4,180

ANTI-RACE BILL KILLED.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., April 3.—There is now no chance for passage of the Hall anti-race track bill or any other racing legislation this session. This afternoon Senator Williams attempted to call up the Hall bill from the Senate finance sub-committee for action. As the Senate was still working under the legislative day of Saturday, April 1, the Williams motion was ruled out of order. Senator Williams then made a motion that the rules be suspended for immediate consideration of the bill and the sub-committee report, but this motion was defeated, 13 to 11. There was no party line-up on the motion. The absentee was Senator Harrison, who is paired with Senator Cooper on the bill and on all matters pertaining to it.

The Senate adjourned for a brief period this afternoon and then began the legislative day of Monday, April 3. The bill was again called up, but no anti-racing legislation could then be passed, except under a suspension of the rules, as the Hall bill, without amendments, could only be given a third reading under such suspension.

BIG MEMBERSHIP INCREASE.

Growing interest in amateur thoroughbred racing is shown by the remarkable increase in the membership of the United Hunts Racing Association, from one hundred on January first to 180 at the present time. This organization conducts each spring and fall big two days meets at Belmont Park Terminal, the dates for the races this spring being May 13 and 17.

For the 1916 season the members have subscribed a $25 000 guarantee fund. In addition to plate, $13,500, in cash purses is offered for the thirteen events on the program for the coming meet. Five thousand of this is allotted to one race, the Great United Hunts Steeplechase, to be run May 13. This is by far the largest purse ever offered for a race at an amateur meet.

On the membership roll appear such names as C. L. Appleton, Laurance Armour, August Belmont, W. Gould Brokaw, C. K. G. Billings, John McE. Bowman, Henry L. Bull, Bernard M. Baruch, J. EASTERN GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, April 5.—Saratoga is the common racing ground where the East and West meet, and where the best from Canada are to be found. It is the test of the season and more champions are made and unmade at that course than any other. For the coming season it promises to be more of a testing ground than ever before, for there is not a racing establishment of importance that is not represented in the list of nominations.

Another reason for the racing at Saratoga this year being more important than in many a season, is the test it will put on the imported horses. All of the stakes carry the names of a great number of the foreigners of every age division.

The nominations to the Saratoga stakes break all records this year. Twenty stakes attracted 1,749 entries. The distance races show a phenomenal list. The Saratoga Cup, for the reason that it is a weight-for-age race and over the mile and six furlong distance, is the most important of the fixtures for horses three years old and upward. It has received the following nominations:

George Smith, Achievement, Leo Ray, Stromboli, Friar Rock, St. Rock, Delancey, Roamer, Kilkenny Boy, Hanovia, Lena Misha, Old Koenig, Henry Jr., Allumeur, Tetan, Esconaba, Xylon, Indiscreet, Henley, Trojan, Double Eagle, Ed Weiss, Ormesdale, The Finn, Iron Duke, Half Rock, Thunderer, Borrow, Regret, Pennant, Chicle, Bromo, St. Isidore, Skeer Face, Oratorium, Air Man, Short Grass, Sam Jackson, Courtly Lass, Pebbles, Fair Count, Big Smoke, Black Toney, Desmond's Day, Ed Crump, Dick Williams, Pandean, Celandria, Waterbass II., Sharpshooter, Distant Shore, Flying Fairy, Trial by Jury, Neville II., Mustard, El Dinero, Crimper, Dominant, Tipperary, Boots and Buskin.

The Saratoga Handicap, for three year-olds and upward, at a mile and a quarter, has attracted:

George Smith, St. Isidore, Achievement, Skeer Face, Ralph, Stromboli, Friar Rock, St. Rock, Tea Caddy, Air Man, Short Grass, Sam Jackson, Magnet, Gunbearer, Roamer, Spur, Pebbles, Big Smoke, Pockichoo, Lena Misha, Black Toney, Star Hawk, Thunderer, Slipshod, Square Deal, Heatherbloom, Indian Chant, Lorac, Churchill, Boots, Buskin, Ed Crump, Allumeur, Holiday, Tetan, Mon d'Or, Esconaba, Xylon, Indiscreet, Henley, Chicklet, Maintenant, Grumpy, Celandria, Sharpshooter, Trojan, Flying Fairy, Trial by Jury, Tartar, Neville II., Hanbark, The Finn, Iron Duke, Frizzle, Borrow, Pennant, Regret, Clapperbill, Dominant, Bromo, Chicle and Roly.

The Travers, the famous old mile and a quarter fixture for three year-olds, has attracted the following names:

George Smith, St. Isidore, Achievement, Skeer Face, Rochester, Gillies, Curroughaleer, Oratorium, St. Rock, Delancey, Friar Rock, Lord Rockvale, Tea Caddy, Air Man, Pleione, Sprint, Daddy's Choice, Stradivarious, Spur, Panaces, Paddy Whack, Star Hawk, The Cock, Ellison, Big Smoke, Pockichoo, Lena Misha, Old Koenig, Blind Baggage, Desmond's Day, Dick Williams, Plandito, Prince Harry, Maintenant, Reveries, Celandria, Watercress II., Shooting Star, Water Belle, Baffouilleur, Esprit Gaulois, Trouble Fete, Franklin, Ormesdale, Neville II., White Hackle, Mustard, Whimsy, El Dinero, Clapperbill, Dominant, Thunderer, Bromo, Chicle, Slipshod, Meditation, Heir Apparent, Churchill, Indian Chant and Tipperary.

The two-year-old, stakes increase in nominations is even more remarkable. Of these the Flash has been the most popular, and it shows a total of 137 against 84 for 1915. The Albany Handicap brought out 129, against 76 in 1915; the Adirondack 119, against 84; the Sanford Memorial 122, against 87; the Troy Selling 89, against 52; the Kentucky, for fillies, 72, against 31, and the Saratoga Special 33, against 27.

William H. Karrick, one of the most skillful of the younger generation of trainers in this country, will begin the racing season with a string of twenty horses belonging to the Oneck Stable, presided over by H. K. Knapp, one of the stewards of the Jockey Club; Schuyler L. Parsons, another of the Jockey Club stewards, and one horse the property of S. D. Riddle. Of this number the Oneck Stable has ten and Mr. Parsons nine. Only three in the latter's collection are two year-olds, while there are six youngsters in the Oneck string. Like all other horses that have wintered on Long Island the Karrick string is nearly a month behind in their work owing to the abominable weather that has prevailed last winter and this spring. Following is the list of the horses in the string:

Oneck Stable—(W. H. Karrick, trainer).

Nokomis, b f, 2, by Kilogram—Medicine Hat.

When S. C. Hildreth was asked if he intended to take Mr. Belmont's big string of twenty-five thoroughbreds to Maryland, he replied very definitely in the negative. "I sometimes think I shall be lucky if I have my horses ready to race when the meeting opens right here at this track," he said, but afterward he expressed the opinion that he would start racing his horses at the Jamaica meeting.

Trainer Hildreth is not much in favor of indoor work during the winter months, and as it is only a few days since galloping in the open became practicable at Belmont Park, it is not surprising that his horses should not yet be in forward condition. They have wintered admirably, however, and should the weather continue favorable they should come to hand rapidly.

There are now thirteen horses of the matured division in Mr. Belmont's stable. These are Stromboli, Dragoman, Sam McMeekin, Mission, Top Hat, Tea Caddy, Friar Rock, St. Rock, Delancey, Libyan Sand, Fernrock, Lord Rockvale and Malachite.

This year he has reinforced his stable with an even dozen two-year-olds, which are as follows:

Rockport, ch c, by Trap Rock—Retained.
Woodtrap, ch c, by Trap Rock—Woodvine.
Deer Trap, b c, by Trap Rock—Delusion.
Sandusky, b c, by Hastings—Sans Gene.
Deckmate, br c, by Hastings—Dragnet.
Almandite, ch c, by Hastings—Annot Lyle.
Distaff, blk c, by Disguise—Typical.
Lucky Catch, b f, by Trap Rock—Lucky Lass.
Serenest, b or br f, by Trap Rock—Souveraine.
Cockleshell, ch f, by Trap Rock—Crossways.
Nancy Fair, b f, by Fair Play—Nineveh.
Hourless (imp.) br c, by Negofol—Hourglass.

Mr. Belmont sold two of his last year's two-year-old colts to Emil Herz about the end of the season. These were High Horse, which Mr. Herz lost out of a selling race a few days later, and the bay colt Trend, now in the Herz stable.

Growing out of the importation of five English race horses that arrived here last week on board the steamship Minnehaha a question of importance to horsemen has arisen in relation to the payment of duty on registered animals consigned to a citizen of the United States, but not actually owned by him. The law permits registered stallions and mares to come in free when the "importer" is a citizen of this country, and the question as to who is an importer within the meaning of the law involves about $2,200 in this case.

By arrangement made between F. C. Benson of London and S. L. Frank of New York Mr. Benson shipped to Mr. Frank the well-known race horse, The Battler, by Clonmell, out of Rhoda B. (dam of Richard Croker's Derby winner, Orby), and four other thoroughbreds to be sold here for racing or breeding. Mr. Frank did not purchase the horses outright, but agreed to sell them and share the proceeds with the English owner.

The customs authorities demanded payment of duty on the ground that Mr. Frank was not the "importer," but merely the agent of the British owner.

The following foals have arrived at P. M. Walker's Pagebrook Stud:

March 21—Chestnut filly by Peep O'Day—Lady Fern, by Hippodrome. Mare bred to Bard of Hope.

April 1—Bay colt by Sweep—Star of Runnymede, by Star Shoot. Mare will be bred to Bard of Hope.

April 2—Brown filly by Madrigalian or His Majesty—Fanchette by Alvescot. Mare will be bred to Bard of Hope.

MALVERN, PA., April 3, 1916

Editor Thoroughbred Record:

I have been reading THE RECORD ever since it was "THE RECORD." Previous to that the Turf, Field and Farm, Spirit of the Times and New York Sportsman, so nothing has got away in forty years. Messrs. Hancock and Madden's articles were read with interest and Mr. Hancock is right. Forty years ago the American Thoroughbred was not only the peer of any living, but was in a class by itself. This I can prove, from my point of view and "Old Bill Jones" don't have to be alive to back me up. Lately I read the recollections of an "Old Time Horseman" Mr. Tozer and all the time while reading it was looking for information. I got it, when I got to "Roamer the Gigantic," made like a Greyhound. I discovered that I had been reading the emanation of what the late Mark Twain called them one of those "D——d Litterary Fellars" and here's another. J. P. F. in The London Sporting Life about "Foxhall" the one horse that every real American has a right to rear up on end and "holler" about.

He won the Grand Prize of Paris and then journeyed to England, a journey that has put many an American man and woman out of business. He was not engaged in the Derby or Leger but Iroquois also a Yankee but not as good an American as he was, accounted for them.

The Cesarewitch is the really long distance handicap in England. He walked in by twelve lenghts in the Cambridgeshire a real true run race, he was meeting on level terms Bend Or the winner of the Derby the year before and giving every other horse in the race but one (Peter) 46 lbs. down. All England stood aghast, "such a performance had never been approached." The only thing that had ever had a chance to look like it, was Uhlan's Doncaster Cup. This was what every sporting writer and sportsman said. Furthermore, many well informed Englishmen, among the rest the late William Easton have told the writer that to this day it has never been duplicated and I am quite sure it never has. There were giants in those days.

Foxhall was by King Alfonso out of Jamaica by Lexington, until Foxhall ran Jamaica's pedigree was about seven dams long, after he performed so brilliantly he got a longer pedigree. His sire King Alfonso was some horse himself by imp. Phaeton out of Capitola by Vandal. Imp. Phaeton was sold out of England for $125.00 not pounds, so that on the matter of breeding Foxhall could hardly come up to the English Standard, but he put them all out. Tremont in my opinion could have made any horse living or that ever lived look like twenty cents for five and one-half furlongs. He won thirteen straight stakes as a two-year-old, he had about five or six straight crosses to a buggy mare. Longfellow was the most magnificent specimen of a blood horse I ever saw, about 17.3 hands, weighing 1650 lbs. His first mile at Saratoga in 1.40 is probably the best mile ever run in America. Spendthrift would have made any horseman stand around for some time, his son Hastings standing in the next box to Rock Sand made the latter look common. Salvator in a stable with thirty other stallions, mostly imported had them all skinned to death.

Well do I remember showing a young Englishman a band of broodmares about eighty-six or eighty-seven and I still have a sneaking idea he was Mr. "Special Commissioner." After showing him two, all imp. blood mares, entirely different types, both first-class, one of them the best broodmare by the Stud Book, we went to the American mares there I said is my idea of the real thing, long and low, wide and deep, lots of bone, the best of feet, sound as a bell with manners so mild could be led with a string by a little child. He admitted we had it on them in mares. He then said there is one thing you can't grow in this country and that is roots and in two hundred yards he saw as good carrots as he ever saw in his life. Blue Grass by Pat Malloy has won in England at the Hunter Show as many or more prizes than any other horse ever did.

Six years ago a well known trainer in Lexington made the remark to me that he did not know what they had done to the good old American horse but they had ruined him. The writer can tell you how he came to be as good as he was when Iroquois won the Derby, etc., and Foxhall the Grand Prize and the Cambridgeshire and how today a selling plater masquerades as a world beater. If you want to know? SQUARE DEAL.

The second supplement to Volume XI. of the American Stud Book, giving the names of this year's two-year-olds, is out and may be had at THE RECORD office. Price, $2.

CUBA IMPROVING THEIR HORSES.

HAVANA, CUBA, April 3.—President Mario Menocal, of the Republic of Cuba, who has been in turn soldier and statesman, takes a particular pride in the fact that he has found time to be an agriculturist and live stock breeder in addition to his other activities. Knowing the needs of the country he is ever ready to aid his people in the improvement of their horses, cattle, sheep, swine, and poultry.

A graduate of Cornell and still on the sunny side of fifty, quick and alert as a man of thirty, he is a progressive and an advocate of preparedness, as a standing army of 10,000 well-trained and equipped men will testify. While your correspondent chatted with General Menocal, one morning recently, in the blue room of his palace, a company of soldiers were at drill under the shadow of the ancient fortress of La Fuerza, built in 1532 and the sharp words of command and the tramp of feet on the pavement filtered through the lattice along with the brilliant tropical sunshine.

"I am naturally much interested in the agricultural development of our country, which, this year will give us three hundred million dollars in sugar alone," he said, "but I am especially eager to see greater expansion in the production of live stock and poultry. In the experiments which we have made horses have had special attention, as I realize their importance in the development of any country. Cuba has long had a useful type of small animal, used almost exclusively for the saddle hitherto, but the time has come when we should have something better. As a result of experiments made by myself and others we have placed a number of thoroughbred horses, which will be augmented by others, in the six provinces of the Republic. These will be at the service of the breeders who will be taught the advantages of sending their mares to such sires.

"Our native mares, as you have probably observed, have a characteristic amble, inherited from their Andalusian ancestors but the influence of the thoroughbred sire is so potent that this disappears in the first generation and we can produce animals of the walk, trot, and canter type, as well as the breeders of Kentucky or Tennessee. It is our intention to keep a record of all half-breds, with a view to breeding back the best specimens among the mares, in order to establish a type which will be ideal for our cavalry. A certain number of the mares, at the same time, will be mated with imported jacks, as the mule is quite an important adjunct in the cultivation of sugar and other crops of this country.

"At the present time," continued the President, "we have about 7,000 head of army horses in actual service. Practically all of these were secured in the United States, and realizing that the Allied Countries of Europe have made great inroads on the supply of the cavalry type of horse in America, we have decided to develop our own. The grass lands of the eastern portion of this island are unsurpassed, and, with our unrivalled climate, it will be only the matter of a short time until we produce a type of cavalry remount second to none. If we were going at the matter blindly I would not be so optimistic, but with the result of our own experiments, backed by the experience of foreign governments, particularly France and Germany, there is no chance of failure. It is a sign of the times that Great Britain has come to a realization of the fact that the horse is an essential to security and her decision to race some of the thoroughbreds donated by Colonel Hall Walker, would seem to be sound, as training and racing bring to the surface any structural defects in horses intended for the stud.

"I look for a great future for the horse industry in Cuba," concluded the General, "as the thoroughbred sire of the right conformation, crossed with our pony mares, should, in the first generation, produce polo ponies of quality. We have some good ponies of this type already and I am encouraging our army officers to play that excellent game, which is so conducive to good horsemanship. We have a polo field at Camp Columbia and I have, within the past six months, presented the army with thirty polo ponies.

"What with polo, high-class racing, surf bathing, golfing, automobiling and other outdoor sports, which are here at their best in the winter, Cuba annually is attracting more and more visitors to her shores. In fact, so great is the influx that new steamships are already under construction and splendid new hotels are being planned to accommodate those who seek a respite from the rigors of the North."

LOUISVILLE GOSSIP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 4.—Jefferson Livingston will make a strong bid this season for the Kentucky Handicap, the feature of the coming spring meeting at Douglas Park. While he has two entries in the mile and a quarter race in the three-year-old Col. Vennie and Royal II., it is the latter that will be especially pointed by Trainer H. R. Brandt for the Kentucky Handicap.

This richly bred son of the English St. Leger winner, Your Majesty, has wintered in as grand shape as any horse in training. He has broadened and thickened, as well as taken on a bit in height, standing fully sixteen hands and covering as much ground as he stands on review as any four-year-old ever trained here. Last season he made a great bid for the two Derbies. At the Downs he was nosed out of third position by Sharpshooter, with Regret and Pebbles finishing in front of him, and in that race he came from a long way back in the big field in the last half-mile. He won the Latonia Derby, carrying 122 pounds, and ran the mile and a half, the distance of that race, in 2:32.

Now that he is thoroughly acclimated and used to being trained and run over the Kentucky tracks, there is no telling just how good Royal II. may turn out to be this season, as he looks now in his training quarters here a real champion, and as his long suit is going a distance, he may be able to make a bid for the Kentucky Handicap this season, which cannot be denied. He will also have one advantage in that race this season by having Jockey Joe Kederis on him, as that rider is especially good on any horse going over a route of a mile or more. He just fits a slow beginner like Royal II. was last season and has patience to let such a horse make up his ground in a careful manner and to avoid interference.

Exceedingly good reports have been received here from Aiken, S. C., of the development this spring and early training of John Sanford's two Derby cracks, George Smith and St. Isidore, which are booked to arrive shortly at Churchill Downs, with a number of other horses belonging to this Amsterdam, N. Y. turfman.

There seems to be no question now that George Smith will be ready to fill his Kentucky Derby engagement, and by the date of the running of that race on Saturday, May 13, will be as fit as his able trainer can make him to go the Derby route of a mile and a quarter.

There are some good horsemen, regarded as good judges as any, who believe that at times last season George Smith was the equal of any two-year-old that raced. He started twelve times, and nine of his starts were wins. With the exception of Dodge, he won races on more tracks than any other Derby candidate.

From all accounts he has spread out and greatly developed since last season, and has been pronounced as fine a specimen of a three-year-old in individuality, as is now in training. His stable companion, has also a creditable racing record as a two-year-old, winning three of his six starts, and finishing second the three times he failed to win. Like George Smith, he also has developed into a good-looking three-year-old, and, being a gelding, of course is easily trained in the spring, and as a consequence is sure to be fit when the Derby this year is run off. Last year a filly won the Derby, with colts running second, third and fourth, but the year previous a pair of geldings in Old Rosebud and Hodge ran one, two in the great classic event, and the filly Bronzewing, finished third.

George Smith is as grandly bred a colt as is engaged in the Derby this year. His sire Out of Reach, is a son of an English Derby winner, and is now at the head of James Butler's thoroughbred stud, at East View Farm, in New York. His dam, previous to foaling George Smith, sent to the races a very speedy filly in Theresa Gill, which, but for her size, might have proved good enough to have been a Kentucky Oaks winner. George Smith, like his near relative, Theresa Gill, has dazzling speed and the conformation which will enable him undoubtedly to carry this dash over much of the mile and a quarter distance of the Kentucky Derby race.

R. J. Powers has sold to Trainer Dan Lehan, the latter acting for A. P. Humphrey, Jr., the two-year-old chestnut filly Little Ford, by Rey Hindoo, for $4 000 It is said that before he sold her that Powers stood ready to run her against any two-year-old now in training, and even suggested having no objection to taking on in a match race John W. Schorr's much-talked-about colt, Harry Kelly.

Mr. Humphrey, who is the purchaser of this promising youngster, has owned some good horses in the past few years, which have been trained by Lehan, and among these was the good filly Bronzewing, which, aside from running third to Old Rosebud and Hodge in the Kentucky Derby, won that season the Blue Grass Stakes at Lexington and the Kentucky Oaks. Little Ford has arrived at the Downs and is now in Lehan's stable at that track.

About six weeks ago Thomas M. Murphy, of the Waldeck Farm, at Crestwood, turned over to Willie Goose, a brother of Jockey Roscoe Goose, a two-year-old bay filly to give that boy a chance to take a hand at training. The filly up to then, had never been broken, but when she was track wise she began to show a disposition to run. The first time Goose sent her a quarter she ran the distance in 0:26, and in her next effort she surprised trainers by stepping the distance in 0:24 1 5. This, too, when she had never had a saddle on until six weeks ago.

She is a filly of splendid, steady disposition, and on this account, has been named Old Miss. She is by Hapsburg, and out of Lady Lexington, by Hastings. Murphy came by her in buying Lady Lexington in foal, from Hugh McCarren.

Mr. Murphy was so pleased with her last showing a few days ago that he rewarded the young trainer by raising his monthly salary.

The two noted performers, Lady Rotha and Grosvenor, which wintered at Waldeck Farm, have been shipped to Lexington to be trained for the coming campaign in Kentucky, by their owner, T. M. Henry. Both left here in excellent condition.

The racing string of W. H. Baker now consists of twenty-one horses, as he has recently turned out four members of this aggregation, namely: Tom Anderson Plunger, Bj and Crooked Legs, which have been sent to the farm of Lon Jones

The older horses in the Baker stable are Sweep, Samuel R. Meyer, Roscoe Goose, Amazon, Transit, Sugar King and Jerry and all the other members are two-year-olds. These are:

Judge Young, blk c, by Marta Santa—Miss Present.
Walter H. Pearce, b c, by Sain—Loysirta.
Mary Belle, blk f, by Ballot—Wing Ting.
Green Jones, b c, by Handsel—Floreal.
Knebelkamp, ch c, by Marathon—Animosity.
Tom Mason, blk c, by Star Shoot—Miss Canale.
Frigerio, ch c, by Marathon—Grace Commoner.
Ella Ryan, b f, by Ogden—Auvergne.
Sninstone, ch c, by Handsel—Miss Eddie.

Roscoe Goose, who won the Kentucky Derby in 1913 on Donerail, will do the riding for this stable this year, and will take his first mount since last fall at the coming Lexington meeting. He has been keeping himself in condition by exercising the horses in the Baker barn this spring and will be able to ride as light this year as 107 pounds.

George Smith, owned by John Sanford, is expected here from Charleston tomorrow. He is one of the winter choices for the Kentucky Derby.

Foxhall Keene has also wired for stable room for Churchill, his Kentucky Derby candidate.

Harry Kelley, reported to be the best two-year-old in training here, was transferred to Trainer George Land today. He was formerly handled by J. F. Schorr, but this trainer and his father, John W. Schorr, have parted company, dividing their string.

Canada Jack Adkins, acting for R. J. Mackenzie, today increased his offer to $15,000 for Slipshod, and is awaiting a reply from Harry Payne Whitney, owner of this Derby candidate.

INCREASED PURSES AND DISTANCES AT CONNAUGHT PARK MEETING.

OTTAWA, April 4.—The Connaught Park Jockey Club at a meeting of the Management Committee today decided to increase the purses for overnight events, none of which will be less than $500. There will be a race for Canadian-breds every day at the spring and fall meetings. It is not likely that there will be any stakes offered this year. Last fall the meeting was without stake races, and some of the best contests of the season were seen at the local track.

The club also decided to cater to thoroughbreds of stamina by making the majority of the races over longer distances. Only two or three for horses three years old and up will be shorter than six furlongs.

Hon. Secretary Ross also announces that all the employees in connection with the pari-mutuel machines will be Canadians. Over one hundred will be required to operate the iron men, and home brews will, of course, get first call. The mutuel plant is now being installed.

[SEAL] (My commission expires Jan. 20, 1918.)

Harry Payne Whitney has come forward with a generous offer for the continuance of the Whitney Memorial Steeplechase, which has been run annually as a mark of appreciation for the benefit the turf derived from the efforts of his father, the late William C. Whitney.

The Whitney Memorial Steeplechase is to be run at the spring meeting of the Piping Rock Racing Association. For it Harry Payne Whitney offers a purse of $3 000 and a $500 cup for the owner winning the race twice. This liberal donation will make the race worth about $5 000 to the winner and will insure the best entries from cross-country division. The usual conditions will prevail, the entrance fee being $25, with $100 additional from starters. The distance of the race will be two miles and a half over the Piping Rock course.

The successful revival of horse racing at New Orleans and Hot Springs has resulted in the formation of a Business Men's League in Memphis, Tenn., for the purpose of reopening the track which was closed by adverse legislation nearly ten years ago. The business interests of Memphis feel that horse racing will benefit their city in many ways. Although the laws of Tennessee prohibit bookmaking and pool selling it is believed that there can be no legal interference with individual betting and stake holders, which is the system successfully operated in Louisiana and Arkansas this winter.

In America Cesarion gained a reputation as a sire of speedy two-year-olds, and, although he did not start stud duty in Australia until he was 21 years old to our time—he is now 24—he would seem likely to further distinguish himself in the direction indicated. At any rate, his daughter Cesarionette won the two-year-old races at the recent Kembla Grange and Wyong Park meetings, and, even allowing that she beat nothing of much account, is at least useful.—[Sydney Referee.

-BEN TROVATO-

BEN TROVATO is a seal brown horse, 16⅓ hands high. Sired by imp. Alvescot, a son of Raeburn and he a son of St. Simon. Ben Trovato is out of Golden Rose, by Goldfinch, a son of Ormonde, she out of imp. La Trappe, by Hermit, she out of Ambuscade, by Camerino, a son of Stockwell, and she out of Crossfire, by Vedette, the sire of Galopin, thus possessing the five great sire crosses of the world. Ben Trovato was raced four years and was as fast as horses ever show. He won miles in 1:37 3-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:39 1-5, 1⅛ miles 1:52, 1:52, 1:52 1-5, 1¼ miles in 2:04 2-5, and as a two-year-old ran ⅝ in 0:58⅘ seconds. The great No. 5 family—Galtee More, Ard Patrick, Hermit, Gladiateur, Doncaster, Gunfire, etc. As a running line it is invaluable, and from its pliability mates well with most strains preferring sire blood.

If you can find a greater looking horse, a better bred horse or a faster horse, don't breed to this one. Will accept 25 mares for 1916 at $50 to insure living foal.

Mares kept at 50 cents per day.

LOCAL NOTES.

A meeting of thoroughbred horse owners, breeders and trainers will be held in Lexington today for the purpose of organizing the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association. A tentative organization was formed at a meeting last Saturday, Fred A. Forsythe, being temporary Chairman; Thomas B. Cromwell, temporary Secretary. T. P. Hayes, J. O. Keene and Hal Price Headley are a committee on membership. The object of the association is to be the mutual protection and benefit of those interested in thoroughbred horse breeding, training and racing. It was suggested that a membership fee of $25 be charged, but the committee has decided to recommend a fee of $10 for membership and $10 yearly dues. Certainly a modest enough sum, when the benefits that will accrue from such an organization, are considered.

The committee mailed the following call to a number of thoroughbred horsemen Wednesday.

"You are invited to attend a meeting of gentlemen who are interested in the thoroughbred horse and the welfare of the turf, to be held in the Phoenix Hotel, Saturday afternoon next, April 15th, at 2 o'clock.

"The purpose of this meeting is to perfect an organization for the mutual benefit and protection of those who are engaged in breeding, raising, training and racing thoroughbred horses.

"It is proposed to have a duly elected set of officers, and maintain an office through which the members may present their thoughts and desires for the betterment of conditions attending breeding and racing.

"To this end a membership fee and annual dues will be required; the fee and dues to be determined upon at the meeting next Saturday.

"We hope you will attend the meeting and that you will take membership in the organization, remembering that 'in union there is strength.'

"If for any reason you do not find it convenient to attend the meeting and you desire membership, kindly write Thomas B. Cromwell, Secretary, to that effect.

"Yours respectfully,
"T. P. HAYES,

"J. O. KEENE,

The programme book for the full twelve days of the Kentucky Association's annual spring meeting, which is to open Thursday, April 27, was issued Thursday. It is the work of Judge William H. Shelley, and to take the estimate of several of the horsemen who have perused its pages, it is probably the best he has written in the many years he has been Racing Secretary here. That means a heap, since Shelley's programme has always produced tip-top racing at Lexington, and has contributed much to the ability of the association to bring the distribution to horsemen this spring to an average of approximately $800 per race for the 74 races to be carded during the meeting.

The wishes of the breeders of thoroughbred horses, the State Racing Commission and the public generally for an increase in the distance of the races, have been studiously regarded in the preparation of this book, since there are 29 at one mile or over, 23 at six furlongs and only 22 (all for two-year-olds) under six furlongs. The apportionment is as follows: Half-mile, 3; 4½ furlongs, 14; 5 furlongs, 4; 5½ furlongs, 1; 6 furlongs, 23; one mile, 3; one mile and 70 yards, 9; one mile and one-sixteenth, 8; one mile and one-eighth, 7, and one mile and one-quarter, 2.

In the matter of ages, there are twenty-one races for two-year-olds, eleven for three year-olds, thirty-six for three year-olds and upward, and six for four-year-olds and upward. A square deal for all ages.

The stake dates are: Ashland Oaks, Monday, May 1; Hinata Stakes, for two-year-old fillies, Tuesday, May 2; Idle Hour Stakes, for two-year-old colts and geldings, Thursday, May 4, Camden Handicap, Saturday, May 6; Brewers' Selling Stakes, Monday, May 8; Breeders' Futurity, Wednesday, May 10, the closing day. On each of the other days there will be an over-night feature.

The opening day calls for six races, four of them condition affairs, one a handicap and the other a high weight selling race. The inaugural scramble has been designated with the name Raceland, in honor of the former president of the association, Catesby Woodford, and it is so conditioned that it will attract such horses as Chalmers, Waterblossom, Black Toney, Bradley's Choice, Leochares, Grover Hughes, Vogue, Royal II., Blarney, Conning Tower, Emerson Cochran, Hawthorn, Solly, The Grader.

The Kentucky Derby candidates will get a trial on the second day in a race for $800 added at one mile and seventy yards and on the eleventh day they will have another chance for a try out in a mile and one-eighth race for $1,000 added.

The two year-olds in training here are an exceptionally good lot of individuals, if the statements of the work-watchers count for anything and they are going to produce some highly interesting racing. The coming together for the first time of the American, French and English youngsters on Kentucky soil, will give this spring's racing decidedly an international flavor.

The coming sale of the French and English breeding establishments of the late Herman B. Duryea, which the Powers-Hunter Company, of New York, will conduct in the paddock at Belmont Park on May 27th., will give another British Derby winner to the thoroughbred industry of America along with a lot of brilliantly bred mares of the best English and French blood, for, during the half a dozen years Mr. Duryea raced and bred horses in France and England, he bought generously and with discrimination. The Derby winner that will go under the hammer is Durbar II., a son of Rabelais and Armenia. This fellow defeated Hapsburg and Peter the Hermit in the Derby of 1914 and the merit of that performance was demonstrated a few weeks later when Hapsburg defeated a first-class field in the Jockey Club Stakes. Durbar II., was himself defeated in the Grand Prix de Paris and Mr. Duryea's men had a brisk time getting him away from the German invasion.

A few years ago, the sons and daughters of St Simon and Hanover were quite properly considered the best race horses on the two sides of the Atlantic. Durbar II., is a robust descendant of both these stallions. St. Simon was the sire of Rabelais and Hanover was the sire of Urania, the dam of Armenia. Urania, besides being a daughter of Hanover, inherited from her female ancestors the blood of the very stoutest racing family in America. Durbar II., is a fine upstanding horse and the indications are that the bidding for him at Belmont Park will be keen.

With Durbar and the Duryea mares is coming back to America the celebrated Irish Lad, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap of 1903 and the rival of Hermis the following year. The entire consignment arrived at New York on the steamship Mongolia this week. Irish Lad has been at stud service in France and he has had better than passing success. Shannon, one of his sons, was about as good a three year-old as there was in France a few seasons back and other of his sons and daughters have won distinction more recently. Shannon is now the property of the French Government. Just before his death Mr. Duryea presented the son of Irish Lad to the Minister of Agriculture for the work of getting remounts for the army. Hermis is in that service now. He was presented to the republic by Edmond Blanc who purchased him from H. M. Zeigler, the man who took him to Europe in 1911.

Since the above was written it has been learned that on account of conditions resulting from the war, it was impossible to bring Durbar II. to America at this time

In the forthcoming dispersal of the horses from the French and English breeding establishments of the late Herman B. Duryea, which will be held at Belmont Park on May 27, Charles F. Hill will act with the Powers-Hunter Company, in conducting the sale.

Mr. Hill was actively in charge of the sale of horses from Clarence H. Mackay's Haras de Fresnay, Normandy, France, which were sent to this country and sold at Durland's on the night of December 23d last. The prices secured for these horses bordered on the sensational. The consignment included thirteen yearlings and two older horses and realized a total of $50,000, or an average of $3,333 per head.

It is needless to say that Mr. Hill's co-operation with the Powers-Hunter Company in the Duryea sale, will be exceedingly valuable and certainly presages a most successful termination for the estate of this famous sportsman.

In the programme book of the spring meeting of the Kentucky Association issued this week, Secretary Shalley has included a new and valuable feature, which is designated as the Blue Grass Breeders' Directory. This directory is printed in the back of the book and gives the owner, name of farm and horses standing at various places, of all the prominent breeding establishments in this and surrounding counties. This information will doubtless prove most acceptable, especially to visitors here during the race meet.

Track conditions for several days during the past week were not conducive to speed, but trainers at the local track are going right along with their horses and several recent works have proved most satisfactory. Midway, half-brother to Buckhorn, in W. J. Young's barn, was sent three-eighths early in the week and negotiated this distance in :36 in a highly creditable manner, while Roamer's half-sister, Rosewood, went the same route in :37 3-5. On Thursday, several of the Derby candidates were worked a mile, among them Bulse, Dr. Moore and Prince Harry, all working in the same notch, namely 1:45 4-5. Other works on Thursday were:

Mile—Commonada and Schemer, 1:44 2-5; Southern League, 1:47; Gypsy Blair and Milestone, 1:45.

FROM ECLIPSE TO STOCKWELL.

[Boulanger in London Sporting Life].

Some time ago, when dealing with the advent and development of the Agnes family, I expressed the view that a sort of elementary influence emanated from the mare Betty Leedes, whose grandparents were Spanker and a daughter of Spanker, and the Old Morocco Mare, the dam of Spanker. This, to my knowledge, is the most incestuous inbreeding which has ever been recorded. In those times, however, there was not nearly so great a danger of any ill-effects of these methods upon the constitution of the offspring as to-day, after a century and a half's consistent and, as a rule, injudicious recourse to this procedure. The following four instances lend full support to the assumption that this in breeding to Spanker and his dam was highly successful:—(1) Betty Leedes produced Bartlett's Childers, a phenomenal racehorse, and the only son of the imp. Darley Arabian which succeeded in establishing a male line; (2) Cade, the sire of Matchem, traces in fourth generation to Betty Leedes' grandam, by Spanker out of Spanker's dam; (3) Jigg proved himself the only son of the imp. Byerly Turk capable of founding a male line. Jigg's dam was a daughter of Spanker and his blood, in its most powerful accumulation, was returned when Cypron, a granddaughter of Flying Childers, was mated with Jigg's grandson, Tartar, and produced Herod; (4) Diomed, the first Derby winner, traces to the same "Spanker" source.

The three fundamental sires—Eclipse, Herod, and Matchem—thus were strongly, if not incestuously, inbred to Spanker and his dam. The second elementary influence emanated from the Godolphin Barb, as I recently attempted to prove when dealing with the achievement of the Highflyer blood of Herod, which determined pure dominance in many impure lines. For my part, I have, however, not the slightest doubt that without that close inbreeding to Spanker and his dam in the pedigrees of Flying (and Bartlett's) Childers and Cade, the lines of Byerly Turk and Darley Arabian would have met the fate of those of the other Eastern sires, i.e., an early extinction, for none of their numerous other sons, and not one of their daughters, achieved anything remarkable at the stud.

The first line of Eclipse which found a firm footing was the branch established by the chestnut Pot-8-os, whose son, Waxy (winner of the Derby) handed it on to Whalebone (also winner of the Derby). There cannot, however, be much doubt that the great individuality of these two horses was due to a predominant influence of the Herod element, for—and particularly so in the case of Whalebone—there is no Eclipse blood in the other quarterings of their pedigrees that could have led to a consolidation of this paternal element. All the classic and other great winners sired by Waxy and Whalebone, were either bays or browns, and none of them were so successful at the stud as the black Sir Hercules. How, then, may it be explained that Sir Hercules, though not nearly so good a race horse, as, for example, Waxy, Pope, Blacher, Lapdog and Spaniel (the four Derby winners sired by Waxy and Whalebone) proved himself a much better sire than these?

My answer to this question is that his dam, Peri, returned to Whalebone some of the purest Eclipse blood then in existence—i. e., that of the chestnuts Mercury and Alexander. This breeding accounts for the fact that, though Sir Hercules in the black The Corsair, the bay Coronation, and the brown Faugh-a-Ballagh, sired a trio of classic winners; his line was not handed on by either of these sons, but by the chestnut Birdcatcher, which even amidst the then moderate class of Irish horses, was a second rater only. Birdcatcher was undoubtedly strongly imbued with the paternal blood; for his dam, Guiccioli, was a daughter of the Herod descendant, Bob Booty, and closely inbred to Bagot, a son of Herod. In Birdcatcher's full brother, the brown Faugh-a-Ballagh, Herod characters evidently dominated, and as these do not appertain to the compound of his male line, he failed to establish a line of his own, though a winner of the St. Leger and the Cesarewitch.

To Echidna Birdcatcher bred the chestnut, The Baron. Echidna was a daughter of Economist, a grandson of Pot-8-os', and of Florantile, by Octavian (which traces to Phoenomenon, the only good chestnut sired by Herod, and this evidently because his dam, Frency, was a chestnut daughter of Eclipse). Echidna's dam traces through both male lines (Blacklock and Orville) to Eclipse. It stands to reason that in the chestnut Glencoe, the sire of Pocahontas, the Eclipse element dominated, for his dam, the chestnut Trampoline, traces through both male lines (Tramp and Waxy) to Eclipse. One may search in vain for a mare more closely inbred to Eclipse than Marpessa, the dam of Pocahontas. Thus, to my mind, Stockwell personified the imaginable intensification of the Eclipse element.

None of his bay or brown sons—not even such splendid turf performers as Lord Lyon, The Marquis, and Bothwell—succeeded in establishing lines fit enough to survive, and as in these individuals maternal characters dominated, we may now perceive the actual cause of their failure.

The chestnut Oxford, though, like Birdcatcher, a moderate racehorse, founded a second strong line. However, in the next generation, the blood of Whisper, a granddaughter of Touchstone, subjected the line to a complete mutation, and there is no denying that the dominance of this female element, though it may have determined the great individuality of the bay Isonomy, seriously encroached upon its hereditary stoutness, for, in comparison with the successes of Stockwell's direct chestnut descendants at the stud, the achievements of Isonomy's best sons—the bays Common and Isinglass—were of a kind that does make a survival of the Isonomy lines very likely. The decidedly inferior quality of Common's and Isinglass's chestnuts lends further support to the presumption that in Isonomy the Birdcatcher element was subordinate. The chestnut Gallinule proved himself the best sire among the sons of Isonomy, and he, again, was a moderate racehorse. The fact, however, that his daughters are much superior to his sons tends to affirm the view held by Capt. Greer that he was not an Isonomy at all, but a Hermit.

We may now come to understand why the blood of Birdcatcher stands inbreeding so well. It splendidly "nicked" in several instances, and undoubtedly proved the most efficient hereditary element in Baroaldine, of whose lines only those founded by the chestnuts Winkfield and Marco are going strong. But whether they will survive is another matter. I doubt it, considering that this last line of Matchem was reconstructed by the chief assistance of a female element. If the latter could achieve the same as the paternal blood, the Defence line of Whalebone—to revert to another instance—should not have been so short-lived, for The Emperor—grandsire of the great Gladiateur—traces in third generation of his female line to Defiance, which is also the dam of his sire, Defence.

In Stockwell the consolidation of the Eclipse element has evidently reached its possible limit—this point ought to be carefully considered. The further contribution from this source in subsequent generations led to a perceivable degeneration in the vitality of the line. I have shown above that the maternal Herod blood of Whalebone has paved the way for a renewed efficiency of the Eclipse blood which Peri, the dam of Sir Hercules, introduced. The same principle proved beneficial in the next generation, for the Herod blood of Birdcatcher's dam supplied a fresh opening for a wholesome efficiency of the further Eclipse blood returned by Echidna and Pocahontas, the dams of The Baron and Stockwell. But since then breeders have consistently trespassed these bounds of judicious inbreeding, for the blood of Herod is no longer used to counterweight the inbreeding to Eclipse, but that of Eclipse is accumulated with a view to suppressing the Herod element. I dread to think of the unavoidable consequences of these methods, all the more because a constitutionally weaker racehorse is asked to do three times as much work as his hardy and sturdy ancestors.

RACING REFORMS AT BELMONT.

The suggestion first made in The Evening Sun in regard to the elimination of the auctions in selling races, will be tried during the Belmont Park meeting. Secretary Earlocker has just made this announcement and horsemen are eager for results, says The New York Sun. But another angle to the proposed rule has cropped up. In order to eliminate the auction clause and make all horses liable to claim, the race would have to be run before this liability became operative under our present system. Then it would be seen that the winner if claimed, would be entitled to another sum of money, equal to that which he had just earned. How this is brought about can be noted when one set of conditions framed for a selling race at Belmont Park read:

"Every horse starting in this race, including the winner, may be claimed for the entered selling price, plus the value of the race to the winner."

Many persons claim that the above wording of the new conditions gives those that formerly abused the selling race privilege, an advantage never intended. They point to the weight off that a horse would be entitled to, figuring on the basis of two pounds off for each $100 down to his entered selling price.

Take, for example, the conditions of one selling race run off last season. The winner was to be sold at auction for $2,000. If for less, two pounds were allowed for each $100 down to $400. This is a far cry from the top to the bottom figure in a selling race, with a tremendous advantage in favor of those in a position financially or otherwise, to take advantage of it. It is needless to say that no horse was entered at the top price, while the owners of those horses that should have been in at the top figure, were entered for one-half the amount.

Now, if the phrasing of the new rule affords to the owner of the winner, the protection of the amount of another purse in case his horse is claimed, the abuse of the intention of the rule will be seen right off the reel. Figuring along the line that the winner's share of the purse will be $400, there is nothing to prevent a trainer from entering a horse at such a low weight that nothing but an accident would defeat him.

It can be said that for betting purposes, the amount of the first purse does not interest him, but the leeway in weight advantage which the second purse would give, would have the bona fide platers in a selling race "nogtied."

Make the new conditions so that the owner of the winner, if claimed, shall not be entitled to the amount of another purse; that in being bought out of a selling race, the wording of the rule "plus the amount of the purse" shall not apply to the winner.

This would take away an advantage almost similar in strength to that formerly permitted when the "auction clause" was worked to the detriment of the real intention of selling races.

But then the fact remains that the owner of the winner, under the above conditions, would not receive as much for his horse, if claimed, as the owners of the second and third horses, if either should be claimed, for they would have second and third moneys, respectively, added to the entered selling price, plus the amount of the winner's share.

If the winner is not entitled to the second purse in the event that he is claimed, then the owners of the second and third horses should not be entitled to any privileges that the winner does not have. A way out of this would be that the rule would be so phrased that "beaten horses may be claimed for the entered selling price, plus the value to the winner and less any other part of the purse they may have won."

It is claimed by horsemen that under this rule the woods would be full of "gyps," who would claim horses out of selling races in order to peddle them back to their former owners at a profit of a few hundred dollars. Of course the amount of money entailed in these transactions would depend upon the quality of the horse.

At the same time many men, who have been in the habit of racing horses, would rather welcome a rule such as previously set forth, as it would afford an opportunity to buy their horses back at private sale, without the world at large, knowing what it cost.

Then again, there is the friendly claim, one owner protecting the other, so that each would be able to retain his horse.

But the system tried out at New Orleans with marked success this winter, would go a long way to block up this avenue of unfair dealing. This is nothing else than having sealed bids for all selling races and no transfer of a claimed horse for thirty days.

The elimination of the auction clause in selling races, however, will be of vast benefit, not only forcing owners to race their horses where they belong, but also taking away from a few "stick p" men a weapon which they have worn to a razor edge during the past few years.

MR. BELMONT IS ENTHUSIASTIC.

NEW YORK, April 11.—August Belmont, who by virtue of his offices as chairman of The Jockey Club and President of the Westchester Racing Association, is particularly qualified to speak with authority about racing, is enthusiastic over the prospects of the coming season.

"We are, I believe, entering upon a new era in sport in this country," he said yesterday, "and those of us who are fond of racing look to the future with every degree of confidence. The turf has made a host of new friends who will play an important part in the development of the sport. The purchase of so many highly bred English and French horses will insure stronger competition. Entries everywhere for stake events show a gratifying increase over last year, and we shall now have a chance of testing the merits of our horses with those of foreign countries whose opportunities to breed high-class thoroughbreds have been greater than ours.

"The presence of upward of over 200 of these animals in this country is going to mean much to the future of the thoroughbred, especially in its relation to the breeding industry. The production of good horses has always been more or less of an obligation on the breeders of the United States, but in the light of what is transpiring in Mexico, where I note our cavalry is suffering because of a lack of horses that are capable of negotiating the rugged country, it becomes an imperative duty.

"We are all greatly impressed," continued Mr. Belmont, "by the testimonial given racing as it is conducted in this State by Governor Whitman, who, in reply to the recent query of Mr. Stone of Baltimore said that the Hughes legislation had accomplished all that could be done to prevent racetrack betting, and that the people of New York State did not believe that it had been a serious blow to decent racing. The attendance at the various tracks in the vicinity of New York and at Saratoga in 1915 would indicate that there are very many thousands of our best citizens who are in accord with the sentiments expressed by the Governor."

Touching upon the part racing is playing as a function, Mr. Belmont said in concluding: "It was a matter of widespread comment last season that racing had assumed a much more social aspect than in the former years. The meetings at Belmont Park and Saratoga were noteworthy in this respect, and visitors from abroad said that these courses were fairly representative of the best types of English racing establishments. There is no reason why they should not grow to rank with Goodwood and Ascot. At these courses luncheon parties are always a distinguishing feature, and racing owes much of its charm to the opportunities it affords for entertainment in the open, which is so much a part of country life in England. Americans are becoming more and more devoted to outdoor sports, and of these none appears to be securing a larger following than racing."

When the Westchester Racing Association was looking for a home to succeed Morris Park, the natural beauty of the property at Queens appealed to the Directorate and a plant in keeping with the surroundings was built. Those who visited it when the initial meeting was held in 1905 were charmed with the place, which had a strong appeal to the lover of nature because of the number and size of the magnificent trees which were a feature of the place. Each succeeding season has seen it grow in beauty and it promises to be lovelier than ever when the gates are opened on May 25th. The trees and shrubs are in perfect condition. The grandstand is resplendent in fresh paint, while the club house has been completely renovated and newly decorated.

In order to be ready for the increased patronage which is confidently look for, special attention has been given to the kitchens. Additional ranges, steam tables and other assessories that go to make up an efficient catering plant have been installed, and Harry M. Stevens, who has made an enviable reputation at Saratoga, where he has had the privileges for a number of years, promises to give a service that will be in keeping with the other features of Belmont Park. In the general improvements that have been under way for some time, the comfort of the horses that furnish the sport has not been overlooked. Superintendent Pelz has kept the stabling up to the highest standard, and there are at present several hundred head of horses in active preparation for the opening of the season now so near at hand.

DURYEA HORSES ARRIVE.

NEW YORK, April 11.—The thoroughbreds belonging to the estate of the late Herman Duryea which were shipped from France to London and thence to this country, arrived yesterday about noon on the steamship Mongolian, which docked as usual at Pier 58 of the Atlantic Transport Company. The Mongolian arrived a day earlier than she had been expected, having left London only March 31. She had exceptionally good weather throughout her voyage across the Atlantic. Every animal on board appeared to have shipped well, and all were in first-class condition on their arrival here.

One of the first to go aboard the Mongolian was Mrs. Duryea, and it is needless to say that she was delighted to learn that all the horses had arrived looking none the worse for their passage across the English Channel, and afterward, across the Atlantic. She appeared to have no difficulty in identifying the many animals in the shipment, and without exception they appeared to recognize in her an old friend. As she passed along the deck she was warmly welcomed at every box, each colt and filly seemingly anxious to attract her attention, and each seemed to feel amply rewarded by a gentle pat on the nose or forehead, or a light stroking of the neck.

Mrs. Duryea set at rest the question of Durbar II.'s reappearance on the turf by saying that he had been permanently retired to the breeding farm. She said that he was now a wonderfully handsome and impressive looking horse, and predicted for him an eminently successful career as a sire.

These horses will remain on board the Mongolian until this morning, when they will be brought ashore and transferred in vans to the Haggin barn in Neck Road near Sheepshead Bay, where they will remain for the present, or until it may become necessary to ship them to Belmont Park, where they will be sold in the paddock by the Power-Hunter Company.

In the lot are two three-year-olds, one five-year-old, seventeen yearlings and thirteen two-year-olds. These are the get of such notable racers and sires as Irish Lad, Sweeper, Uncle, Rabelais, Phoenix and Maintenon, and were raised at Mr. Duryea's breeding establishment in France. A novel feature of the Windsor, England, steeplechase meeting was that Bridge IV. jumped the last fence and finished the course in the River Steeplechase with two jockeys up. This arose through Avila inviting Reardon (who had been thrown) to "get up behind," as his mount (Bridge IV.) was well out of it, for a ride back to the stands.

SEVENTY NAMED IN BASHFORD MANOR.

Secretary H. C. Applegate, of the New Louisville Jockey Club, has made public the entries in the Bashford Manor Stakes, set to be run at Churchill Downs on Wednesday, May 17, the fourth day of the coming spring meeting of the New Louisville Jockey Club. The event this season has seventy entries, embracing what is supposed to be the crack two-year-old colts and geldings now in training. Like other stakes on the Kentucky circuit tracks this season, Eastern turfmen are very prominent in the list of nominators, and according to all reports they have entered the best of their stables in this event.

The Bashford Manor Stakes was first run in 1902, and it has since been an annual fixture at the Downs. Its winners embrace Van Rouse, J. P. Mayberry, Ozeau, George C. Bennett, Zal, John Marrs, Fundamental, Joe Morris, La U Mexican, Worth, Hawthorn, Little Nephew, Luke and Ellison.

It has furnished one Derby winner in Worth, while among the beaten horses in this stake have been two other Kentucky Derby winners, namely Donau and Old Rosebud. The race has always been four and a half furlongs, and the race record in the event is jointly held by Little Nephew, the winner in 1913, and Luke, which captured the event in 1914, each having covered the distance of the stake in :53, which is within a fifth of a second of the track record at this distance at the Downs, as well as the Kentucky record at four and a half furlongs.

SWIFT ONES IN MEMORIAL HANDICAP.

Many of the best sprinters now in training figure among the fifty-nine nominations to the Memorial Handicap, one of the feature races of the coming spring meeting of Douglas Park, which begins this year on Monday, May 29 and comes to a close after thirteen days' racing, on Monday, June 12.

The Memorial Handicap will be run this year on Tuesday, May 30 (Decoration Day), which is the week during which the Kentucky Handicap will be run, Saturday, June 3, being the date.

Last year the Kentucky Handicap was run on May 29 and the Memorial was decided on May 31, for the reason that the date of Decoration Day fell on Sunday in 1915.

This stake is an annual fixture at Douglas Park, and has always resulted in a marvelously fast run race. Cough Hill won it in 1913, running three-quarters in 1:12. In 1914, Leochares captured the stake and covered the distance in 1:11 2-5, and in 1915 the winner, Bradley's Choice, had to run in 1:12 to get home in front of the fast horses opposed to him. The event this year marks the first stake engagement in Kentucky of George Wingfield's filly Polistena, which has come to this country from England and in her only start there finished first in a field of twenty-seven horses. The list of entries in full follows:

Pif Jr., Hopi, Dr. Carmen, Blind Baggage, Black Toney, Bradley's Choice, Big Smoke, Pockichoo, Cherry Blossom, Solly, M. Bert Thurman, Bark, Converee, Dr. Larrick, Vogue, Cosmic, Chalmers, Margaret N., Kinney, Dimitri, Lubelski, Fleuro, Julia L., Ed Howard, Iron Mask, Othello, Ralph, Kathleen, Hesperus, Leo Skolny, Primero, Waterblossom, Marse Henry, Little Nephew, Prince Hermis, Lady Always, Port Light, Gipsey George, Harry Gardner, John Jr., Lena Misha, Kewense, Boise, Dr. Moore, Dick Williams, David Craig, Cane Run, Ethel May, Broom Flower, Bringhurst, Dodge, Hodge, Dominant, Thunderer, Bromo, Purdey, Regina, Hubbub and Polistena.

PREPARATIONS UNDER WAY FOR RECORD MEET.

New York, April 10.—Work has been started at Belmont Park Terminal in preparation for the annual spring meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association, to be held on May 13 and 17. In addition to freshening up the entire plant, a number of improvements are to be made.

New brush fences are to be built on the steeplechase course and the turf placed in the best possible condition. The steeplechase course at Belmont Park Terminal has long been considered the stiffest in this country. The brush fences range from three-foot-six to four-foot-six in height, the former being the height of the water jump, which has a twelve foot water hole beyond. The timber course where the hunter races are run, is being rebuilt, also for the purpose of making this the stiffest of its kind on this side of the Atlantic. There will be twelve jumps to each mile, four being four-foot four, and eight being four-foot-two in height, some being post and rails and others board fences.

Twenty-four additional boxes are to be built in front of the big grandstand, and the stand and paddock as well as all other buildings and fences on the grounds are to be repainted in green and white, the association colors. This will brighten up the entire property and furnish an ideal setting for the brilliant colors which will be so much in evidence on race days.

In addition to the ample stable accommodations available at nearby Belmont Park, extra room is being arranged in the stable of the Turf and Field Club, which adjoins the terminal. Extra facilities for the parking of automobiles are being provided, and for those spectators who do not motor down, and they are in the majority, special train service is promised, with a running time of thirty-five minutes from Pennsylvania Terminal to Belmont Park Terminal.

In short no pains are being spared to provide for the big fields of starters which are assured, particularly in the Grand United Hunts Steeplechase, with its record $5,000 purse, and for the big attendances which the number and character of the events and participants are certain to draw.

The oldest horse racing in America at the present time is Budweiser, which won a couple of races during the Hot Springs meeting. He is sixteen years old and seems to be a marvel of the turf. The last time on record that Budweiser started before the late Hot Springs meeting was at New Orleans on March 26, 1916, and he ran eleventh in a race won by J. Ed Grillo. He was owned at that time by W. E. Walsh. Many inquiries have been received asking where the horse had been during this long interval. Lou and J. C. Cahn raced the horse around St. Louis, getting him from Captain J. C. Bunbury, who bought him from Joseph Lucas, who bred the horse in Missouri. Walsh is given as his last owner. George Moore, the present owner, bought him at Waco, Texas, from an unknown negro, who said he had raced the horse at Shreveport, Maringouin, La., and other places. So Budweiser must have been putting in that ten years racing at bush meetings in Louisiana and Texas. The horse was not permitted to start at Hot Springs until properly identified. Certain characteristic markings were readily noticeable and the Cahns quickly identified him.

Charlie Campau has been appointed judge at the Delorimier Park race meeting in Montreal, and Frank McGinty starter. At Dorval it is expected that James Milton, who is a stockholder, will officiate at the starting barrier. William Murray, who is the chief shareholder at Maisonneuve, will continue as starter there.

Camp Fire II., the old South African champion, after a stay of ten years in England, has arrived safely at Dr. Schnehage's place at Winburg, Orange Free State. He is described as looking really tip top and carries his age well, and is full of vitality.—[Johannesburg Times.

THE BLOOD THAT WINS.

That the line of Eclipse now includes all but a trifling percentage of the thoroughbreds of England, is sufficiently well known. The line of Matchem, in spite of its prominence in the first half of the nineteenth century, is now reduced to obscure individuals. The Herod line, with its great American members from Glencoe to Hamburg, was allowed to almost run out in England, when the recent importation of Roi Herode from France, followed by his great son, The Tetrarch, gave it new footing. There remain the descendants of Eclipse, to which it is convenient to refer under the subdivisions of those great individuals in the history of breeding—Blacklock, Touchstone, Stockwell and Isonomy, writes A. F. Wheeler in Breeder and Sportsman.

It occurred to me that it would be interesting to determine the relative prominence of these lines among the latest winners of the English turf, particularly as nothing of the kind is set forth in the usual records. At the beginning of 1916 the annual tables of the sires of winners and the sires of their dams, with the comparative winnings in each division, were published in London by the periodicals devoted to English breeding. It is a time-honored custom. It gratifies and rewards the owners by spreading the fame of their stallions and their mares; but in itself it reveals nothing of the secret factors that produced the results. Limiting myself to the task of ascertaining the relative prominence of the different lines, I have examined each individual stallion in those tabulated lists with the object of comparing their descent in tail male. The evidence thus collected shows at a glance the culminated tendencies of the last few decades of English breeding. It will be a surprise, I think, to American breeders to realize the dominant position now occupied by the Blacklock strain.

Among the nineteen sires whose offspring in 1915 won more than £3,000, the Blacklock blood divides the leadership almost equally with that of Stockwell. The latter won £44,638, the former £42,007; but there were sixty-five Blacklock winners against fifty-eight Stockwells. When the sires of dams are considered, the disparity is so great that the Blacklock horses stand by themselves. Their offspring won £49,157, but the winnings of mares by Stockwell sires did not go beyond £16,769. In the matter of two-year-old winnings the Blacklocks again opened a tremendous gap; their winnings were £16,170 against £7,498 by the Stockwells. Yet two of the greatest sires in England at sprinting distances, Polymelus and Orby, are in the Stockwell line. From the two-year-old supremacy of the Blacklocks it is not to be inferred that they do not also shine by reason of their stamina. In the division of stayers, of the sires of winners at ten furlongs and over, the Blacklock sires once again overtop the Stockwells by the number and record of such horses as St. Frusquin, Collar, Santoi, The White Knight, compared with Radium of Stockwell descent. Desmond, which leads every other sire of two year-old winners by more than £3,300, is all but entitled to be added to the ten furlong class of the four Blacklock sires just named. In the same class are Dark Ronald and Spearmint of the Touchstone line.

To tabulate for handy reference the nineteen sires of winners of £3,000 and over according to their descent in tail male:—

65	" "	7	Blacklock "	"	42,0 7
6	" "	1	Herod "	"	3 385

These sires, or at any rate the first eleven in the list, made the the following winnings, which I have divided between their two-year-olds and their older offspring:—

1. Polymelus	4	2-year-olds,	£3,099	6	others,	£14,639
2. Dark Ronald	[2	"	297	9	"	1 ,946
3. Sundridge	2	"	4,045	12	"	6,446
4. Desmond	6	"	7,776	4	"	1,117
5. Llangibby	0	"	.....	8	"	8,537
6. St. Frusquin	6	"	2,080	4	"	6 034
7. Orby	4	"	4,329	4	"	3,180
8. Symington	5	"	1,036	12	"	3,957
9. Valens	3	"	1,511	2	"	3,165
10. Fariman	5	"	3,567	5	"	799
11. Santoi	0	"	.....	10	"	4,219

The sires of winning two-year-olds of 1915 stand in this order of winnings above £2 000: (1) Desmond. (2) Orby. (3) Sundridge (4) Fariman. (5) Polymelus. (6) Roi Herode. (7) Chaucer. (8) St. Frusquin. (9) Bayardo. The Blacklocks are Nos. 1, 3, 7 and 8. Isonomy, Herod and Touchstone are represented by Nos. 4, 6 and 9. The other two are Stockwells.

When the sires of the winning broodmares are compared, the mares whose offspring won £3,000 and over, the result is as follows:

These sixteen sires of broodmares stand in the following order: (1) Persimmon, £12,923. (2) St. Hilaire, £11,336. (3) Gallinule, £9,635. (4) Velasquez, £8 635. (5) Isinglass, £6 579. Hackler, £6,417. (7) Widfowler, £6,350. (8) St. Serf, £5 523. (9) Melton, £4,775. (10) Orvieto, £4,668. (11) Cyllene; £4,303. (12) Donovan, £3,871. Then Matchmaker, Ayrshire, St. Simon, Meddler, each above £3,000

The object of this brief analysis will have been attained, if, at a time when the importation of English thoroughbreds is exceptionally brisk, the American breeder shall realize the modifying influence which this diffusion of Blacklock blood is sure to exert on the future of breeding. At the moment, Polymelus, a horse of Stockwell descent, has been for two successive years the leading sire of English winners. His dam and his grandam were both by Touchstone sires. His pedigree has not received any direct addition from a horse of Blacklock descent in seventy years. But already his greatest son, deeply inbred though he is to two great members of the Touchstone line, Hampton and Hermit, is akin to the Blacklocks, through his maternal grandsire, St. Hilaire.

THE NOTED RACE HORSE BOSTON.

Boston was one of the most famous long-distance race horses ever produced in America. He was bred by John Wickham, Esq., Richmond, Va., and foaled in 1833. His sire was Timoleon, by Sir Archy, the best son of imported Diomed. The latter won the first English Derby in 1780. Boston's dam was by Ball's Florizel, a son of imported Diomed, and his second dam was by imported Alderman, a son of Pot-8-o's, by the renowned English Eclipse Pot-8 o's sired three Derby winners. The dam of Timoleon was by Saltram, a son of the renowned English Eclipse and winner of the Derby in 1783.

Both Timoleon, the sire of Boston, and Ball's Florizel, that got Boston's dam, were successful race-horses, as will be seen from the following statement, copied from "The Horseman's Guide and Hard Book," by Col. S. D. Bruce, author of Bruce's American Stud Book." "Timoleon, the sire of Boston, was the best race horse of his day. He started in seventeen races. won nine, walked over for six and lost two. Florizel, the sire of Boston's dam, had no equal in his day. He never lost a heat or paid a forfeit, never knew the touch of spur or heard the flourish of a whip."

Boston was raced some as a three-year-old. He lost the first race in which he started by bolting when he was in the lead. The largest amount for which he ever raced until he met Fashion, in 1840, was $10,000 against Gano, the son of American Eclipse, that got the Rodes mare, dam of the noted broodmare sire Mambrino Patchen 58. It was a four-mile heat race and Boston won the first heat so easily that Gano was withdrawn. By this time Boston's fame as a long-distance race winner was "world-wide."

Two English gentlemen then challenged Boston, or any other horse in America for a race of four-mile heats. The owner of Boston immediately accepted, and offered to run Boston two four-mile races against any horse that they could produce for $50,000 a side, one race to be run in America, the other in England, but the offer was declined. The owner of Boston then offered to put up $50,000 against $40,000 and run Boston against any number of horses that they might import, allowing them to name their horse at the post, but this offer was also declined.

Boston was finally beaten by the great race mare Fashion, in a match of four-mile heats, for $20,000 a side, but he made her beat the best four-mile record that had been made in America up to that time, and a noted turf writer, who saw the race, said that, "Though beaten, it is conceded on all hands that Boston has acquired a more vast renown by this wonderful race than by his thirty-five previous victories combined." Fashion was by imported Trustee, dam Bonnets o' Blue, by Sir Charles, a son of Sir Archy; second dam Reality, by Sir Archy.

After his defeat by Fashion the owner of Boston offered to run him a race of four-mile heats against any two horses in the world for $45,000, but this challenge was not accepted.

He also challenged the owner of Fashion to run her a race of four-mile heats against Boston the following spring for $20,000 a side, and this challenge was also declined.

After Fashion was retired from the turf she was mated with imported Monarch, and the result was the mare registered in "Bruce's Stud Book" as Young Fashion. The latter, mated with imported Bonnie Scotland, produced Columbia, and Columbia, mated with the trotting stallion A. W. Richmond 1687, produced the great trotting brood mare Columbine, the dam of Anteeo 2:16½, J. C. Simpson 2:18½, Antevolo 2:19½, Coral 2:25, Anteros and Conrad. The two last named though without records are successful sires of trotting speed.

Boston was raced continually eight seasons, but only raced four times during the last two seasons. He was started forty five times, won forty races and lost five. Thirty of the forty-five were four-mile heat races; nine were three-mile heats, and two were two miles. After he had been raced forty-one times in six consecutive seasons, Frank Forrester said of him: "Boston, at the advanced age of eight years, after a racing career of unparalleled severity, is still as sound as a dollar, with legs as free from blemishes as a three-year-old." Boston was taken to Kentucky after the close of his season of 1846, and died there in the fall of 1849. Speaking of his death it is stated in Frank Forrester's "Horse of America," that "it is the greatest loss to breeders since the death of Sir Archy and Diomed."

The best of Boston's get as race horses were Lexington and Lecompte. The latter lowered the four-mile record of America to 7:26 in a race in which he beat Lexington, but Lexington afterwards lowered the four-mile record to 7:19¾. Several of the most noted of the world's champion trotters have inherited the blood of Boston. Sally Russell, a thoroughbred daughter of Boston, mated with Pilot Jr. 12 producing the great brood mare Miss Russell, the dam of the old-time trotting champion Maud S. 2:08¾. Miss Russell also produced the noted trotting sires Nutwood 2:18¾ his full brother Pistachio 2:21¾ and Lord Russell. Jack Hawkins, a thoroughbred son of Boston, got the second dam of the successful speed sire Direct 2.05½. Nina, a daughter of Boston, produced the thoroughbred Planet, a very successful race horse and sire of the noted brood mare Dame Winnie, the dam of the champion trotting stallion Palo Alto 2:08¾.

Lexington, the best son of Boston, got the second dam of the noted trotting champion Sunol 2:08¼. Asteroid, a thoroughbred son of Lexington, got the dam of Almonarch 2:24¾, and Almonarch got the dam of Fantasy 2:06, that lowered the world's champion record for three-year old trotters to 2:08¼. The third dam of the three-year-old trotter Czarevna (3) 2:07¼ was by Ansel, a thoroughbred son of Lexington, by Boston. Native Belle, that lowered the two-year-old trotting record to 2:07¾, inherited two strains of the blood of Boston, both of which came through the renowned Lexington.

The above are only a few of the noted trotters that inherited the blood of the famous old four-mile race horse Boston. The Boston strain, coming through Sally Russell or Lexington, cannot be too highly valued by trotting-horse breeders. The more of it that an animal inherits the better.—[Breeder and Sportsman.

Mr. Kennedy Jones, after a careful study of everything that is worth studying, has come to the conclusion that the breeding of a real good racehorse can only be a matter of finding the right method of inbreeding, but Mr. Jones would refrain from any inbreeding rather than practise such on the lines suggested by Bruce Lowe. In his opinion, also in the breeding of good racehorses the road to success leads over a series of disappointments and failures, and it behooves the breeder to study most carefully the causes which may have determined the failure, and to try again on a different line without, however, swerving from one's principle. Nobody knows before what a mare may breed to a given stallion carrying some of the same blood, but one should certainly be aware of either success or failure of the first attempt about twelve months after birth of the foal, and then be able to form an opinion as to whether, or not, the mare is a suitable individual for the purported principle of inbreeding.

If not—and Mr. Kennedy Jones admits that color transmission is a safe guide to control failure or accomplishment of a "nick"—try another combination, until you get some reliable trace as to which ancestral characters are primarily transmitted. For the purpose of such an experiment Mr. Kennedy Jones bought the German-bred filly Orange, by Nuage (by Simonian—Nephte) out of Orla, by Saphir, from Prince Kinsky's string. This breeding is superb, for Saphir is by far the most successful son of the great Herod horse, Chamant. Orange is to be mated this year with Yerres (half-brother to Nuage), a son of the great stayer, Elf II. Thus inbreeding to that wonderful mare Nephte (also dam of Nimbus) is contemplated, and though it is incestuous it may be ventured because the Elf II.-Chamant combination of Herod ought to serve as a most efficient "antidote."—Sporting Life.

LOUISVILLE GOSSIP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 13.—Much work was done by the horses in training at Churchill Downs yesterday. Track conditions had become good again and trainers took advantage of the opportunity.

Of the candidates for the Kentucky Derby Big Smoke did the most impressive work. In his mile of 1:47 4-5 he stepped the first quarter in .25, the half in :51 4-5, the six furlongs in 1:18 4-5 and the seven furlongs in 1:33. He performed without a pacemaker and the fact that he pulled up a bit higher greatly pleased his trainer, William Wallace.

Pockichoo, mile in 1:48 2-5; first six furlongs in 1:18 3-5.

Lena Misha, six furlongs in 1:21 3-5; fractionals, :24 2-5, :37 2-5, :51 2-5, 1:06.

Polroma, six furlongs in 1:20 4-5; first half :52.

Slipshod, seven furlongs in 1:33 2-5; fractionals, :24 2-5, :37 4-5, :50 2-5; five furlongs 1:04 1-5, six furlongs 1:19 2-5.

All of these are Kentucky Derby candidates, and the only one of the lot that had a pacemaker was Slipshod, the three year-old Hubbub working with him.

The best two-year-old work was a quarter by that good filly Little Ford in :23 2-5, while the really best work for as far as six furlongs yet done at the Downs this season was performed by the great English four-year-old filly, Polistena, in George Wingfield's stable Paced by Star Shooter she stepped six furlongs in 1:18.

Other nice training works were:

O'd Man Crit, three furlongs in :39.

Bank, six furlongs in 1:19

Longfellow, half in :52.

Julia L., six furlongs in 1:21.

Black Beauty, half in :50 4-5.

Ghetto Girl, six furlongs in 1:19 3-5; fractionals, :24 1-5, :37 2-5, :50, 1:04 2-5.

Dundreary, six furlongs in 1:23

Kathleen, half in :51 2-5.

Regina, six furlongs in 1:22; first half in :50. Pretender worked with this filly.

Hodge, half mile in :57.

Louise Paul, six furlongs in 1:22 3-5.

Waremore, half in :51 3-5; fractionals, :12, :24 2-5, :37 2-5 (three). Was paced by High Gear.

Lady Worthington, five furlongs in 1:06 3-5; fractionals, :25 2-5, .50.

Avlyn, three furlongs in :37 2-5.

Hemlock, quarter in :25 2-5. Kenward worked with him.

Robert Rodes, quarter in :25 2-5. Beau Weber worked with him.

Alone at Last, half in :55 Top of the Wave worked with him.

The new receiving shed of twelve stalls on the Fourth Avenue side of the Downs track is rapidly nearing completion, and adds considerable in the way of improvement to the stable quarters of the grounds. In this respect the Downs course is now unsurpassed.

Western horses to arrive at the Downs are eight head, in charge of Trainer W. H. Fizer, and the same number in the care of Trainer Al Woodman. Both of these strings come from Southern racing points.

Jockey E. Dugan has arrived here to assume his duties with the Beverwyck stable of F. J. Nolan.

A filly that has made an exceedingly good impression since her arrival at the Downs is the two-year-old Bedtime Stories, in the racing string of William Hurley. This unbeaten daughter of imp Marta Santa stands over much ground for a two-year-old filly and is exceptionally broad in the back, with exceedingly strong hind quarters. All the nice things that were said of her when she won her three races in the South she seems to warrant, and is one winter racing development that seems sure to make good this spring on the Kentucky tracks.

Hurley has two other horses in his stable now at the Downs, one of which is the three-year-old Busy Joe, that has so far won three races this season.

The once famous race rider, Dave Nicol, is here with the stable of F. J. Nolan, and has the mount on the Beverwyck stable's crack Lena Misha in all his Derby preparation. Nicol does not look as heavy as he was when last at either of the local tracks and should he conclude to begin riding again he might be another comeback.

In 1905 Nicol led the winning race riders of America, he having 221 winning mounts to his credit. He became famous that year by having the mount on the late J. R. Keene's celebrated horse, imp. Sysonby, in many of his most brilliant races.

In exercising Lena Misha and his other mounts at the Downs Nicol seems to exhibit in the saddle the same grace and skill that marked his riding when he was one of the star jockeys of the country.

The noted five-year-old gelding Hodge, which is almost a sure starter again in the Clark Handicap at the Downs and the Kentucky Handicap at Douglas Park this spring, has surprised horsemen by the way he has grown and spread out since last season. He no more appears a type of the miniature racehorse, but compares favorably in size with the average geldings of his age in training.

It is the general impression that good as his performances have been in the past Hodge will be better this season than ever before, much like such geldings as Raceland, Checkmate and Parole in the old days.

Trainer Kay Spence has no doubt now that with anything like fair luck in training Hodge can be ready to meet his engagement in the Clark Handicap, though that race is run as early this year as May 20.

There are nineteen horses in training in the racing stable of John W. Schorr, now quartered at Douglas Park. Thirteen of these are three-year-olds and upward, one of which, Dick Williams, is an eligible to the Kentucky Derby, and that gelding, as well as Ellison, another three year-old, is engaged in the Latonia Derby.

The six two-year-olds in the string embrace this winter's winner, the filly Gretchen R., and the following five youngsters, all of which, with but one exception, are colts.

Harry Kelly, ch c, by Ultimus—Woodlane.
Geo. C. Love, b c, by Peep O'Day—Evaline.
Frank Coleman, b c, by Peep O'Day—My Gyps.
Penrod, br c, by Helmet—Gunwad.
Lady Bennett, b f, by Ormondale—Arthasia.

Of these Harry Kelly was bred by Schorr, while George C. Love and Frank Coleman were secured by him when weanlings from their breeder, J. S. Barbee. He bought Penrod from E. R. Bradley and Lady Bennett from George C. Bennett, in whose name the latter is engaged in several stakes on the Kentucky circuit tracks this spring and summer.

Schorr has in the last few days turned down an offer of $10,000 for his four-year-old Ed Crump, the tender being made by H. Perkins, the trainer, who recently purchased Dr. Larrick and Bob Hensley. These two performers have now arrived here and are quartered at Douglas Park. The man Perkins is training for is a new addition to the turf and is credited with the desire to secure a high-class racing stable. He is a wealthy citizen of St. Louis and is reported to have paid $5,500 for the two performers he secured from Elkins. It is said that seeing no chance to purchase a Kentucky Derby eligible for any moderate sum of money he made the offer for Ed Crump, believing that colt a good investment and by securing him his colors could be worn in the Kentucky Handicap this spring. Among the other older horses in the Schorr stable now in training here are David Craig, Mars Cassidy, Sylvan, George Roesch, Lindenthal, Goldcrest Boy and Brownstone. He also has still in training the three-year-old Brizz, which he purchased last year from Mose Goldblatt.

Quite a bunch of the Schorr horses will be sent to Lexington to race this spring, and Harry Kelly is expected to carry his colors in the Breeders' Futurity there.

W. F. Schulte is having trained in the stable of W. Buckner two promising youngsters in the bay filly Twinkle Toes, by Jim Gaffney out of Queen Eleanor, and Sir Wellons, a chestnut colt by Jim Gaffney out of Dinemock. He has this pair well engaged on the Kentucky circuit tracks, and they are two youngsters that showed good development as yearlings. Queen Eleanor, the dam of Twinkle Toes, is by Elector, and is out of Queen Lute, the dam of King Olympian. Sir Wellons' dam, Dinemock, is a daughter of Hammonk, a son of Hanover.

Buckner has three other quite promising two-year-old fillies in his charge. One, a bay named Sophia Gatewood, is a full sister to that popular performer Wilhite; another is Duchess of Lizwell, a chestnut filly that is a full sister to Infidel, being by Radford, out of Miss Matthews; and the other is the bay filly by Nealon out of Bagshot, which has been named Fancy Shot.

The only old horses he has in charge are J. B. Maylon, Flossie Walker and Brave, the latter being the only horse in training at present that is owned by W. G. Yanke. He has been turned out all winter and was only recently taken up and placed in training. Buckner wintered his stable at Churchill Downs and has been in the barn he now occupies since last fall.

The stable of horses owned by A. K. Macomber, and the racing string of the New York turfman, John Sanford, have arrived at Churchill Downs from Charleston, S. C. Macomber's string, consisting of ten horses, is in charge of Trainer W. B. Jennings, while Sanford's string of six horses is in the care of his trainer and agent, Preston Burch. Three of the Macomber horses, Star Hawk, Hesperus and The Cock, are Derby eligibles, and two of the Sanford string, George Smith and St. Isidore, are candidates. Both stables reached the Downs in good condition. The Macomber outfit is in barn E, and the Sanford horses are quartered in barn B.

EDWARD BEATTY COMMITS SUICIDE.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 11.—Failing to hear the muffled report of the shot which killed Edward Beatty, trainer for Kay Spence, Harry Lunsford, a stable boy, slept beside the corpse last night. Awakening at 6:15 o'clock this morning he was horrified to find that his bedfellow had committed suicide.

The act was committed at "Q" stable at Churchill Downs with a 22 caliber rifle that Beatty had given Lunsford as a Christmas present. James Gruber and Russell Hunter, exercise boys, occupied another bed in the room at the stable. They too were not awakened by the shot. Lunsford aroused them after he discovered Beatty was dead with a bullet hole in his left temple. Coroner Ellis Duncan, his deputy, William T. Kammerer, Sergt. Fitzgibbon and County Patrolman Jacob Altes, made an investigation.

Beatty is said to have been drinking of late and at times appeared despondent, but he never intimated that he contemplated suicide. He was not drinking last night and seemed in good spirits when he retired at 10 o'clock. The imprint of the muzzle of the rifle over his heart, indicated that he at first considered shooting himself there, but changed his plan of death. Lying in bed, he braced the butt of the rifle against the wall, held the muzzle to his head with his right hand and used his left hand to pull the trigger. His right hand still clutched the barrel when his death was discovered.

The victim was 36 years old and came here from Ireland several years ago. He had been employed by Spence eighteen months. Following the meeting at Latonia last fall, he brought a number of horses to Churchill Downs for winter quartering. His mother and a brother live in India.

The body was taken to T. A. Blandford's undertaking establishment, 2811 South Fourth street. His employer will have him buried in a local cemetery.

The Cedar Grove Farm stable of Mr. Harry Giddings will be moved to Woodbine in a few weeks. Hearts of Oak has gone to Maryland as a steeplechaser, but will be back for the home racing. Beehive, Harry Bassett II., and Armine constitute the older horses of the stable, the last-named being the Plate candidate. The other members of the string are the following two-year-olds:—

Praline, br f, by Bassetlaw—My Maryland.
Oriana B., br f, by Bassetlaw—Lady Bets.
Bavarde, b f, by Bassetlaw—Cuba Free.
Captain Bee, br g, by St. Bass—Burdette.

Captain Bee is the property of his breeder, Capt. M. Ross Gooderham, now with the overseas forces, and will be trained in the Giddings stable. Beehive is now a gelding.—[Toronto Globe.

William Walker has reported the death of his promising Canadian bred two-year-old Beaches, by Stanley Fay—Pecasta. This youngster showed Walker a furlong in :11 4-5 and a quarter in .23 2-5 before being shipped from New Orleans. He was being worked out of the chute at Bowie when he bolted into the fence and striking a post killed himself.

W. J. Davenport, Jr., has purchased of Joseph M. Hubbard the handsome brown stallion Toy, 6, by The Scribe—Dulcinea.

Wise Judge, 5, by Golden Maxim—Verdict, won the Flying Handicap (top division) at Capetown, Africa, on Feb. 26.

TWENTY LEADING SIRES IN AMERICA IN 1916.

So far this year the sons and daughters of Marta Santa have raced so industriously and so effectively for the credit of their daddy, that he is now leading the American sire list. Moreover, such a sum is already accumulated in his name that he is practically certain to figure high up in the list when the statistics of 1916 are compiled, says Daily Racing Form. For the whole of last year his progeny won a total of $49,007, which placed him ninth in the list of twenty. Now at this early date he stands credited with $20,345 and is far in advance of his nearest rival, which just now is Dick Welles. This latter old time Chicago favorite has fared well of recent years and rumor has it some of his two year-olds coming on are of great speed and promise. He begat a Kentucky Derby winner in Wintergreen early in his stud career. Next to Dick Welles is the reliable and ever prominent Star Shoot, and close up to him in money won, but only a few hundred in advance of McGee and Marathon. It is interesting to note that the two veterans, Cesarion and Sain, hold places in the select list of twenty, while the three-times premier, Broomstick, is not represented. However, so far as the latter is concerned, few of his progeny took part in the winter racing. He will be heard from presently when the big money of the turf is being contended for. Just now our twenty leading sires and the names and earnings of their representatives are:

CONFLICTING DATES IN CANADA.

It is not to be reasonably expected that having framed a schedule for the coming season, with the desirability of avoiding conflicting dates as a dominating influence, the Canadian Racing Associations will agree to an alteration that will enable the Dorval Jockey Club to race with their sanction on a day when there is also racing at Woodbine. Nor is it reasonable to expect that the Woodbine people would agree to such a change. It has, however, been proposed by Dorval and it is announced that the change has been definitely decided on by the Montreal club. This action is possibly an outcome of the reported alliance between the numerous independent and half-mile tracks in that neighborhood and Dorval, though Delorimier Park has already claimed May 27 as one of its racing dates. Montreal has so many of these institutions, and they are in the hands of so many promoters who have no real interest in the turf, in sport, or in Canada, except to exploit the possibilities of the Canadian public, that it will not be surprising if they eventually kill their own game.

An Ottawa special to The Globe says that the Connaught Park Jockey Club directors, whose property is situated on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River, were approached on behalf of the project for a combination of the Montreal tracks, other than Blue Bonnets, with which went the story that there was assurance of a Provincial Commission to control racing in Quebec. The Toronto half-mile tracks were to be left out of consideration, and would have to race, if they wanted clear time, on whatever dates were not taken by the eastern tracks. Ottawa sentiment, however, is very positively against any affiliation with or encouragement of the "bull-ring" tracks and syndicate rings that have done so much to bring racing into disrepute in Montreal. Connaught Park could gain nothing by entering such company, but would lose the support of the most desirable of the local element. It aims to be in the first class, and to get as far away as possible from the second raters. Its program this year is designed for the encouragement of good horses, not for the five-furlong kind that constitutes the material of the half-milers. And it is meant for a permanent institution, having nothing in common with the mushroom enterprises and vagrant promoters that afflict the sport in Montreal.—[Francis Nelson in Toronto Globe.

TEXT OF NEW ORLEANS DECISION.

The text of the decision of Judge Skinner in the Civil District court at New Orleans, dismissing the suits demanding a receiver for the Business Men's Racing Association, is available for publication.

Miss Jean Gordon's petition asserted the association was organized to conduct a business contrary to law and good morals, gambling being the real intent of the races. Judge Skinner decided that the criminal courts are alone vested with the power to pass upon the merits of Miss Gordon's charge.

Alfred Page, who was for two years assistant secretary of the association, charged in his petition that the board had mismanaged the affairs of the association and had voted its members compensation. Judge Skinner held that Page was without power to file the suit, as he holds only one or two shares of stock and the law gives that power only to holders of ten per cent. of the capital.

Judge Skinner's decision was couched in the following language:

"Article 168 of the constitution says: 'Gambling is a vice and the legislature shall enact laws to suppress it.'

"This is a specific grant of power to that body, and the courts are without power generally to define what is gambling or to extend the penalties, fixed by statute, for gambling.

"The court is without power to extend the enumerated causes for the appointment of receivers beyond those set forth in act 145, of 1908, either for the gambling features of a corporation, or to increase the penalties attached to the violation of a criminal statute, by adding thereto the further penalty of appointing a receiver.

"This court is without jurisdiction to find that the Locke law has been violated and that, therefore, the directors have acted ultra vires That function belongs to the Criminal Court exclusively.

"In the Page suit the cause of action is recited to be the wastage of the funds of the corporation by payments to improper persons in violation of the rights of the stockholders.

"Page, however, is the holder of only two or three shares of the capital stock.

"This is not one of the enumerated causes for the appointment of a receiver. Plaintiff's remedy, if any, and if properly before the court, would, as indicated by the corporation act, section 19 of act 267, of 1916, which provides that stockholders holding not less than ten per cent. of its stock may vest the court with jurisdiction for the purpose of regulating the conduct of directors and to compel payment by them to the company of all moneys wasted by them in violation of their duties as directors.

"This being the remedy in such cases, the court will hold that the application of Page for a receiver, shows no cause of action. Suit is dismissed."

GREAT FIELD IN INAUGURAL HANDICAP.

Manager John Hschmeister, of the Latonia Jockey Club, has made public the list of nominations in the Inaugural Handicap, which will as usual be run off this season on the opening day of the summer meeting at the Latonia course, Wednesday, June 14. This event is one of the feature races at Latonia this season and ranks in importance with the big handicaps for all ages, which are set to be decided on various tracks throughout the country this year.

Latonia has always had a great summer racing season. Of course the great race at Latonia this season is the $15,000 Derby, one mile and a half, and which has a larger number of nominations than any three-year-old stake run off in Kentucky. It has been an annual fixture at this course for many years, and it has taken a real race horse to capture the prize in nearly every instance. Its array of sixty entries this season insures that not only in size, but in quality, the event will have one most brilliant field of its long history.

Another great race at Latonia this season is the Cincinnati Trophy, which last year, and the same this season, will be one of the richest races for two-year-olds run on the Kentucky circuit tracks. The other great events at Latonia are the Independence Handicap, with $2,500 added the Clipsetta and Harold Stakes and Quickstep Handicap, each with $2,000 added, and the Merchants' and Valuation Stakes, each with $1,500 added. The stakes at Latonia this season alone carry an added valuation of $27,500 and on the average, and in fact in every instance, they have filled better than the stakes on any of the other Kentucky tracks.

The entries in full in the Inaugural Handicap, are given below. This event was first run in 1913, and Gowell won, while in 1914, Belloc got home in front. Last year it fell to Prince Hermis, which performer is also among the nominations for the stake this season. Among the sixty-eight entries this year is H. P. Whitney's great unbeaten filly, Regret, and his aged gelding, Borrow, which won the $15,000 Kentucky Handicap in 1915. The list follows:

The Inaugural Handicap, with $2,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward; one mile and a sixteenth.

W. P. Fraser, Secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club, announces ten stakes in THE RECORD this week for the spring meeting, May 20 to 27, to close on May 3. There are five stakes for three-year-olds and upward, one for three-year-olds, three for two-year-olds, and a steeplechase for four-year-olds and upward, full conditions being published in the announcement on another page. Seven races will be run daily at this meeting, one of them a steeplechase, and the lowest value of any overnight purse will be $600. Entrance money in all cases goes to the winner.

Entry blanks may be had at THE RECORD office.

WINDSOR JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

Secretary Walter O. Parmer announces in THE RECORD the stakes for the two meetings at Windsor, to close on Thursday, May 11. The list includes eight fixtures of the Canadian turf, of which the Frontier Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a furlong, holds the place of honor with $5,000 in added money. This stake will be contested at the first meeting, from July 15 to 22. Other stakes that will be run off at this session will be the D. and C. Stake, the Edenwold Stake and the second half of the Windsor Double Event of 1913.

The stakes for the second meeting, extending from Aug. 16 to 23, will comprise the Detroit and Windsor Ferry Co. Handicap, the George Hendrie Memorial Handicap, the Canadian Handicap and the Windsor Double Event of 1914.

SALE OF THE DURYEA IMPORTED HORSES.

The race horses and yearlings from the Haras du Gazon, Normandy, France, property of the estate of the late H. B. Duryea, will be sold by public auction at Belmont Park on Thursday, May 27. The sale will be conducted by the Powers-Hunter Co. These horses are now on exhibition at the Haggin Stables, Neck Road, Sheepshead Bay, N. Y. During the half a dozen years Mr. Duryea raced and bred horses in France and England, he bought generously and with discrimination. The thoroughbred industry of America will get the benefit of Mr. Duryea's vast experience and wealth. Send for catalogue to Powers-Hunter Co., 569 Fifth Ave., New York.

Beulah S., a six-year-old mare by Filigrane—Maid of the Order, died this week at the Kentucky Association track. She was the property of Dan W. Scott. During her racing career she started in one hundred races, was first seventeen times, second ten times and third thirteen times.

AGE OF SUCCESSFUL SIRES.

One of the perplexing questions which arises in a study devoted to Horse Husbandry is the age of the stallion at which he is best able to transmit the more valuable qualities of his breed. The concensus of opinion among breeders seems to be that a stallion is not prepared to do his best work in the stud until he has some five or six years experience in stud duty.

It is understood, of course, that the young stallion does not have the same opportunity in the stud as the older one has, which has established his reputation. This is because the owners of successful broodmares will not as a rule breed their great matrons to young, untried horses. They seek the successful sire, no matter what the stud fees may be. This fact of itself puts young sires at a disadvantage.

F. S. Becker has recently issued a set of charts of the successful sire lines of English Thoroughbred Horse. He gives the winners of the twelve principle classic contests of England. At the same time he gives sire of winner and age of sire. The table given herewith has been compiled from his charts by one of our students, J. T. Campbell. The column giving the ages of sires indicates that this is the age at which the mating was made which produced the winner. According to this table the most successful years are from 6 to 13. From 13 to 22 there is also a series of years which are successful in a less marked degree.

So many things can happen to a stallion after he has passed the age of 14 and 15 that it is reasonable to assume that the ranks are very greatly thinned each year from that time onward. This writer believes that it is the decrease in number of aged sires in service that accounts for their being fewer successful sires from 14 onward. He also believes that the few winners attributed to sires of three and four years of age is due not so much to their lack of ability to sire speed, as it is due to the limit of opportunity which young horses have. The horse does not reach full physical maturity until the close of his fourth year, at which time his stud duty should begin.

If we apply this test to the table given, the young sire of five, six, seven years of age, when his opportunities are considered, proves to be as successful as the older ones. The obvious conclusion must be reached that after a stallion arrives at maturity there is no one age at which he is better than the other, so long as he retains his vigor.

My Gyps, 27 years old, by Kyrle Daly—Naga, by Enquirer, foaled on April 16 a bay filly by Peep O'Day. This filly is a sister to Light O' My Life, La Mode, John Gund, Frank Coleman and a half-sister to My Gipsy, Gypsie, Belle Graham, My Gum and La Londe. My Gyps has had twelve foals, old enough to race, nine of them being winners, two of them finishing second, and one being injured and never in the money. How many thoroughbred mares have produced at 27 years of age or hold a better batting average than she does? My Gyps will be bred to Brummel this season and we have no doubt she will produce another race horse by him.

Big Smoke, Sheriff Bradley's Kentucky Derby candidate, struck himself in his last workout and in all probability can not be gotten ready for the Kentucky Derby. He is getting along very well, however, there being no fever in his leg Thursday. He will not be rushed in his work, so look out for him in the Latonia Derby.

In response to a request from the Golden Gate Thoroughbred Breeders' Association, of San Francisco, which is preparing to offer to the California Legislature for adoption a duplicate of the Kentucky law creating a State Racing Commission, for information as to whether this law was giving satisfaction, Gov. A. O. Stanley has advised President Charles W. Clark as follows:

"It gives me pleasure today that the turf in Kentucky under the present law and through the administration of the State Racing Commission is in the most flourishing condition.

"It is the sentiment of the people who are engaged in breeding and racing horses in Kentucky that the passage of this law was the salvation of the vast breeding industry and the great sport of racing in this State.

"As conducted under the administration of our State Racing Commission the sport in Kentucky is clean and the people who patronize it are well satisfied.

"This law became effective in April, 1906, and during the ten years of its operation no amendment to it has been offered."

Any three-year-old trained by T. C. McDowell is always accorded great respect by good judges, so successful has his colors been in Derby races. In 1902 he won the Kentucky Derby with Alan-a-Dale; in 1903 he captured the Latonia Derby with Woodlake, and twice he has won the Canadian Derby, first with The Manager in 1912, and with Waterblossom last season.

This year the McDowell stable has two Derby candidates. They are McDowell's gelding, Checks, by Marathon—Monarda, and Votary, a chestnut colt by Voter—Ecstasy, owned by the J. B. Haggin Estate.

Speed and then more speed is the order of the day at the local track, where perhaps never so many really good horses awaited the opening of racing, as are now quartered there. All the horses are fit and ready for the meeting, which is now but a few days off and if they run to their work, the Lexington trainers need have no apologizes to offer.

J. O. Keene's two-year old filly Petrovna, daughter of Peter Quince and Micaela, furnished the sensation for an unusually large Sunday morning crown at the Kentucky Association course. She was sent out with Pas de Chance to work from the three-eighths post to the stand. They paraded the first eighth in 0:11 1-5, the quarter in 0:22 4 5, with Petrovna in front and steadily increasing her lead until she reached the finish in 0:34 3 5, better than two lengths ahead of her stable mate. This was a fifth of a second faster than Westy Hogan's three-eighths Friday morning, but the fact remains that the son of Dick Finnell and Carrie Jones ran the first quarter of his work all up grade, while only the first eighth of the filly's move was over that ground. Petrovna's move was considerably better than Jacoba's best at the distance this time last season, and Keene all along has said she is a far superior filly. With Westy Hogan, Petrovna, Harry Kelly, Platt, Sleeper. Midway, Satin, America, Queen Errant, Ticker, Sunflash, Buford and Diversion among its probable starters, a wonderfully good race is in prospect for the Breeders' Futurity, which is to feature the closing day of the Lexington spring meeting.

Keene worked half a dozen other two year-olds this morning, Yermila and Katenka going three-eighths in 0:35 3 5, Bassilius and Comacho in 0:36, and Pulaski and Private, both the property of F. A. Forsythe, a quarter in 0:23, head and head. S. K. Hughes' Flora Finch worked a half in 0:49; Jack Weaver's bay colt, Jack Wiggins, a half in 0:49; G. W. J. Bissell's Dental and Seminole, a quarter in 0:23 1-5; Helmet's Daughter and Sister Emblem, Hinata Stakes candidates from the same stable, in 0:24; Will Perkins' Bert Williams, three-eighths in 0:36, and Buford, from T. P. Hayes' stable worked in the same time. John Nichols' Velvet Joe stepped a half in 0:50, and John M. Goode's Trapper in 0:50 3-5.

The Kentucky Derby candidates out this morning were Bulse, a mile in 1:43 2-5, easing up, but showing plenty of foot, the first quarter being in 0:24, the half in 0:49 2-5, the five-eighths in 1:02 and the three-quarters, 1:15 2 5. Jockey W. Meehan rode him. Shortly before Bulse worked T. P. Hayes stripped Kinney in front of the stand and put up Jockey F. Williams, and the winner of last year's Breeders' Futurity worked with surprising ease a mile in 1:42 3-5, the fractional time being 0:12, 0:24, 0:36 2 5, 0:48 1 5, 1:02, 1:15 2 5, 1:29 3 5. Dr. Moore went a mile in 1:44 3 5, Gypsey George, three-quarters in 1:18 3 5, Prince Harry, three eighths, 0:36, in preparation for a work out Monday. Hank O'Day, candidate for the Camden Handicap, worked a mile in 1:44, as did Louise Stone, candidate for the Ashland Oaks and Sister Susie, candidate for the Brewers' Stakes.

On Monday the track was slow in the morning, on account of rain Sunday night, but dried out later in the day and some fairly good works were noted as follows:

Blanchita—Three-quarters in 1:23.
Bell Boy—Three-quarters in 1:23.
Broom Flower—Mile in 1:45 1-5.
Checks—Three-quarters in 1:23.
Dr. D.—Half-mile in 0:51 2-5.
Dr. Carmen—Mile in 1:49.
Ethel May—Three-quarters in 1:17.
Guide Post—Five-eighths in 1:05.
Grosvenor—Mile in 1:47 3-5.
Impression—Mile in 1:46.
J. C. Stone—Five-eighths in 1:05.
John Gund—Five-eighths in 1:05.
Liberator—Five eighths in 1:05.
Lady Rotha—Mile in 1:44 2-5.
Prince—Five-eighths in 1.05.
Poppoe—Three-quarters in 1:25.
Prince Harry—Mile in 1:46.
Southern League—Mile in 1:53.
Star Jasmine—Five-eighths in 1:07.
Sister Susie—Half-mile in 0:56.
Westy Hogan—Five-eighths in 1:07 4 5.
Waterblossom—Five eighths in 1:05.

On Tuesday the J. B. Livingston stable was on parade and drew favorable expressions from the visitors and work watchers. It was the first time Trainer Herman Brandt had asked anything of them since their arrival from Louisville. The entire 11 breezed three quarters in from 1:16 to 1:18. Julia L., Royal II. and Colonel Vennie, the stable's hope for the Kentucky Derby, were particularly well liked.

The best move of the day was Star Jasmine, from T. C. McDowell's stable, a mile in 1:41 1 5. T. P. Hayes' Donerail, appears to be back to his three-year old form. Senator J. N. Camden's One Step worked a mile in 1:42. Embroidery, owned by A. B. Hancobk, also eligible to the Camden Handicap and likewise trained by J. C. Milam, worked three-quarters in 1:16 2 5.

J. W. Parrish's Kentucky Derby candidate, with Jockey W. Meehan in the saddle, caused clockers to sit up and take notice and railbirds to declare they had seen the 1916 Derby winner when he worked a mile in 1:42 over the Kentucky Association course. Bulse worked in the most impressive style.

Working alone, the big chestnut went the first quarter in 0:24 1 5, the half in 0:49 2 5, the five-eighths in 1:02, the three-quarters in 1:15 and the seven-eighths in 1:28 2 5. He was going strong and was full of run at the finish of the mile, but Meehan eased him down and the big colt galloped out the mile and one-eighth in 1:55 4-5.

Bulse's stablemate, Dr. Moore, also a Derby eligible, worked a mile in 1:42 2 5 in a highly satisfactory manner.

Hank O'Day, a Camden Handicap eligible, worked five-eighths in 1:05. Midway, the half-brother to Buckhorn, and Sleeper, candidates for the Breeders' Futurity, worked a half each, the former pulling up in 0:49 after three-eighths in 0:35 2-5, and the latter in 0:48 3 5.

On Thursday, Hank O'Day, candidate for the Camden Handicap, and Louis Stone, candidate for the Ashland Oaks, both from J. S. Hawkins' stable, worked a mile over the Kentucky Association track in 1:41 2 5. They moved impressively. John H. Stamper's Prince Harry, trained by Grover Hughes, worked a mile in 1:43 2 5 in preparation for the Kentucky Derby. It was an interesting improvement on his previous effort. Big Fellow was with him for the first three-quarters. Gipsey George, owned by Mose Moore and trained by Will Perkins, went a mile in 1:43 3-5. He is also eligible to the Derby.

The most sparkling display of speed ever seen here, however, came from the down hill run from the head of the stretch to the finishing post of the California filly, Aunt Liz, owned by Charles W. Clark and trained by John Lowe. She did it in 0:22 and was timed by at least twenty men, among them John Lowe, Paddy Tomlinson, Charles H. Hughes, Louis Cahn and B. Lowenstein. This filly has no stake engagements here and it is fortunate for some of the owners of two-year-olds that she hasn't. She started twice at New Orleans and won each time, the first time setting the track record for half a mile at 0:47 2 5.

Satin, the half-sister to Marse Henry and Casuarina, owned by Senator J. N. Camden and trained by J. C. Milam, worked a half-mile in 0:49.

The Kentucky Sales Co. announces that the sale advertised for May 8th will not be held. CINCINNATI TROPHY'S BIG ENTRY LIST.

LATONIA, KY., April 17.—The Cincinnati Trophy, the big feature race for two-year-olds of the Latonia summer meeting, closed with the huge number of 121 entries. This event, when first inaugurated in 1902, was known as the Fleischmann Trophy, due to the fact that Julius Fleischmann, at one time mayor of Cincinnati in its early days, always gave to it a handsome loving cup for a trophy. After the track at Latonia passed into its present management, Manager John Hachmeister decided to continue to give a loving cup annually to the race, but changed the name of the event to the Cincinnati Trophy.

Annually the Cincinnati Trophy has resulted in a star field going to the post. Among its winners since it was first run, have been two subsequent Derby winners in Governor Gray and Old Rosebud. Other winners of such events that have started in the race embrace Sir Huon, Joe Morris, Donau and Worth. In several instances the placed horses in the Cincinnati Trophy have been the spring favorites for Kentucky Derbies.

This year many Eastern turfmen have made extensive nominations and some of these have never before made entries in such events on any Kentucky track.

The Latonia summer meeting begins this year on Wednesday, June 14 and comes to a close on Tuesday, July 11, a racing period of twenty-four days. The great feature race is the Latonia Derby, at one mile and a half, with $10,000 added, and which has closed with sixty entries. The Easterners who have the best of their stables engaged in the Derby are W. R. Coe, A. K. Macomber, F. J. Nolan, J. Sanford and H. P. Whitney, the latter having no less than seven entries.

The other stakes to be run at the Latonia summer meeting are:

The Independence Handicap, with $2,500 added; closed with 62 entries.

The Inaugural Handicap, with $2,000 added; closed with 68 entries.

The Quickstep Handicap, with $2,000 added; closed with 63 entries.

The Merchants' Stakes (selling), with $1,500 added; closed with 98 entries.

AMENDMENTS TO RULES OF RACING

Amendments to the rules of racing were adopted at the regular monthly meeting of The Jockey Club, which have been subjects of considerable discussion among turfmen during the past winter, and thus far during the spring, and that they are changes for the better goes without saying.

The first amendment passed changed Rule 39, relative to the naming of horses, so that hereafter no name which has been employed during the previous ten years, either in the stud or on the turf, may be duplicated. Formerly the time limit was five years, and it was found that this was not sufficient to prevent confusion in horse nomenclature.

A more important amendment was the amendment to Rule 4. The Jockey Club, recognizing that there were too many mere sprints in racing programs, enacted a rule that after May 31 each year, only one overnight event of less than one mile should be given for three-year-olds and upward, but added: "But should it be found necessary to add an extra race, this rule shall not apply."

In many cases this paragraph practically nullified the operation of the rule as far as its original purpose was concerned, for secretaries who were especially anxious for big fields, made their programs so that extra races were found necessary every day, they made these extras for short distances, and sprints continued to predominate just as they had before the passage of the original rule The Jockey Club took a very simple but effectual method of suppressing this abuse, by striking out the exception and leaving the rule in full force, unhampered by any nullifying provision.

At the meeting of the stewards of The Jockey Club it was decided that the rule doing away with the allowance of three pounds to geldings was not retroactive and that geldings were entitled to the three-pound allowance in all stakes which closed prior to the passage of the rule referred to.

The action of the stewards upon trainers' and jockeys' licenses speaks for itself.

Doubtless the case which attract most attention is that of Carroll H. Shilling, who applied for a jockey's license and whose application was denied. Shilling was an admittedly capable jockey, and that the stewards found it advisable to refuse him a license may be taken as an evidence that they felt themselves unable to grant him one conscientiously. This jockey's marked ability in the saddle could not fail to exert a strong influence upon the turfmen who have taken adverse action on his application, and it may be assumed with perfect safety that in their decision they were not actuated by anything but a sincere and conscientious regard for the best interests of racing.

Following are the official reports of the two meetings:

The chairman, August Belmont, presided.

On motion, duly seconded, the following amendments to the rules of racing were approved:

Rule 39—In tenth line, strike out "five" and substitute "ten."

So that this rule will now read:

"No name that has been employed during the previous ten years either in the stud or on the turf, shall be duplicated."

In Rule 4 in the fifth line strike out:

"But should it be found necessary to add an extra race this rule shall not apply to such race." making Rule 4 now read:

"After May 31 in each year, only one overnight event for a distance of less than a mile for horses three-year-olds and upward shall be given on any race day."

On motion, duly seconded, the meeting adjourned.

At a meeting of the stewards of The Jockey Club there were present: August Belmont, F K. Sturgis, H. K. Knapp, F. R. Hitchcock, Andrew Miller and Schuyler L. Parsons. The chairman, August Belmont, presided.

On motion, duly seconded, it was resolved that the amendment to the rule doing away with the allowance of three pounds to geldings was not retroactive, and that geldings were entitled to the three-pound allowance in all stakes which closed prior to the passage of this rule.

On motion, duly seconded, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, that Allan Pinkerton, of the Pinkerton National Detective Agency, or his duly authorized representative, be empowered to grant and revoke licenses or permits to all jockeys' valets, and it is further

Resolved, that, once revoked, a licence or permit to a jockey's valet can only be restored on the approval of the stewards of The Jockey Club.

On motion, duly seconded, on the report of the license committee, a hearing was granted ex-Jockey H. Wood, to be announced later.

The application of J. H. Buscher for a trainer's license was denied.

The application of Frederick Schelke for a trainer's license was denied.

The application of Carroll H. Shilling for a jockey's license was denied.

The application of John Dorsey, ruled off the turf, for reinstatement was denied.

The application of Mortimer J. Murphy for a trainer's license was approved.

Mr. Foxhall Keene's Puss in Boots has been entered for the Oaks and has arrived at Newmarket. It is safe, to assume, therefore, that she is a filly exceedingly well thought of, though she would not pass muster for the General Stud Book. She traces, however, longo intervallo, to the imported Cub mare, which was of No. (4) family, and is stated in the 1st Volume of the American Stud Book, to have been of immense value to the future of American bloodstock. Strange and weird individuals appear in the pedigree of Puss in Boots before you get to the Cub mare. She is by Peter Pan, which was by Commando out of Cinderella (imp.), by Hermit out of Mazurka, by See-Saw out of Mabille(sister to Cremorne). So far, so good, and I myself was mainly responsible for sending out Cinderella to the late Mr. James K. Keene. The dam of Puss in Boots is Star Cat, by Star Shoot (imp.) and this, again, is all right, but afterwards we step out into the wilds, for Star Cat is out of Catalina II., by Hindoo out of Juanita, by Wanderer, her dam Mat Eagless, by Swigert's Lexington out of Eagless, by Glencoe (imp.) out of mare by Grey Eagle out of Mary Morris, by Medoc out of Miss Obstinate, by Sumpter out of Jenny Slammerkin, by Tiger, and so on for seven or eight more removes before we get to the tap-root, the imported Cub mare. The pedigree is like the curate's egg—parts of it are excellent, and it may well be that the lines of Glencoe, through Hindoo (sire of Hanover) and Eagless, have contributed to a good result, not to mention further Glencoe blood through Pocahontas in Mazurka. But take it on the whole, I cannot think such a bred one as Puss in Boots will beat our best, though who knows what may happen after we have seen Durbar win the Derby.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

THE KENTUCKY THOROUGHBRED HORSE ASSOCIATION.

At a meeting of horsemen last Saturday at the Phœnix Hotel an organization to be known and incorporated as the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association with its principal offices at Lexington was formed with sixty-one men signing the membership enrollment.

Messrs. Milton Young, J. O. Keene, A. B. Hancock, John S. Barbee, Hal Price Headley, Thomas P. Hayes, Thomas C. McDowell, Charles H. Berryman and F. A. Forsythe were elected a board of directors.

Hal Price Headley was elected President, Milton Young, Vice President, Thomas B. Cromwell, Secretary, and the Phœnix and Third National Bank Treasurer.

The association is in the form of a non-stock corporation and the articles of incorporation drawn up and accepted by the charter members state that the purpose of the association shall be to bring breeders, owners and trainers of thoroughbred horses, fair managers, horse show directors and everyone interested in the thoroughbred turf into closer relations; to improve the breed of the horse, and to protect the members and the interests of horse racing.

The membership fee is $10, no dues are collected the first year, after that the dues are $10 annually.

During the meeting letters were read from horsemen from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Washington, which applauded the step taken by the horse breeders for organization and spoke encouragingly of the future.

Following is a list of the names of those taking membership: Dr. W. E. Coover, J. O. Whitlow, J. D. Adkins, J. S. Hawkins, Milton Young, Hal Price Headley, W. S. Payne, A. B. Gallatter, J. C. Milam, A. B. Hancock, T. C. McDowell, R. H. Anderson, J. O. Keene, John W. Schorr, Martin Doyle, C. H. Berryman, W. J. Young, W. S. Threlkeld, John D. Carr, F. A. Forsythe, G. H. Keene, Cal T. HANDSOME TROPHY ADDED TO BIG PURSE.

In addition to its record five thousand dollar cash purse the Great United Hunts Steeplechase, one of the races to run at Belmont Park Terminal on May 13, the first day of the annual spring meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association, will carry a handsome trophy, for the owner of the winning horse.

The donor of this trophy is the Hon. Perry Belmont, president of the United Hunts Racing Association. The trophy is a copy of the famous "Waterloo Cup," made in London in 1797. It is of silver, urn shaped, octangular in form, and stands on a square base. It must be won twice, not necessarily consecutively nor by the same horse, and replicas will be given to all winners of a single race.

In addition to its record purse the Great United Hunts Steeplechase received a record number of entries at the time of its preliminary closing on March 23. The number will be further increased when the final closing date for entries for all thirteen races on the two days program, comes on April 20th.

The list of donors of cups or plate for the coming race meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association, already includes in addition to Mr. Perry Belmont, Messrs. Alexander Smith Cochran, J. Watson Webb, John McE. Bowman, and Mrs. Payne Whitney. Cash purses, totaling $.3,500 have already been provided for the thirteen races, seven of which are on the program for May 13 and six to be run on May 17.

AMERICAN-BRED HORSES IN INDIA AND ITALY.

At the Calcutta (India) Winter Meeting. Dolly Dimple, five-year-old, by Hawkswick out of Dimple by Mirthful, won the Canal Plate $530; the Tally Ho Plate, $1,000, by three lengths, and the Serpentine Plate, $500. Dolly Dimple, which raced as Dimpwick in England also won two races at Calcutta in 1914. Another winner in India was Maxima, five-year-old, by Golden Maxim out of Doughnuts by Durbin. In February last she won the Elgin Plate, $330, one mile, carrying 121 lbs., by one and three-quarter lengths, and four days later carried off the one and a half mile First Class Plate $330, with 131 lbs. As a four-year-old she won four races at Calcutta. These two mares, bred by Mr. Henry T. Oxnard, at the Blue Ridge Stud, Va., have, therefore, up to the close of last season won eleven races in India. Another useful performer from the same stud, and now racing in Italy is Not Guilty, by Ormondale out of Verdict. Sent to Italy in 1913 that season he won five races value $2 700. In 1914 he won four races worth $3,720. In 1915 he won four flat races and five over jumps, his earnings amounting to $5,490. In March 1916 Not Guilty won two more races. So far, therefore, he has won twenty races in Italy.

THE ANCESTRY OF THOROUGHBREDS.

The following is taken from London Horse and Hound of March 25, written by the editor of that paper, who is a well-known authority on breeding questions:

What Lord Redesdale has to say on Norman and Saxon ancestry coincides to a great extent with my reasons for not placing much belief in the value of mares and horses going back to the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries, except, of course, in the cases of a few of the most famous males such as Eclipse, &c., tracing to the latter half of the eighteenth century. Indeed, I am convinced, as I have often written before in these columns, that a satisfactory pedigree of six generations, without any great blemishes—by blemishes I mean the names of horses of both sexes which are virtually not to be found in any other pedigree of similar length, and consequently were failures at the Stud—is a sufficient guide for all latter-day blending of the thoroughbred horse. I might here remark that according to the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" the compiler of Vol. I. of the 'Stud Book," on which so much depends so far as the Figure System is concerned, had to go back fully a century with little else to guide him than odds and ends in the way of publications and tradition; also that ten generations back a horse has 1024 progenitors in the same remove. This fact was very lucidly explained in an extremely able article by a friend of mine, which appeared in "Horse and Hound" on May 28th, 1910, and in which the writer stated:—"As we must assume that both sire and dam contribute towards their offspring, and we cannot say which parent will predominate, it must be accepted that on the average each parent will contribute one-half. By the same reasoning each grandparent will contribute on the average one-quarter, each great-grandparent one-eighth, and each ancestor in the tenth remove one-1024th."

It is for the reasons given above that I never prefix family numbers or indications of any kind to animals whose names appear in the pedigree tables in my articles on "Sires of the Period" other than those who have won either the Derby, Oaks, or St. Leger. The pointing out of such classic winners in a pedigree is, in my humble opinion, of some value to the student of breeding, inasmuch as those animals who have proved successful in these races are usually the best of their year. I am fully convinced that if owners of mares would make out for themselves, or have tabulated for their use, pedigrees of similar length on these lines, in order to compare them with those to be found in the table of the sire they contemplate using for a certain mare, no further guide is necessary. Suitable conformation, and an endeavor to breed out the faults to be found in either parent, is of course, of vast importance, but if one finds that the blood of the horse and mare has a reasonable chance of "nicking," without too much dangerous in-breeding, in all human probability the results will prove satisfactory. Anyway, they are just as likely to come up to expectation and with as pleasing returns as any other system that the mind of man has as yet conceived to produce a good horse. One thing is certain, viz., that the in-breeding craze, for which the success of Flying Fox was largely responsible, will not prove satisfactory; for this system has already terribly affected the constitutions, powers of endurance, and general soundness of our latter-day thoroughbreds. By inbreeding I mean that the use of the same common ancestor at less than four generations off should be avoided, as at this margin there is less danger of such mating producing a thoroughbred of an unduly overstrung temperament or a bad constitution, than when a closer system of breeding is attempted.

From New Zealand comes another official time record. When Goldsize won the South Auckland Cup at the recent South Auckland, R. C. meeting, he was credited with running a mile and a quarter in 2:05, an Australasian record. Private watches made the time 2:06 2-5, and an Auckland writer says this is more likely to be generally accepted. The time taken by the club official must go on the records.—Sydney Referee.

Wise Judge, b h, 5, by Golden Maxim out of Verdict, won the five furlongs Flying Handicap of $500 at Cape Town on February 26th. He won by half a length, with eight lengths between second and third. This is the sixth race he has won this season in South Africa, where altogether he has been successful in ten races up to date.

Trainer Herman Brandt arrived from Louisville this week with a dozen of Jeff Livingston's horses, among them being Royal II., Colonel Vennie, Julia L., Fleuro, Petla, Mandy Hamilton, Sanward, Combey, Ed. Howard, Cash on Delivery and Sansyming. Brandt says Colonel Vennie is training fine. He and the other English horses in the string look greatly improved over their appearance of last season.

The new rule dividing the run-up money equally between all the horses in the race is meeting with some criticism. It is urged that owners of inferior horses that have no earthly chance to win or get in the money will enter their horses just to get a share of any run-up money that may be coming. In the case of the last race at Bowie Monday there was $500 run-up money to be divided among six horses, making a neat sum for each. —[Parole, in Baltimore News.

Work is well advanced on the erection of the new grandstand at Blue Bonnets. There will be no seats on the roof of the new structure, but it will be deeper and will have a seating capacity double that of the former stand. It will be of about the same length.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and carried, the following License Committee was appointed by the Chairman: Mr. Charles F. Grainger, Mr. T. H. Talbot, Mr. S. C. Nuckols, Jr.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and carried, it was resolved that the officers of the different Associations of the State are invited to attend all the meetings of the Kentucky State Racing Commission.

Motion duly made, seconded and carried, that the Secretary send to each Association and each member of of the Commission a certified copy of the minutes of each meeting of the Kentucky State Racing Commission.

Upon motion duly made and seconded the following new rule was offered:

"No horse foaled in 1915 or thereafter shall run in any race before April first of his two year-old year under penalty of thereby disqualifying himself for all races under these rules until December 31st of his two-year-old year."

The following recommendation was offered and approved:

"To the Honorable The Kentucky State Racing Commission,

"The undersigned committee appointed by your honorable body to recommend for your consideration suitable rules providing for the increase in length of races to be run on the Kentucky Tracks under your jurisdiction, respectfully recommend as follows:

"First, That there shall not be offered more than two races on the program of any day for two-year-olds.

"Second, That there shall not be offered on the program of any day more than two races for three-year-olds and upwards, of less than one mile.

"Third, That the remainder of the daily program exclusive of Stake events, shall be for races of one mile or over, one of which races shall be of a mile and one-eighth or over, other than selling races, with not less than $800 added money, except that this provision as to added money shall not apply to Lexington.

"Fourth, We further recommend that not less than two condition races, or handicaps, per week shall be offered by each racing association of not less than one mile and a quarter each, after May 15th, and all races shall close with four entries.

"Fifth, Further we recommend that not to exceed three over-night selling races shall be offered by any Association on any one day.

"Sixth, It is the sense of your committee that in view of the proposed increase in the length of races, the scale of weights should be increased so that no horse shall carry less than 100 pounds in handicaps and that the top weight shall not be less than seven pounds below the scale.

"We respectfully recommend that the foregoing shall apply to the Spring 1916 meetings only, and that if it meets the approval of your honorable body that this or a similar committee be authorized to re-convene after the Spring meetings to further consider the subject and recommend to your honorable body.

"We respectfully suggest for your consideration that the Jockey Club be advised of these recommendations and its co-operation be requested in the matter of increasing the distance of racing.

"Respectfully submitted,

"(Signed) A. B. HANCOCK, Chairman.

It was moved, seconded and carried that the Racing Secretaries be requested to carry out the provisions in every sense as nearly as practicable, and that a copy of same be sent to each Association.

Upon motion duly made, seconded and carried, the Secretary of the Racing Commission was instructed to write each Association in regard to strictly enforcing Rule No. 208-A, which reads as follows:

"The stewards shall have the power to suspend or exclude from the stands and grounds improper and objectional characters and persons who have been ruled off for corrupt practices on the turf in any country so long as the sentence against such person remains in force." (In the future any person suspended by the stewards acting upon the different tracks in Kentucky will not be permitted to come upon the tracks during their suspension."

The question was brought up before the Commission in regard to asking permission to race horses in Kentucky under the stable name. The matter was thoroughly gone into and the rules covering this question were discussed, and it was decided that under the present rules no one can race under a stable name unless the names of the owners of same horses appear on the program directly under the stable name.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Messrs. Frederick Johnson and C. K. G. Billings will start the racing season of 1916 with practically a stable of imported horses picked from the English farms by Charles T. Patterson of Ornament fame, with little regard to prices paid so long as the youngsters were up to his standard. It must be presumed, under these conditions, that the Johnson-Billings string will have much to report at the end of the season if they live up to the expectations of their trainer and the desires of their owners. During the winter months the horses have been sheltered in the Curl's Neck Farm stables, near Richmond, Va., and are in a fairly advanced condition, though for the past week or two the rains that visited Virginia put a stop to their work temporarily. They will all be transferred to Belmont Park next Monday for their final preparations. It was Mr. Johnson's intention to start the season at Havre de Grace and he may have two or three ready by the second week of the Havre de Grace meeting, but it is almost positive that part of the stable will go to Pimlico. There are sixteen in the collection, thirteen of which are imported, two, Pleasant Dreams and Old Drury, bred by Mr. Johnson, together with the four-year old Top o' th' Morning, being the exceptions. The latter is being trained again, though his bowed tendon may give away under him at any time. Mr. Johnson, however, decided to give him another trial before his retirement.

In speaking of the imported stock, Mr. Johnson said they were a nice looking lot, but that he could not yet say just how good they would turn out. "Time and results only will show that," he remarked. "Many a time I have thought I had a real good horse and it has turned out to the contrary. These may do the same, though both Mr. Billings and myself hope for the best. We tried to get good yearlings in England and all are as well bred as Patterson could buy. There are only two candidates for stakes at Havre de Grace, Top o' th' Morning and Spear Lance, the imported colt by Spearmint—Snoot. Several of the two-year-olds are well engaged in the stakes to be run on the local tracks and Buxton will ride for the stable."

*Bachelor's Hope, ch c, 2, by Tredennis—Ladytown.
*Royal Writ, ch c, 2, by Rabelais—Alphabet.
*Spear Lance, b c, 2, by Spearmint—Shoot.
*Words o' Wisdom, b c, 2, by Cicero—Gelinotte.
*All Star, ch c, 2, by Sunstar—Falling Star.
*Greek Legend, b c, 2, by Polymelus—Evadne.
*Sanscrit, b c, 2, by Santry—Lilydale.
*Canterbury Tales, ch c, 2, by Chaucer—Ena.
*Omar Khayyam, ch c, 2, by Marco—Lisma.
*Grundy, ch c, 2, by Roquelaure—Prude.
*Moratorium, ch c, 2, by Marajax—Faverolle.
Old Drury, ch f, 2, by Trap Rock—Mistress Peg.
*Tom Thumb, b c, 2, by Marajax—Sister Lumley.
Top o' th' Morning, ch g, 4, by Peep O'Day—Lady Balgowan.
*Imported.

Nine horses belonging to John Sanford have arrived from Charleston. A second division will come later in charge of Steve Billings. They will locate at Belmont Park. Among them are the Rock Sand—Gunfire colt purchased by Mr. Sanford at the Clarence H. Mackay sale, and the Star Shoot—Tradition youngster for which Mr. Sanford paid $12,500.

Horsemen who have seen the Daryea horses which recently arrived from France are unanimous in their opinion they will develop into an exceptionally good band when they recover from their voyage. The three-year-old Crimper is especially taking to the eye, as are many of the younger horses.

The well-known and popular trainer, James Boden, has a stable of horses in his charge at Belmont Park belonging to D. Raymond of Montreal, Canada. Among them is the bay four-year-old colt Boxer, by Star Shoot out of Cremorne.

Trainer Frank Taylor, who has charge of W. S. Kilmer's horses at Gravesend, recently received five more of the Kilmer thoroughbreds which had been wintering at Binghamton. Among them was the splendid five-year-old horse Allumeur, bred by Clarence H. Mackay in France and for which Mr. Kilmer paid a handsome price at the sale of the Mackay thoroughbreds. This horse raced successfully on the other side of the Atlantic before being brought over.

The Jamaica track is in such excellent condition that trainers call it the "velvet" track. Horses working here are doing exceedingly well. The efforts of the management to get steel in time to put a new roof on the grandstand have failed, but hopes are entertained there that the contracts will be filled in time for the second meeting.

A. J. Joyner has opened operations at Belmont Park with a stable of seven flat racers belonging to Joseph E. Widener, of Philadelphia.

Frank Regan had a goodly representation out on the Gravesend track yesterday from the Cleveland Stable. They all appeared in reasonably forward condition. Wrimpy, the star of the lot, has created an excellent impression thus far, and Gravesend trainers predict for him a really brilliant career as a three-year-old.

Jule Garson has his small string going along nicely, and Half Rock, the best of the lot, probably, already has won many admirers. He is now a slashing big colt, over 16 hands high.

Trainer Fitzsimmons is making the best of the track and weather conditions, and, all in all, he appears to have a string which will cut no unimportant figure in the racing of 1916. His two-year-olds include some really fine individuals, and as they are well entered in Maryland, as well as at Jamaica, they should give the stable no little prominence.

Trainer S. Lawler is now going along with training operations vigorously. Trojan, the Futurity winner which the Quincy Stable sent to the post in 1914, was out taking slow work yesterday morning, looking very fit and apparently feeling as well as he looked.

Samuel Lewis, the owner of that good son of McGee—Murphy—was a visitor at Gravesend yesterday, having motored down from the city in time to witness the morning workouts, take lunch and get back to the city in time for business. He was highly pleased with Murphy's appearance, and found his fast three-year-old had developed into a remarkably good-looking colt. Murphy appears to possess all of his old-time speed, and in addition to this he has grown and lengthened very perceptibly.

Julialeon and Candy Land are entered in the Rosedale and Youthful, respectively, at Jamaica, and, judging by their present condition, they ought to give a good account of themselves long before the middle of June.

A trainer at Gravesend yesterday morning told a little incident as illustrative of Mrs. Daryea's fondness for these thoroughbreds, which had been bred in France under the immediate personal observation of her late husband and herself. A custom official asked her what the shipment was worth, when she replied: "Why, I think they are worth a million, but you can put on them any valuation you please."

That eminently experienced turfman and trainer, Matthew Allen, in discussing the fine quartette of three-year-olds which Charles Hill is training at Belmont Park for Clarence H. Mackay, remarked the other day that his favorite in the lot was the big bay colt, Trouble Fete, by Troubled Waters out of Irish Eyes, by Isinglass.

"That," he said, "is a grand looking colt, and it would not surprise me to see him develop into a great race horse."

Joseph E. Widener received a shipment of twelve French steeplechasers by the steamship Cores, which docked Sunday night.

DOLLAR FIELD AT BELMONT PARK ABOLISHED.

NEW YORK, April 17.—August Belmont, president of the Westchester Racing Association, announces with regret that the so-called Dollar Field at Belmont Park will not be thrown open when the spring meeting begins there next month, much to the surprise of turf patrons who had enjoyed the sport at a dollar a head in former seasons. Mr. Belmont always has been a strong advocate of the cheap enclosure, believing that race-goers who cannot afford to pay the $3 tariff, should not be deprived of the privilege of seeing high class thoroughbreds compete for rich stakes on the finest racetrack in this country. But it seems that Mr. Belmont has been compelled to yield to the wishes of the authorities in Nassau County.

The District Attorney and the Sheriff who have jurisdiction at Belmont Park feel that a continuance of the Dollar Field would make a rigid enforcement of the anti-bookmaking laws extremely difficult. They insist that a large majority of alleged violations of the law at the big track last year occurred in the smaller enclosure, where, they say, unscrupulous persons were hard to control. For that reason the Nassau authorities asked Mr. Belmont the other day to bar the gates leading to the Dollar Field, so that they could devote their entire attention to the individual speculators who will pay $3 for badges, admitting them to the regular grand stand enclosure.

The free field, however, will be open to race-goers on certain days as usual. The public will be admitted to the space beyond the track rails, free of charge, but there will be no betting there, not even private wagers if the racetrack detectives can prevent it. In this way, accommodations will be provided for the persons who love race horses but cannot afford to spend money to see them run. Mr. Belmont, therefore, still will be in a position to cater to the masses in his commendable desire to popularize the sport. As a matter of fact, it is believed that the Dollar Field could have been maintained without serious trouble.

To enforce the law in that enclosure simply meant increased vigilance on the part of the track police, which would have been a comparatively easy task. But the county authorities have the final say, of course, and their edict will be gracefully obeyed. The Dollar Field, under the new regime, never attracted large crowds. But in the days of open bookmaking the enclosure was extremely popular and a profitable revenue was derived from it. Bookmaking, however, is a dead issue at the New York race courses, so that alleged violations of the law in the Dollar Field have been due largely to the carelessness of individual bettors.

GOOD STALLIONS WHICH DID NOT WIN RACES.

[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman].

Stallions under the above category are the exceptions who prove the rule that the race course test is essential to progressive development of bloodstock, but there has been a certain number of such exceptional stallions, and when I was asked by Mr. Dickens, K.C., at Lewes the other day if this was not so, I mentioned Wisdom as a case in point. He, being well instructed, mentioned Tredennis as a horse with no racing record, and at a 200gs fee. That, no doubt, was so, and with a little thought I could have told him of several others, particularly Young Melbourne, a very successful stallion indeed, and then we might have turned to Missel Thrush, the grandsire of the very animal, Thrice, whose death formed the subject of the action in which I was a witness. Missel Thrush never saw a race course, but he was a very beautiful colt when I saw him as a two-year-old at Kingsclere—indeed, he was, no doubt, the best in the stable—and the following year, when the great sale came off, and Flying Fox was sold to M. Edmond Blanc, Missel Thrush was retained by John Porter for a pretty big price. In other words, he was known to be good, otherwise he would not have been retained, but he developed ringbones, and never started for a race. Such a record is far better than that of one which has been tried in the balance and found wanting. I honestly think that Mr. Kennedy Jones would have had a terrible time with Thrice, had the fates allowed him the chance of trying to make that horse into a successful stallion, for Thrice had shown himself to be distinctly second class, if not worse, and that is fatal, so far as stud reputation goes. A certain mystery may hang over Tredennis, which is beautifully bred, and the story of Missel Thrush and the Kingsclere sale provide a credential in such a case, but to race with only very moderate success is banal in the extreme, and it would need a millionaire, and an obstinate one at that, to make a successful stallion out of such a horse, though, of course, if he persisted in buying the very best broodmares to mate with him, regardless of cost, he might succeed in doing so.

If there was ever anything thoroughly proved to demonstration in this world it is that the racecourse test is the supreme factor in the evolution of the blood horse, and any freakish chances here or there do not in the least weaken the authority of that general rule.

I see from The Thoroughbred Record that four of the get of Marta Santa, the well-known stallion by Martley out of Luxelle, which has been very successful as a sire in the States, won four races out of the six on the card the other day at New Orleans. The first event (four furlongs) went to his two-year-old daughter, Solveig; the second (six furlongs) to the four-year-old gelding Telebearer; the third (five furlongs and a half) also to a four-year-old, Dr. Larrick; and the fifth race (one mile) to Jessie Louise, a five-year-old. It is so unusual for the stock of one sire to win four races on the same afternoon at a single meeting, that it may constitute a record. I am not clear as to this, though, for the get of Stockwell in the old days did some big things, and when his son, Lord Lyon, won the St. Leger, Regalia and Lady Rosehill, both also by Stockwell, won the next two races on the card. It may, therefore, have happened that on some other occasion, they likewise scored in four races. Marta Santa, by the way, is a tail-male descendant of Stockwell, his sire, Martley, being by Doncaster.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

Agnes Velasquez, dam of the brilliant Volta, has been purchased by an American buyer, and after being covered by Volta's sire Valens she will be sent to San Francisco. Bred by Mr. David Cooper, and foaled on May 6th, 1902, she is a bay daughter of Velasquez out of Agnes Galliard by the Two Thousand Guineas winner Galliard from Agnes Bentinck by Speculum. Sent up by her breeder to the December Sales of 1911, Agnes Velasquez, when carrying Volta, was sold to Mr. J. Ladley for 180 guineas; and the latter gentleman disposed of the mare and her produce at the same sale twelve months later, when Agnes Velasquez, covered by Santry, was bought by Mr. F. P. Harrison for 460 guineas, and Mr. G. Mills secured Volta as a foal for 100 guineas. In 1913, Lord Carnarvon gave 300 sovs. for Volta, with a further hundred in the event of his winning a race. He has proved a rare bargain, having won nine races of the aggregate value of £4 568 in his two seasons on the turf. Agnes Velasquez was barren to Polymelus in 1914, while last year she had a filly by Llangwm, which was sold to an American buyer at the December Sales for 200 guineas.—[London Horse and Hound.

LOUISVILLE GOSSIP.

LOUISVILLE, KY, April 17.—Never before has there been anything like the number of horses quartered at the two local tracks here at this period. With the running of the Kentucky Derby more than three weeks off, there is a total of 600 horses quartered in the barns of Louisville's two big racing plants.

There are 375 horses at Churchill Downs and 225 at Douglas Park. At the former track there are 710 stalls, and at Douglas Park 640. This is alone housing room for 1,350 horses, and adjacent to both of these tracks there are outside accommodations of various descriptions to be able to take care of fully 2,000 horses. There is no vicinity in all America that can take care of horses in enormous numbers like the two Louisville tracks.

These figures are given to show that while more horses are at present here than were ever quartered at these tracks three weeks before the running of the Derby, there is ample room for all newcomers.

During the last few years Manager M. J. Winn has made remarkable improvements in the stable grounds at Churchill Downs, and he has by no means finished the plans he first laid out, and even now has many workmen engaged on this part of the great plant. He is gradually converting the stable part of the grounds into as sightly a spot as the great park that surrounds the grandstand and other buildings at the entrance to the beautiful course. Moreover, he is employing every improvement to make the stable grounds perfectly sanitary, and the day is close at hand when sickness among horses will be unknown there.

Among the recentt rials of Derby candididates those of Dodge, Star Hawk and George Smith stand out as the most impressive. These three fine-looking thoroughbreds are going about their work in a fashion that has attracted the attention of the railbirds from the time they set foot on the track. The striking appearance of George Smith always commands the eye of the onlooker.

Dodge negotiated his recent fast mile so impressively and in such a perfect track horse that he has not only held all his old admirers but made many new friends. Star Hawk looks like a great horse and is gaited on the order of a performer which possesses a sensational speedy turn, as well as the ability to cover any distance of ground. Star Hawk is by Sunstar, out of Sweet Finch (sister to Cunard), by Goldfinch; 2d dam Lucania, by Sir Modred, etc.

LOUISVILLE, KY, April 18.—Workouts of Kentucky Derby candidates at Churchill Downs today were as follows:

George Smith, one mile in 1:44 3-5. Fractionals: 0:12 4-5, 0:25, 0:39, 0:51 1-5, 1:05, 1:18 2 5, 1:31 3-5. Worked alone and was never even partially extended any part of the route.

Star Hawk and The Cock, working together, one mile very cleverly in 1:44. Fractionals: 0:12 1-5, 0:24 3-5, 0;36 4-5, 0:49, 1:05, 1:17 4-5, 1:31.

Lena Mis a, one mile in 1:45 4-5. Fractionals: 0:12, 0:25 1-5, 0:38, 0:51, 1:05, 1:18 2-5, 1:32. Worked alone. Was well in hand throughout.

Hesperus, one mile in 1:44 3-5. Most impressive. Fractionals: 0:12, 0:24 1-5, 0:37, 0:48 4-5, 1:03 2 5, 1:16 4-5, 1:30 1-5.

Purdy, five furlongs in 1:07 4-5; galloping.

With the eight arrivals that have joined the stable of Mackenzie & Adkins, at the Downs, these being the two-year olds that came from California last week. Trainer Jack Adkins now has in his charge around a dozen horses, which in numbers is the biggest string the Canadian horseman has had under his care for several years. This string will race out the season this spring and summer on the Kentucky tracks.

It is a very clever stable of youngsters that Trainer Rodgers is handling at Churchill Down this season for the Shelbyville turfman, B. A. Guthrie. He has seven two-year-olds, all of which look like fair chances to win races on the Kentucky circuit tracks this season, and several of the number have shown early promise sufficient to warrant the hope of them developing into stake winners. They are:

Plaschke, ch f, by imp. Toddington—Rose of Dawn, by imp. Peep o' Day.

Sister Riley, ch f, by Stalwart—Usury, by imp. Knight of the Thistle. This filly is a full sister to Father Riley and a half-sister to Royal Interest.

Coralene, br f, by imp. Out of Reach—Ella Duke, by Bramble.

Guthrie has only three yearlings this season. One is a bay colt, by Dick Welles, out of Miss Jordan, by Sir Dixon; another is the bay colt, by Duval, out of Linolin, and the other is a chestnut filly, by Stalwart, out of Rose of Dawn.

He has only five mares to breed this year namely Miss Jordan, Thoughtless, Andriss, Rose of Dawn and Linolin, he having disposed of all his other thoroughbred broodmares. Miss Jordan will be mated this season to imp. Pataud, Thoughtless to Duke of Ormonde, Andrisa to Boots and Saddle, Rose of Dawn and Linolin to Stalwart.

LOUISVILLE, KY., April 19.—The chief work today of candidates for the Kentucky Derby was done by three-year-olds in stables quartered at Douglas Park, and two of these eligibles to Churchill Downs' big race went the full Derby distance of a mile and a quarter. These Derby works were:

Dodge, one and one-quarter miles, in 2:12 2-5. Fractionals: :13 1-5, :25 2 5, :38, :51, 1:04 2 5, 1:17 3 5, 1:32, 1:44 3-5, 1:57 2 5. Last mile: 1:44 4-5. Murphy was up. Was unpaced all the way.

Franklin, one and one-quarter miles in 2.12. Fractionals: :13, :26, :39, :51 4-5, 1:04 2-5, 1:16 4-5, 1:30 2-5, 1:44 1 5, 1:57 2-5. Last mile: 1:43 3-5. F. Murphy up. Like Dodge, Franklin worked alone.

Cosmic, seven furlongs in 1:32 1-5. Fractionals: :12, :25, :39, :52 4-5, 1:05, 1:29 Breezing all the way. Is evidently getting ready for a fast trial over a longer route of ground in the next few days.

Dick Williams, five furlongs in 1:02 3-5. Will very likely be sent a full mile on his next fast workout day.

All the Derby candidates that worked over a distance at the Downs course were again on the track and all came out of their trials satisfactorily.

So far this week there have been many brilliant works at Churchill Downs, aside from the performance of the Derby candidates. Among the best are:

Joe Blair, half mile in :48 2 5; first quarter in :23 1 5, three furlongs in :35 1-5.

Silesia, three furlongs in :37 3-5; cantering.

Pretender, five furlongs in 1:07 3 5; Burchan worked with him.

Many of the two-year-olds in training at both Churchill Downs and Douglas Park are now breaking from the barrier for their trials, and they sprint away from that device in quarters shading :24, and halves in many instances better than :50.

So far no two-year-old has worked as sensationally as that credited to Harry Kelly and Sedan at Douglas Park. It is the general opinion, however, that there are some youngsters at the Downs capable of doing everything as yet done by any of the two-year-old cracks in the stables at Douglas Park.

While the big two-year-old string of J. E. Madden has shown steady improvement, none of the members has as yet scored a half better than :50. This was done by a bay Marta Santa colt, that is perhaps a bit further advanced in preparation than some of his other cracks. His Breeders' Futurity candidate, Petrograd, which he bought from J. N. Camden, has so far shown nothing sensational in his trials at the Downs track.

At Douglas Park several two-year-olds in the stable of Trainer R. Williams are working unusually well, and in all probability they will early break out of the maiden class this spring. The most promising of his bunch are conceded to be James, Jovial, Justify and Jason, and they all can run fast.

-BEN TROVATO-

BEN TROVATO is a seal brown horse, 16⅛ hands high. Sired by imp. Alvescot, a son of Raeburn and he a son of St. Simon. Ben Trovato is out of Golden Rose, by Goldfinch, a son of Ormonde, she out of imp. La Trappe, by Hermit, she out of Ambuscade, by Camerino, a son of Stockwell, and she out of Crossfire, by Vedette, the sire of Galopin, thus possessing the five great sire crosses of the world. Ben Trovato was raced four years and was as fast as horses ever show. He won miles in 1:37 3-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:39 1-5, 1⅛ miles 1:52, 1:54, 1:52 1-5, 1¼ miles in 2:04 2-5, and as a two-year-old ran ⅝ in 0:58⅕ seconds. The great No. 5 family—Gaitee More, Ard Patrick, Hermit, Gladiateur, Doncaster, Gunfire, etc. As a running line it is invaluable, and from its reliability mates well with most strains preferring sire blood.

If you can find a greater looking horse, a better bred horse or a faster horse, don't breed to one. Will accept 25 mares for 1916 at $50 to insure living foal.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, APRIL 29, 1916.

The picture on the front page of THE RECORD this week is a good likeness of the yearling bay colt by Trap Rock out of imported Fairy by St. Frusquin, belonging to E. L. Davis, Rockwood Stud, Midway, Ky. Competent judges have pronounced this colt one of the best looking youngsters in Kentucky and his breeding leaves little to be desired. By Trap Rock (son of imported Rock Sand and imported Topiary by Orme, and therefore full brother to the great Tracery) out of the St. Frusquin mare, imported Fairy (dam of the good winner For Fair), her dam, the stake winner and dam of stake winners, Cretan Belle, this colt presents a flawless pedigree, combining the best blood of England.

We invite the attention of anyone desiring a high-class yearling to the pedigree of this colt, which is given in full below.

BAY COLT, foaled 1915.

*Imported.

Mr. Davis desires to sell this yearling and will be pleased to show him to any prospective buyer. Rockwood Stud is just a short distance from Lexington, in fact the trip there and back can be negotiated by motor in an hour or by train any morning or afternoon in a couple of hours. Why go to England for yearlings, when one like this can be had at home?

H. K. Knapp, Andrew Miller, and a party of the prominent New Yorkers, will arrive in Lexington next week. They will attend the races here until the end of the meeting and then go to Louisville for the Derby.

OPENING DAY AT LEXINGTON.

[By John S. Wallace.]

A large crowd, attracted by the excellent card was present on the opening day of the racing at the Kentucky Association.

Weather conditions were unfavorable for the heavy rains of the preceding night had rendered the atmosphere moist and chilly and left the track deep in mud. About racing time the sun came from behind the clouds and overhead, the afternoon was clear and bright. Taking advantage of the chance for a good day's sport, both visitors and local turf fanciers journeyed in large conclaves to the historic grounds.

The Inaugural Dash at five and one half furlongs was well taken care of by Waterblossom. She won by many lengths, a habit she formed early especially when track conditions are a little off.

Turning into her four-year-old form this great daughter of Waterboy and Bassetting shows the same form of previous seasons and will add lustre to her well earned reputation by her stellar performances in 1916.

In the second race, a purse for three-year-old fillies at six furlongs, closest again told when Lady Always after being knocked about during the early running of the race, closed rapidly in the stretch drive and handily disposed of such opposition as Southern League and Mary H. could furnish.

J. S. Ward's Jim Gaffney—Autolee colt accounted for the third race and when he got up in time to beat Guy Fortune and Sleeper the Louisville crowd became confident of large financial returns, for Berlin was the second string in Ward's stable, the real youngster being in the sixth race, by name and pedigree Sedan, son of Jim Gaffney and Kitty Belle Brooks.

Of the original eight carded, The Grader and Indolence declined the issue and the other five furnished little or no contention to the shatterer of turf idols.

Reveling in the mud, Lucky R. easily won the fifth race, the Spindthrift Purse at six furlongs. This race is a preliminary for the Ashland Oaks, and the winner by her sterling performance made many friends who will back her chances in the classic on Monday. But the huge crowd came to see the sixth race. It was well known that among the entries was Sedan the best two-year-old trained at Louisville from a standpoint of work. Likewise Westy Hogan the best youngster trained at Lexington this year was a starter in this race. Feeling ran high and speculation in the mutuel machines ran higher. The Louisville and out of town contingent backed their choice—the good colt trained at Douglas Park, which by reason of his flying trials, was regarded as invincible. Figurers and handicappers also fell in line; while quite a few local bettors, because both sire and dam are owned in this county, played sentiment in placing their wagers on Sedan, for before the race no safe opinion could logically be arrived at as each colt had strong supporters from the track where he was trained.

But John Whitlow believed his colt would win until it rained and such astute horsemen as Major T. C. McDowell, E. R. Bradley, J. C. Gallaher, Will Woodard and many others shared the belief with him.

Whitlow's only answer to his friends about his horse's chances was, "I don't know that he can run in the mud, but I am betting that he can."

The speculation was so nearly evenly divided that each colt paid the same place and show price.

As to the race itself, Westy Hogan conceding three pounds had, by reason of his position, gone disadvantage at the start, but when the barrier arose he fairly flew across the track to a head position with his rival and in making this quick passage interfered not a bit with the other starters.

Such speed has seldom been seen. Up the hill in that mud in 0:23 3-5 and the oldest inhabitant has never seen it equalled. Running so fast in the uncertain going each failed to make a close turn and some said Murphy, with the rail position on Sedan, carried his opponent wide, but this was unfair to the rider. He never touched or impeded Westy Hogan in any way, for Westy, running faster than Sedan, came wide into the stretch. Over the hill they came with never an inch separating them. A furlong out, Murphy drew his whip. The response from the colt was a game effort. He was never less than a foot from his rival, but neither whip nor riding prowess could make him overcome that short lead. Down to the wire they flew but despite Murphy's most desperate urging, Westy Hogan under Cooper's skillful handling, won cleverly if not somewhat handily by a head. The time 0:49 2-5 was wonderful and shows, by their gallant efforts, that two great colts have met with the inevitable result that one went down into defeat but such glorious defeat that there is no stigma of disgrace. Great is Sedan, but greater Westy Hogan.

The last race a selling affair at a mile and seventy yards was won by Irish Gentleman that was closely pressed by Borgo.

NIAGARA RACING ASSOCIATION STAKES.

The stakes to be run at the two meetings of the Niagara Racing Association this summer are announced in THE RECORD this week by Secretary E. W. Mills. With the Canadian Derby as the feature stake of the first summer meeting at Fort Erie, and the Dominion Handicap as the chief event of the second session, seven stakes will close on May 9. The first meeting will open July 4, extending through the 11th, while the second session will get underway on August 5, continuing through the 12th.

Four fixtures comprise the headline attractions for the first meeting. They are the Fourth of July Stakes, the Niagara Stakes, the Canadian Derby and the Fort Erie Stakes. The first named is a handicap for three-year-olds and upward at one mile and seventy yards, the Niagara is for two-year-olds at five furlongs, and the Fort Erie is a six furlong dash for three-year-olds and upward. The Derby is, of course, for three-year-olds at one mile and a quarter. To this race will be added $3,500.

The Dominion Handicap, carrying an added value of $4,000, is for three-year-olds and upward, at one mile and a quarter. The Iroquois is a handicap for two-year-olds at five and a half furlongs, and the Edward W. Maginn Memorial, at one mile and a sixteenth, is for three-year-olds and upward. The last named three are set for the second meeting.

Full conditions of these stakes will be found in the announcement.

ONTARIO AND WINDSOR JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

The full conditions of the Ontario and Windsor Jockey Club Stakes, for their spring and summer meetings, may be seen on the last page of THE RECORD this week. The Ontario stakes close on May 3, and the Windsor stakes on May 11. Don't fail to make your entries to these valuable stakes.

MEDDLER DIES IN FRANCE.

Meddler (b h, 1890, by St. Gatien—Busybody, by Petrarch), Clarence H. Mackay's great stallion and sire of many famous horses, died last week at the Haras de Fresnay in Normandy, France, it was learned here Monday.

Meddler long ranked with the leading sires in the United States, England and on Continent, and in 1904 and 1905 he topped the list of winning stallions in this country. In 1904 his get accounted for $222,555, while in 1906 he took the lead, when his progeny earned $151,243. From 1897 to 1914 inclusive the get of Meddler have won $932,561 in this country, and their European winnings would bring this sum to a total of about $1,200,000.

The best known of Meddler's get which raced in this country were Mediant, Colonial Girl, Tanya, Go Between, Brookdale Nymph, Tangle, Detective, Goldsmith, Bedouin, Ironsides, Perverse, Hylas and Armenia. In England he sent to the races such starling performers as Bobbin II., Washoe, Congo II., Torchbearer, Miss Malaprop, Spiked, Sassenach and Troutbed Waters.

Meddler made his first bow to lovers of the thoroughbred in this country in 1893, when he was purchased from the G. Abingdon Baird estate in England by W. H. Forbes of Boston for $72,500 and brought to the United States. Then in his three-year-old form he was sent to the Neponset Stud near Boston, but had little chance to prove his worth.

After the death of his owner, Meddler was again thrown on the market, and this time he was offered at auction in New York. Sidney Paget, acting for the late William C. Whitney, bought in the son of St. Gatien for $49,000. Mated with the best of the Whitney mares, Meddler soon proved his worth, but when that sportsman died the stallion was homeless for the third time. He passed under the hammer again, and this time was sold to Mattie Corbett for $55,000.

The investment proved a most fortunate one for Corbett, as he shortly afterward sold the stallion to Clarence Mackay for a sum said to have been $70,000. Meddler made his second trip across the Atlantic and was placed at the head of the Haras de Fresnay in France. There he continued to show the worth that had placed him in the front rank of American sires and his progeny quickly made a great name for him in England and on the Continent.

WHAT MAY BE SEEN IN FORT RILEY.

Should a breeder of the Thoroughbred, blessed with leisure, and a desire to increase knowledge, while cultivating patriotic sentiment, then, let him spend a few of the loveliest days in the springtime of the year in Fort Riley. Our Government here owns some twenty thousand acres of land, through which flows the Kaw River. In a narrow valley, on the fertile bank of this beautiful stream, still stands the first capitol of the State of Kansas. Within its walls, the euphonious tones of pioneer eloquence are heard no more—The tongues that gave them utterance are dust—and the voices of the departed are now but faintly echoed through the glowing pen of history. The fathers sweetly sleep beneath the fragrant flowers whose sisters here yet lingering bloom, in sweet remembrance of how, in the distant past, they adorned with beauty these once Western wilds.

In the background of this pretty picture, hills rise so steep and high as to rightly assume the dignity of infant mountains, these, diversified by the view of an extensive plain, forest trees, rocks, brooks and vales, and, over all this, rests a pleasing glamour, made memorable by the flag of human liberty ever waving in the breeze and arrayed in the brilliant colors of the sky.

During all of my travels over this world of care, I have not seen another spot for the location of a cavalry school that, with this one will favorably compare. On undulating ground are erected good houses with modern improvements, for use of men; large, well lighted and ventilated stables for horses; all buildings are formed mainly from a beautiful and durable, buff colored stone. A commodious amphitheater is here constructed, arched with ribs of steel, where, in spite of stress of weather, the students, men and horses, receive their daily instructions.

The progress made by man and horse alike, depends upon intelligence, disposition, love of the labor required, physical ability, kind treatment and, essentially, the proficiency of the instructor. At the present time, the training of both man and horse, their care, equipments, in fact, all things pertaining to the development of an efficient cavalry, are under the direction of Captain H. R. Richmond, a man, intellectually, physically and enthusiastically, most highly qualified to well discharge the duties annexed to such an important and laborious position.

The uniform healthy condition of the horses, I found to be beyond my expectation. Their wide variety in physical conformation was scarcely as much as would be looked for, since, they came from many breeders, few of whose thoughts were ever centered on producing a horse for cavalry use. Here, where the pedigree of each horse, if entitled to one, is carefully remembered, was obtained confirmation of the opinion I have long entertained, namely, that alone from the unadulterated fountain of the Thoroughbred's blood must, inevitably, come the great cavalry horse of the future. A number of Thoroughbreds were here and at Fort Leavenworth, seen, which would more than answer the famous description of the war-horse, written in the Book of Job some thirty five hundred years ago.

The cross-country ride, as given by a troop of cavalry at Fort Riley, presents a marvellous picture, worth a long journey to see. The distance covered by this noted cavalry ride is near eight miles in extent, and is kept plainly in view throughout the entire way from the top of the highest hills in the vicinity.

With wild rush the steed begins the course. But, lo! a giant fallen tree obstructs the way! and yet, no pause in speed? ah! no, there! safely over goes both horse and man with ample space between top of log and courser's flying feet. Next, in rough channel of dried stream, "on enameled stones with ironed hoof he makes sweet music on the way." He now essays with effort strong to o'erleap yawning cavern deep and dark, and lo! succeeds as if up borne on air-ship wing.

To this horse comes no fear
From arrow and quiver,
See him breast the cold wave
Of deep rolling river.

On its bosom he swims
With nostrils spread wide,
Climbs a steep rocky shore
And ne'er looks aside.

With a carriage erect,
Glides dangerous scaur,
And here proves his courage
And fitness for war.

'Tis thus through a river,
O'er hill and through glen,
He makes his bold rider
The foremost of men.

For horse at Fort Riley
Ne'er slackens his pace,
Till he comes to the end
Of Cross-Country race.

Louisville, Ky., April 24.—Secretary H. C. Applegate, of the New Louisville Jockey Club, Churchill Downs, has, with Racing Secretary W. H. Pearce, about finished his work on the book program for the coming spring meeting at this track which begins this season on Saturday, May 13 (Derby Day), and winds up on Saturday, May 27, which is the date of the running of the Kentucky Oaks. The book will likely be ready for distribution among turfmen and patrons of racing by the opening day of the coming spring meeting of the Kentucky Association at Lexington, next Thursday, April 27.

A review of the seven great stakes run during the coming meeting at the Downs, which, in addition to the Derby and Oaks, include the Clark Handicap, Bashford Manor, Debutante, Juvenile and Frank Fehr Stakes, shows a total entry list of 429, an average of over 61 entries to each stake. In several of the events the entries exceed the number named in the same races last season. The heaviest in this respect of the seven events is in the Clark Handicap, which has this season 63 nominations to 59 entries in that race last season.

The entries in each of the seven great stakes are the following in numbers: The Kentucky Derby, 56 entries; the Clark Handicap, 63 entries; the Kentucky Oaks, 35 entries; the Bashford Manor Stakes, 70 entries; the Debutante Stakes, 36 entries; the Juvenile Stakes, 72 entries; the Frank Fehr Stakes, 66 entries.

So many applications have recently come from turfmen making inquiries as to the famous Spokane and Proctor Knott Kentucky Derby that the following summary of the 1889 Derby is published:

The Kentucky Derby that year was run off on May 8. The distance was a mile and a half. The time was 2:34¼. That great speed was exhibited more than twenty-five years ago with track conditions not to be compared with those of today. The following are the fractions: First quarter 0:24¾, half 0:48½, six furlongs 1:14½, mile 1:41, mile and a quarter 2:09½.

The betting ruled 3 to 1 on Proctor Knott, 7 to 2 against Once Again and Bootmaker; 8 to 1, Hindoocraft; 10 to 1, Spokane; 15 to 1, Caseius, and 25 to 1 each, Sportsmen and Outbound.

Spokane, 118 (Kiley)	1
Proctor Knott, 115 (Barnes)	2
Once Again, 118 (Murphy)	3
Hindoocraft, 118 (Armstrong)	4
Caseius, 118 (Taral)	5
Sportsman, 118 (Lewis)	6
Outbound, 118 (Hollis)	7
Bootmaker, 118 (Warwick)	8

Almost immediately after the start Proctor Knott rushed to the front and, at a killing pace, raced ahead of his field with a lead of from three to six lengths, which he held for about one and one eighth miles. He then had all his competitors beaten except Spokane, which gained upon the flying leader slowly but surely, and as they turned into the stretch they were almost on even terms. First one and then the other showed a nose in front all the way home, the last two strides being in favor of Spokane, which won one of the greatest Derbies ever run by a short neck. The third horse was four lengths back.

The good four-year old filly, Tory Maid, has indicated that she will not stand further training, and her part owner, S. M. Henderson, has transferred his interest in the young mare to J. E. Madden, and she will be shipped to Hamburg Place and retired to the stud.

J. E Harrod, who is establishing a thoroughbred breeding stud at his Stoddard ranch at Woodstock, Kan., is here getting together some horses for early shipment. He has bought from Joe Hubbard the well known performer Cracker Box, and Milo, from W. H. Buckner, which he will endeavor to race again in the West.

John E. Madden has shipped eighteen of the two-year-olds which he wintered at Churchill Downs to Belmont Park.

E. R. Bradley, owner of Idle Hour Stud, has a plan of his own for revising the selling race.

"I have read the suggestion of Capt. E. B. Cassatt," said Mr. Bradley, "and the amendment August Belmont will put into execution in selling races for the spring meeting at Belmont Park. The latter sounds very practical to me for the fact that the winner will receive the purse that he wins and an equal amount added to his selling price, as the winner will be subject to a claim the same as any horse running in the race. That will eliminate the selling clause. No doubt in the future this form of racing will be known as 'claiming races.'

"Racing is so different in America from what it is in foreign countries that we cannot pattern after their conditions in selling races. The English sportsman doesn't make any secret of the fact that he is running a good horse in a cheap selling race for a betting proposition.

"I witnessed such a race in Ireland in 1911. A two-year-old filly was entered to be sold at £50, her first start on the turf. After she won she was sold to the owner for £900. Thirty days later the owner sold a half interest in her for $15,000. I was told it was not unusual for an owner to enter a good horse cheap to win a big bet from the books.

"Abroad they don't depend on selling races to fill their programs. Ninety-five per cent. of their events are classic or condition races, while in America it is just the reverse, 95 per cent. being selling and 5 per cent. classic and condition races.

"I would suggest, in the event of a horse being entered for $1,000 and being run up another thousand after winning, that one-half of that money should go to the owner and the other half be divided between the second and third horses. If the owner decide to retain the horse and protect him, 50 per cent. should be added to the selling races of the second day following. And a further rule should be made that any horse sold at public auction after winning cannot be purchased at private sale by the original owner under sixty days, under penalty of his being ruled off the turf. That would eliminate collusion between owners."

Office—204 Fayette National Bank Building,
LEXINGTON, KY.

J. N. Camden, T. H. Talbot, W. B. Haldeman,
Allie W. Young, Chas. F. Grainger.

J. N. Camden, Chairman.

T. H. Talbot, Vice-Chairman.

S. K. Nuckols, Secretary and Treasurer.

The following new rules were offered:

Rule No. 225—amended:

"Resolved that each race track applying to this Commission for license shall accompany such application with a book or program made out by the Racing Secretary heretofore appointed by this Commission, showing at least six races for each day asked for, and none of said races shall be declared off if as many as four starters remain in said race."

"No horse foaled in 1915 or thereafter shall run in any race before April first of his two-year-old year under penalty of thereby disqualifying himself for all races under these rules until December 31st of his two-year-old year."

The following new rule was passed:

Amendment to Rule No. 11:

"All associations making application for a license from this Commission, shall give the names of the officers of their corporation or association, and also submit to this Commission the names of the racing officials of their meeting when making application for racing dates, and no official shall act until his appointment has been approved by the Commission, provided in case of sickness or inability to act, the association may appoint a temporary official subject to approval of RACING COMMISSION."

A communication from Mr. John Hachmeister in regard to racing dates having been read, it was duly moved, seconded and carried, that the same be ordered filed.

It was moved, seconded and carried, that Rule No 225-a be suspended for the present, so that the different racing associations will have time to get out a program book for their meetings. These are to be published two weeks before the opening of said meetings.

Moved, seconded and carried, that racing licenses for the year 1916 be granted to Kentucky Association, Lexington, Ky.; New Louisville Jockey Club, Louisville, Ky.; Douglas Park Jockey Club, Louisville Ky.; Latonia Agricultural Association, Covington, Ky., and the Secretary was instructed to issue said licenses and deliver them to the several clubs and associations.

Motion made, seconded and carried that the officers of the different racing associations of the state be invited to attend all meetings of the Kentucky State Racing Commission.

Motion made, seconded and carried that the Secretary send to each association and each member of the Commission a certified copy of the minutes of each meeting of the Commission.

The following recommendations were offered and approved by the Commission:

"To the Honorable The Kentucky State Racing Commission:

"The undersigned committee, appointed by your honorable body to recommend for your consideration suitable rules providing for the increase in length of races to be run on the Kentucky tracks under your jurisdiction, respectfully recommend as follows:

"First, That there shall not be offered more than two races on the program of any day for two-year-olds.

"Second, That there shall not be offered on the program of any day more than two races for three year-olds and upwards, of less than one mile.

"Third, That the remainder of the daily program exclusive of stake events, shall be for races of one mile or over, one of which races shall be of a mile and one-eighth or over, other than selling races, with not less than $800, added money, except that this provision as to added money shall not apply to Lexington.

"Fourth, We further recommend that not less than two condition races, or handicaps, per week shall be offered by each racing association of not less than one mile and a quarter each, after May 15th, and all races shall close with four entries.

"Fifth, Further we recommend that not to exceed three over-night selling races shall be offered by any association on any one day.

"Sixth, It is the sense of your committee that in view of the proposed increase in the length of races, the scale of weights should be increased so that no horse shall carry less than 100 pounds in handicaps and that the top weight shall not be less than seven pounds below the scale.

"We respectfully recommend that the foregoing shall apply to the Spring 1916 meetings only, and that if it meets the approval of your honorable body, this, or a similar committee be authorized to re-convene after the spring meeting to further consider the subject and recommend to your honorable body.

"We respectfully suggest for your consideration that the Jockey Club be advised of these recommendations and its co-operation be requested in the matter of increasing the distance of racing.

"Respectfully submitted,

HAL PRICE HEADLEY,
M. J. WINN,
JOHN HACHMEISTER,
GARRET D. WILSON,
MILTON YOUNG,
A. B. GALLAHER,
HARVEY MEYERS,
O. H. CHENAULT."

The secretary was instructed to write each association in regard to strictly enforcing Rule No. 208-A, as follows:

"The stewards shall have the power to suspend or exclude from the stands and grounds improper and objectionable characters and persons who have been ruled off for corrupt practices on the turf in any country so long as the sentence against such person remains in force."

(In the future any person suspended by the stewards acting upon the different tracks in Kentucky, will not be permitted to come upon the tracks during their suspension).

The question was brought up before the Commission in regard to asking permission to race horses in Kentucky under the stable name. The matter was thoroughly gone into and the rules covering this question were discussed, and it was decided that under the present rules no one can race under a stable name unless the names of the owners of said horses appear on the program directly under the stable name.

-BEN TROVATO-

BEN TROVATO is a seal brown horse, 16⅓ hands high. Sired by imp. Alvescot, a son of Isaburn and he a son of St. Simon. Ben Trovato is out of Golden Rose, by Goldfinch, a son of Ormonde, she out of imp. La Trappe, by Hermit, she out of Ambuscade, by Camerino, a son of Stockwell, and she out of Crossfire, by Vedette, the sire of Galopin, thus possessing the five great sire crosses of the world. Ben Trovato was raced four years and was as fast as horses ever know. He won miles in 1:37 3-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:39 1-5, 1⅛ miles 1:52, 1:52, 1:52 1-5, 1¼ miles in 2:04 2-5, and as a two-year-old ran ⅝ in 0:58⅕ seconds. The great No. 5 family—Galtee More, Ard Patrick, Hermit, Gladiateur, Doncaster, Gunfire, etc. As a running line it is invaluable, and from its liability mates well with most strains preferring sire blood.

If you can find a greater looking horse, a better bred horse or a faster horse, don't breed to one. Will accept 25 mares for 1916 at $50 to insure living foal.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, MAY 6, 1916.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather more or less prevalent during this week, the meeting now in progress at the Kentucky Association course will undoubtedly be the most successful one from every standpoint that was ever given in Lexington. Never was a more creditable program framed than that provided for the twelve days racing, and that the public thoroughly approves of same is evidenced by the crowds in attendance each day. While the racing of the first eight days has been all that could be desired, the best as usual has been reserved until last. With the Camden Handicap, at a mile and a quarter, down for decision today, the Brewers' Selling Stakes for Monday, the Derby Trial for Tuesday and the Breeders' Futurity for Wednesday, the four days that remain will prove record-breakers in every respect.

There will be ten starters in the Camden Handicap as follows: Raincoat, 97; Olga Star, 101; Water Witch, 102; Lahore, 107; Brynlinah, 107; Indolence, 107; Leo Ray, 108; Bayberry Candle, 108; One Step, 108; Star Jasmine, 115, and at these weights a corking good contest is assured.

BEAUMONT AND ELLERSLIE YEARLING SALE.

Messrs. Headley and Miller and A. B. Hancock have decided to sell the yearlings from their respective farms, Beaumont and Ellerslie in New York on June 6th. The sale, which will be held by Powers-Hunter Company at Dunlard's Riding Academy at 8:30 p. m., comprises forty-three choicely bred yearlings, twenty-five consigned by Mr. Hancock and eighteen by Headley and Miller. The Hancock yearlings are mostly by Colt, while Uncle is responsible for the majority in the Headley and Miller consignment. A full list of the yearlings is given elsewhere in this issue.

HAMILTON JOCKEY CLUB STAKES.

Eight stakes of the Hamilton Jockey Club will close on May 15 for the two summer meetings. The first meeting will begin on June 24 and extend through July 1, while the second session of sport at Hamilton will get under way on July 26 and continue through August

The Hamilton Derby will be the feature event of meeting, with $4,000 added, one and a quarter miles. The Hamilton Cup will be the big race of the second meeting, with $2,000 added, one mile and a quarter. Full conditions of Hamilton stakes are given in the announcement on another page.

W. H. Rowe, Registrar of the Jockey Club, New ity, is in Lexington for a few days attending the races.

STAKES CLOSING NEXT WEEK.

On May 11, the stakes of the Windsor Jockey Club close. Full conditions may be seen on the last page of this issue.

CLOSING OUT SALE OF THE FLEETWOOD STUD.

The closing out sale of the Fleetwood Stud, which takes place in the paddock of the Kentucky Association on Tuesday, May 9, at 12:30 o'clock comprises eleven head. Among them, Crony, out of a half-sister to Rensselaer and Belle of Troy, has for her fourth dam the great Ballet, to which many great race horses owe their origin, including the recent brilliant performers, The Manager, Regret and Thunderer.

Ethel McCaffrey is by Goodrich (from the family of Domino and Hamburg) and out of Missive, dam of eight winners, three of them being stake winners.

No. 3, Firelight is by imp. Samson—Fax, by imp. Cactus II., and No. 4, Margaux, a half-sister to Port Wine, Our Jessie, Raleigh P. D. and Dr. Nembula, is by imp. Scintillant—Claret.

Purple and Gold and Tintilla are daughters of imp. Goldcrest, the former being out of Isabel II., by Blue Eyes, the latter out of Margaux, by imp. Scintillant. Turpence is a half-sister to Port Worth, being by Goldcrest—Pennyworth.

The four yearlings are: Brown filly, by Burgomaster—Ethel McCaffrey (half-sister to eight winners), by Goodrich, and three, two colts and a filly, by imp. Goldcrest and from Loysa, half-sister to Isabel II., Fax by imp. Cactus II., and Pennyworth (dam of Port Worth) by Blue Eyes.

The mares are young, with the exception of Ethel McCaffrey (which is thirteen) and Margaux, foaled in 1910. None are bred in 1916, affording the purchaser an opportunity to make his own selection of a stallion for mating.

Besides the Fleetwood lot the sale will also include Mr. W. Gardner's Chanteuse (winner of three races at two), bay filly, 4, by Disguise—Mauviette by Mexican and the second dam is the Futurity winner, L'Alouette. Mr. R. H. Wilson's yearling filly, Gaffney Girl, by Jim Gaffney—Favena by Harry O'Fallon and Mr. E. J. O'Connell's well bred four-year-old filly Carrie Orme winner of many races by Monsieur de L'Orme—Mum by Freemason.

HORSEMEN FORM NATIONAL UNION.

BALTIMORE, May 2.—Amalgamating with the Kentucky Thoroughbred Association, more than seventy horsemen, owners and trainers, met tonight in a suburban hotel near Pimlico track, and formed what is likely to prove a National Horsemen's Union. The organization is unique in that, so far as records go, it is the first of its kind ever formed.

Their action was precipitated by the recent threatened strike at Havre de Grace, when the owners and trainers told the track officials they would not start their horses unless the purses were raised. They based this demand on the fact that feed and other upkeep expenses of a racing establishment were not commensurate with the expenses of winning them.

At the same time a sort of informal protective association was organized and there was some talk of affiliating with the Kentucky Association. However, it remained for tonight's session to take the first definite step in this direction.

The formation of an Eastern branch of the Kentucky Association marks the first step in extending that organization to national proportions, it is thought, and horsemen tonight said they expected to see practically every owner and trainer on the American turf a member of the union within the next few months. Bradley Wilson addressed the meeting tonight.

WHITNEY HORSES EXPECTED SUNDAY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 5.—Stalls are being bedded at the Downs track for the Eastern division of H. P. Whitney's stable, which is expected to arrive here some hour Sunday, it was announced yesterday. It is thought the string will consist of from eight to ten horses, made up by the Derby candidates, Thunderer, Dominant, Bromo, and Hanes, the unbeaten Regret, and several two-year-olds. It is believed now that the Whitney stable will have two starters in the Derby, probably Dominant and Bromo.

DERBY CANDIDATES.

Interest in Louisville is centered in the running of Kentucky's banner event the Kentucky Derby which takes place one week from today at Churchill Downs.

Eligibles for this great race are being prepared on all four of the Kentucky tracks. Some have received the earlier part of their preparation in the South while several of the classiest candidates have not yet left their Eastern training quarters—notably the high class two-year-olds of last year in the Whitney string Dominant, Thunderer and Bromo.

Sphinx-like, Jimmy Rowe is saying nothing but for quite a while there has been a rumor that he will ship none of the above trio and will depend on Albert Simons' charge Slipshod to carry the Whitney colors in the classic. Like many others, Slipshod will stand a lot of improvement before he reaches the real Derby calibre.

The trio of imported colts in the stable of A. K. Macomber trained by W. B. Jennings have attracted considerable attention as their work for the big race at Louisville has progressed.

They are all corking individuals and show much quality. From a time standpoint there has been no great difference in their trials but no matter what Hesperus and The Cock have in reserve, a good horseman would readily grant supremacy among these three to Star Hawk whose long sweeping stride carries him easy miles around 1.44. The Churchill Downs track is by no means fast and few trials have been faster than the gallops of this colt.

His two-year-old form in England was good. In six starts he was returned a winner twice and but once unplaced, defeating some smart two-year-olds and winning the Little Port Plate by a length from Crimson Square, Lang Whang and twelve others, and the Ditch Stakes worth $2,467 from Ali Bey, Salandra, Marconi and twenty others. Perhaps his best performance was his third with 126 lbs. up to Wet Kiss 110 and Salamandra 117 in the Ditch Mile Nursery Handicap at Newmarket in which the first three in a field of twenty finished necks apart.

His sire Sunstar won the Derby and his dam Sweet Finch was by imported Goldfinch—Lucania by Sir Modred. The combinations of good individuality, fine speed, apparent staying power and excellence of pedigree have caused the sporting fraternity to back his chances from 20 to 1 down to 8 to 1.

Although several others are much fancied, Star Hawk seems the best of the Louisville trained horses.

The Cock, in the same stable has every mark of a real race horse and may with his maiden allowance run also for the Derby. His trials have been good but his far reaching motion is against any mud running, so if the track is a bit off he will hardly sport silk in the rich event. Hesperus hardly has quality enough for a Derby winner.

George Smith's was a good performance during the current meeting at Lexington where, although he ran his first mile in the race in 1:38 1-5, he was beaten by Bayberry Candle. His race made him many friends and he will likely remain favorite until the event has been decided. In the race where he was beaten he was conceding nineteen pounds to his fleet opponent, a difficult task for a three-year-old in his first public appearance. And yet, if the fortune of racing had broken his way he would doubtless have been returned a winner for Bayberry Candle forced him to pull up before reaching the first turn and again at the half mile ground he was in such close quarters that Loftus was compelled to ride him hard to avoid a second interference.

Of Tom Hayes' string trained at Lexington, Kinney and Jack O'Dowd, it can be said that they trained well enough, but their races, especially Kinney's, in going not to their fancy is no criterion of what they will do over a fast track.

Bulse has received a slow careful preparation but weather conditions are against him now as he is least fit of any of the likely contestants; and the track condition for several days at the Kentucky Association course has been quite muddy.

Should the weather clear up, however, his preparation for the race can be completed and his chances are certainly bright, for horsemen generally concede he was the best two year old of 1915.

John Ward's pair Dodge and Franklin are also at Lexington where Dodge won his only start in a gallop and Franklin has not made a public appearance. Both have grown and furnished nicely. On a slow or muddy track, Dodge will have an excellent chance while Franklin looks a bit outclassed under any condition.

Big Smoke pulled up lame at Louisville so the Bradley-Wallace stable will have to depend on Pockichoo, which will have to improve a vast deal over his two-year-old form to have a chance.

LOCAL NOTES.

It has been pretty generally understood for sometime past that Hon. J. N. Camden was negotiating for the purchase of a high-class English horse to head his Hartland Stud. Recent rumors have it that the deal has been consummated and that the horse will be delivered to him in July.

This horse is Light Brigade, a brown, foaled in 1910, by Picton, son of Orvieto and Hecuba by Isonomy, out of Bridge of Sighs by Isinglass. Light Brigade was bred by the Earl of Derby, and as a two-year-old won the Highclere Nursery, in a field of twenty-one; the Liverpool Nursery, carrying top weight in a good field and other races. At three, he won eleven races consecutively, including the Column Produce Stakes; Hurst Park Yearling Plate, Great National Produce Stakes (conceding 24 lbs. to second horse), Durham County Produce Plate (by two lengths from Cantilever, in receipt of 9 lbs.) Great Yorkshire Stakes, North Derby, an Ascot Triennial, etc At four, started seven times, winning the Atlantic Stakes, (by three lengths from Breakspear, etc.); March Stakes (by four lengths), and Bridgeman Stakes, carrying top weight in each race. Light Brigade's winnings in stakes totaled nearly $60,000

Mr. Camden is certainly to be congratulated on securing Light Brigade, as horses of his class would probably not be on the market at any price, under circumstances other than those at present existing in England.

Track conditions being favorable, Bulse will be seen under colors for the first this year on Tuesday, when he goes in the Derby Trial, at a mile and a furlong.

The Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association's first annual dinner will be at the Phoenix Hotel, at 8 o'clock this evening. Governor A. O. Stanley and other State officials and members of the State Racing Commission will be present. Judge Charles Kerr, will be toastmaster. Several interesting short talks will be made.

There is no doubt that A. K. Macomber's royally-bred Kentucky Derby candidate, Star Hawk, is daily growing more in favor among the horsemen at the Churchill Downs track as a dangerous quantity in the $15,000 classic which will be run off on May 13.

Star Hawk is by Sunstar, out of Sweet Finch (sister to Cunard). Sweet Finch was bred by the late James B. Haggin. She was foaled in 1903 and sent to England in 1904, got by Goldfinch, out of Lucania, by Sir Modred; 2nd dam School Girl, by Pat Malloy; 3d dam Glen Iuine, by Glenelg; 4th dam Lute, by Lexington; 5th dam Lula Horton, by Albion; 6th dam Martha Dunn, by Sovereign, etc.

Old Rosebud, which won the Kentucky Derby of 1914 and set the record for the race, 2.03 2 5, comes from this family. To this family also belongs that remarkable three-year-old Claude, which won the California, Tennessee, St. Louis and Canadian Derbies, and ran second to The Picket in the American Derby, giving that horse twelve pounds. Other famous horses tracing to the dam's side of Star Hawk are the American Derby winner, Wyeth; the two Suburban Handicap winners, Troubadour and Go Between; the wonderful race mare, Ida Pickwick, and such other superior performers as Virginius, Kildare, Lizzie Krepps, Pupil, Lucania, Keenan, Patron, Lismony, Trolly, Sheriff Bell, Ascender, Sister Mary, Dr. Catlett, Ten Booker, T. M. Greene, Ten Candles, Louise, etc.

John E. Harrod, of Wichita, Kan., has purchased of Joseph M. Hubbard the brown gelding Cracker Box, 7, by Octagon—Lucy Cross, and the chestnut mare Old Proverb, 6, by Golden Maxim—Bellamia (half-sister to Beldame). Mr. Harrod is a wealthy ranchman of Kansas and a fancier of the thoroughbred horse, being a breeder on a small scale. Mr. Harrod will race Cracker Box and Old Proverb in Kansas.

Wise Judge, bay horse, 5, by Golden Maxim—Verdict won his seventh race this season in South Africa, when on March 4th he carried off the six furlong Flying Handicap of $500 at Cape Town. He won by two and a half lengths. Another winner out of Verdict is Not Guilty, which won the Premio da Municipio de Rome (a steeple chase worth $800 to the winner) at Rome, Italy, on March 30. Carrying top weight, 156 lbs., he won by one and a half lengths from ten other starters. Both Wise Judge and Not Guilty were bred by Mr. Henry T. Oxnard, at the Blue Ridge Stud, Virginia.

The dissolution of the partnership of P. & W. Mitchell, the Australian owners who bred and raced the Wallace horse Trafalgar, brought him into the selling last month. After spirited bidding Trafalgar was knocked down at 7,500 guineas to Walter Mitchell, one of the partners. This is the record price for an Austral-bred stallion. Carbine, bought by the Duke of Portland for 13,500 guineas, was bred in New Zealand.

At Messrs. Fewell's repository, Dublin, Ireland, recently, the German-owned stallion, Huon II., by Ard Patrick—Hyeres, by Isonomy, was put up to auction under the trading with the enemy amendment act, and realized 300 guineas

April 28.

Three of the seven races on the card for the second day of the Kentucky Association's spring meeting were won by horses trained by J. C. Milam. The first of these was Satin, property of former United States Senator J. N. Camden, President of Kentucky Association and Chairman of the State Racing Commission. This half-sister to Marse Henry is a fast-running daughter of Peter Quince and Nun's Cloth, and under the pilotage of Tommy McTaggart she was off in front and won easily all the way, easing up at the finish. She was a strong favorite.

The second was Port Light, owned by Colonel Fred Leavy, of Louisville, and J. C. Milam, which romped home with the fifth race at 11½ to 1 and the other was Norun bega, a daughter of Star Shoot and Noreen, which has a fondness for soft footing and was very fit. She got up just in time to beat the good though a trifle lame Midway, half-brother to Buckhorn, which had five lengths the better of heavily backed Frank Coleman from the John W. Schorr stable.

The stellar number of the program was the Beaumont Purse for three-year-olds at one mile and seventy yards which called out five Kentucky Derby candidates, and which was won quite easily by John S. Ward's Dodge, son of Jim Gafney and Flora Willoughby. He was so highly regarded that he went to the post at one to four, and ran an interesting race with Milestone, Big Fellow being fully twenty lengths back of them at the finish, and less than two lengths to the good of Jack O'Dowd, with Palroma last. They will all have to improve over the showing today if they get anything in the big race at the Downs two weeks from tomorrow. Dodge struck himself slightly on the left foreleg.

Father Riley, from the R. L. Baker, stable, was on the head of his race all the way and won easily. Edna Kenna, a long-shot from W. J. Speirs' stable, won the opening race from Wanda Pitzer, the favorite. Surpassing at 4 to 5 accounted for the closing number, but was hard ridden to stall off Benedictina.

Though the track was heavy and the afternoon partially cloudy, with one very light shower, the attendance was large and the racing much enjoyed.

April 29.

The Leland Hotel Handicap at one mile and seventy yards was the feature of a seven-race card that produced excellent sport for the extra large crowd at the Kentucky Association course this bright afternoon. It was won easily by Senator Johnson N. Camden's four-year-old chestnut filly One Step, trained by J. C. Milam and ridden by Jockey Frank Murphy, who had the good fortune to ride three other winners, one of which was Morristown, which made it a double for Trainer Milam, who also is the owner of the game little Marta Santa gelding.

Lady Rotha was believed by many smart horsemen to have a better chance than One Step for the handicap, and she became the first choice of the pool buyers, but she was evidently not as fit as they supposed and was through at the end of three quarters. Water Witch came fast at the end and noted Grumpy out of the place.

The finish of the Morristown race was highly exciting, the first three being heads apart. Korfbage, the favorite, was raced into submission by Morristown coming up the hill and was all out when it came to the stretch run.

Dr. Carmen and Mars Cassidy were about equal choices for the third race, but Solar Star, under Murphy's pilotage, came home an easy winner after the speedy Dimitri had made his usual front run the first half mile.

Murphy's other victory came on Auriga, the two year-old daughter of Waterboy and School Mistress (half-sister to Sain), owned by Fred Schaller and trained by W. J. Young. She was a big surprise, as is evidenced by the odds, $32 15 to $1. She won in a drive with the favorite Bedtime Stories.

Ardent was in front all the way and won the opening race easily, Jocular had no trouble winning the fifth and the closing race went to the veteran Howdy Howdy, in front from the start and lasting just long enough to stall off Fly Home, with Hard Ball a hustling third.

J. Hal Woodford had tough luck today. His good two-year-old filly Dreamsome, by Superman—Ballymena, while galloping through the stretch, stumbled, fell and broke a shoulder and had to be destroyed.

Although today's racing card was featured by the running of the Ashland Oaks, a mile affair for three-year-old fillies, chief interest on the part of the turfmen centered in the initial appearance of the year of George Smith, John Sanford's Kentucky Derby eligible, which started in the fourth race, a purse affair at a mile and a sixteenth. The Sanford crack was defeated by a head in this race by Bayberry Candle, but the winner had to lower the track record to beat him, and he was by no means disgraced. He was going strongest at the end and demonstrated that he is in the best of condition.

The race was run in 1:44 2-5, which is three-fifths of a second better than the best previous mark. The winner led all the way and set a dazzling pace, the quarter being run in 0:23 4-5, the half in 0:48, the six furlongs in 1:12 3 5 and the first mile in 1:38.

Bayberry Candle was off in front and opened up a length and a half on George Smith before they were around the first turn, but after they turned into the back stretch he gained steadily upon her and in another stride or two would have won the race. He was carrying 112 pounds, four pounds overweight, and by the scale was giving the five-year-old mare, which beat him a head, 16 pounds. It was a rattling good performance for the Sanford colt, and Preston Burch, the stable representatative, was warmly congratulated Walter B. Jennings was a witness and remarked at the finish: "That was a good race and that's a nice three-year-old."

Eleven three-year-old fillies contested for the Ashland Oaks, and the winner turned up in Mandy Hamilton, owned by Jefferson Livingston. She came from behind to win, at the end was a length and a half in front of Dolina, with Deliver third. The two latter were "field" horses.

Deliver made the pace most of the way and appeared a certain winner at the eighth pole, but weakened in the final running. Lady Always was the favorite at at odds of 17 to 20.

The event was worth $1,301 to the winner, $386 to the second and $193 to the third horse. In addition to its monetary value the race carried with it a silver loving cup donated by Thomas C. McDowell, master of Ashland, after which the race was named.

Nobleman won the opening race under a hustling ride at the hands of Jockey Frank Murphy, beating Hocnir by a nose in the last jump. Hocnir made a valiant effort to last it out, but could not make it. Talebearer showed a lot of early speed, but weakened badly in the stretch. Samuel R. Meyer, making his first start in a long while, managed to take down third money. The winner went to the post the favorite for the race.

E. R Bradley uncovered a likely looking filly in the second race in Bit of a Devil, a half-sister to Clubs, and she won by a narrow margin over Miss Jazbo. She led all of the way, but was put to a strenuous drive in the stretch to stall off the second horse. Bourbon Lass finished third by a narrow margin over Jovial. The latter is considered one of Dick Williams' best juveniles, and bids fair to win before long. Jovial was the choice for the race.

The much talked about western colt Bank had no difficulty in disposing of Conning Tower and others in the Hartland Handicap.

Huffaker accounted for the sixth race by the margin of a neck over J. J. Murdock. He was well up all the way, and in the stretch running went to the front and stood a hard drive. Lena Misha, about which much has been said as having a chance to win the Derby, started in this event, and ran disappointingly all the way. The recent good works of Lena Misha caused him to go to the post the choice. In this race Blind Baggage made the first start of his career, he having been injured in a train wreck near Cincinnati, O., last summer and been on the shelf ever since.

The seventh race also resulted in a driving finish, Cadenza getting the verdict by a head over Olga Star, with Fly Home third. The winner was lucky, as Jockey Claude Hunt had Olga Star all over the track, and this brought about her defeat. Jockey Ted Rice urged Cadenza hard all the way. Fly Home finished with a rush, but was not good enough. Pleasureville showed good speed most of the way, but weakened in the stretch drive. Injury, also well up in the early running, was the favorite for the race.

Charles H. Berryman is disposing of his interest in several horses in T. C. McDowell's stable. One day last week McDowell became the sole owner of Waterblossom on a basis of $10,000, and today Poppee ran for the account of A. C. McCrowan, as will also Treowen the next time out. Sister Susie, Precious and Paramount also are for sale.

Howard Oots' Joanna threw her boy this morning, ran away and fell over a fence.

The Kentucky Association received another bad weather break today. Rain, which lasted the greater part of the morning, turned the course muddy again, after it had been fast only one day.

For the feature offerings the Hinata Stakes, at four and one half furlongs, for two-year-old fillies, with a net value of $1,455, and the Kingston Handicap, an $800 affair, for three-year-olds and up, over the route of a mile and an eighth, were carded. Both of these races were contested for by good fields. Mrs. Clarence Le Bus, owner of Hinata Farm, after which the race was named, donated a handsome loving cup to the winner.

J. O. & G. H. Keene's brown filly Yermila, by Jack Atkin—Lady Alicia, accounted for the stakes, winning by five lengths from Jocular, with Believe Me Boys third. The winner was given a rousing ride all the way by Jockey Roscoe Goose, and this made this clever rider's third victory in a row during the afternoon. Believe Me Boys, after delaying the start six minutes by her antics at the post, finally got away winging and held a big lead until well into the stretch, where she weakened. Jocular ran a good race and was easily best of the others. Sweet Helen lost her rider soon after the start, but luckily Jockey Cooper, who rode her, escaped injury.

Brynlimah took down the long end of the Kingston Handicap by eight lengths from One Step, with Indolence third. In this event Kinney, T. P. Hayes' Kentucky Derby candidate, made his first start of the year, and his performance was a poor one, as he finished fourth, being beaten forty lengths by the winner. He ran like he did not fancy the muddy going, after showing some early speed.

The Baker boys, Hundley and Grover, finally landed a purse in the second race, a two-year-old affair, with Green Jones, and he was at a good price. At the finish he had six lengths to spare over Buckner, which in turn was two lengths in advance of Midway. Sleeper, the Gallaher Bros.'s good Duval—Trance colt, about which much has been said, as being the peer of the juveniles here, was the choice for the race.

Billy Joe easily won the opening number, and Embroidery, Miss Fannie and Mabel Dulweber made a show of their fields in the fifth, sixth and seventh races.

Rain again added to the discomfort of the patrons of the Kentucky Association track today, and it served to make the going the worst of the meeting to date. The downpour began early in the morning and lasted until well in the afternoon, several of the races being run while it was raining hard.

The feature event was the Wickliffe Purse, an affair for three-year-olds over the mile and a sixteenth route, and although there were only four contestants it furnished a good contest. Three of the four starters were Kentucky Derby eligibles, St. Isidore a stable-mate of George Smith, Sanward and Gypsey George. The race was worth $700. Milestone was returned the winner by the margin of a head over St. Isidore, and it was a horse race all the way, although the winner was not a contender until reaching the far turn.

Harry Kelly, John W. Schorr's crack two-year-old colt, by Ultimus—Woodlane, showed his heels to a small field of juveniles in the fourth race, winning by five lengths over Blue Grass Belle, with Guy Fortune third. The winner dashed into a long lead right at the start, and was never in danger. Blue Grass Belle was always closest to him. Guy Fortune closed with a rush. This marked Harry Kelly's first start and he ran like the good colt he is claimed to be.

The other winning favorites today were Dr. Tuck, a real good thing, and Sosius, an easy winner of the closing number. The afternoon's surprises were Anna Kruter, easy winner of the opening race; Nonreddin, which took the fifth in a drive with Ed Howard, an odds-on choice, and Uncle Will, winner of the sixth from the favorite, Disturber.

Berlin, J. S. Ward's Jim Gafney—Antolee colt, was a two-length winner over Frank Coleman, the only other starter, in the running of the Idle Hour Stakes today. The event was the feature of the day's card. Both Sedan and Westy Hogan, which engaged in such a stirring battle last week, were named to start in the event, but were scratched because of the heavy track.

Frank Coleman and Berlin went to the post well matched. Jockey Murphy was astride Berlin, which was favored in the betting. G. Garner was on Frank Coleman. Coleman got away in front and took a length lead on Berlin. The latter, gradually nosed along, however, and as they came into the stretch assumed the lead.

The real contest was on when the paddock gate was reached and Frank Coleman was two lengths behind Berlin at the finish. In addition to the purse, the owner of the winner received a loving cup from E. R. Bradley.

Four favorites found their way through the mud and under the wire first today. The favorites outclassed their respective fields and without difficulty fought their way to clean cut victories.

Cash on Delivery started the procession by winning from Talebearer and Blackthorn in the opener. Jockey Kederis held up on Cash on Delivery until the stretch. Blackthorn had been leading most of the way, with Talebearer second. Cash on Delivery came fast in the last furlong and won by a good margin from Talebearer, which outlasted Blackthorn.

Samuel R. Meyer, one of Adair & Baker's good campaigners, was favored in the second and under the able handling of Jockey Goose got out in front and was never headed, winning with lengths to spare. Hard Ball, the second choice, was easily second over Dorcris. The others were never in it. An idea of the way Meyer ran was gotten when Goose reported at the judges' stand. There were a number of mud spots on his boots, but the silks were just as clean as when they came from the laundry.

Following his victory Meyer was bid up to $1,000 by by E. T. Colton but was protected by the owners with the customary bid.

The Iroquois Purse was third on the program and Lucky R., the favorite, came down in front. Blue Cap, with Goose up, made a strong bid and finished second. Antobelle, which was coming strong in the last furlong was third. The others never had a chance.

In Frigerio, a two-year-old colt by Marathon-Grace Commoner, W. H. Baker uncovered a likely looking youngster. Frigerio was highly rated in the betting over Jack Wiggins, and came down the stretch with plenty of room to spare from Wiggins, which was up all the way. Nettie Walcutt beat The Duke for the show money. Frigerio was hustled into an early lead by Goose and ran away from the others, negotiating the four and a half furlongs in three-fifths of a second better than the time made by Berlin in the Idle Hour Stakes at the same distance. There was no need for all this speed, and all Goose had to do was to keep his mount going straight.

The sixth, a selling event, resulted in a victory all the way for Mex. Pan Handle was second and World's Wonder third. Mex was off to a good start and won well in hand. Pan Handle ran a good easy race.

The only favorite for the day that utterly disappointed her backers was Jessie Louise in the closing event, and Jessie ran out of the money. W. J. Weber's Commauretta captured the event in handy style from Beauty Shop, which led for most of the way.

Commauretta came through on the rail in the last furlong and won easily. Fidget managed to take the third position. Beauty Shop wasted too much energy in the early stages of the contest.

I see that Broomstick has for the third successive season headed the list of winning stallions in America. This interests me, and possibly some of my readers, as Elf, the dam of Broomstick, was sent out by me as a foal at foot of her dam, Sylvabelle, to the late Mr. J. R. Keene, in 1893, I having bought the mare for him at the previous December sales, and her filly (Elf), by Galliard, was foaled at Cobham in 1893. I remember all this particularly well, for Sylvabelle (by Bend Or out of St. Gatien's dam) was the one mare of the lot in which I feared I had made a mistake, for she proved to be a crib-biter when we got her home—as, indeed, have so many of Bend Or's daughters—but all went well nevertheless, and the foal she went out with became the dam of Broomstick. The mare herself was in foal to Saraband when exported. Another mare and foal sent by me in the same consignment was Sundown (by Springfield out of Sunshine), with her colt by Ayrshire. This colt was Peep O'Day, now dead, but fourth in the list of winning stallions in the U. S. A. for 1915, and higher up in preceding seasons. Fourteenth in the list comes Disguise II., whose dam, Bonnie Gal, was one of the same consignment.

I may as well note here, for the benefit of whom it may concern, that the sale of the Cobham Stud has been fixed for July 26, and all the stallions (including Javelin, Flotsam, etc.), brood mares, yearlings and foals will then come under the hammer, as the lease expires at the end of the year. Mr. Buchanan will also offer some of his bloodstock at the same time, and the sale will be as genuine a one as if it were arranged by executors.—[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman.

EASTERN GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, May 2.—The stake books for the spring meeting of the Westchester Racing Association at the Belmont Park course are out and the usual high-class program of sport has been arranged for the eighteen-day session, which opens on May 25. No less than seventeen stakes will be decided during this period, while many overnight handicaps and races for the better class of selling platers have been planned.

For the opening day the Metropolitan Handicap at one mile, with $2,000 added and the New York Steeplechase are companion features. Judging from the list of eligibles the best performers in their respective classes will compete for these rich prizes. Then there will be two events for juveniles, while platers of the first rank will test their skill over the six furlongs and mile routes.

Last year Eddie Dugan signalized his return to the saddle in this country by winning the Metropolitan with August Belmont's Stromboli. It may be that the chestnut son of Fair Play and St. Priscilla, which ranked second to Roamer in the four-year-old division in 1915, will repeat, but he will be opposed by much sterner opposition than that vanquished last year.

Jack McCormack has brought James Butler's Pebbles back to the races and there is every indication that the Ben Brush four-year-old will face the barrier fit and ready in this opening day feature. H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn and Schulyer Parsons' Sharpshooter are also being pointed for this, and on their 1915 form are sure to be formidable.

Roamer, Star Hawk and George Smith are also named, but there is little possibility that they will be in this State during the early stages of the Belmont meeting. Then L. S. Thompson has entered his good three-year-old Bromo, while Harry Payne Whitney holds a formidable hand in the aged Borrow, winner of the 1915 Kentucky Handicap, and the imported three-year-olds, Chicle and Clapperhill. There are a number of other good ones nominated for the Metropolitan and the 1916 running should furnish one of the best contests in the history of the stake.

The Suburban Handicap, one of the many stellar attractions of the meeting, will be decided on Decoration Day, with the International Steeplechase Handicap as a companion feature.

For the Suburban, which has an added value of $2,500, the pick of distance runners in the country have been named and it is significant that August Belmont's Stromboli also won this event last year. He is again eligible, but will be forced to match strides with such performers as Roamer, Borrow, Star Hawk, Pebbles, The Finn, Sharpshooter, George Smith, Clapperhill, Chicle and Bromo.

The feature of the meeting will be the appearance of the numerous high-class imported horses which were purchased in England last fall. Many royally-bred juveniles from across the water have been named for the rich two-year-old stakes, and not a small number of older horses, which gained their early education in England and on the Continent, will sport silks.

In keeping with the progress racing made in this State last year the Westchester Association is showing greater liberality in purse distribution, and none of the races to which an entrance fee is charged will have an added value of less than $500. In addition, a number of free entrance races are programmed which will have a flat value of $500.

Racing Secretary Earlocker has constructed a better balanced book than that found last spring, as all classes of performers are catered to. Sprint events and distance races are about equally divided in the overnight contests and bigger fields and keener sport should result.

The rule adopted last spring in reference to scratching will be continued this season and ten per cent. of the purse will be charged for any withdrawal below six.

The receipt of additional entries, mailed from distant points, brings the total number of nominations for the two day spring meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association, to be held at Belmont Park Terminal on May 13 and 17, up to 289, or an average of better than twenty-two entries for each of the thirteen events on the day program.

This is of course, a new record for an amateur race meet in this country. Forty-one entries have been made for a single race on the opening day and this is another record number. This race is the Great United Hunts Steeplechase, a handicap for four-year-olds and upwards, at about two and a half miles, for which a $5,000 purse is offered, and in addition a handsome silver trophy, donated by Perry Belmont, president of the United Hunts Racing Association.

The forty-one thoroughbreds named to start in the Great United Hunts Steeplechase on May 13, are the pick of the noted chasers, which will be seen in competition in this country this year, and include several imported horses. Experts who have studied the list of entries for this great steeplechase seem to like the chances of these five horses; August Belmont's Mission, Harry La Montagne's Swith, E. M. Weld's Weldship, L. Wood's Compliment, and Edward McLean's Bonnie Laddie. Other prominent entrants in this race are the Greentree Stable, James Park, Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark, F. Ambrose Clark, J. E. Davis, A. J. A. Devereaux, J. Temple Gwathmey, Thomas Hitchcock, Foxhall P. Keene, H. W. Sage, Ral Parr, Glen Riddle Farms, Archibald Barklie, A. P. Humphrey, Jr., Northwood Stable, M. L. Schwartz, A. C. Schwartz and Frederick H. Prince.

Despite weather conditions excellent progress has been made in the work of preparing Belmont Park Terminal for the coming meeting of the United Hunts Racing Association. The fences on both the hunters and steeplechasing courses are being rebuilt and stiffened. The seating capacity of the grandstand is being increased, and provision being made generally for the record attendance which the magnitude of the meeting is certain to draw.

Racing Secretary Frank Bryan has announced the names of forty-five candidates eligible for the Whitney Memorial Steeplechase Handicap, which will be run at the spring meeting at Piping Rock. This stake for four-year olds and upward over the two mile and a half course is one of the richest cross-country events of the year and carries an added value of $3,000. In addition, it has a cup value of $500, but this trophy must be won twice.

The field this year will be made up of the following timber-toppers:

J. E. Davis—Vifr and White Metal.
Herbert L Pratt—Rezzano and Superhuman.
Harry La Montagne—Swish and Traditioner.
F. Ambrose Clark—Lysander.
Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark—Distance.
F. H. Prince—Tattanta.
James Park—Duke of Duluth.
A. J. A. Devereux—Conqueror.
H. W. Sage—Martian, Brotherstone, Pebeto and Ambrosian.
Greentree Stable—Cherry Malotte, imp. Ben Wyvis, imp. Nenuphar and Syceet II.
R. L. Gerry—Footlights.
Archibald Barklie—Royal and Blarkenburg.
August Belmont—Mission and Top Hat.
Ral Parr—Emerald Gem and Shannon River.
H. T. Oxnard—Falmouth.
A. P. Humphrey, Jr.—Belle of Bryn Mawr and Couteur De Bois.
M. L. Schwartz—M. J. Shannon and Archdale.
A. C. Schwartz—Pay Streak.
Lewis Garth—Robert Oliver and Rhomb.
J. E. Widener—Compliment, Rellnf and Skibbereen.
E. M. Weld—Weldship.
J. T. Gwathmey—Rapica.
Thomas Hitchcock—Brentwood, Hustler and Sorrento.

John E. Madden of Hamburg Place has brought no less than thirty-seven of his thoroughbreds to Belmont Park, where they are being cared for by Trainer Walker. They are an attractive looking lot, and they seem to be in especially fine condition. Numerically, they are about evenly divided between two-year-olds and three-year-olds and upward. Gillies, the chestnut son of Ogden and Golden Drop by Hamburg, is a grand looking three-year-old, and seems to be in perfect condition.

THE RACING AT LEXINGTON.

Today's racing card at the Kentucky Association track was run off over a lumpy and drying out track, the worst of the meeting thus far, and as a result slow time was the order of the day. The course dried out fast as the afternoon wore on, and late in the day harrows were put on it. The weather today was delightful and another large crowd was out.

The card was featureless, but the racing proved interesting despite this. The closest to a feature was the fourth, a purse affair at a mile and one-sixteenth, in which five good route horses started. They finished in Chinese parade order, with A. B. Hancock's good Celt filly Embroidery six lengths in front of Grumpy, and the latter the same margin in advance of Dr. Carmen. Noureddin, which won his last start, cut little figure in the running of today's race.

The winner was last in the early running, but on the back side she moved up with a rush, and at the end was only cantering. Grumpy set the pace part of the way after Dr. Carmen retired, and he was the best of the others. Noureddin was favorite for the race at of 19 to 20

This success marked a double for J. C. Milam's string since he had just saddled Norumbega winner of the third race with such ease as to fully justify the confidence displayed by the betting public which backed her into odds-on favoritism.

Sleeth and The Carmet gave the talent a severe dumping in the first and second races, but in the closing three King Gorin, Billy Joe and Shyness, all well thought of by the public, won their respective races. The long-shot winner of the afternoon was Allen Cain. He paid a dime less than $37 to $1. The closest finish was that between Billy Joe and Talebearer, the former getting up just in time to nose out the latter. W. C. Weant claimed Talebearer for $800.

Jockey Fred Teahan, while riding Benedictina in the closing race, had an attack of heart trouble, and barely was able to hold on until the finish. He fainted when he dismounted, and was carried to the jockeys' quarters, where he was revived by Dr. John Maguire, who advised the boy to take a rest from the course for a couple of weeks.

Governor's Day at the Kentucky Association race track was fittingly observed today by the running of an excellent racing card, featured by the Camden Handicap, an old fixture at the local course. The attendance records here for a long while back were shattered. The day was ideal for the sport and the track had dried out to almost a fast stage.

Gov. A. O. Stanley and Mrs. Stanley were on hand for the occasion, as were many members of the Governor's staff and turf and political notables from throughout the State. The Governor occupied Senator Johnson N. Camden's private box along with the Rev. J. M. Maxon and Mrs. Maxon, of Versailles, and Judge Allie Young, of the Kentucky State Racing Commission. The crowd was augmented by large delegations from Louisville and Cincinnati.

Water Witch, owned and trained by W. J. Young, accounted for the Camden Handicap, which was worth $1,668 to the winner, $498 to the second and $249 to the third horse. Bayberry Candle finished in the place position, a length behind the winner, a half a length in front of One Step, owned by Senator Camden, which was third. Eight horses contested for the big race, and by the time it was run the track had gotten fast, as is evidenced by the time for the mile and a quarter, 2:04 3-5.

Bayberry Candle, was in front passing the grand stand the first time, but near the half-mile pole One Step took the lead and held it until after turning into the stretch, when Water Witch which came from far back, assumed command. Jockey Mack Garner was forced to ride the winner hard in order to stall off Bayberry Candle, which came again in the final sixteenth.

A handsome silver cup, donated by Senator Camden, was presented to W. J. Young owner of the winner, and Gov. Stanley made the presentation speech. The chief executive of the State paid a tribute to the thoroughbred industry and complimented Mr. Young and Jockey Garner on their victory. The Governor's speech was greeted with cheers.

The form players were undecided as to which horse to center on in the stake race, and they finally wound up by making Brynlimah, which finished last, a favorite by ten cents on a dollar over Star Jasmine, which finished fourth.

The stake race was not the only event on the card which had a cup value attached to it, as Owner Combs received a silver trophy, donated by J. O. and G. H. Keene, for winning the Keeneland Purse, the third on the card, with Trappoid, which led all the way.

The racing on the whole was of a high order, but the backers of favorites were on the losing side since Hawthorn, easy winner of the opening number, and Rapids, hard ridden winner of the sixth race, were the only two of their choices that made good. Conflagration, winner of the closing race, paid $21.35 to $2, the longest price of the afternoon. Gipsey George took the Elmendorf Handicap. The second race was won by Nettie Walcutt handily. She was something of a surprise, though she had made a good showing on her initial appearance a few days before.

Among the out-of-town delegation on hand for today's races were Gen. W. B. Haldeman, John Hachmeister, Frank Bruen, Harvey Myers and Judge Charles F. Price.

A. K. Macomber, owner of Star Hawk, The Cock and other good horses, was an arrival today with a party of friends from California and witnessed the racing.

Secretary A. R. Louden of the Hamilton Jockey Club, was among the visitors. He stated that he has had numerous applications for stall room at his track by Kentucky horsemen. The Hamilton Derby, he announced, has been set back for decision to June 28 enabling horses that start in the Latonia mile and a half Derby to be run June 17, ample opportunity to recover from the hard test and likewise enabling probable starters in the Fort Erie Derby, to be run July 4, time to recover from the Hamilton race. Mr. Louden will remain in Kentucky until after the running of the Derby.

May 8.

Today's racing card at the Kentucky Association track was featured by the Brewers' Selling Stakes, and another large crowd was on hand for the sport. The track was in excellent shape and good time was the order of the day, the feature event, which was at a mile, being run by Grover Hughes in 1:38 4-5, while the Mere Hill Handicap, at a mile and seventy yards, which was won by Royal II., was negotiated in 1:42 2-5, which was within one fifth of a second of the track record.

The stake race was worth $1,448 to the first, $428 to the second and $214 to the third horse, and Grover Hughes had to be hard hustled to win. He had only a neck to spare over Lady Rotha at the end. Six horses started in this race, but it was between the horses which finished first and second all the way. Irish Gentleman closed with a good enough rush to get third money. John J. Galvin donated a handsome silver loving cup to the winner of the stake. The form players did not overlook Grover Hughes.

The sparkling performance of the afternoon was that of the two-year-old Midway, half-brother to Buckhorn, owned by J. W. Parrish and trained by W. J. Young. The son of Ballet and Thirty-Third was the first to show as the barrier was released, but in a few strides James, a son of Hilarious and Darling, from the stable of Williams Bros., and backed for a good thing by his connections, was three lengths in front. Midway, however, ran to him and quickly passed him, winning easily by two lengths in 1:00 4-5, three-fifths of a second slower than the track record which was set last year by Checks. Midway today had up six pounds more than Checks carried the day he made this record.

Royal II. disclosed his fitness and a remarkable turn of speed when he won the third race, a handicap at a mile and seventy yards in 1:42 2-5, one-fifth of a second slower than the track record, which is held by Ilma. The favorite for this race was Embroidery, but she could not handle the impost, and after having been prominent in the early stages finished last, save one. Dorothy Dean came from away back to take the place from Dr. Carmen, which was in front at one stage of the stretch run. Kinney made the early running, but retired as if short Folks figuring on the Kentucky Derby next Saturday were not impressed by this performance, though it must be admitted that the race will do him good.

Hawthorn ran right back to his winning race of Saturday in the fifth event today, getting the verdict by four lengths over Bars and Stars. Wanda Pitzer finished third. E. B. Elkins, who had The Norman in this race, claimed Bars and Stars for $1,000.

Among the visitors today were Messrs. F. R. Hitchcock, H. K. Knapp, Schuyler L. Parsons, Andrew Miller, William Streett, Dr. Spencer and Mr. Perkins, of New York, who will remain in Kentucky until after the running of the Kentucky Handicap at Douglas Park.

Franklin, Weber & Ward's three-year-old son of Jim Gaffney—Gliding By, today demonstrated that he must be reckoned with in the running of the Kentucky Derby at Louisville next Saturday, when he won the Derby Trial, which was at a mile and one-eighth, and equaled the track record for the distance at the local course, 1:51 1-5.

His victory was a clean cut one, and at the end he had a lead of eight lengths over Bulse, which was the same distance in front of Milestone. The performance of Bulse was disappointing to his many admirers in this section, as they had pinned their faith to his ability to win the big classic at Churchill Downs.

The race had a value of $1,000 and six horses contested for it. Bulse was an overwhelming choice, but Franklin came in for a good play because of a workout of a mile in 1:39 1-5 last Sunday. The pace was sizzling all the way, the quarter being run in 0:23 3-5, the half-mile in 0:47 1-5, the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 and the first mile in 1:38 3-5.

Franklin was in front most of the way, but Bulse got to him once and managed to get a slight lead. He did not stay there long, however, as at the three-eighths pole Jockey Frank Murphy shook Franklin up and he drew away into a long lead.

Gipsey George, as usual, swerved toward the inner rail on the first turn and came near causing a bad spill. Jockey Joe Kederis was forced to pull up Polroma. Gipsey George ran a good race until after turning into the stretch, when he weakened. Soon after making the turn for home Prince Harry, J. H. Stamper, Jr.'s, candidate for the Derby, broke down and his racing career is probably over.

The Derby Trial drew a banner crowd to the course today, and it was a speculatively inclined crowd, too. The weather and track conditions were perfect. Racing Secretary Will Shelley had a good, all-around card arranged, and the racing was keen throughout the afternoon.

The only other favorite to lose today was Hot Toddy in the second race. Miss Jazbo, which was backed for a good thing Saturday, beat him easily. Othello won in a romp in the opening race. Fleuro scored a driving victory over Cane Run. Blue Grass Belle left nothing in doubt at the finish of the fifth race. J. J. Murdock won the sixth race by five lengths and Olga Star made her field look cheap in the closing race. Father Riley, Sunflash and Cadenza were three well-supported horses that ran very poorly today. The weather was as good as if it had been made to order, the attendance splendid, and the interest keen.

It is said that General W. B. Haldeman at the next meeting of the State Racing Commission will propose a race at two miles and a quarter, to be run in the fall and to be conditioned somewhat after the fashion of the Kentucky Endurances Stakes, the four-mile event that was formerly conducted by the State Racing Commission and raced at Churchill Downs.

Ed. Baxter, of the Windsor Jockey Club also arrived today.

May 10.

Running five furlongs in 0:58 4-5 and setting a new track record for this distance over the Kentucky Association track, Harry Kelly, John W. Schorr's two-year-old Ultimus—Woodlane colt, won the Breeders' Futurity, the feature event at the local course, today. The best previous mark for five furlongs was 1:00 1-5, made last year by Checks. Second to the Schorr colt was Westy Hogan, and he was six lengths behind the winner, with Yermila third, the same margin behind the place horse. Only five horses contested for the stake, and the Schorr stable was represented by an entry, Harry Kelly and Frank Coleman.

Harry Kelly demonstrated today that he is everything that has been claimed for him in the way of being a high-class two-year-old. He was in front all the way and ran the first quarter in 0:22 and the half-mile in 0:46. Westy Hogan was second all the way, but it was plain to be seen that he was not the equal of Harry Kelly. Yermila likewise was in third place all the way. In the stretch running Jockey Guy Garner had difficul-

The race was worth $3 6 4.50 to the winner, $1 087 to the second, $54?.50 to the third, and the fourth horse saved starting fee, which amounted to $150. In addition to this the nominator of the first horse received $250, the nominator of the second got $150, and the nominator of the third $100.

It developed today that John O. Whitlow had on yesterday again declined to sell Westy Hogan, E. R. Bradley having made an offer of $10 000 cash and agreeing to let the horse run in the Futurity for Mr. Whitlow.

That the track was uncommonly fast today is demonstrated by the fact that One Step ran the mile and an eighth in 1:50 1-5, which was one second better than the previous track record made by Governor Gray in the Blue Grass Stakes in 1911 and that of Conning Tower in defeating Grover Hughes for the Savoy Hotel Handicap equaled the track record of 1:12 for three quarters of a mile.

One Step's victory in the Leonard Hotel Handicap was the thirteenth at the meeting for horses trained by J. C. Milam. In addition Mr. Milam is credited with five seconds and one third. On One Step also Jockey Frank Murphy of Cincinnati, rode his fourth winner this afternoon, and it was the second time during the meeting that he rode so many winners in one day. He rode Conning Tower, The Grader and Sard. The latter is owned by J. N. Camden and was the means of a double for the day for the master of Hartland Stud, who also is Chairman of the State Racing Commission and President of the Kentucky Association, but he was not well enough to see any of the racing at this meeting.

Ratina won the opening race in a big romp. The Grader easily defeated Grover Hughes in the second Conning Tower had a hard drive to win the third from Chalmers.

Sard's victory was an easy one, as was One Step's, and old Howdy Howdy, as he has done before, took the closing race of the meeting in a drive after Brookfield had made his run and was passed also by Commanrette.

The racing officials all were congratulated on the splendid success of the meeting.

NEW YORK GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The steamship Manchuria, which will arrive at this port on Friday or Saturday of this week, brings a very important cargo of thoroughbreds consigned to Mr. August Belmont. These horses were all bred at his Haras de Villers, Foucarmont, France.

In the lot are eight three-year-old colts, the French Government refusing to permit the exportation of fillies, owing to the war, as they desire to keep within their borders a nucleus from which their great breeding studs may be rehabilitated after peace has been declared.

These three-year-olds will all be sent to Trainer Samuel Hildreth at Belmont Park, where they will be prepared for the coming campaign, while the yearlings—thirteen in number, will be sent direct to Mr. Belmont's Nursery Stud, Lexington

Ampere, a bay colt by Ethelbert, is a half-brother to Amoreaux, a good winner in France, while Valais is a half-brother to Vulcain. Viewpoint is a full brother to the good performer Rock View, a winner of considerable money in Mr. Belmont's colors and now in the stud in Kentucky.

Among the yearlings Beaumarais, a brown colt by Alcantara out of Qu'elle est Belle, winner of the French Oaks, and Bistouri, a bay colt by Tracery out of Ballot Bred, the first foal of the famous Ballame, should give a good account of themselves.

Ampere, b c, 3, by Ethelbert—Amicitia.
Dramaturge, ch c, 3, by Ethelbert—Drama.
Fielding, b or br c, 3, by Rock Sand—Field Mouse.

Bromo, the three-year-old son of Broomstick and Leayonara, which raced under the silks of L. S Thompson last year, has been transferred with all his engagements to Harry Payne Whitney.

James Rowe, who trains Bromo for Mr. Thompson, has been training him at Brookdale, along with the other Whitney horses and he has shown enough to bring about his transfer. Little is known of just how far advanced the Whitney horses are, but it is pretty well understood that Bromo will be the one that will carry the silks in the Kentucky Derby. He will likely have for a running mate Thunderer, the unbeaten brother of Regret, winner of the Kentucky Derby of last year, or Dominant, one of the best of last season's two-year-olds.

Bromo is considered by many shrewd horsemen as really a better colt than either Thunderer or Dominant. He was only winner of two races out of eight time at the post last season, but two of his most brilliant races were ones in which he was beaten.

His last appearance in 1915 was in the running of the Home Bred Produce Stakes, in which he took up 127 pounds, and was only beaten a head by John E. Madden's Golden under 107 pounds. His previous race to that was in the Futurity, and in the running he carried 1.6 pounds to 122 on Thunderer, and at the end the son of Broomstick and Jersey Lightning only beat him a head.

Bromo improved as the season advanced and he stamped himself as a truly remarkable colt. He is both fast and game and the fact that he is to race for Mr. Whitney this season makes his starting a trial remarkable one for the various three-year-old fixtures. The colt is engaged in all of the big three-year-old races as well as having been named for a number of the handicaps in which he is required to meet horses of the older divisions.

CANYON WON ONE THOUSAND GUINEAS.

Lord Derby, who was head of the recruiting scheme, and who is expected shortly to take a seat in the Cabinet, won the One Thousand Guineas last week with Canyon, b f, 3, by Chaucer—Galeazzi. She was at 9 to 2 in the wagering. Mr. E. Hulton's Fifinella, ch f, 3, by Polymelus—Silver Fowl, was second, and Mr. L. Neumann's Salamandra, br f, 3, by St. Frusquin—Electra third. Canyon is also named by Lord Derby for the Derby and the Oaks, to be run at the end of the month. He also has Pinfarthing in the great English race, which has never been won by a holder of the Earldom of Derby.

LOCAL NOTES.

That Mr. A. K. Macomber of Burlingame, California, owner of Star Hawk and numerous other English bred horses, will not confine his purchases to English stock exclusively, is evidenced by the fact that he this week purchased from Headley & Miller seven yearlings by their great horse Uncle out of some of the best of the Beaumont mares. These yearlings were to have been sold by public auction in New York on the evening of June 6th, at Durland's Riding Academy, but owing to this deal and the fact that Mr. Headley has sold several others to prominent New Yorkers in the last week, the sale has been declared off and the remainder of the Beaumont yearlings, including a half brother to Bulse, will be disposed of privately.

The list of yearlings purchased by Mr. Macomber from Headley & Miller, as well as those secured by H. K. Knapp and Schuyler L. Parsons, is given in full below:

A. K. Macomber.

Bay colt, by Uncle—Xarco (dam of Caro Nome) by G. W. Johnson.

H. K. Knapp.

Schuyler L. Parsons.

H. P. Headley's great race horse and successful sire, Ornament, died at Beaumont Farm on April 26th. Ornament was twenty-two-year-old and while he had not been in active service for the past four years, he was accorded a place at Beaumont Farm commensurate with his brilliant achievements on the turf and in the stud, to the end of his days.

Ornament, chestnut horse, foaled in 1894, son of Order and Victorine by Onondaga, was bred by his owner, H. P. Headley, and from his initial appearance on the turf in the spring of 1896 at Memphis, when he won his first start in commanding style from a good bunch of juveniles, until his retirement after winning the Brighton Handicap at one and one-quarter miles with 128 pounds up, his racing career was replete with splendid victories. Ornament won four Derbies, Clark Stakes, Twin City Handicap, both ends of the Double Event, Flatbush Stakes, Brooklyn Handicap, carrying top weight 127 pounds, Brighton Handicap, Himyar Stakes and eight other races, twenty wins in all and nearly $90,000 He was the best two-year-old of his year, the best three-year-old of 1897, and the best horse of the all-aged division at four.

He was retired absolutely sound and at the stud his success was such that he occupied a prominent place on the Twenty List from the time his get were three-year-olds in 1903, until he was taken out of active service. Among the many good horses sired by Ornament are Sheriff Bell, Montreson, John Carroll, Princess Orna, Stroller, Gallavant, Merlingo, Raleigh P. D., Reidmoore, King's Daughter, Aletheno, Monfort, Beaucoup, etc.

Beautifully-bred, endowed with extreme speed, possessed of a matchless constitution and courage, capable of carrying any weight and winning at any distance over any kind of a track, Ornament embodied every requisite that goes to make the thoroughbred what he is and for which he is accorded pride of place over the horses of all other breeds.

E. L. Davis, Rookwood Stud, Midway, Ky., sold this week to A. L. Austin the yearling bay colt by Trap Rock out of imp. Fairy (dam of For Fair) by St. Frusquin; next dam the stake winner and dam of stake winners, Cretan Belle. This colt is a corking good looker, and bred as he is, should develop into a high-class two-year-old.

"I have an excuse for Westy Hogan's defeat in the Breeders' Futurity" said John O. Whitlow Tuesday, "and it is a meritorious excuse. The colt was as sound as a bell of brass when I left his stall Tuesday evening, but Wednesday morning I found him with a slight swelling in one of his knees as if he had received a lick upon it or had struck it against something. The night watchman, however, said the colt had not become cast in his stall and that no person had been near him during the night. I was fearful about starting him, but finally decided that the race might not hurt him. An hour after the race that knee was nearly as large as a man's head, and it was 10 o'clock Wednesday night before I got it reduced. It was still swollen, but not alarmingly."

Most of the yearlings to be sold by A. B. Hancock in New York on June 6 are of the Commando line, which is responsible for the two best two-year-olds shown to date—Harry Kelly and Ultimatum. More of the Commando blood will be found in this sale than all the others combined, and it will be hard to duplicate the class of dams included. Mr. Moorhouse, the distinguished English turf critic, who is visiting the American stock farms, said after looking the Celt yearlings over: "I never saw cross a prettier lot of yearlings by any one stallion."

"More yearlings are included in the lot of 1916 than Celt has ever sent to the races.

Declaring himself "the champion of thoroughbreds, not because of any interest in the sport of racing, but as a patriot," Gov. A. O. Stanley told the gathering at the first annual dinner of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, last Saturday, of his fondness for the thoroughbred, and said he would at all times do all in his power to keep prosperous the "greatest industry in the world."

Gov. Stanley was the principal speaker. Among the other distinguished men heard in addresses were Gen. W. B. Haldeman, member of the State Racing Commission; Frank McKee, well known Woodford County farmer; Edward Moorhouse, of London, England; Adjt Gen. J. Tandy Ellis and Congressman Jouett Shouse, of Kansas.

Gen. Haldeman expressed pleasure over being invited by the association to join in the festivites, and stated that when a majority of the organization advocates any measure it will receive his earnest consideration as a member of the Racing Commission.

In course of his speech Gov Stanley said:

"I believe that above all things what horsemen most despise is a crook. All of my life I have associated with horsemen because I thought and knew that they are the most loyal, sincere and honest men, and I have never once known them to be anything but upright and the square.

"In war time the horse is as necessary as a gun. A cavalry regiment without thoroughbreds is of little value, and hence the thoroughbred is necessary to the United States as well as men. So it develops that without racing there will be no thoroughbreds. And so I stand here, not as an interested member of the horse industry, but as a patriot, and the champion of the thoroughbred.

"I am pleased with the manifest purpose of this organization of horsemen to make the sport better and cleaner than ever before, and believe me I am at all times ready to do all in my power to help you."

Gen. Haldeman was enthusiastically applauded when he arose to make his brief speech, the horsemen paying tribute to him, not only as a conscientious member of the Racing Commission, but as a Confederate soldier and distinguished citizen of the State.

These were the best of those catalogued and their private sale had something to do with the low prices for the others possibly. F. D. Weir sold Johnny Mack to S. Johnson for $60. M. Young sold Quince to W. H. Workman for $55 and Coincidence to C. R. Anderson for $125.

A highly-interested and delightfully-interesting visitor to the races here just now, is Edward Moorhouse, of London. Mr. Moorhouse is a director of the British Bloodstock Agency of London, editor of the Bloodstock Breeders' Review, was for many years Special Commissioner of The Sporting Life and before that sporting editor of the Pall Mall Gazette; is the author of "The History and Romance of the Derby," and is a Fellow of the Institute of Journalists.

He has been going about among the breeding farms in this section, as much as unfavorable weather permitted during the past ten days, and each afternoon has been a guest of the Kentucky Association at the races. Mr. Moorhouse was interrogated as to the chief purpose of his visit to this country and this inquiry was succeeded by others, until the following interview was produced:

"It is to meet the leading men associated with bloodstock (thoroughbred horses), to study their aims and the means by which they are striving to attain the end they have in view, that I have come to the United States and to Kentucky," said he. "I have for many years followed with keen interest racing and breeding developments in this country, but it is one thing merely to read about such matters and quite another to get into personal contract with them and, more especially, with the men who have fashioned and are still fashioning the history of the thoroughbred in this truly wonderful country. I am here as a student—a learner. I realize that many good and some great horses have been bred and reared in the United States, and I am convinced that what your breeders of the past have done can be equalled and probably surpassed by the breeders of the present day.

"As you know, we in England are passing through a trying period. Owing to the war, racing has been cut down to such an extent that the breeding of bloodstock has become a precarious industry. Let me quote one or two facts by way of emphasizing that statement. In 1913, the last year before the war began, there were sold at our great Doncaster yearling sales 321 lots for an aggregate of $1,007,290, so that the average yield per yearling was $3,450. That was a record as regards both the aggregate and the average. The Doncaster sales in 1914 were held five weeks after the commencement of the war. On that occasion 220 yearlings made $274,080, the the average being $1,245. Last autumn the yearling sales were held at Newmarket because there was no racing at Doncaster and 260 lots were disposed of for $255,890, so that the average was reduced to $980. That meant that nine breeders out of ten were selling at a loss. Scores of yearlings made less than the covering fee paid by the breeder. Bad as this result was, it would have been infinitely worse but for the competition occasioned by the bidding of commissioners representing wealthy American owners. You may be sure we in England will follow racing in the States during the next year or two with the liveliest interest. You have not imported the best thoroughbred stock that England and Ireland can produce, but you have certainly secured a good sample.

"The broodmares and stallions brought to this country have been selected judiciously for the most part. Ex-Senator Camden, Mr. Arthur B. Hancock, Mr. John Sanford, Mr. E R Bradley, Mr. H. T. Oxnard, Mr. Price McKinney and one or two others have appreciably strengthened their studs by recent purchases. It would not be becoming to me to discuss now the pros and cons of the question whether the American thoroughbred is as great a proposition as the pure British thoroughbred. I hope, I have no prejudices in regard to that matter. Anyway, I am prepared to admit that the American thoroughbred is not the pariah which some people try to make out. My respect for the species has been intensified during the last few days. Let me say this, however. You will never make the headway in this country that you ought to do until you pay much greater attention to long-distance racing. It seems to me that you carry the glorification of speed to a needless extreme. One of our English racing rules stipulates that there must be at least one contest each day over a distance not less than a mile and a half, and other rules tend to curb the hankering after sprinting Even so, I have long been of the opinion that we might with advantage go much further in the direction of encouraging stamina. The first and last aim of racing should be to improve the breed of horses by affording a conclusive test of their merits. If it merely results in the production of racing machines whose lungs are clogged after they have covered three-quarters of a mile, the sport is of little or no practical service and becomes simply an amusement. A horse which can win over a mile and a quarter in good class company, carrying a substantial weight, is, in my opinion the animal calculated to get the right kind of stock. His offspring will, in all probability, include both sprinter and stayers by reason of the segregation of heritable characters in accordance with the Mendelian law.

"What do I think of American racing? The Lexington meeting is so far the only one I have attended on this continent. To me, accustomed to the expansive Heath at Newmarket and the spacious tracks at Ascot, Goodwood, Doncaster and other places that might be named, the Lexington track seems very small and 'trappy.' On such a course luck must play an unduly big part—luck and jockeyship. Of course, jockeyship is an essential ingredient of racing, but racing can be ideal only when all the horses are given equal chances, and that essential is unobtainable in sprints in which the competitors have to negotiate a sharp turn like that at Lexington and when the final straight is only about a quarter. I have noticed that in the majority of races here the horse that wins has generally been first or second at the turn into the straight. There are not the chops and changes we see in England in the last eighth or two on our straight courses, which affords a slow beginner a chance of overcoming his initial disadvantage. But let me say I have greatly enjoyed the racing at Lexington. I have seen many good-looking horses, especially among the two-year-olds, and I have made the acquaintance of some fine sportsmen. The camaraderie which animates the meeting is most noticeable. It is a spirit we find in Ireland much more than in England.

"Allow me to add a word about the pari-mutuel form of betting. I have been an ardent advocate of the totalizator ever since I first became acquainted with it some twelve years ago in Paris. It is the one and only solution of betting troubles. Some of us are doing our utmost to secure its adoption in England and I am glad to say that the attention of our legislators is at this moment being directed to the advantages of the pari-mutuel as a revenue producer. Betting is not a crime and no amount of legislation can convert it into one. We Britishers have hitherto adopted a pharisaical attitude toward betting; but the war has made mincemeat of many shibboleths and grandmotherly ideas. It has caused us to take more common sense views. We want a pile of money to help horse breeding along. The pari-mutuel will furnish all that is needed and leave a handsome surplus to be devoted to other worthy objects Nothing is more certain than that one of the first laws passed by the Irish parliament that is to come into being six months after the war is over will be one legalizing the pari-mutuel in the Green Isle."

heur and Light Arms, all of which will ultimately be shipped to America. Mr. Burke will be remembered as an amateur of some ability, who rode winners for E Woodland's stable a few years ago before he went to America.—[London Sporting Life.

CHICAGO RACING SAID TO BE IN SIGHT.

Plans for the revival of horse racing in Chicago were completed Tuesday by the Illinois Jockey Club, a new organization which has just been incorporated at Springfield and is composed of leading business men of the city.

The first meeting is set for July 1 to 15 at Hawthorne. It is announced that the American Derby is to be revived as the big feature for the opening day, as a $10,000 guarantee value stake. Other important races will be held on July 4 and on July 15. A gentlemen's race is scheduled for July 3, which will be society day.

Frank A. Froehling, one of the most prominent dealers in wholesale meats in the West, is president of the new club. His associate officers are Charles Boedeker, proprietor of the American Coal Supply Company, secretary and vice-president, and James B. Cox, a well-known consulting engineer, treasurer.

Louis Peters, who is best known as a former owner and who was also successful as a jockey and trainer, has been named racing secretary. Mr. Peters will leave Wednesday for Louisville to begin a campaign for entries for the various Hawthorne stakes. Peters expects to secure some of the best runners in the country for the American Derby, which was last run at Washington Park in 1904 and won by Highball.

Work is said to have already been started in restoring the Hawthorne track. The grandstand is being repaired and the property overhauled in general.

"We expect to have the fastest track in the country before the opening of the meeting," said Mr. Peters yesterday. "Experts are engaged in developing the course and no expense will be spared to make the meeting a fitting revival of the popular sport of horse racing."

The new organization has been perfected quietly and is composed of business men of whom the following are given as a partial list:

The veriest tyro in thoroughbred lore will need no explanation as to The Thoroughbred Record's motive for publishing in this issue a photograph of Irish Lad. With the dispersal sale of the late Mr. H. B. Duryea's racehorses in training and yearlings announced for May 27th at Belmont Park, New York, it would indeed be strange if we should fail to improve this opportunity of reminding American turfmen, not only of Mr. Duryea's magnificent success as an owner and breeder of thoroughbreds, but also of his first great winner and favorite stallion—Irish Lad!

Mr. Duryea was one of the truest, most versatile and most successful sportsmen in all history. Endowed with rare ability and the utmost concentration, Mr Duryea threw his whole personality into whatever branch of sport attracted his attention; and so, whether as yachtsman or hunter, rifleman or turfman, or as the breeder of gamecocks, short-horn cattle and thoroughbreds, Mr. Duryea's successes had long since combined with his personal popularity to make him a unique and leading figure among international sportsmen of recent decades.

Mr. Duryea's first thoroughbred venture was in partnership with Mr. Harry Payne Whitney. This was in 1902, when the enthusiasm of Hon. William C. Whitney had expressed itself in the acquirement of the large band of racers which were sporting the "light blue, brown cap," and in the formation of a formidable breeding establishment. The senior Mr. Whitney's love for the turf was fully shared by several of his associates in the younger generation, and with his son and Mr. Duryea it took concrete form in 1902 in their partnership purchase of the two-year-old Irish Lad, which had already earned brackets at Morris Park in the colors of John E. Madden. From the outset the Whitney & Duryea "green and white" banner was conspicuously successful, for Irish Lad maintained his winning form during the Sheepshead Bay meeting by capturing two sweepstakes and the $20,000 Great Trial Stakes. At Saratoga, too, the partnership scored most brilliantly when Irish Lad won the coveted Saratoga Special, and it is therefore not surprising that his owners were prompt to enlarge their operations by another Madden purchase, the newcomer being the two-year-old Acefull. The autumn racing of 1902 witnessed further triumphs for the partnership when Irish Lad won Sheepshead's Flatbush and Acefull accounted for Gravesend's Junior Champion, the campaign in its entirety proving an exceptionally successful one for a debutant establishment.

Acefull's possession of the Epsom Derby engagement for 1903 caused Mr. Duryea to determine upon an English campaign for "Blue Riband" honors, and so, purchasing his partner's interest in the colt, Mr. Duryea sent the son of Mirthful abroad to join the establishment which John Huggins was training for the senior Mr. Whitney. Mr. Duryea's successful quest for classic honors was destined to await the later era of Sweeper and Durbar, for Acefull performed only indifferently on foreign soil. At home, however, Irish Lad continued to keep the partnership colors in their wonted prominence, inaugurating his three-year-old campaign by winning the Brooklyn Handicap, and, among other successes, capturing the Saratoga Champion, in which he overthrew the redoubtable Hermis at weight-for-age. This year the firm raced under the nom de course of the "Westbury Stable," and Acefull's vacant box was supplied by a third Maiden purchase, the three-year-old Whorler, whose Brooklyn Derby contributed materially to the brilliancy of the partnership's campaign.

Before the flags for the racing season of 1904 were hoisted, the death of Hon. W. C. Whitney led to his splendid racing establishment being leased by Mr Duryea, who also became the sole owner of Irish Lad by purchasing young Mr. Whitney's interest. As might have been expected, the Whitney-bred two-year-olds scored numerous important successes for Mr. Duryea, Artful winning Sheepshead's Futurity and Great Filly; Tanya accounting for Morris Park's National Stallion and Saratoga's Spinaway and Hopeful; Princess Rupert capturing the filly section of the Brighton Produce, with Beaudin and Sardia making a clean sweep of both sections of Morris Park's Matron. Despite these brilliant juvenile triumphs, however, it is questionable if any feature of the 1904 campaign gave Mr. Duryea more pleasure or gratification than the renewed high form of Irish Lad in winning Sheepshead's Advance Stakes from a strong field, and Eastern turfdom's fondness for the great colt was never more evidenced than by the ovation which he received upon returning to the scales after his narrow defeat in the Brighton Handicap. Broomstick had won, to be sure, but no less the hero of the struggle was Irish Lad, limping painfully from the virtual breakdown which caused his retirement from racing, and no eye-witness of the scene could ever forget the cheering which Irish Lad fairly and deservedly divided with his youthful opponent. Mr. Duryea led the American list of owners that season, winning thirty-seven races and $196,858 46, and his colors continued in winning evidence through 1905-6-7-8, his successful representatives including Dreamer, Chieftain, Pioneer, Iota, Rose of Dawn, Ben Ban, Mediant and Running Water. In 1908, however, Mr. Duryea's deep resentment at the New York legislation caused him to transfer his entire thoroughbred interests to France, where he leased the Normandy farm which he subsequently purchased and owned at the time of his death.

Mr. Duryea's trans-Atlantic successes were nothing short of remarkable. His love for his first great winner, Irish Lad, would permit Mr. Duryea to regard no other celebrity as the logical premier stallion of the Haras du Gazon, and, equally confident in American broodmare strains, Mr. Duryea was content to mainly rely upon his American-bred matrons, with the small group of English bred mares which he had already owned here, and his subsequent French-bred purchases were practically confined to a few young fillies whose individuality and breeding combined to give them value for both the racecourse and the paddock. The Haras du Gazon foals, of course, did not reach racing age until 1911, but Mr. Duryea lost no time in scoring foreign turf honors, as Mediant followed up her American juvenile successes (of which perhaps the most notable was Sheepshead's Great Eastern) by a successful invasion of England as a three-year-old in 1909, capturing the Stewards Cup at Goodwood (the stable scoring a great coup) and the Champion Sprint Handicap at Hurst Park.

Haras du Gazon and Irish Lad scored instant successes. Among Mr. Duryea's first crop of French-reared thoroughbreds which performed successfully in France, premier mention is probably merited by Shannon (b. c., 1909, by Irish Lad—Census), which won for Mr. Duryea the Prix de Villers and Prix de la Salamandre as a two-year-old; the Prix Lagrange (54,250 francs), Prix des Acacias (25,000 francs) and Prix du Conseil Municipal (118,675 francs) as a three-year-old; the Prix des Sablons (30,000 francs) and Prix Rabelais as a four-year-old, and the Prix de Lutice at five, Shannon's total winnings being 300,315 francs.

Bugler (ch. c., 1909, by Adam—Musette) also did well under Mr. Duryea's colors, winning six races, the Criterium de Bernay, Prix de Banersville and Prix de Hallate at two, and the Prix des Dubepines, Prix de la Bataille and Prix de Edgard de la Charme (32,700 francs) at three, subsequently winning three races in England after being sold.

The Irishman (br. c., 1909, by Irish Lad—Mintberia), Manthorpe (ch. c., 1909, by Broomstick—Ascot Belle) and Los Olivos (b. c., 1909, by Irish Lad—St. Inez) were also conspicuous French winners under Mr. Duryea's colors at this period, but one has to consult the English Racing Calendar to fully appreciate the remarkable success of the Haras du Gazon's initial season, for Sweeper (ch. c., 1909, by Broomstick—Ravello 2nd) was compelled to race in England as the result of an unfortunate misunderstanding of the French eligibility rules. Sweeper certainly "made his mark" in the stronghold of the thoroughbred, for his juvenile successes in Ascot's Fifty-ninth Triennial and Goodwood's Richmond were but the prelude to his scoring Mr. Duryea's initial classic success in the Two Thousand Guineas ($30,525) of 1912. It is given to but few men to win a single English classic, let alone two, but the culmination of Mr. Duryea's triumphs as a breeder-owner may be said to have been achieved when after winning numerous French events, Durbar (b. c., 1911, by Rabelais—Armenia) set the seal on his greatness by easily vanquishing an enormous field in no less an event than the one and only Derby, the "Blue Riband" of universal turfdom. The English speculative fraternity held Durbar's chance very lightly on that memorable afternoon in 1914, and it is no secret that the colt's astute owner took good advantage of the opportunity to land a genuine coup, when the "green and white" banner triumphed so imperiously.

In France, meanwhile, the Haras du Gazon paddocks had uninterruptedly produced important winners, of which only a portion can be at all adequately recognized within the confines of the present writing. Banshee (b. f., 1910, by Irish Lad—Frizette) scored Mr. Duryea's initial French classic success when she included the Poule d'Essai des Pouliches (French One Thousand, 94,375 francs) of 1912 among her quartette of victories, her winnings totalling 131,555 francs. Contemporaneous with Banshee was Blarney (br. c., 1910 by Irish Lad—Armenia), which proved a worthy elder half-brother of Durbar by accounting for the Prix Villers and Prix de la Faret (30 000 francs) at two, and the Fifty-Sixth Prix Biennial (26,200 francs), Prix Eugene Adam (80,250 francs) and Prix du Cinquantenaire (50,000 francs) at three. Blarney's total winnings were 210,320 francs, and his racing record and individuality so impressed the representative of the Russian Government that an offer of $80,000 for the horse was forthcoming from that source, only to be refused by Mr. Duryea. When the war came on, however, Mr. Duryea presented Blarney to the French Government, whose representatives recently made a public expression of their appreciation of this generous act, one of the last in that splendid sportsman's life.

In 1911, as already noted, Mr. Duryea bred the English Derby hero Durbar II., which also won a quartette of exceedingly important French events, comprising the Prix de St. Cloud (22,500 francs) and Prix Delatre (48,500 francs) at two, and the Fifty-Seventh Prix Biennial (25,000 francs) and Prix Noailles (61,150 francs) at three, in which campaign he also finished a good third to Sardanapale and La Farina in the Grand Prix de Paris. Durbar II.'s total winnings, were 343 120 francs, and when the war necessitated the cessation of racing in France he was retired to the Haras du Gazon, joining Irish Lad and Sweeper.

Another important French winner among Mr. Duryea's 1911 representatives was Frizzle (ch. c., 1911, by Binion—Frizette), which won no less than six events as a three-year-old, including the Prix Citronelle (54,300 francs) and Prix Flageolet (37,000 francs), and will doubtless add to his present total winnings of 147,440 francs after he finds a new owner at the forthcoming sale. Another good performer which will be sold on the 27th is Frizzle's three-year-old half-brother Crimper (Maintenon—Frizette), which finished third on two occasions in England last season, his especially noteworthy performance being in the New Coventry Stakes, when he was beaten less than a length by Marcus and Figaro. The New Coventry form would have unquestionably made Crimper in good demand in the present Derby market if he had remained abroad, and it is an open secret that Mr. Duryea was counting quite confidently on Crimper placing another "Blue Riband" to the credit of the "green and white" in 1916.

Numerous other successful representatives of the Haras du Gazon merit mention in this writing, but space forbids further consideration of Mr. Duryea's triumphs than the recognition of his astute purchases, notably La Ribaude (b. f., 1910, by Rabelais—Bronze Medal) and Clairet (b. c., 1912, by Presto—Clairette), La Ribaude's wins including the Criterium de St. Cloud, and Clairet accounting for the Omnium de Deux Ans (77,500 francs) at Maisons-Laffitte.

The twelve days' meeting of the Kentucky Association, which inaugurated the racing season of 1916 in Kentucky, beginning on Thursday, April 27, and coming to a close on Wednesday, May 10, marked the most successful session of racing that has ever been witnessed at the Lexington track.

From every standpoint, that of attendance, the high-class of the horses engaged in racing and the brilliant contests ensuing, this meeting has established a precedent that will be difficult indeed to overcome. Harry Kelly's race for the Breeders' Futurity on Wednesday, will make that day's racing memorable for many years.

The official family of the Kentucky Association merits all the good things that are being said about the meeting, because no detail was overlooked.

Lexington may justly feel proud of the work the Kentucky Association is doing to add to the prestige of the Blue Grass and no better evidence of her appreciation could be given than the support which was accorded the 1916 Spring Meeting.

The field that will go to the post today in that greatest of all classics contested in this state, the Kentucky Derby, will not only be of unusual brilliancy because of the remarkably high-class possessed by the several entrants, but will have an added interest on account of the international aspect given to the race by the presence of Mr. Macomber's Star Hawk and The Cock. These Englishmen will have a chance to try conclusions with the best horses America can produce and that the outcome of the ensuing contest is fraught with intense interest goes without saying. May the best horse win!

It looks now as if the following horses will compose the Derby field:

b-Dominant, 117 (T. McTaggart.).
George Smith, 117 (J. Loftus).
Lena Misha, 117 (E. Dugan)).
Bulse, 117 (R. Goose).
Kinney, 117 (L. Gentry).
Huffaker, 117 (F. Cooper.)
a-Macomber entry.
b-Whitney entry.

In the event of a heavy track, Dodge, and not Franklin, will run for J. S. Ward. St. Isidore, in the Sanford stable, is also a possible starter. In the event that he goes Mink will ride.

SALE OF THE ELLERSLIE YEARLINGS.

The first of the series of yearling sales under the management of the Powers-Hunter Company of New York, for the coming season, will be held at Durland's Riding Academy in New York City on June 6, when the budding racing talent of A. B. Hancock, Ellerslie Stud, will go under the hammer.

Ellerslie, the birthplace of the immortal Morello and of a hundred other racers of high-class, now the domicile of Celt, the most successful of the sons of Commando at stud service, is the oldest of Virginia breeding establishments.

Twenty-five colts and fillies are catalogued for the sale of June 6. They are the sons and daughters of stallions and mares that are making the turf history of the day. Among the stallions represented are Celt, Ballot, Marathon, Sain, Glorifier and Radium.

Celt has been conspicuously good in the two seasons he has had at Ellerslie. His most accomplished contributions to racing have been Celand ia, Coquette, Carbide, Gaelic and Andrew M., which have won at practically every race track of the United States and Canada during the last two or three years. Celt gets speed a-plenty, and with speed he bequeaths to his offspring, the ability to run far under weight, a quality he himself possessed in a high degree.

Ballot, the greatest of the sons of Voter, is breeding successfully at the late James B. Haggin's Elmendorf Stud. His first two-year-olds to race—Capra, Trust Me and Militant—were winners, and he is represented this year by some fine-looking youngsters.

Sain, a son of St. Serf and The Task, got Jack Atkin, also Nealon and half a hundred other fast and useful campaigners, and Marathon, a son of Martagon, tires fast runners every year.

The thoroughbred market is in a healthy condition this year, and the indications are that the bidding at this and the sales that will follow will be spirited and that good prices will prevail.

LOUISVILLE GOSSIP.

Louisville, Ky., May 8.—The cream of Harry Payne Whitney's great racing establishment arrived at Churchill Downs yesterday afternoon. Five eligibles to the Kentucky Derby and Borrow, winner of the 1915 Kentucky Handicap, and the dependence of the stable in that event this year, were brought by Trainer James Rowe.

Dominant, Thunderer, Bromo, Hansa and Chicle, from which Rowe will select the stable's representation in the classic race, made up the three-year-old brigade. It is believed the Whitney colors will be borne by two starters, Dominant and another, but whatever Trainer Rowe sends to the post will be accorded the position of favoritism.

Mr. Rowe has been handicapped in his preparation of his Derby candidates by reason of the very backward spring, but he has exceptional facilities for fitting horses at the farm, and whatever horse he sends to the post will be ready to give a good account of himself.

James Rowe has long ago earned an enviable reputation as a "first out" trainer, and his success last season, when he took down the Derby with Regret and the Kentucky Handicap at Douglas Park with Borrow, will make his starters well worthy of careful consideration. No public line has been possible on any of his eligibles, but the fact that they are brought to Kentucky is line enough.

Hansa, the great filly in this string, may be a starter in the Derby, and is considered one of the leading candidates for the Kentucky Oaks. She started only once last year and won handily. She went lame shortly thereafter and was laid up the rest of the year. She has come to in fine style this spring and is rated one of the best members of the string.

Dominant, the leading money-winning two-year-old in 1915, is the logical representative of the string in the Derby. He is a better colt than Thunderer or Bromo. Thunderer took the Futurity, with Bromo a bang-up second, and is unbeaten. He narrowly outstayed Bromo in the Futurity, and in that race Bromo looked as though he might go a route better than his stablemate.

Mr. Whitney will come from New York with a party of friends to witness the running of the Derby. He saw his great mare Regret capture the classic last year, and having owned the only filly to win the event, he is anxious for another distinction, that of being the only man to win it two years in succession.

Frank Bruen, assistant manager of the Douglas Park plant, joined Manager Hachmeister here yesterday. J. B. Campbell, handicapper at Douglas Park and Latonia, also arrived. Hachmeister yesterday motored over from Lexington, where he attended the horsemen's banquet Saturday night.

Campbell was highly plessed with the meeting at Hot Springs. He is now busily engaged in getting ready for the spring season at the two tracks where he will do the handicapping this spring and summer. He is also looking after the stake nominations of one or two of the Canadian tracks.

Frank Bruen is one of the best boosters of the Havana track. He pointed out last night that the only drawback last winter was the number of horses. However, he said that this had been remedied for the coming season and that he looks for the greatest meeting in the history of winter racing at Oriental Park next winter. He said that plans are underway for the construction of a huge hotel in Havana, which will help materially in stopping the hotel congestion that was suffered in Havana last winter by the Americans. He said that many of the Cubans have become interested in racing and are planning to buy liberally this fall in the States preparatory to a big campaign at Oriental Park next winter.

Lena Misha worked the fastest Derby trial of the season at the Downs course yesterday. He went the full route, one and one quarter miles, in 2:06 2-5 and pulled up very fresh, being in no manner distressed. He had L. Mink up. His fractionals: :12 1-5, :23 4-5, :48 1-5, 1:00 4-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:23 2-5, 1:39 4-5, 1:52 4-5. Last mile in 1:43.

Bank handily pulled up a mile and a quarter in 2:12 4-5. He went the first half in :50, six furlongs in 1:16, mile in 1:42 3-5, mile and an eighth in 1:56 2-5, last mile in 1:44 2-5.

Manager M. J. Winn has introduced an innovation for the coming spring meeting at Churchill Downs by naming rich overnight handicaps which will be the feature races on days on which no stake event is decided. These events carry as much as $1,000 in added money and some of them as much as $1,500.

This gives the coming spring meeting at the Downs a big racing feature daily during the thirteen days of the sport this month. In selecting names for these races Manager Winn has chosen those of five of the most famous winners of the Kentucky Derby. The programme of the stakes and these feature races follows:

The Kentucky Derby, $10,000 added, for three-year-olds, one mile and a quarter; Saturday, May 13.

The Debutante Stakes, $2,000 added, for two-year-old fillies, four furlongs; Monday, May 15.

The Old Rosebud Handicap, $1,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and an eighth; Tuesday, May 16.

The Bashford Manor Stakes, $2,000 added, for two-year old colts and geldings, four and a half furlongs; Wednesday, May 17.

The Kentucky Derby Consolation, $1,500 added, for three-year-olds, one mile and an eighth; Thursday, May 18.

The Aristides Handicap; $1,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a quarter; Friday, May 19.

The Clark Handicap, $2,000 added, for three-year-olds and upward, one mile and a sixteenth; Saturday, May 20.

The Juvenile Stakes, $1,000 added (selling), for two-year-olds, five furlongs; Monday, May 22.

The Hindoo Handicap, $1,000 added, conditions and distance to appear on Thursday, May 18; Tuesday, May 23.

The Frank Fehr Stakes, $1,000 added (selling), for three-year-olds and upward, one mile; Wednesday, May 24.

The Pen Brush Handicap, $1,000 added, conditions and distance to appear on Thursday, May 18; Thursday, May 25.

The Leonatus Handicap, $1,000 added, conditions and distance to appear on Thursday, May 18; Friday, May 26.

The Kentucky Oaks, $2,500 added, for three-year-old fillies, one mile and a sixteenth, Saturday, May 27.

This makes a total of $27,000 in added money given to these thirteen great races at the Downs course this spring, a record for Kentucky tracks

To avoid any congestion at the main entrance gate at this season, five extra ticket selling booths are being finished up now, and will for the first time be put in operation on Derby Day. This will make these accommodations of such magnitude that it will be possible to handle the crowds, no matter how large, with little inconvenience to the general public.

Louisville, Ky., May 9.—A. K. Macomber's two Derby candidates, Star Hawk and The Cock, were sent the full course of a mile and a quarter at the Downs yesterday in the presence of their owner and his Derby guests, Samuel Morse and Carleton F. Burke, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Dr. John S. Tanner and Robert G. Neustadt, of Pasadena, Cal. For seven furlongs The Cock on the inside of the track led Star Hawk with a bare margin. Then the latter moved by his stable companion and, drawing away every stride, pulled up the mile and a quarter in the sensational time of 2:05 4-5.

P. Louder was on Star Hawk and L. Mink had the mount on The Cock. The fractional time was :12, :23 4-5, :35 1-5, :47 4-5, 1:00 4-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:27 2-5, 1:40 1-5, 1:53 1-5. The last quarter was run in :25 3-5 and the last eighth in :12 4-5.

Louisville, Ky, May 11.—The probable winner of the Kentucky Derby became even more doubtful yesterday after Trainer James Rowe had worked out the three Whitney cracks, Bromo, Dominant and Thunderer, at Churchill Downs. Their trials settled one point, however, as Bromo appeared to be not so far advanced in preparation as either of his stable companions, and it is the general opinion now that Dominant and Thunderer will carry the colors of the New York turfman in the big race.

Each performer was worked separately, and on each occasion Jockey Joe Notter was in the saddle. Bromo was first worked, but he only went a slow mile, pulling up in 1:46 1-5, and rating the distance about the same at each quarter. Both Dominant and Thunderer went the full Derby route, one mile and a quarter, and while each finished the distance in 2:08 the performance of neither created the sensation they were expected to do, though all agreed that the work showed that Trainer Rowe had the pair ready to run a brilliant Derby race.

In the early part of Dominant's performance he showed terrific speed, as his fractional time proved: :12, :23 2-5, :35 3-5, :47 4-5, 1:00 1-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:26 4-5, 1.39 4-5, 1:53.

The fractional time of Thunderer's trial was: :13 1-5, :26, :38, :50 4-5, 1:03 3-5, 1:15 4-5, 1:29, 1:41 1-5, 1:48, 1 54 3-5.

It is thought that Dominant's slowing down so after seven furlongs was due to a leg soreness. he pulled up a bit lame. Later on, however, he walked out of his lameness, and it might have been that he struck himself slightly.

George Smith

THE KENTUCKY DERBY WINNER.

GEORGE SMITH WINS KENTUCKY DERBY.

LOUISVILLE, KY, May 13—As old Rome raised her gates for the returning conqueror and turned over to him the city's keys so did Louisville surrender today to the spirit of the Derby, George Smith, homely in name, but royally bred, the winner.

Again must the mind go back to palmy days of the city by the Tiber to imagine anything like the scene when that crowd of 50,000 cheering persons saw Gov. Stanley present the victor's wreath to Loftus, the boy who rode George Smith, winner of the classic.

It was a surrender complete, unequivocal and universal with all classes, at all places and in every regard.

But perhaps it was not a surrender at all, for that spirit of the great Kentucky classic gave to the city a gala day that even the carnival of Venice or Mardi Gras at New Orleans cannot surpass; it crowded the city with 25,000 strangers from far and near and, from the calculations of hotel men and others who come in immediate contact with the racing crowds, brought and left no less than one-half million out-of-town dollars to the Gateway of the South.

There was but one limit to the festivities of the day—the azure sky. If Louisville was joyful to see so many strangers within her walls and delighted in a day of sport that might befit dwellers of the Elysian Fields, she had yet another cause for gladness. Despite the efforts of "the East" to capture the Kentucky Derby for two seasons, the first and third horses in the classic were "bred in old Kentucky."

The street cars carried 18,000 people to the track, at least 30,000 more went in automobiles and not one less than 2,000 got there in other ways, that ranged from the "pedes Apostolorum" to buggies and coal carts. Two hundred cars expressly for the Derby crowds were run by the street railway company, requiring 400 motormen and conductors to man them. They traveled to the track out Fourth street and returned on Second street by way of Hill street so as to cause no delays. In spite of the great traffic, not a single street car accident was reported.

The rush for the course started on the street cars at noon, and the thousands kept going and coming steadily until nearly 9 o'clock at night. The street cars carried about 5,000 less persons this year than in 1914 15, but this shrinkage is accounted for by the greatly increased numbers going in automobiles. It is estimated by the police there were 6,000 machines at the track. Estimating that an average of four people came in each machine this would make 24,000 persons. At least 6,000 more rode out in "jitney busses."

There was one-third fewer people in the free field this year than last. This is attributed to "better times."

No serious accidents were reported, although several women fainted or became ill during the afternoon. These were given treatment on the grounds.

The Derby was the fifth race on the card, and it was 5:15 o'clock when the horses reached the post. There was but little delay at the barrier, and within a minute they were on their way. Dodge, which ran coupled with Franklin as the Weber & Ward entry, was the first to show colors, and his stablemate dashed away right behind him. Dominant, which was coupled with Thunderer as the Harry Payne Whitney entry, followed the Weber & Ward pair, and he immediately dashed into a long lead.

Passing the stand for the first time Dominant had a long lead and appeared to be running easily, but after reaching the back side of the track it was evident that he was not good enough to last it out. Franklin was running close to him and appeared to be ready to run over him. George Smith was in third position, and Jockey Johnny Loftus was carefully nursing him along reserving his speed for the gruelling drive through the stretch, which he knew must come. Nearing the three furlong pole Dominant gave it up and then Loftus called on George Smith.

The Sanford colt bounded to the front at a rapid rate and soon had a lead of a length over his field, with Franklin closest to him. Then it was that Star Hawk loomed up as a dangerous contender as he finally found his stride and had clear sailing. In the stretch, though, Loftus kept hard at work on George Smith, while Jockey Walter Lilley, who rode Star Hawk, was making vigorous efforts to get him up.

Between the sixteenth pole and the finish it looked as though Star Hawk could make it, but Loftus' experience served him well and he never drove a horse harder than he drove George Smith.

The showing of the Whitney pair was disappointing to the Eastern contingent and to Trainer James Rowe himself, who was the picture of confidence before the race. Thunderer did not show to advantage at any stage of the race, but he finally managed to beat his stablemate, he finishing fifth, and Dominant seventh.

Out of Reach is a son of the English Derby winner, Persimmon, out of Sandfly, by the great Isonomy. He has sired other nice winners, though the best of his get, until George Smith appeared, was no doubt that clever performer, The Peach, and the speedy mare Theresa Gill, a full sister to George Smith. Out of Reach's oldest get are foals of 1908.

Consuelo II. is a daughter of the famous Bradwardine, a son of the unbeaten Barcaldine, the sire of the English Derby winner, Sir Visto. She is out of Miss Pepper II., by Pepper and Salt and then through two dams she traces to the famous Thrift, by Stockwell, the dam of the great English horse, Tristan, a $100,000 turf winner.

Thrift's grandam is the renowned broodmare, Queen Mary, one of the greatest producers of all time. To the latter trace such classic winners as Caller Ou, Sir Bevys, Blair Athol, Blink Bonny, Hampton, imp. Bonnie Scotland, Beaucere, Beldame and scores of other of great note.

The Derby was worth gross $13,200. The winner's net share was $9,750, while the second horse horse, Star Hawk, took down $2,000; the third horse, Franklin, $1,000, and the fourth horse, Dodge, saved his stake of $225. The time, 2:04, has only once been beaten in the Derby, being second to the mark of 2:03 2 5, scored by Old Rosebud in 1914, which is still the Kentucky Derby race record.

Jockey John Loftus, who rode George Smith to victory in the Kentucky Derby, is a native of Chicago, Ill., where his parents reside. He has long been regarded one of the leading riders of America, and is now under contract to James Butler. He only came West this spring to ride George Smith at Lexington and in the Derby, and will return to New York at once to his employer. Loftus was long connected with the stable of J. B. Respess and was also awhile with the J. Livingston stable. He rode one season in France and made good there, the same as he has in this country.

John Sanford, the owner of George Smith, is a son of the noted turfman of the same surname, who raced such great horses as Caughnawaga, Rockton, Chuctanunda, Mohawk II. and Molly Brant. The Sanford place is Hurricana Stud, near Amsterdam, N. Y., where is also located the Sanford carpet manufacturing plant. It is at Hurricana Stud that George Smith will do stud service when his turf career is over.

George Smith is trained by Odie Hughes, a son of the once great rider and later trainer of that name. He is assisted in his training duties in the Sanford stable by Preston Burch, who is agent for the stable and is a son of another great trainer.

Both had great confidence in George Smith and his brilliant victory was no surprise to them. They all along said that Star Hawk was the only horse they feared in the big race.

Of the winners of recent years, George Smith ranks among the very best, but he can hardly be rated quite with Old Rosebud, which set the record of the Derby over a much slower track than the Sanford colt ran over today. As to Star Hawk, which great colt ran a most remarkable race, it may be said that he is undoubtedly the best colt that has left England to race in this country in many years. If he meets with no accident in training he is sure to score many brilliant victories on the American turf.

George Smith, the winner of the forty-second renewal of the historic and classic Kentucky Derby, is a superbly made black colt of average good size and much quality, with a superior way of going. He is very sightly in appearance and has a perfect track disposition.

He was bred in Mercer County, Kentucky, at the Fountainblue Stud of Chinn & Forsythe, and was sold at a fall sale of yearlings at the Latonia track for $1,600, being the second highest priced yearling sold at that time. Ed McBride, at that sale, left considerable money with Lou Tauber to buy three yearlings, one of these was George Smith, another was Tom Elwood, and the other was Eddie Henry, both of which have won stake races for McBride.

After the sale Tauber brought the three colts to Douglas Park, where he broke them for McBride, and after two months and a half handling shipped them with his racing stable to Charleston, S. C., where he turned them over to McBride's trainer, Tom Shannon. McBride, after racing George Smith with great success as a two-year-old last season, sold the colt to his present owner for $20,000. He won his first seven races.

George Smith earned $10,140 last season as a two-year-old, winning nine races. This year he only raced once prior to the Derby, which was at Lexington, when he was beaten a head by Bayberry Candle, one mile and a sixteenth, in 1:44 2-5, establishing a new track record having up 112 pounds to that five-year-old mare's 103. With his Derby winnings George Smith has now earned on the turf to date a total of $19,930 net.

E. R. Bradley liked George Smith and wagered on him. Mr. Bradley purchased Consuelo II., the dam of George Smith at the dispersal sale of Chinn & Forsythe at Lexington for $1,300. A few months later George Smith won seven straight races, and John Sanford then bought Consuelo II. from Bradley for $9,000. It was several months later that Mr. Sanford purchased George Smith.

Owner John Sanford was quite enthusiastic over the victory of his horse. He accompanied Jockey Loftus to the judges' stand, where Governor Stanley presented the winning jockey with a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses. The Governor extolled the thoroughbred and particularly the Kentucky Derby in his remarks.

A. K. Macomber, owner of Star Hawk, was here for the running of the big race with a large party of friends, and after the event was over he said that while he hated to lose the race he knew that his horse was far from disgraced.

Harry Payne Whitney and a large party of New Yorkers arrived at Churchill Downs a short time before the day's races began, and no one was more disappointed in the showing of Dominant and Thunderer than was Mr. Whitney. It marked Thunderer's first defeat, and his owner felt confident that one of his horses would be able to take the measure of the field which they opposed today, just as did Regret last year.

The race was made up practically of horses owned in the East, as Kinney and the Weber & Ward pair were the only horses in it that were Western-owned.

Never before in the history of the running of the Kentucky Derby has New York and vicinity been so strongly represented at Churchill Downs as this year. Many of the Easterners were in Kentucky for the greater part of the week, most of them visiting the numerous breeding farms around Lexington before coming over to stay for the Derby. The Eastern folk had many social parties in the clubhouse this afternoon, and all of them were on hand for the dinner dance tonight for the noted out-of-town guests of the New Louisville Jockey Club.

Included in the New York crowd was H. K. Knapp, F. R. Hitchcock, Andrew Miller, Schuyler L. Parsons, William G. Street, C. L. Perkins, P. J. Dwyer, Thomas Monahan, Chief Lally, Price McKinney, James W. Corrigan, Harry Payne Whitney, Payne Whitney, Frank Brown and John Sanford.

Men of prominence from all over the country graced the occasion with their presence, including United States Senator Fall of New Mexico, United States Senator Mark Smith of Arizona, Honorable and Mrs. R. A. Johnson of Laurel, Md., Gov. A. O. Stanley of Kentuckey with his official family and many others.

Judge Francis J. Nelson, of Toronto, put in his sixth straight appearance at the Kentucky Derby. Other prominent Canadians who witnessed the race were H. J. McIntyre, Vice President of the Hamilton Jockey Club, and A. R Louden, the Secretary.

Splendid sport developed during the running of the inaugural card of the Churchill Downs meeting. Second in interest to the Derby was the Old Rosebud Handicap, in which Waterblossom scored an impressive victory. She ran the six furlongs in 1-11 4-5.

Congratulations are due Secretary Pearce for the high-class card run off at the Downs today. There was a keen contest for every purse except the race won by Impressive, for, had he not been cut off, DeLand would have given Frigerio a battle for the third purse. Handicapper Ed Jasper drew them close together in the event won by Waterblossom, demonstrating that he knows how to weight the fields.

Roscoe Goose was the riding star of the afternoon. He did not have a mount in the Derby, but piloted three winners and a couple of place horses.

Hard Ball and London Girl fell at the first turn in the sixth race, but luckily Jockey Hugh Shilling, who rode Hard Ball, and F. Williams, who rode London Girl escaped injury.

It may not be that when Providence laid a ledge of limestone under the pasture lands of Kentucky, from which blue grass might draw its sustenance from an everlasting supply, where "forests ancient as the hills enfolded sunny spots of greenery," this State was predestined to become the nursery of horses bearing in their blood the strains which England had cherished as a gift from the East; the blood which Thotmes the First, 3,000 years ago, held to be the richest loot of conquered Mesopotamia. But the singular adaptation of the soil and the climate to the breeding of horses suggested to the earliest settlers the opportunity to bring the thoroughbred across the Blue Ridge Mountains to share the advantages of the land explored by Boone. The history of the development of the horse in Kentucky, linking the best families, human and equine, has been creditable to both human nature and horse nature. If the plunger and the tout, the bookmaker and his feminine camp followers, have streaked the canvas with black and scarlet, the picture of the turf has been more largely a noble and ennobling one. Kentucky horses, and their guests from far and near, have contested upon an oval more famous for bright traditions than infamous for sharp practices and degrading influences. The recent elimination of the layer of odds, a somewhat picturesque, and not altogether unliked, figure of the betting shed, has improved materially the moral aspects of racing as a sport and a business. Such a day's sport as that of today for those who went to see the Derby, and such a day's business for the turf, cannot be looked upon by reasonable persons as a blot upon the escutcheon of the city or the State. It cannot cause regret that Kentucky was not swept by the anti-racing wave, partly made up of righteous puritanism, but partly of narrow and ignorant fanaticism, which destroyed the turf in a number of States less interested in breeding.

ROSABEL WINS DEBUTANTE STAKES.

Louisville, Ky., May 15.—The Debutante Stakes, with a net value of $2,410, went to Rosabel, owned by R. L. Baker & Co., in easy style, Jocular taking the place in a mild drive over Believe Me Boys, which ran coupled with Bit of a Devil as the E. R. Bradley entry. The race was marred somewhat by the failure of Yermila to get away from the post on even terms with the others. Yermila was a pronounced favorite and her send-off, coupled with her going wide, eliminated her from serious consideration during the running, though she showed a gilt-edged performance. The winner was at all times in the lead after the first few strides, showing a liking for the going, and won like a good filly.

A heavy rain, which began early this morning and continued steadily until noon, brought about changed conditions and gave the mud runners full sway. The attendance kept up in remarkably good fashion, though by comparison with Saturday's crowd, it appeared decidedly small. Speculation was voluminous, but the players suffered keenly, for most of the choices were downed.

The defeats of Roscoe Goose, Samuel R. Meyer and Embroidery in succession gave the talent as well as the sharps a big setback. In Embroidery's case her failure was the more aggravating in the fact that she was pounds the best, but interference she suffered, beginning at the post, where she was crowded back as to make it appear almost that she had been left, brought about her undoing, Dr. Carmen lasting to take her measure by a head.

The opener, in which James was the favorite one, went to Guy Fortune, which, although trying to run out at the turns, was good enough to win handily.

The Hindoo Handicap, at six furlongs, brought out a crack field of sprinters, and again the favorite failed his supporters. On this occasion it was Prince Hermis, and the winner turned up in Fleetaville, which showed a sparkling performance to win over Grover Hughes and Chalmers.

The stewards handed T. Henry a five-day suspension for his interference to Samuel R Meyer while astride Harry Gardner in the third race.

Earlier in the day Our Netta was posted as a starter in the Debutante Stakes, but the filly failed to show up in the paddock, and investigation developed that her owner had not instructed her entry. As wagers had been made on her, this money was refunded to her backers.

Phil Musgrave, suspended last winter at Juarez, Mexico, was given a rehearing this morning by Messrs. Breivogel, Ireland and Shelley, who were the stewards at Juarez, and his application for reinstatement was denied.

Trainer Walter Jennings stated this morning that he would ship Star Hawk and others in his stable to Gravesend shortly, and would race some of them during the Aqueduct meeting. He may ship The Cock to run in the Latonia Derby. Star Hawk is not entered in the Latonia Derby.

Jockey Loftus received $1,200 as his riding fee on George Smith in the Kentucky Derby. Edward McBride, who sold George Smith to John Sanford, receives $5,000 as his part of the agreement to the horse's transfer.

David Ford, who was suspended two years ago at Juarez, was granted reinstatement today by Messrs. Breivogel, Ireland and Shelley.

Owner Buxton and Jockey G. Carroll were cited to appear before the stewards to explain the unsatisfactory performance of Shyness in the closing race yesterday.

Jockey Cooper was fined $25 by the stewards for failure to report in time to fill engagements in the first and second races.

The $100 play or pay sweepstakes entered into by Messrs. Bradley, W. H. Baker, J. O. Keene and J. C. Gallaher was taken down by E. R. Bradley, whose Believe Me Boys finished third in the Debutante Stakes. The wager was made last fall, and the winner was whichever representative belonging to the four finished in front in the Debutante Stakes.

Replying to the rumors of a possible match race between Ultimatum and Harry Kelly, that has drifted in this direction during the last few days, Owner John W. Schorr said: "If Mr. Ross will send his colt out here, I will be glad to accommodate him with a match race. Otherwise the meeting of the two colts will have to be postponed until Harry Kelly's arrival in the East. He is heavily engaged in the juvenile stakes at Saratoga and Ultimatum will have opportunity then to test Harry Kelly's prowess."

J. C. Gallaher again intends a Canadian campaign and will send his horses to Hamilton following the close of the Douglas Park meeting.

THOROUGHBREDS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK.

New York, May 14.—The steamship Manchuria, which sailed from London May 2, docked at Pier 58 North River, of the Atlantic Transport Company, early yesterday forenoon. She brought over twenty-one thoroughbreds from August Belmont's French breeding establishment—eight three-year olds and thirteen yearlings—all bred by the chairman of The Jockey Club.

Peculiar interest is attached to this shipment because it included three yearlings by Mr. Belmont's famous racehorse Tracery, by Rock Sand out of Topiary. Three of the three-year olds are sons of Tracery's great sire, Rock Sand, and the other five are sons of the good racehorse Ethelbert. The yearlings, of which eight are colts and five fillies, are by Tracery, Alcantara, Flint Rock, Ethelbert and Negofol.

Besides Mr. Belmont's lot, the Manchuria brought over four thoroughbreds for John Sanford and three for Thomas Hitchcock, and five thoroughbred steeplechasers for Edward Burke, who last season achieved an enviable racing record with his fast chaser, Old Salt. Edward Burke also came over on the Manchuria, and along with him ex-Jockey Henry Shields, who has been training horses on the other side of the Atlantic for a considerable time. All the horses shipped finely.

Much had been expected of the three yearlings of Tracery's first crop, and from the comments made by Mr. Belmont himself and many other intelligent and practical horsemen, who saw them on board the ship just after she had docked, it is safe to assume that these high expectations were not disappointed. It is difficult to judge of the size of animals while in their boxes on shipboard, but while it is possible that these youngsters are not quite as large as might be wished, it is absolutely safe to say that no horseman could have been disappointed in their racing conformation.

It would be unwise to venture a comparison without viewing them under more favorable condition. Alibi, by Tracery out of Amicitia, is a dark brown, or looked so in the dim light which filtered into his box, and his outline is that of a real racehorse in which the idea of speed had been especially accentuated.

Bistouri is a dark bay colt by Tracery out of Ballot Bred (first foal from the famous Beldame). Possibly this colt has just a trifle more range than either of the others, for he has an exceptionally long and gracefully formed muscular neck, but otherwise he very closely resembles Alibi, except in color, of course.

Pelican, bay colt, by Tracery out of Prickley Pear, is a rich bay and almost the counterpart of the other two as far as general conformation and finish are concerned.

The other yearlings in the shipment are as follows:

Beaumarais, b or br c, by Alcantara—Que'lle est Belle; Dragen, b c, by Flint Rock—Drama; Duplicata, b c, by Flint Rock—Dulcibella; Laburnum, br c, by Ethelbert—Lady of the Vale; Whist, ch c, by Flint Rock—White Thorn, Biancoire, ch f, by Ethelbert—Bridlepath; Biscote, b f, by Ethelbert or Flint Rock—Bivouac; Golding, b f, by Flint Rock—Golden View; Lading, blk f, by Negofol—Lady Amelia; Sans Packe, ch f, by Ethelbert—Sandwich.

It was Mr. Belmont's intention to have these yearlings shipped for the Nursery Stud last night, and along with them the broken down Dragoman and the two-year-olds Lucky Catch and Distaff. The three were brought up from Belmont Park in M. H. Dooley's vans and were in waiting at the pier to accompany the yearlings to Kentucky. After Mr. Belmont's horses had been landed from the ship the eight three-year-olds were sent down to Belmont Park in the Dooley vans. They will be taken in hand by Trainer S. C. Hildreth. It is hardly probable that they will be ready to race before the opening of the Saratoga meeting, or the Empire City meeting at the earliest.

Clearly the handsomest of the three-year-olds is the own brother to Rock View, Viewpoint, a beautifully finished chestnut colt by Rock Sand, out of Golden View. This colt shows even more finish and quality than did his fast but erratic brother, and he is liberally endowed with size and substance. Altogether these three year-olds constitute an attractive and promising collection. Not one is lacking in size and substance, and some of the sons of Ethelbert appear to be uncommonly large for their age.

The other seven, not especially mentioned, are as follows:

Ampere, b c, by Ethelbert—Amicitia; Dramaturge, ch c, by Ethelbert—Drama; Fielding, b or br c, by Rock Sand—Field Mouse; Functionaire, b c, by Ethelbert—Fond Hopes; Half Way, blk c, by Rock Sand—Half Sovereign; Kingling, b c, by Ethelbert—King's Favorite; Valais, b c, by Ethelbert—Lady of the Valley.

As has appened very often since last fall, there was a delay in getting the importations through the Custom House, and while Mr. Belmont, who had the forethought to have his horses passed through in bond Friday, experienced no difficulty in getting his horses off the ship promptly, all the others were held up and will not be landed until Monday.

Thomas Hitchcock imported three colts, assumably three-year-olds, but their papers did not come with them and they will be held up until these documents shall have arrived through the mails.

Mr. Sanford had his papers all right, and so did Edward Burke, but as the Custom House closed at noon, they were too late to have them passed.

Mr. Sanford's horses are as follows: Grand Opera, ch c, 3, by Santry—Light Opera; Brumley, ch h, 5, by Isidor—Adriutha; Bittetius, ch c, 4, by Quintette—Wheatley; Gex, ch c, 3, by Bachelor's Button—Jenny.

Joseph Burke's steeplechasers are as follows: Pilgrim Father, ch g, 5, by Cicero—Pilgrim's Way; Light Arms, b h, 7, by Labrador—Light Shot; Berrilldon, ch h, 7, by Berrill—Contribution; Seul Bonheur, b g, 4, by Turbine—Fragility; Killana, br m, 5, by Killeagh—Anna Ross.

BILL TO LEGALIZE MUTUELS.

BATON ROUGE, LA., May 17.—Proposed race track legislation came to light today in the Legislature when Representative Edward Schaff, of the Eleventh Ward, gave notice of a bill in the House creating a State Racing Association, to be composed of three members, appointed by the Governor, who will have full charge of all racing in the state. The bill is modeled after the Maryland racing act.

It would legalize the pari-mutuel system of betting, and would stringently guard against any outsiders getting control of the meet.

Mr. Schaff's bill provides that all officers and employees at the track must be citizens of the state of Louisiana, excepting the judges, starter, etc., who will be regarded as experts and subject to selection from outside the state. All profits must go to charity.

In addition to the three commissioners the Schaff bill provides for a salaried secretary and auditor.

"This bill does not come from the racing association," said Mr. Schaff; "it is my own and no one else is interested. I am not representing any association or organization."

ROAMER TOP WEIGHT IN METROPOLITAN HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Weights for the first of the big spring handicaps, the Metropolitan, to be run on the opening day at Belmont Park, were announced yesterday by Handicapper Vosburgh and at the same time the allotments for the Kings County Handicap at Jamaica, which precedes the Belmont Park fixture, were made known. Roamer, the handicap king of last season, is at the head of both lists and probably will start in both races. The Kings County is at a mile and a sixteenth and will be run next Saturday, while the Metropolitan will be run over a mile course on the following Thursday.

In the Kings County Handicap Roamer will have to pick up 133 pounds, one pound more than in the Metropolitan. The latter race gives a better idea of how the great horse compares with the new division of handicap contenders which have entered the field this season. In spite of the many good races run by Borrow and Stromboli last year Andrew Miller's crack is asked to concede liberal allowances to all the seasoned performers. Roamer at 132 pounds has to concede five pounds to Borrow and ten pounds to Stromboli. The Finn is in with 120 pounds and the English horse Short Grass has one pound less to carry.

George Smith, by virtue of his victory in the Kentucky Derby last Saturday, has the pride of place among the three year-olds. He is weighted with 109 pounds, and if the reports of the Derby race are true will have more than he can do to give away weight to the imported Star Hawk—if the latter gets away from the post. The weights:

HARRY KELLY WINS BASHFORD MANOR STAKES.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 17.—After a rough journey, which began when he was forced back at the start and ended by his being carried wide in the stretch, Harry Kelly, John W. Schorr's two-year-old son of Ultimus—Woodlane, won the Bashford Manor Stakes the feature of the day's racing card at Churchill Downs.

The Schorr colt won by five lengths. The race, which was for colts and geldings, was at four and a half furlongs. Harry Kelly negotiated the distance in :53 3 5, which is within four-fifths of a second of the track record, and the going was not fast by any means.

Only three horses contested for the stake, Harry Kelly, Sedan and Berlin, which ran coupled as the J. S Ward entry. Sedan finished second, beating his stablemate a length for the place. The event was worth $2,190 to the winner, $400 to the second and $200 to the third horse. The winner was an overwhelming favprite, paying $2.70 for a $2 straight ticket.

As usual, Harry Kelly was on his bad behavior at the post, rearing and plunging, and several times he almost unseated his rider, Jockey Guy Garner. When Starter Harry Morrissey released the barrier it looked as though Harry Kelly was bumped out of it, and Sedan dashed into the lead, followed by Berlin. Sedan set the pace until well into the stretch and he set a fast one at that, the first quarter being run in :22 4-5 and the half-mile in :46 4 5

After getting straightened away for home, however, Harry Kelly moved up with a terrific rush on the outside. Jockey Frank Murphy, who rode Sedan, tried to carry him out, but he got past Sedan and easily drew away the rest of the journey. Berlin, which ran for the first time in blinkers, was never a contender after the first furlong.

The success of choices began in the opener when Jack Wiggins won in handy fashion over thirteen other youngsters.

Pan Handle, an outstanding first choice, was the next winner, but his victory was accomplished only after a hard effort to down Jerry and Perugino. The latter was in the nature of a good thing and might have won but for trying to run out at the turns which cost him a good deal of ground.

Impressive was a pronounced favorite, and she was pounds the best of the other starters, winning in a romp after having led by a big margin for the entire way, Thanksgiving taking second place and Harry Gardner outstaying the others.

Solar Star found his task by no means an easy one in the Leonatus Handicap, but he succeeded after a hard effort in shaking off Dick Williams, and won out by a short half length, Sparkler outstaying the others for third place.

Brizz was the sixth favorite to score, and his victory was attended by a run-up when John Wise advanced his entered price of $400 to $705, at which figure he was retained.

The only choice that failed the talent was Billy Joe in the closing number. He has been performing in sprint races and the mile and a sixteenth route was beyond him, resulting in his failure to place at the end, Kris Kringle winning handily over Queen Apple, with Rapids accounting for the shorter portion of the purse.

Trainer Walter B. Jennings of the A. K. Macomber stable, will leave tonight for Gravesend with the horses under his care. Jockey Lilley, who was under contract to the establishment, has been released on the thirty-day clause in his contract and will remain in these parts and ride free lance. The reason for his severance with the Macomber stable was due to Mr. Jennings' dissatisfaction over the way he handled Star Hawk in the Kentucky Derby.

The nineteen horses owned by Corrigan & McKinney that W. C. Clancy has here, will be shipped to Belmont Park tomorrow night and campaigned on Eastern courses this season. Jockey Mack Garner will go with the horses.

THE DOUGLAS PARK PROGRAMME.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 16.—The book programme for the coming spring meeting of the Douglas Park Jockey Club has just left the press and is now being distributed among the horsemen and racing patrons here. The Douglas Park meeting opens on Monday, May 29, and continues for a racing period of thirteen days, concluding on Monday, June 12.

The big race of the meeting, of course, is the $15,000 Kentucky Handicap to be run on Saturday, June 3. That afternoon in the six races down for decision the Douglas Park Jockey Club gives a total of $13,300 in added money. The programme for that day is given below:

First Race—Purse $600; for maiden two-year-olds; five and a half furlongs.

Second Race—Purse $600; selling; for three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs.

Third Race—Central Park Handicap; purse $800; for three-year-olds and upward; six furlongs.

Fourth Race—Purse $700; for two-year-olds; five and a half furlongs.

Fifth Race—The Kentucky Handicap, with $10,000 added; for three-year-olds and upward; one and one-quarter miles.

Manager Hachmeister has adopted the naming of all the overnight handicaps during the coming spring meeting for the various parks and places of interest in and around this city. There is no stake race down for the opening day of the meeting, but that afternoon the Highland Park Handicap, for three-year-olds and upward, one and one-eighth miles, is the feature race, and this event has $1,000 in added money. On Tuesday, May 30 Decoration Day, the Memorial Handicap is the feature event This stake has fifty-nine nominations; embracing all the speed marvels now in the barns at the two local tracks.

Racing Secretary W. H. Pearce has made the conditions for the overnight events for the first six days of the meeting, and the conditions of the races for the last seven days of the meeting will be issued by him on Wednesday, May 31.

The first race each day at Douglas Park this spring will be called promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The book programme contains a table history of each of the big stake races to be decided during the meeting, giving the three place horses in every race. It is embellished with an ornate frontispiece on the cover of H. P. Whitney's great gelding, Borrow, with J. Notter in the saddle, it having been taken immediately after the son of Hamburg won the Kentucky Handicap last spring.

Manager Hachmeister has had inserted a special notice of the petition sent in to the Kentucky State Racing Commission, April 20, 1916, which submitted recommendations in the matter of increasing the distance of racing, and was signed by A. B. Hancock, chairman; Hal Price Headley, M. J. Winn, Garret D. Wilson, Milton Young, A. B. Gallaher, Harvey Meyers, O. H. Chenault and himself. It was on this recommendation at that meeting of the Racing Commission that it was moved, seconded and carried that the racing secretaries be requested to carry out the provisions in every sense as nearly as practicable of the recommendation of these gentlemen.

CLARK HANDICAP WEIGHTS.

LOUISVILLE, KY, May 17.—Handicapper Ed Jasper has announced the weights for the Clark Handicap, to be run Saturday. Penalties accrue from today. Winners of a race other than a selling purse after the weights are posted are to carry five pounds extra.

Borrow, the winner of the Kentucky Handicap last season, is given the top weight of 133 pounds, and Regret, the unbeaten Kentucky Derby winner of 1915 is rated next best at 126 pounds. The Finn, with 124 and Ed Crump and Hodge, each with 120 pounds, follow the great pair of H. P. Whitney, and then the weight scales down to 100 pounds, which is the impost on no less than sixteen of the sixty-three entries. Of the 100-pound division the English four-year-old filly Polistena appears to be the only one underestimated, if her English racing is any criterion.

Those which look like they are in the race well are Waterblossom, with 119; Royal II., with 115; Bayberry Candle with 109, and One Step and Dodge, with 106 pounds each. The weights in full are:

OFF TO A GOOD START AT JAMAICA.

JAMAICA, L. I., May 18.—The Eastern racing season was formally ushered in here this afternoon with a goodly attendance and all the enthusiasm which was expected to greet the debut of the thoroughbred in the East. More than 5,000 devotees turned out to do honor to the opening of the season, which was held under the auspices of the Metropolitan Jockey Club. The clubhouse enclosure contained its usual coterie of the "dyed-in-the-wool" standbys of the sport.

The weather conditions were far from ideal. The course, which is composed of a sandy subsoil, had absorbed the rains of the last few days, with the result that when the horses showed in their preliminary gallops a dry top at least was in evidence and the dust flew as in midsummer.

The card was spared the blue pencil to an appreciable extent, and altogether the sport was fully up to expectations. With two stake features—the Suffolk, for two-year-olds, and the Paumonok, a sprint affair for the aged division—every one was on the qui vivi in search of the best horses in the respective events.

The Paumonok, the feature of the afternoon, proved a gift to one of the outsiders in the speculation, Sand Marsh, which had in the van from end to end. This was the first start of the year, and his win was a distinct surprise, inasmuch as he picked up three pounds over weight, this being an unusual phase of a handicap.

High Noon, the choice, was driven out for the place after being hemmed in for the first half-mile. Jacobs, a sterling filly, ran a fine race from the break she received and landed third in a stirring drive.

OAKS PRELIMINARY WON BY REGINA.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 18.—The Sir Huon Handicap, the Oaks Preliminary and a selling handicap at one mile, were the outstanding numbers on the card of seven races offered by the Churchill Downs track this afternoon, and, coupled with the ideal conditions that prevailed, it resulted in another big attendance. The racing was excellent, with the public again faring generously in a betting way, as most of their selections rewarded confidence by leading their fields to the finish. The exception was Bringhurst, in the sprint handicap, in which he failed to place. The public got a severe set-back by his defeat, as he was backed with rare confidence and ruled a 11-to-20 favorite. He promised well shortly after rounding into the stretch, where he took command, but in a flash he was passed out by Marion Geosby, Hodge and Fleuro, which divided the purse in the order named. On his showing this afternoon it is possible that he was not quite ready for a gruelling six-furlong race, and he will reverse this running later when better prepared.

The Beverwyck Stable scored its initial Kentucky victory when Old Koenig proved much the best in the opening dash and had small difficulty overhauling Sister Susie for the purse.

The Oaks Preliminary was placed to H. P. Whitney's credit by Regina, but her victory was mainly due to Tommie McTaggart's brilliant riding, as Kathleen, which finished second, should have reversed the order of the finish with her and the failure was due to Jockey Garner's blunder of steering the George Long filly into close quarters, during the last furlong which prevented her from extending fully. She came with a good rush near the end, but Regina just managed to last to win by a scant head. On their respective showing this afternoon Kathleen at the longer distance at which the Oaks is run holds the Whitney representative safe.

The mile handicap found Grover Hughes an outstanding choice and he led the others for the entire trip, Aldebaran landing in second place, and the one time good colt Pif Jr., making his initial appearance in a long time leading the others for the shorter portion of the purse.

Jockey Hunt's masterly ride on Olga Star in the sixth race, was a strong factor in her success. She got up in the last few strides to overhaul Samuel R. Meyer and Irish Gentleman. There was sharp action about McAdoo in this race, but he dropped out of serious contention after he had made a wide turn into the stretch.

The concluding number went to another odds-on favorite in Guide Post, which had her work cut out to outstay Billows and it took Jockey Goose's best efforts to get her down to the finish in front, Billows beating Brookfield for second place. The latter in the earlier stages showed a high order of speed but tired near the end.

H. P. Whitney's Pomp was sold by Albert Simons this morning to E. R. Bradley at private terms.

The sale of the late Mr. H. B. Duryea's French-reared racehorses and yearlings, which is announced to take place at Belmont Park on Saturday next, May 27, is obviously destined to prove one of the most important vendues in American thoroughbred history. The thirty-three animals to be offered are all from the paddocks of Mr. Duryea's Haras du Gazon, and, as was pointed out in last week's THOROUGHBRED RECORD, that establishment was remarkably successful in steadily providing Mr. Duryea's "green and white" colors with representatives of the highest class during the comparatively brief period which has intervened since its inception in 1909.

The roll of Mr. Duryea's foreign triumphs was, indeed, most impressive. It would be pedantic and wearisome to the reader, however, if we attempted to recall more than Durbar II.'s English Derby (in addition to the Prix Noailles of 61,150 francs, and other great French triumphs), Sweeper's Two Thousand Guineas (following Ascot's Fifty-ninth Triennial and Goodwood's Richmond), Banshee's Poule d'Essai des Pouliches (French One Thousand) of 94 375 francs, Shannon's Prix Lagrange (54,250 francs) and Prix du Conseil Municipale (118,675 francs), Blarney's Prix Eugene Adam (80,250 francs) and Prix du Cinquantenaire (50 000 francs), Bugler's Prix de Edgard de la Charme (32,700 francs), etc., etc. As a matter of fact, the foregoing formidable list of victories comprises but a few of the more conspicuous foreign triumphs which, as long as time shall last, will make Mr. Duryea remembered as one of the most successful breeders in all thoroughbred annals.

Mr. Duryea's Haras du Gazon was by no means as extensive as numerous other French breeding establishments, but it thoroughly held its own, if not considerably more than held its own, with any and all of them. So we find Mr. Duryea fourth on the list of France's winning owners in 1912, when he was also fourth on the list of breeders who earned premiums, and even higher honors awaiting him in 1914, when he was second on both lists. It should be borne in mind, too, that in these respective seasons of 1912 and 1914 Sweeper and Durbar II. scored their mighty English triumphs, Sweeper's Two Thousand Guineas and Durbar II.'s Derby, neither of which is embraced in the French statistics and ratings to which reference has just been made.

Mr. Duryea's successes, however, were not confined to animals of his own breeding. His foreign purchases were decidedly limited, being chiefly confined to a few young fillies whose breeding and individuality indicated paddock as well as race course desirability, and of these there was obvious astuteness in the acquisition of La Ribaude (Rabelais—Bronze Medal), which won the Prix des Fourres and Criterium de St. Cloud before retiring to stud life, while Magpie (Simonian—Clytie) won the Prix Fair Helen, and Xanthene (Grey Plume—Quakeress) the Prix d'Essai des Pouliches at Maisons-Laffitte. Mr. Duryea's "eye for a good horse" stood him in good stead, too, when he selected Clairet (Presto—Clairette), for that colt won the Prix Lord Clifden and Maisons-Laffitte's Omnium de Deux Ans (77,500 francs).

In view of Mr. Duryea's breeding successes, it is thoroughly obvious that the forthcoming sale of the Haras du Gazon racehorses and yearlings possesses the utmost importance to American devotees of the thoroughbred, whether these devotees are breeders or owners of racing stables. When Mr. Duryea exported his stallion Irish Lad and his collection of broodmares to France in 1908, their removal was recognized in every quarter of our thoroughbred industry as being a heavy loss to our turf fabric and The American Stud Book, and it therefore goes without saying that the acquisition of these younger Haras du Gazon representatives will correspondingly benefit our thoroughbred through the return of such valuable blood. It is especially incumbent to emphasize the fact that the catalogue of the forthcoming sale contains no less than eighteen sons and daughters of Irish Lad. Mr. Duryea never hesitated in his allegiance to his first great winner, and this loyalty was amply rewarded by Irish Lad's progenity of Shannon, Banshee, Blarney, The Irishman, Los Olivos, Boyne, Ascelyne, Avoca, Gaviota, Torch, etc. Although practically restricted to the comparatively small collection of Haras du Gazon broodmares, Irish Lad sired in but a few seasons a remarkably large percentage of high-class winners of many of the most important and valuable races in France, and no one who really studies Irish Lad's stud achievements can fail to confidently expect his present two-year-olds and yearlings to develop their sire's customary large average of high-class performers.

Among the two-year-olds Tranby (Irish Lad—Frizette) is a full-brother to Banshee, while Censure (Irish Lad—Census) is a full-sister to Shannon. Mint Drop (Irish Lad—Mintberia) is a full-sister to The Irishman and Avoca, while Panoche (Irish Lad—St. Inez) is a full brother to Gaviota and Los Olivos. Teetotal (Irish Lad—Teetotum II.) is a full-sister to the French winner The Spinner and the English winner Lespedesa. Teetotal, by the way, is especially easy to identify as a daughter of Irish Lad, to which she bears a striking resemblance. The two-year-old colt Muckross (Irish Lad—Stillwater) is out of a sister to Running Water, and is therefore a brother-in-blood to Boyne, while Killadar (Irish Lad—Ascot Belle) is a half-brother to Manthorpe, etc., tracing to the immortal Maggie B. B., through Mattie T., dam of Col. Bill and grandam of Trojan, the Futurity winner. The Minx (Irish Lad—Artless) is out of a winning full-sister to the peerless Artful, while Inniskillen (Irish Lad—Zuna) is out of a Ballet-line mare, which has already thrown three winners.

The nine yearlings by Irish Lad include a brother to Shannon in Confiscation, a sister to Banshee in Ondulee, and a brother to Boyne in Rambler (out of Running Water), to which Placid (out of Stillwater) is a neatly-named full-brother-in-blood. Brandon is an appropriately named son of Wedding Bells, a well-remembered winner by Ben Brush out of the Domino mare Runaway Girl (dam of Megg's Hill, etc.), the next dam being imp. Fair Vision, dam of Horoscope, Trance, Peter Quince, etc. One of the best individuals among all the yearlings is the Irish Lad colt Paddy, out of Mintberia, and therefore full-brother to The Irishman and Avoca. Red Sox (out of Zuna) is a half-brother to the French winners Sioux and Chippewa, and a full-brother to the American winner Danfield.

The Irish Lad yearling filly Hibernia II., is out of Herodia, she by imp. Adam out of Wild Thyme, she by Ben Brush out of Rose, by Falsetto. Herodia's older representatives in the Haras du Gazon catalogue are the colts El Dinero and Herodote, respectively three years old and two, both being sons of Uncle, sire of Old Rosebud, Little Nephew, etc. Among the Irish Lad yearlings, however, none is more entitled to special mention as to relationship than the filly Reveille, for this young lady is a half-sister to Mr. Duryea's Two Thousand Guineas hero Sweeper. Their dam, imp. Ravello II., has demonstrated unusual versatility by also producing Frank Gill and Sam Jackson to different sires.

Sweeper is himself represented in the Haras du Gazon catalogue by seven yearlings, two of which are out of Irish Lad mares. Dustpan (well named) is a bay Sweeper filly out of the redoubtable Banshee, and Juanita 2nd is a chestnut colt (Sweeper's color) out of Santa Anita, she by Irish Lad out of St. Inez. Spica is a chestnut Sweeper colt out of the Salvator mare Lady Selina, whose dam is by Hanover out of Meriden, full-sister to Barnes, Butterflies (grandam of His Majesty), Runnymede, etc. Skipalong is a bay or brown colt out of Lady Nell, she by the French sire Mordant out of Content, she by imp. Bridgewater out of Phalia, dam of Flying Ship, etc. The bay Sweeper colt Reveler is out of the French-bred mare La Ribaude, she by the mighty Rabelais out of Bronze Medal, by Melton. Mr. Duryea's purchase of La Ribaude was with a view to her producing as well as racing prospects and her Prix des Fourres and Criterium de St. Cloud victories were doubtless but the prelude to a distinguished paddock career. Mexico is a chestnut colt, described as by Irish Lad or Sweeper, presumably by Sweeper, out of Monroe Doctrine, she by Yankee out of Semaphore, dam of Hyphen, etc. This is our great Levity family, from which also comes the Sweeper yearling Humme, a bay son of Teetotum II., she by The Bard (himself descended from Levity) and through Minx (dam of "Old Baldy" Monitor) to Mildred, dam of Monarchist, Sultana, Stamps, Frederick the Great, etc.

The fact that Mr. Duryea bred the Derby-winner Durbar II., by patronizing a stallion in another ownership is thorough evidence that the lamented turfman exercised sound judgment in his occasional patronage of the great French stallions. The greatest interest and importance may therefore be safely asserted to pertain to the Haras du Gazon animals which have not been already mentioned in this writing. What, for instance, could possibly be more attractive than the two-year-old filly Farce, by Rire aux Larmes out of Armenia! Farce is a half-sister to Durbar II.'s, Blarney, etc., but it is telling only half the story to say that she is Durbar II.'s, half-sister, for Durbar II.'s, sire, Rabelais, also sired Rire aux Larmes! Bred as she is, such a splendid individual as Farce should excite the keenest competition on May 27, and her purchaser will have every reason to be congratulated on acquiring a filly of unquestionable racecourse and paddock promise.

Even before Durbar had won the Derby of 1914, Mr. Duryea had already increased his patronage of Rabelais, for the Haras du Gazon foalings of that season embraced two of that great sire's progeny. Of this pair, Medora will need no further introduction to Americans than the statement that she is a daughter of Mediant, which won in England the Stewards Cup (Goodwood) and the Champion Sprint Handicap (Hurst Park) as a three-year-old, after an American juvenile career which embraced victories in Sheepshead's Foam Stakes and Great Eastern Handicap. Like Durbar, Medora is out of a Meddler mare.

The other Rabelais two-year-old in the Haras du Gazon catalogue is The Belgian, a chestnut son of the American-bred mare Suffragette IV., she by imp. Voter out of Noonday, by Domino. This is an exceptionally promising colt whose pedigree will need no introduction to American turfmen, and probably they do not need to be reminded that Rabelais is a son of St. Simon (the "one and only") out of Satirical, she by Satiety, son of Isonomy. One of the most successful sires in France, Rabelais has to his credit a long array of distinguished winners, including Verdun (French Two Thousand, Grand Prix de Paris, etc.), Vellicia (French One Thousand) and Long Set (Cambridgeshire, Lincolnshire, Royal Hunt Cup, Doncaster Cup, etc.), not forgetting Rire aux Larmes and Durbar.

As already intimated, the Haras du Gazon catalogue includes two sons of Uncle, the full-brothers El Dinero and Herodote, out of the Adam mare Herodia. Signs are not wanting that Uncle is going to experience a renaissance in the near future. After returning from France, Uncle sired several of the present season's most genuine American yearlings, a group of which was only last week sold privately in one of the most sensational transactions of recent years.

The well-known French stallion Phoenix is represented in the Haras du Gazon catalogue by the yearling colt Spitfire, whose dam is the American-bred mare Musette. Phoenix went from England to France in utero, and is by Royal Hampton (son of Hampton) out of St. Theodora, she by St. Simon out of Dorothea, by Sterling. Musette is a Brookdale-bred matron by imp. Juvenal (son of Springfield) out of Trill, grandam of Stalwart and Perverse. Musette's produce includes Bugler, winner of six French races, among them the Prix Edgard de la Charme (32,700 francs), and Bugler subsequently won in England.

The half-brothers Frizzle and Crimper, which complete the Haras du Gazon sale catalogue, are exceptionally desirable. Frizzle, now a five year-old, won six races of the value of 123,300 francs as a three-year-old, the most important (the Prix Citronelle of 54 300 francs) being unfortunately omitted from the sale catalogue.

Crimper raced in England last year, and it is no exaggeration to declare that he was one of the best English two-year-olds of the season. His campaign was not a severe one, being admirably calculated to educate him for the new classic honors which Mr. Duryea was confidently expecting to secure in 1916, and Crimper's close third to Marcus and Figaro in the New Coventry Stakes would have undoubtedly kept him prominent in the present Derby market.

Frizzle is by the French-bred Biniou, he by Le Pompon (son of Fripon) out of Bric-a-Brac, by St. Serf, son of St. Simon. Biniou's racecourse successes included the Prix du Conseil Municipale. Crimper is by Mr. W K. Vanderbilt's Maintenon, he by La Sagittaire (son of Le Sancy and La Dauphine, by Doncaster) out of Marcia, she by Marden (son of Hermit) out of Primavera, she by Springfield out of Opaline, by Vertugadin. Maintenon's sixteen victories included the Prix Hocquart (68,850 francs), Prix Lupin (131 225 francs), Prix du Jockey Club (184,000 francs), Prix du President de la Republigue (104,000 francs), Grand Prix de Deauville (41 675 francs), Prix Royal Oak (77,875 francs) and Prix du Conseil Municipale (104,275 francs), with a grand total of 913,525 francs.

Frizzle and Crimper are out of the American-bred Frizette, which won in her native land, and had previously produced Banshee, heroine of the French One Thousand of 1913. Frizette is by Hamburg (whose daughters are producing so grandly) out of imp. Ondulee, she by St. Simon out of Ornis, she by Bend Or out of Shotover (Two Thousand and Derby), she by Hermit out of Stray Shot, she by Toxophilite out of Vaga, she by Stockwell out of Mendicant (Beadsman's dam), by Touchstone. This is a successful family in this country, as well as abroad, for Frizette's grandam Ornis is a full sister to imp. Isis, dam of Isidor, etc., and grandam of Hamburg Belle, etc.

The importance and fascination of the topic having already caused this writing to disregard the demands of space, there can only be repeated, in conclusion, the aphorism that the Haras du Gazon sale of May 27 is obviously destined to prove one of the most important vendues in American thoroughbred history.

REMARKABLE JOCKEY FEATS.

A. Wheatley, who was brought out from England by his present master, Mr. Jim Russell, the well-known owner-trainer, rode King's Jester to victory after the triple dead heat at Pretoria on Wednesday, and went on to Durban the same evening. At the coast fixture yesterday he equaled the long-standing record of another English jockey in J. E. Boardman, who steered six winners at Kenilworth in 1903. The feat of riding six winners in one day has been confined to a select band. The famous jockeys George Fordham (twice) and Fred Archer (twice) are the most notable horsemen to share the distinction. Archer performed the feat twice, and also Fordham, the latter six winners and a dead heat, in the decider of which he was on the loser. —Johannesburg Times, April 2.

In riding the winners of the entire card of six races at Churchill Downs, Louisville, Ky., June 5, 1907, James Lee (colored) established a world's record. "Monk" Overton (colored) rode six winners at Washington Park, Chicago, July 10, 1891. There were seven races on the card. He had no mount in the second race. C. Turner, on April 9, 1912, at Charleston, S. C,, piloted six of his seven mounts to victory. Eleven other jockeys gained the distinction of having won the full card, but in each instance there were five races or less on the program. Fifty-three times have American jockeys ridden five winners in one day, but in all save thirteen instances they had mounts in six or seven races. At Benning, April 3, 1906, Walter Miller rode the winners of the last five races and the following day won the first three races, making eight successive victories. At the Harlem track, Chicago, September 7 and 8, 1900, W. Buchanan rode nine winners out of eleven mounts. Instances of four winners ridden in one day in this country are too numerous to mention.

Kadir, b m, 5, won the Benoni Handicap, one mile, at Johannesburg, Africa, on March 25. Kadir was bred by W. O'B. Macdonough and is by Ossary—Lady Marion.

Rossmore, aged, by Mimic—May Fonso, won the Western Handicap at Capetown, Africa, on March 25. Rossmore was bred at Elmendorf.

RACING AND BREEDING IN THE GOLDEN STATE.

Christopher C. Chinn, more than a dozen years ago a prominent Kentucky breeder of race horses, a starter for many seasons on the big tracks of Kentucky, Chicago and St. Louis and farther west, was met on the Oakland boat by the writer last Saturday. He looked not a day older than when he was active on the turf, and still has the same strong liking for the kingly sport that all true Kentuckians have. "Kit" is the eldest son of the famous "Colonel Jack" Chinn, who in the State Senate of Kentucky framed the bill for a racing commission and pari mutuels, which measure saved the day for the breeders. The Chinns of Harrodsburg, breeders of Leonatus, High Private, Ban Fox, Lissak and other celebrities, have been racing men and breeders ever since the Grand Old Commonwealth became a State, and though "Kit" is a long-time resident of Oro Paradiso, and has been paying more attention to wheat raising as, he says, "for the allies," and to buying and selling city and country property in his San Francisco office, his thoughts go back to racing and race horses very, very often. While retired for fully a dozen years from "the game" in which he was such a prominent and highly-regarded player, no one in California would be better pleased to see racing and breeding restored to the Golden State than the gentleman from the Blue Grass Region. He knew California when she vied with his native State in the production of great race horses, and he has viewed with awe the incineration (through adverse legislation) of racing plants and grand stock farms. Mr. Chinn believes restoration can come, and these are his ideas regarding the way it can be brought about:

"Many things are necessary before racing and breeding can be re-established in California on the right plane. The 'professional turfman' and the bookmaker must go, and racing must become a sport, and not a business. I believe that a Racing Commission of the best men obtainable would be the first step in the right direction. Then auction pools and pari-mutuels must come. They remove the incentive for cheating and thereby give confidence to the minds of the public as to the integrity of the sport. Financial profit to an owner then can only come by winning races. In the bookmaking days the 'laying up in the books' of horses that figured to win by a goodly margin was as common as fleas on the back of a lame dog. Bookmakers would 'split the sheet' (fifty-fifty) almost any time with a dishonest owner and simply filch from the public that supported the sport the money wagered upon the favorite that ought, by every right, to have won. Thus it was that the dishonest bookmaker and owner, or trainer or jockey, brought racing into disrepute. These disgraces would be eliminated at one fell swoop by the auction pools and pari-mutuels system of wagering, and when confidence in the sport came there would be nothing to compare with it in point of popularity.

"In Australia, England, France, Germany, Russia and Austria, where it is under government direction and everyone knows it is conducted honestly, every man, woman and child in the country, nearly, takes an interest in the 'sport of kings,' as it is rightly called. You seldom hear any cry of fraud in those countries Why? Because, the stakes and purses are so large and the owners in such affluent circumstances that the element of sport towers far over the monetary part, and instead of hearing that 'Mr. Vanderbilt wagered $10,000 on his horse and lost through a bad ride' you hear people talking about the beauties of the race, the gameness and speed of the different horses, the skill of the riders—unswayed and not blinded by a wager, the winning of which in this part of the world was of paramount importance; the beauties of the race, if noted at all, forgotten in a moment. To be frank, it would be better if those who only went for financial gain could be kept off the race track, but it would take the genius of an Edison to devise a scheme to keep them on the outside of the fence of the race course.

"Speaking of Mr. Vanderbilt—and also of Messrs. Harry Payne Whitney and Herman Duryea—do you know what made them forsake the turf of the United States and go to France and England to race? The newspapers. If one of the segentlemen wagered $500 on one of his own horses the wager was so enormously exaggerated that by the time the last scribe had a fling at the matter they had them betting $50,000 on their flyer. And, if it had been $50,000, what is that sum to one of these gentlemen, whose income is nearly that much per day? The newspapers could do the turf an immense amount of good if they would just leave the betting news (which is really a private matter) out of their columns altogether.

"What the Racing Commission, auction pools and pari-mutuels can do for Kentucky they can do for California. In my old home (I am now almost a Native Son) they have completely hushed the cries of formless racing and raised the stakes and purses more than twofold. The good they have done the breeder can scarcely be estimated. But for the Racing Commission and pari-mutuels I believe grass would be growing waist high upon the time-honored Lexington and Churchill Downs courses and the breeders and lovers of racing in Kentucky would long since have died from grief.

"I understand Governor Hiram Johnson is a great lover of all sports, racing in particular—and baseball. He doubtless realizes that the adverse legislation enacted has ruined breeders, taken away the joy of racegoers and millions of dollars out of the State.

"The good these anti-betting laws have done is not discernible to one armed with even a Lick telescope. Tell the average human being that he can't do anything, and it only makes the resolution stronger in him that he will. These laws have not stopped betting. People simply bet now on races far away from home that they never have the pleasure of seeing.

"If I had the power I would urge the passage of a law providing for:

"A Racing Commission of three members to have entire charge of the racing, allotment of dates and punishment of all turf offenders in their jurisdiction—the State of California. (In Kentucky ex-United States Senator Camden, a breeder, is chairman of the Racing Commission).

"Five per cent. of the gate receipts of each racing association to go to the State, out of which the salaries of the Racing Commission are to be paid, the surplus to be divided between State Fair, State Farm at Davis, and improvement of State highways.

"Racing limited to 30 days per year in any county.

"No person to be allowed to purchase stock in more than one race course in the State.

"No person ever having any connection with the promotion of prize fighting or wrestling or having any interest in a book on a race track to be allowed to purchase any stock in a race course, or have any say in the management of one.

"Speculation on the chances of horses in a race in the State to be through the medium of pari-mutuels and auction pools only.

"No information as to entries in races, riders in races, horses withdrawn (scratched), mutuel prices or probable prices, to be allowed to any man or company or sent out by telegraph or telephone to anyone upon pain of the sender being incarcerated in jail. (This would eradicate the pool-room evil and make people go to the race course if they cared anything for racing.)

"Following out the above plans," said Mr. Chinn, "we would soon find our turf the most popular of all institutions, with a different class of men conducting the meetings and owning horses, the breeding of great racers would be resumed in California, wealthy men would become patrons of the sport and many breed the horses that carried their own colors, the cry of unfairness and fraud would never be heard, the State would reap some solid financial benefit from the racing, and the professional horse-owner and money-hunter would give way to the real sportsman in for the honor of winning and not for the dollars that could be piled up. The pool-room would be an unpleasant memory, the habitues would come to their senses and seek honorable fields of endeavor, Governor Johnson would be blessed by all true lovers of honest sport, and California would soon resume her place at the head of the racing procession."—[San Francisco Breeder and Sportsman.

The Sydney (Australia) Cup was won by Prince Bardolph, by Bardolph—La Mosca. Green Cap, by Ladier Lad—Bronze Cap was second, and Scoutmaster, by Metford—Gladys May third. Garita, Ulva's Isle, Berrabadeen, Giru, Marcullus, Wishing Cap, Cetigne, Limelight, Fortune Hunter, Hush Money, Kandos, Corstep, Christian Brother, Frasca, Fantaris, Foil, Bayrum, Ravello, Common Law, Wedding Day, Karanandking, R. L. G, and Dollar Dictator also ran. Prince Bardolph led throughout, and though Green Cap challenged at the distance he was beaten by two lengths;three lengths divided second and third. The two miles were run in 3:24¾.

Mr. Fred Harrison has sold his useful mare Agnes Velarquez to Mr. Christenson, the latter gentleman buying Volta's dam for shipment to America. Agnes Velasquez has again this season been on a visit to Valens.—[London Sporting Life.

BAKER BROS. WIN THREE RACES.

LOUISVILLE, KY, May 16.—The Baker Brothers-Goose combination figured extensively in to-day's racing at Churchill Downs, three of the purses being accounted for by the stable's representatives, while another purse just failed to be placed to their credit by by the smallest kind of margin.

The stable inaugurated its success right at the outset, when its juvenile Hot Toddy romped home in the opening dash in advance of eight other youngsters that tried conclusions with him. The initial victory was followed by Sleeth, which made good in the second race. The succeeding event proved a failure for the stable, as Green Jones, on which they had counted most, succumbed to the underrated Norumbega by a scant head. Transit wound up the successful day for the combination by accounting for the closing number. Goose had the mount on all the starters from the Baker stable, and that they had extensive followings was indicated by their outstanding favoritism.

Today's weather showed vast improvement over the bleak conditions that prevailed yesterday, but the track still held traces of the severe drenching it underwent the previous day. The attendance was in excess of the previous day, but the total amount of wagering fell slightly short, due to the fact that there was no show betting in four of the races.

The small fields, however, served as excellent mediums for good play and the contests on the whole were enjoyable and interesting.

The Ben Brush Handicap of $1,000 at a mile and a furlong was the stellar number carded, and it furnished a victory for the consistent Bayberry Candle, which triumphed over Brynlimah, with Leo Ray in third place, beating out Lady Rotha, the only other starter, by a commanding margin. The winner liked the going and remained in the lead from barrier rise. Brynlimah made several ineffectual attempts to overhaul her, but each time Martin would move out just a trifle and remained a good length in advance until the finish. Murphy, on Brynlimah, complained after the race to the stewards that Martin, on the winner, had impeded him just after rounding the lower turn.

A field of the higher type of platers met in the six-furlong sprint, and it developed a victory for Mars Cassidy which won out handily over Sosius and Hawthorn. The latter raced into a good lead after acting fractiously at the post, and he was directly responsible for Hawthorn's undoing. The latter kept him close company for half a mile, but the exhaustive early effort he was put to caused him to weaken fast in the stretch. The showing of Cash On Delivery in the race was nothing to enthuse over.

The hardy Hard Ball, which has been started three times in as many racing days, made good in the fifth race in somewhat hardy style over Billows and Jessie Louise. His fall Saturday and runaway of two miles thereafter, and his hard race yesterday, caused many of the sharps to fight shy of him, and enable his backers to receive the liberal price of over 6 to 1 against him.

Captain Thomas J. Clay, Garret Wilson and William Shelley, who comprised the stewards at Lexington, gave E. T. Colton a hearing this morning on charges preferred by Jockey Andress and rendered a "Scotch verdict" nothing proved. "It was a case of one man's word against another," said Captain Clay, "and, lacking corroborative evidence, we simply cautioned Colton."

An accident at Douglas Park this morning resulted in the death of the horse Balko, owned by W. Martin. The horse had to be destroyed as a result of the injuries he sustained when he collided with another horse while at exercise.

Before departure for the East this afternoon Andrew Miller, owner of the crack Roamer, announced that he would ship him here to run in the rich Kentucky Handicap, which features the opening of the Douglas Park meeting. The horse may be started at Aqueduct on Saturday next. Other notable Easterners that departed during the day included: H. K. Knapp, Schuyler L. Parsons, N. Perkins, William Street, F. R. Hitchcock, P. J. Dwyer and Chief Lally. They will return to witness the decision of the Kentucky Handicap.

Trainer W. C. Clancy, of the extensive Corrigan & McKinney stable, will ship his charges East in the next few days. The stable jockey, M. Garner, will go with the consignment.

The Dewey Jockey Club, of Dewey, Okla., has announced a spring race meeting of ten days, beginning June 14. Dewey has the best half-mile track in Oklahoma, and six races will be run daily. Joe Bertlee is President; Dean R. Low, Presiding Judge; W. C. Geary, Racing Manager, and R. Conroy, starter.

HODGE WINS CLARK HANDICAP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 21.—History repeated itself in the running of the Clark Handicap, the feature event at Churchill Downs Saturday afternoon, when Hodge, W. J. Weber's five-year-old Ivan the Terrible—Nannie Hodge gelding, won the event over a field of the highest class route horses in training. The same horse won the same stake last year. Yesterday marked his first victory for the 1916 racing season, but he demonstrated that he is in as good shape as he was last summer and fall, and will be able to hold his own with any stake and handicap horses in the country.

Second to him yesterday and a length back was Ed Crump, which beat Dr. Carmen a nose for the place. The fight for second money was a hot one, there being no less than five horses driving down to the wire closely bunched. The race was worth $2,520 to the winner, $400 to the second and $200 to the third horse. Eleven thoroughbreds contested for it, J. T. Looney being represented by an entry, The Grader and Leo Ray. There were three withdrawals, Lady Rotha, Star Jasmine and Pif Jr.

The horses were at the barrier for eight minutes due to the kicking antics of One Step, which kicked several horses and finally wound up by causing Bayberry Candle to fall as a result of coming in contact with her heels. She was at last placed on the extreme outside, where she could not interfere with the others.

When the barrier was released Waterblossom dashed to the front, but she did not get far away from Old Koenig, and he hung close to her until she relinquished the lead in the stretch. She set a terrific pace as far as she went, running the first quarter in :23 4-5, the half mile in :47 4-5, six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 and the first mile in 1:38 4-5. While she and Old Koenig were racing their heads off, Jockey Claude Hunt was nursing Hodge along off the pace.

Dr. Carmen was within striking distance of the first two, but it was plain to be seen that he was too close, and his efforts to catch them finally told on him.

When well in the stretch Jockey Hunt got Hodge through, and he began to draw away from his field. Old Koenig managed to get his nose in front for an instant, but Hodge could not be denied. Ed Crump, which was far back in the early running, finished with a determined rush, and just did get up to get the place. Waterblossom weakened to nothing and finished seventh. Bayberry Candle evidently felt the effects of the kicking she received from One Step and was never a contender.

Waterblossom was the choice of the form players by 15 cents on the dollar over Hodge, but every horse received good support. Ed Crump, despite the fact that he is known to be a horse of class, paid $28.20 for a $2 place ticket.

The Clark Handicap drew the second largest crowd of the meeting to Churchill Downs, Derby Day being the only day that the attendance was better. The weather and track conditions were ideal for the sport, and good time was the order of the day. Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce arranged a good card for the occasion, and the various fields were evenly matched.

The public began badly when they selected Jerry as the one to score in the opening dash. He was a strong contender for most of the way, but Booker Bill, on which Andress rode a powerful finish, managed to get the victory by a head.

The Baker Brothers made amends in the second race for Jerry's defeat by scoring with Frigerio, which showed a meritorious performance by winning as handily as he did over Berlin, after having been subjected to a hard drive from the rise of the barrier.

The locally-owned Sunflash graduated from the maiden ranks in the third race when she beat a fair field over the four and one-half furlongs route. Little Spider set the pace most of the way, but could not stick it out when Sunflash charged on her in the stretch. Greentree, from the Harry Payne Whitney stable, was an odds-on favorite, but second was the best he could get, he finishing a length and a half behind Sunflash. Saffron Girl ran a good race all the way.

Blanchita, at a long price, accounted for the fourth race in a driving finish with Royal Tea, the favorite, but the McDowell filly lasted long enough to win by half a length. Blanchita was in front all the way.

Hawthorn ran like a stake horse Saturday afternoon, and the talent was not slow in noting that he outclassed the company opposing him, for he was the shortest-priced favorite of the afternoon and won with the utmost ease. High Horse was his closest pursuer at the end, with Ratina following. The latter was held in as much esteem for second place as Hawthorn was to win, and her failure to land in that place enabled the Hawthorn place players to get just as much for place as the straight players got.

The Yenghee tip in the closing number was contagious and aided by outside commissions the machine men were kept busy doling out tickets on the Gibson representative. They nearly missed cashing, for Jessie Louise was on her mettle and forcing a steady pace had Yenghee driving hard to keep pace with her. It was only in the last 20 yards that he managed to get his nose in front and finished that margin in advance of the filly. Hard Ball made a determined bid in the stretch and came with a good rush at the end.

Saturday's attendance was of immense proportions, by far the best that has been in evidence since Derby Day. The balmy weather, coupled with the prospect of witnessing some excellent sport, was the magnet to lure the throng to Churchill Downs. The Clark Handicap has vied in interest with the Kentucky Derby since its institution in 1875, and is named in honor of the founder of the New Louisville Jockey Club, the late Colonel M. Lewis Clark. Hodge's feat of winning the stake in successive years has never been duplicated and the Weber horse is entitled to much credit for carrying the heavy impost he did and winning over the good opposition.

Wanda Pitzer, which was bought by T. F. Buckley out of the sixth race yesterday, has been turned over to P. M. Civill, who will train her.

Dark Flower was sold by T. C. McDowell this morning to Combs Bros. at private terms.

TENNESSEE TO HAVE RACING AGAIN.

An association has been formed, incorporation papers filed with the state of Tennessee, officers have been chosen and the movement to revive the breeding and racing of the thoroughbred in Tennessee has taken practical form. Announcement is made that it is the purpose of the association to give race meetings this fall and next spring at Nashville, and to thereafter hold regular meetings twice a year.

Negotiations have been inaugurated looking to the use of the track and grounds of the Tennessee State Fair, known so long as Cumberland Park, and the organizers of this racing and breeding association believe the use of the fair grounds will be most appropriate, as their efforts have to do with the upbuilding of pure blooded live stock, which the state fair stands for.

The association has been perfected by the election of William J. Ewing, a well-known citizen, for many years prominent in the journalistic world of Nashville, and now head of the Eagle Printing Company, as president, and Robert C. Brien, for years secretary of Belle Meade, and prominently identified with breeding and racing, as secretary. Mr. Ewing, as "Blue Wing," achieved a wide reputation as a turf writer, and his contributions had much to do with the popularity of the Sport of Kings in the South. Mr. Brien is fitted by experience for the secretaryship and his long connection with famous Belle Meade and its great horses gives added prestige to the association.

The executive committee of the association is made up of Martin S. Flannigan, chairman; W. J. Williams, L. A. Bauman, Harding A. Jackson and W. H. Buchanan.

The board of governors is composed of the following: E. S. Shannon, chairman; H. F. Smith, F. W. Hoover, A. H. Mizell, Hamilton Love, Buford Dickinson, R. B. Brannan, H. Clark Kirkman, J. O. Leake, Oliver J. Timothy, C. H. Brandon, R. L. Burch, Charles Davitt, West H. Mortont and W. E. Wright.

The club features of the association will be among the most popular and inviting of its diversions and the board of governors of the club will be composed of the following, with H. Clark Kirkman, chairman, and R. T. Wilson, vice-chairman; George A. Washington, Duncan F. Kenner, E. S. Gardner, John A. Bell, B. Wade Kirkpatrick, Thomas J. Tyne, Paul Eldridge, B. Kirk Rankin, C. C. Christopher, George A. Swab and Sheffield Clark.

It is the purpose of the association to open offices in the next week or ten days and proceed with arrangements for the race meetings. Secretary Brien will go to Louisville to confer with the leading owners about racing at Nashville this fall and joining in the movement to revive the sport in Tennessee.

The purpose of this association, which has for its name Tennessee Blood Horse Association, the same name as the association of the pioneer breeders of the thoroughbred used for their meetings at the course by the Cumberland and over whose track some of the greatest horses in the history of the American turf made their debut. The object as set forth in the articles of incorporation are to encourage, foster and aid in the breeding and raising of the thoroughbred horse in Tennessee by contests of speed and stamina for suitable prizes. The association will comply with all state laws in regard to laws against betting and will conduct the contest on the highest plane possible. They will endeavor to prove that racing of the thoroughbred is not solely dependent on the bookmaker, the mutuels or auction pools. The rules and regulations will be such as to protect the sport and preserve racing in its best traditions.

Secretary Brien, who has been instrumental in bringing the sentiment for a revival of racing into practical form, in talking about racing and the breeding of the thoroughbred in the state in the future, had the following to say:

"Tennessee at one time, only a few years back, stood pre-eminent in the production of the thoroughbred horse. American-bred horses, especially those bred in Tennessee, have achieved fame on both the American and English turf second to none in the wide world. With blue grass growing in riotous profusion, springs and streams of pure running water, open and mild winters, make Tennessee the ideal spot for the breeding and rearing of the thoroughbred.

"The market for the sale of thoroughbreds was destroyed by stopping of racing, thereby compelling the retirement of some of the greatest nurseries on earth, and causing at the same time an immense loss to the business interest of the state, especially Nashville. It is a condition now, and not a theory that confronts us. The business men of Nashville realizing this fact, have organized the Tennessee Blood Horse Association, purely and solely for the purpose of fostering, promoting and encouraging the breeding of the thoroughbred horse in every legitimate way possible, and realizing that the most effective way to do this is by creating a market for the sale of the horses, and further realizing that the most effective way to this end is by a revival of racing and offering purses of money, premiums and prizes of plate for speed and endurance. Looking to this end it is proposed in the near future to have racing with such purses, premiums, etc., offered, and, positively without the bookmaker, pari-mutuel, auction pools, or any other form of gambling, and this prevention would be possible under the absolute control of the association. A glance at the names of the gentlemen and business men composing officers and the controlling board is a guarantee that the race meetings will be conducted on the highest plane possible, and with absolute propriety and under the law.

"The race course has always been the means of developing the blood horse. Without a race course the world would never have known of the great powers of Bonnie Scotland and Iroquois, the horses that have contributed more to the fame of Tennessee than any predecessors. Hence we advocate the preservation of the race course, the institution so necessary to his development. We are aware of the prejudices existing against the race course by religionists and moralists generally on account of its immoral tendency. The prejudices we admit are not altogether groundless, but the immoralities of a well regulated race course are greatly magnified by those who know the least of its operation. We advocate the preservation of the race course and the revival of racing, and at the same time call upon the moralist to join with us in an effort to remove all objectionable features that may attach to the institution so necessary for the encouragement of the breeding of the thoroughbred. While we cannot hope for another Belle Meade, we can, by proper encouragement, 'wake up the many smaller and noted farms that have slumbered for several years and with a united effort, place Tennessee again in the front ranks as a producer of great horses. We promise in the fall and spring a few days of most pleasurable and high-class sport aside from the great benefit to be derived by every class of business of our city."—[Nashville Tennesseean.

BRILLIANT OPENING AT TORONTO.

TORONTO, CANADA, May 22.—In the dazzling splendor of a natural scenic setting, stately and colorful, the gates of the Woodbine race course swung open on Saturday, when twelve thousand citizens and visitors marched through for their first glimpse of the season of the racing equines. It was a most auspicious opening of the first of the seven days of racing under the auspices of the Ontario Jockey Club. With the exception of a slight northerly breeze, the weather was perfect after a week of rain, and a splendid program of racing was provided.

Considering that thousands of patrons of the Woodbine race meets have joined the colors and are either in training or in the trenches "somewhere in France," the attendance was quite beyond the expectations of the officials of the Jockey Club.

The racing classic—the King's Plate—the oldest turf fixture in America, was won by Mr. Joseph E. Seagram, President of the Ontario Jockey Club.

The demonstration indulged in by the crowds as the victorious horse whizzed past the winning post was not as marked as in other years when peace reigned supreme and Canada's sons were not engaged in war in Europe. This transformation of events was very noticeable, but it was evidence of a thoughtful spirit on the part of the people who quite voluntarily showed no desire to display their enthusiasm beyond certain bounds. Yet they appeared to enjoy the racing to the fullest extent. The usual cermonial proceedings in connection with the arrival of the Government House party at the track were likewise dispensed with.

The members' lawn was crowded with an assemblage of many of Toronto's most influential citizens, among them being many members of Parliament, the City Council and leading financial and mercantile men. Mingling with the crowds in the members' enclosure and the public stands were many officers and men in training for overseas service. The presence of the khaki-clad officers and men also formed a dominant shade in the display of color. Recruiting sergeants were also on hand endeavoring to obtain likely-looking recruits. While they did not succeed in obtaining as many as it might have been possible to round up in such a vast gathering, the officers appeared well satisfied. Just for the time being the interest of the prospective recruit was centured upon picking "longshots." Consequently, it was not until the throng started to wend their way to the cars after the last race that the recruiting officers succeeded in persuading the young recruits to get into khaki.

The collecting of a war tax upon admission tickets was an innovation. The extra work entailed hampered the ticket-sellers for a short time, likewise the public, who did not as a whole take kindly to the idea. Shortly before 2 o'clock the crowds flocked around the ticket wickets in such large numbers that it was with some difficulty that the police succeeded in keeping them in line. This was due to the fact that not many of the people had the forethought to provide themselves with war tax tickets before they left the downtown district.

Saturday's opening of the season at Woodbine offered a demonstration that Canada does not differ from Britain, India, South Africa, Australasia and other parts of the Empire, in which racing is carried on in war time with a very large measure of public support. There was a big crowd for the running of the King's Plate and the other races provided by the Ontario Jockey Club on a fine Saturday afternoon, the nearest approach to a pleasant one that the weather conditions have furnished this spring. This year's running of the Plate promised the unique probability that a new record would be created in the long history of the race, and a finish might be seen in which the riders of the first three horses would be wearing the same colors. The possibility came to pass and spectators on Saturday saw not only what was never seen before, but what will probably never be seen again in connection with the Plate. After a long absence from the winning owners' list—eight years since a Seagram horse came home in front—Mr. Seagram "came back" in force, and not only won, but had the horses that finished second and third. It was a very popular victory in every sense. The heart of the people is seldom far wrong, and on the turf, perhaps more than in any other field of activity, they come readily to classify "the right ones." It takes the real sportsman to keep up heart and effort in the face of a long run of steady disappointments and failure of hopes, and the average man is not stinted in his regard for that kind. Everybody seemed to feel a personal gratification that Mr. Seagram's persistency and liberality had at last met with such a copious reward. No longer can it be said that the same owner never had the first three horses in the Plate. This makes Mr. Seagram's fourteenth success, and he had a consecutive string of winners from Victorious in 1891 to Bon Ino in 1898.

While it is the case that Mr. Seagram had not won the Plate in the last eight years, there never was a time in that interval when he was out of the competition, and, except a year ago, no running of the Plate in which he did not have a horse or two horses placed. However, it is the winners that get into the honor roll, and the President of the Ontario Jockey Club never was the man to be content with second place if there was a first to be had. On Saturday he attained the full ambition that any owner can entertain in connection with this or any other race—he sent to the post all of the horses placed by the judges, all of his own breeding, and all expected to do what they did. He not only won the Plate, but as the irreverent might say, he took away the cup and saucer with it. Every dollar of stakes, guineas, added money and breeder's allotment was fairly won by the bearers of the black-and-yellow livery that has been so long, so honorably and so successfully associated with the history of the King's Plate. The total was $5,570.

The running of the Plate race is easily and briefly described. The best horse of the Waterloo trio, Mandarin, went to the front as soon as they settled to racing, and was never called on for any effort to retain his lead. Practically the whole way he ran with his mouth open, so pronounced was the restraint Jockey Pickens had on him. His stable companions had about as little difficulty beating the rest of the opposition, and their only race was when Gala Day tried to beat Gala Water for second place in a brush at the finish, but couldn't do it. Last Spark was very nervous and fretful in the paddock, and neither he nor Old Pop ran anything like their work suggested. Johnnie Austin was in the wrong place much more decidedly than the others, though all were outclassed by Mandarin.

The winner of the King's Plate for 1916 should do a lot of good for Mr. Mr. Seagram this summer. Though he had practically no opposition on Saturday, and the race was run in slow time, Mandarin is undoubtedly a colt of considerable class, and now that he appears to have got over the foot trouble that bothered him last year, he should take down a few more valuable races. He is a son of Havoc and the English mare, Royal China. The latter is by Worcester, and was a weanling when she was brought out by Mr. E. H. Haines of Owen Sound for the Waterloo Stud, with her mother, Chinka. Chinka was bred by the late King Edward.

There was general regret at the enforced absence of Mr. Seagram from the scene of his greatest triumph, but an illness which befell him last Monday made it inadvisable for him to leave home for the present. He was represented by his son, Mr. E. F. Seagram, who led the winner into the unsaddling paddock and received for his father the token of victory and the congratulations of the Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Seagram followed the fine old custom of raising his silk hat to his champion as he took the white leading rein and brought Mandarin back through the cheering crowds around the judges' stand.

After being photographed Mr. Seagram was called to the judges' stand, where he was given a hearty handshake by Sir John S. Hendrie.

"I am very sorry your father was not here to receive the King's Plate," said Sir John in presenting the piece of plate and the certificate for the King's guineas. "It is an extreme pleasure to present it to him through you. Send him a telegram at once; it will be joyful news of a well-earned victory."

"On behalf of my father I accept the gift with a great deal of pleasure," replied Mr. Seagram. "I am only sorry my father was not here himself. I am sure when he hears that his three entries carried off the entire honors in the Plate race he will undoubtedly urge his physician to permit him to come from Waterloo to see Mandarin race before the close of the meet."

"Let us hope so," averred Sir John Hendrie.

The racing program for the opening day provided for all classes, young and old, on the flat and through the field, at long and short distances, and home and foreign-breds. From start to finish it was full of interest, beginning with Rancher's great display and winding up with Lady London's rattling finish that got her home just in the nick of time. To those who see racing at the Woodbine, Mr. Hendrie's Rancher, winner of the opening event, has the qualifications that go to mark a horse of class. He can run fast and he can run far. His last appearance here was when he won the Jockey Club Cup, two miles and a quarter, on the closing day of last season. And he came back to win the sprint race on the opening day this year from the best field of speedy horses at the track. The pace was very fast, the first three-eighths better than thirty-five seconds, and Squeeler was timed separately the half in forty-six seconds. Sir Edgar and Rancher followed him till it was time for the latter to make his move, and after he took the lead he was never in trouble in spite of the rattling finish of Water Lady, always a slow beginner.

All of the eleven two-year-olds in the Doncaster Plate went to the post, and another score was tallied for the Star Shoot filly Yellow Sally, owned by Mr. J. K. L. Ross of Montreal. She was close to the pace till she went into the lead in the stretch and stood a hard drive with great gameness, beating Blue Grass Belle about a length, with Cadillac and Bright Star almost head and head behind.

J. Lowenstein's Hocnir made every post a winning post in the Minto Selling Stakes, and was not headed after he took the lead going around the first turn. Eddie Henry and Brave Cunarder had a stout battle for second money, which the former landed by a head.

The Woodbine Steeplechase furnished the first appearance here of Hearts of Oak in a race over jumps, and his performance was a good one, though he was not able to beat Sun King. The latter, confidentily ridden by Fred Williams, waited in the rear division for a turn of the field, and then moved up, raced with Hearts of Oak until the Canadian-bred was at his limit and still could not hold the Garth horse. Frijolee ran well, but could not do better than third. H. G. Bedwell's Early Light fell at the club-house bank, and this was the only mishap of the race.

The William Mulock Cup was not a truly run race, though Fair Montague would probably have won it even had Jockey Guy Burns not caused a jam at the first turn that threw several horses out of their stride entirely. Splutter and Lady Curzon were the leaders around to the stretch, where the latter assumed command, only to lose it when Fair Montague came along with a courageous finish. He had her in close quarters for the last part of the journey, but was outrunning her. Hamptom Dame and the Giddings pair had little chance after the crowding at the first turn. For his rough riding Jockey Burns was suspended for the remainder of the meeting. This affair was a decided reversal of form for Burns, who ordinarily dodges difficulties instead of causing them.

After Casco, Irish Heart and Gentlewoman had made the running in the Carleton Plate, that closed the day's doings, Lady London came with a rush in the last furlong and beat the tiring Irish Heart a length. This race was governed by the claiming condition applied to all the runners, including the winner, which was not offered at auction.

Racing Calendar for May contains a list of 357 thoroughbreds imported in 1915 and 1916. Obviously this is a contingent sufficient to cut a big figure in American racing and breeding. The horses six years old and over are nearly all broodmares and stallions for stud service and are forty-six in number. In the racing forces there are now fifty-nine three-year-olds and 160 two-year-olds. There are also fifty-nine yearlings.

NEW YORK RACING.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Racing in New York State was off to an excellent start last Thursday, when the Metropolitan Jockey Club threw open the gates of the Jamaica course for a six days' session. Despite the fact that the fields have been small the sport has been first-class, and thoroughbred lovers in the section are anxiously awaiting the added impetus the sport will take when the Westchester Racing Association inaugurates its spring session at the spacious Belmont Park on Thursday.

The Jamaica meeting serves as an apertif to the Belmont session, when the pick of the horses in this country will clash for the many rich stakes offered. And Belmont Park, the most magnificent race course in the country, is a fitting spot to stage these struggles between the best of the thoroughbred world.

Two stakes of more than ordinary interest are down for decision during the coming week and both will be staged at the track of the Westchester Association. The Metropolitan Handicap, the one-mile feature of the opening day, holds a niche of its own in the memory of New York turf-goers, while the Juvenile Handicap, down for decision on Saturday, is one of the important two-year-old events of the year.

Chief interest will naturally center about the running of the Metropolitan Handicap, for which the leading stables of the East are pointing their stellar performers. From present indications about fifteen milers will parade in this event, and the contest for the major end of the purse should be a sharp one from flag fall to the final pole.

Jack Goldsborough is pointing Andrew Miller's Roamer for this stake, and despite the fact that he will carry the steadying impost of 132 pounds, the little gelding will undoubtedly rule the public choice.

The silks of August Belmont will be borne by Stromboli, the mature star of this establishment, and Friar Rock. Both have shown excellent trials for this classic and will make their first start of the season here. Of the two Friar Rock has shown the best works, and with a strong boy under his 100-pound impost should fairly fly.

Schuyler L. Parsons has nominated Phosphor and Sharpshooter. The first named horse has proven a disappointment in his early morning workouts, but Sharpshooter turned in an excellent mile trial on Saturday and appears the stable hope for the large end of the purse.

H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn demonstrated in the Kings County Handicap that he was fit and ready, but 120 pounds should steady this four-year-old. A. K. Macomber has the imported Star Hawk among the eligibles and there is an outside chance that this colt will start.

W. R. Coe will be represented by Hauberk, and if this gelding races to his recent work in blinkers he is sure to prove dangerous. Another outsider worthy of consideration is A. Garson's Half Rock, which has been burning up the Belmont track in his early trials. This colt is favored by an impost of 106 pounds and is a sure starter.

James Butler has several nominees, but will undoubtedly pin his hopes on High Noon or Pebbles. Both these four-year-olds have been going along nicely and are ready for a good effort. R. T. Wilson's silks will be sported by Tartar, while White Hackle has been going along in a way that indicates he will accompany Hauberk to the barrier. These horses are the best fancied of the field that will go to the post in the opening day's feature.

As a champion feature for the Metropolitan the New York Steeplechase is down for decision on the opening day, and from the many nominees an excellent field should result. This will be the first opportunity of the year for timber toppers to perform over the major tracks in this State, and the cross-country folk are preparing their charges for this and the many timber topping events that feature the Belmont meeting.

The steeplechase contingent has received many notable additions during the winter months and it will be a first-class field that lines up for the cross-country feature of the Belmont opening.

Youngsters of the first rank will make their bow in the Juvenile Stakes over the five furlongs route on Saturday. This classic holds a guaranteed value of $5,000 and is one of the big two-year-old stakes of the spring racing in these parts. Many juveniles are being pointed for this event, but of those that have sported silks Woodtrap is the best fancied of the eligibles. This Belmont representative turned in an excellent effort on the opening day at Jamaica and with the conditioning afforded by that contest he is sure to go well. There is no end of nicely bred and promising two-year-olds among the nominees, but Woodtrap has proven his worth.

The racing thus far in this State has demonstrated that the James Butler and August Belmont horses are fit and ready, and will undoubtedly account for many purses before the other thoroughbreds round to. Jack McCormack has brought his charges to hand early and the stable of the Yonkers turfman is sure to cut a wide swath in these parts before the 1916 racing curtain falls. Capra's condition won the Kings County Handicap for her, but she is undoubtedly a much better filly than last season.

He Will, the hero of the fall meetings in Maryland, has returned to his good form and the gelding is certain to be a stumbling block in the path of many of the mature stars in this section. He has plenty of speed, and the six furlong or mile route is his stronghold. Unfortunately, his next stake engagement of any importance is the Long Beach Handicap, and this will not be decided until the latter part of June. He has not been named for any of the Belmont Park stakes.

Horses that wintered in this section have accounted for an overwhelming majority of the races run, winning no less than twenty-one races. The Maryland tracks have contributed few performers of any merit, and a selling purse here and there will be their portion in the months to come. Not one good stake performer has come up from the South, for Slumber II. and Short Grass seem but a shadow of their former selves.

It is very early to form any judgment on the merit of the different horses in the East, as the real test will not come until the lengthy eighteen day session at Belmont Park. Here the best in the thoroughbred division will clash, and the next few weeks will see many turf stars flash across the sky.

Jacob Pincus, one of the oldest trainers of racehorses now living in this country, attended the races Saturday for the first time during the current season. When Iroquois was taken to England to win the English Derby in 1881 for P. Lorillard, Mr. Pincus went with him and trained him for the great race. Even then he was very far from being a young trainer. He still is hale and hearty and looks as if he might be for several years to come.

Matthew Allen, another trainer of long experience, although as yet far from being superannuated, was also a visitor at the track. When he and Pincus met in the paddock they engaged in a discussion of old-time horses and old-time races and pedigrees which vastly interested a number of turfmen of a later generation. The late Charles Littlefield, who died less than a year ago, something over eighty years old, was in the old times a jockey for Jacob Pincus, who gave him his first mount on a real racehorse.

John Davis, now living at Brighton Beach, is the only trainer of racehorses in America who antedates Jacob Pincus. He is said to be considerably above ninety, but he too is hale and hearty, and discusses the performances and individuality of such horses as Boston, Lexington, Wagner, Grey Eagle, Fashion, Lecompte, Black Maria and others of their generation as intelligently and with as much particularity of detail as do the present day trainers such thoroughbreds as Hamburg, Broomstick, Whisk Broom II., and other great ones which have raced within the past few years.

Trainer Charles Patterson, who has charge of the Johnson and Billings string of racehorses (most of which are imported) was in attendance. He says the valuable animals in his charge are doing well as far as bodily health is concerned, but that most of them are suffering from bucked shins. One of the largest and most promising colts, a big bay by Spearmint, which had shown fast trials early in the season, is now laid up with this annoying ailment, and the trainer cannot even guess how soon he will be ready for further training.

Trainer Patterson, who as trainer and owner of racehorses of high-class, has had extensive experience, expresses the opinion that in an indirect way the bad weather of the winter and spring is largely responsible for the prevalence of bucked shins among the two-year-olds of 1916. Trainers are naturally anxious to have their youngsters as forward as possible at the beginning of the season, and therefore instead of proceeding gradually with their preparation, they have hurried them forward while their legs were still tender and unseasoned, for the reason that the bad weather has rendered it impossible for them to properly season them.

"For several years," Patterson said, "I had a public stable in Memphis with a lot of two-year-olds in my charge every spring, but in all that time I never was bothered with a case of bucked shins. The winters there were such that I could keep working them along all winter and take all the time I wanted to season them. Last winter I was down at Curl's Neck, where as a rule the winters are so mild that two-year-olds may be worked every day, but during that time the weather was so exceptionally severe that I had no chance to season them gradually."

Wistful, James Butler's two-year-old chestnut filly, which won the first race Saturday, is by Mr. Madden's Star Shoot, and out of the Hamburg Place broodmare Witfull, by Mirthful, also bred by Maddon, but successfully raced by S. C. Hildreth. She is a golden chestnut, like her famous maternal grandsire, Mirthful, and also like her dam, Witfull, but not in this alone does she resemble her dam, for although possibly not quite as large, she bears a striking resemblance to her dam in conformation and general physical makeup. This was noticed by Trainer Hildreth and commented upon Saturday as the horses were leaving the paddock. and when Wistful rompted home an easy winner, he did not think the resemblance between the filly and her dam in any way lessened.

W. O. Joplin, well known in turf circles throughout the West where his horses gained most of their victories, was at Jamaica also. He was ill all last winter, and has not been able to get his horses ready as yet, but he has not retired from the turf.

Walter Jennings, who has charge of A. K. Macomber's valuable stable of imported thoroughbreds, attended the races Saturday. He attributes the lightness of the fields at Jamaica in part at least to the prevalence of bucked shins among the two-year-olds this spring.

"Of course," he said, "the matured horses are not suffering from bucked shins, but that ailment has put so many two-year-olds temporarily on the shelf that races for juveniles, which are popular with both the horsemen and the race-going public at this season of the year, have become very hard to fill with any kind of youngsters."

W. C. Daly (Father Bill) was a visitor at the track Saturday. He says he has one horse he thinks is a good one. Preston Burch also attended the races.

F. Obernier looked at the races from the clubhouse lawn and another spectator was Jack Barnett, who sold Flip Flap to George Langdon for $18,000.

SALE OF THORNCLIFFE HORSES.

TORONTO, CAN., May 22.—Nineteen head of horses from the Thorncliffe Stable were disposed of at auction at Woodbine this morning, Mr. Charles A. Burns wielding the gavel. The weather was all against a good attendance or warm bidding, and a number of bargains were obtained by purchasers, though on the whole, good prices were realized. The transactions were as follows:

FOR SALE BY PRIVATE TREATY.

Twelve choice, young brood mares, as finely bred as any that have ever been imported to the United States, have just been imported to New York by Mr. Irving H. Wheatcroft from his Stud in England and are for private sale.

Owing to the war, Mr. Wheatcroft has decided to reduce his Stud in England, and has selected a dozen of very beautifully-bred young English mares, which have just arrived at Edenwold Stud, Edenwold, Tenn.

GUY FORTUNE WINS JUVENILE STAKES.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 22.—J. Middleton & Co., who race in the nom de course of the Pastime Stable, placed the Juvenile Stakes worth $1,860 to their credit when their representative, Guy Fortune, got up in the last few strides to overhaul Nettie Walcutt after a sensational stretch sprint, in which the colt appeared a forlorn hope when he rounded the last turn. Nettie Walcutt outstayed May W., the early leader, for second place. Much was expected of High Gear and Fizer, but the former began running out at the first turn, which cost him considerable ground, and Fizer ran green and proved never formidable.

Hard rains of the night and early morning hours gave those racers with mud-running ability most opportunity, and it reduced the original card to evenly balanced fields. The sport was interesting and some of the finishes close and exciting.

The Fonso Handicap at a mile and a furlong, for a purse of $800, served as a secondary feature, and it resulted in a victory for Bayberry Candle, which, despite her severe usage in the Clark Handicap, showed all her old-time good form and led from barrier rise, beating the favorite, Embroidery, after a hard drive, Water Witch heading the others. Brynlimah's showing was disappointing. The race marked the first appearance this season of the former Kentucky Derby winner, Donerail. He retired from contention after going six furlongs, and will show to better advantage with more racing.

The form players got away in good style when they made Billy Joe favorite in the opener, and that racer won with ridiculous ease over Morristown and Mex.

E. R. Bradley's recent acquisition, Pomp, that he bought from H. P. Whitney, made good for him the first time when he headed eleven other maidens trying conclusions in the second race. Sweet Helen just managed to outstay Milbrey.

John W. Schorr's Dick Williams showed a return to his best form when he beat out a good band of sprinters that started in the third race. He had to be driven to his utmost to overhaul Pockichoo and Huffaker.

The victory of Hawthorn in the sixth race, after a tight fit with Ed Howard caused several of the Ed Howard disgruntled backers to voice a protest against the award. Hawthorn won clearly, through tiring badly near the end. Skiles Knob finished third, just overhauling Liberator. The latter, after showing good speed, might have been third had Shilling ridden him a bit more energetically near the end. J. B. Goodman, who acquired Liberator in his last start by the claiming route, advanced Hawthorn from entered price of $1,000 to $1,605, at which figure he was retained.

The backers of favorites went down with a dull thud when Samuel R. Meyer, an overwhelming choice, was outfooted by Irish Gentleman during the stretch sprint and accounted for the closing number. Harry Gardner, succeeded in getting up for third place after Impression had cut out most of the running.

Fred Goode this morning disposed of the two-year-old Lightfoot to R. P. Marshall, of Pittsburg, and has turned out the youngster Alexander at the Waldeck Farm.

W. R. Coe's good filly Jacoba will be a starter in the Kentucky Oaks next Saturday and arrives here from Belmont Park on Friday. She will be ridden by J. McTaggart, who will come on here from the East. She will, in all probability, be saddled and looked after for the race by J. O. Keene, who sold her to her present owner last summer at Saratoga for the reported price of $10,000.

Messrs. Price, Hopper and Ireland, who were the stewards at Latonia last Fall, held a meeting at Churchill Downs Saturday and, after considering the matter for several days, have terminated the suspension of Jockey R. Small. Small, it will be recalled, was suspended for an unsatisfactory ride on the horse Roscoe Goose at Latonia last fall, the race being won by Marion Goosby. Since that time Marion Goosby has won several stakes at New Orleans and has demonstrated that he is a much better horse than Roscoe Goose. The stewards taking this fact and other subsequent evidence into consideration have lifted Small's suspension. The jockey will now be required to make application to the Kentucky Racing Commission for a license to ride before he can resume saddle work.

The horses Joe Blair, Egmont and Red Cloud, automatically suspended when the owner, Philip Musgrave, got in trouble at Juarez last winter, were sold this morning to Kay Spence for a reported price of $4,000. They will be reinstated at the conclusion of the Churchill Downs meeting if Stewards Ireland, Shelley and Breivogel are satisfied with the transfer.

Starter Morrissey suspended Jockey Murphy for three days and fined him $50 additional for misbehavior at the post while in the second race. Jockey Davies was suspended for the rest of the meeting by the starter for disobedience at the post in the opening race.

George Wingfield, who races under the nom de course of the Nevada Stock Farm, purchased today the good sprinter Bank from Dr. I. E. Clark for the reported price of $6,000.

THE GRADER WINS FRANK FEHR STAKES.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 24.—Although James T. Looney's bay gelding, The Grader, won the Frank Fehr Selling Stakes, the feature event of today's programme at Churchill Downs, his victory availed his owner little in a monetary way as far as the purse was concerned, as he was advanced from his entered price of $1,000 to $2,405, at which figure he was retained by Trainer Will Young.

John Henry, former jockey, whose horse, Lady Rotha, finished fourth in the race, did the bidding. The race was worth $1,750 to the winner, $200 to the second and $100 to the third horse.

As the race was run The Grader demonstrated that he was much the best of the eight starters which contested for it, even though he got the verdict by only the margin of a neck over Grover Hughes. He came from far back and worked a rough journey through and around his field to get up and he finished on the outside. His sterling performance in the Clark Handicap last Saturday caused him to go to the post the choice at odds of 5 to 4.

Dark Flower and Impressive took turns at setting the early pace, but both soon showed that they did not fancy the journey of a mile in such company. Grover Hughes finally got to the front and held the lead by a slight margin until well into the stretch, when The Grader overhauled him. The latter did not get in the clear until after turning for home and then he fairly ran over horses.

Grover Hughes had no trouble holding second place safe from Gipsey George, as he was two lengths in advance at the end. Gipsey George also was the victim of a miserable ride, being taken all over the race track. Lady Rotha, with Jockey Roscoe Goose in the saddle, did not perform as well as was expected. She was well up part of the way and finished strong, but could not get in the money positions.

With the stake race for a feature, Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce provided an all-around good programme. In addition to this there were three events of $800 value and one $700 race on the card. All of these races drew classy fields to the post, and the two selling events that were carded were contested for by a good grade of platers. One of the selling races was a two-year-old event, in which fourteen maidens faced Starter Harry Morrissey.

Weather and track conditions were perfect for the sport, and an unusually large midweek crowd was out.

The Lookout Handicap, which was worth $800, for three-year-olds and upward, at six furlongs, fell to Conning Tower by the margin of a neck over Dr. Larrick, which beat Faux-Col a length and a half for the place. Conning Tower shouldered an impost of 122 pounds, but this did not shake the faith of the talent in him, and as a result he was an odds-on choice. He held sway in the early running, but Dr. Larrick headed him turning off the back side. Dr. Larrick held the lead until after passing the sixteenth pole, when Jockey Hugh Shilling rode with renewed vigor on Conning Tower and got him up. Five horses went to the post in this race. Lady Always and Noureddin were always outrun.

Before leaving Douglas Park at the conclusion of the coming meeting there Trainer Jack Adkins will send to Hal Price Headley's Beaumont Farm and bring here R. J. Mackenzie's famous horse, Buckhorn, and ship that noted performer with his string to Latonia, where he will again put the son of Broomstick into active training for racing. It is not likely that Buckhorn will do much racing until fall. Trainer Adkins may endeavor to race him once or twice at Saratoga, but the chief performing he will do this season will be on the Kentucky tracks next autumn.

Rossmore, by Mimic—May Fonso, won the Flying Handicap in Africa by two and one-half lengths last month. Rossmore was foaled at Elmendorf Stud in 1908 and sent to Argentine Republic in 1909.

GROVER HUGHES.

In these times when there is so much talk about the stamina or rather lack of stamina of our horses, one needs no better refutation to offer the would-be detractors of the present-day thoroughbred, than the racing career of that remarkable old campaigner, Grover Hughes. This good son of Handsel and Stamen has been raced continuously since he was two, and during this time he has met and defeated the best horses of each succeeding year. In fact, he has been a veritable gold mine to his fortunate owners. Grover Hughes won his initial start at two and he has kept up this winning habit ever since. He is now eight and yet we find him winning his first out at the recent meeting here. This race was the Phoenix Hotel Handicap, at a mile and seventy yards, won by eight lengths, with Bayberry Candle (which later broke the track record for a mile and a sixteenth, to beat the Derby winner, George Smith, a head) second, and such good performers as Brynlimah, Hank O'Day and Star Jasmine finishing unplaced. His next race this year was in the Brewers' Selling Stakes, at a mile, which event he won, going the distance in 1:38 4-5. He was then second to The Grader at a mile in 1:38 2-5, and again second in the Hindoo Handicap at Churchill Downs, Chalmers, Gipsey George, Prince Hermis, Ed Howard, Port Light and Checks finishing behind him. His next start at a mile, he won in 1:38 4-5. In his last race, the Frank Fehr Stakes, at a mile, run at Churchill Downs on Wednesday, he was beaten a neck by The Grader in 1:39 3-5.

Grover Hughes' owner, J. Umensetter, says he is as good as ever this year, which fact he has amply demonstrated and if nothing goes wrong with him, he may be expected to add many new laurels to his already brilliant career.

A recapitulation of Grover Hughes' racing shows that he has started one hundred and sixty-four times to date, been in the money one hundred and six times, with forty-five winning races, thirty-three seconds and twenty-eight thirds to his credit, truly a wonderful record.

RACING COMMISSION MEETS.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 23.—Provision for a race to be known as the Kentucky Gold Cup, to which the State Racing Commission will add a $1,000 gold cup, was made at the meeting of the turf governing body at Churchill Downs this afternoon. The event will be run annually on the track offering the largest sum. Conditions will be made by a committee composed of George J. Long, John Middleton, J. B. Respess, Hal Price Headley, T. C. McDowell, A. B. Hancock and T. H. Talbot, to be submitted to the Commission at its next meeting, June 3.

George W. Innes was restored to good standing by the Commission, and Jockey Robert Small was granted a license to ride for his contract employer, T. C. Bradley & Co. The official report of the meeting follows:

Upon motion duly seconded the jockey license of A. Palmer was tabled until time to further investigate. Upon the application for a trainer's license of J. Hogan, the action of the License Committee was upheld. Hogan had already been refused. The application for a jockey's license to J. Small was granted, to ride only for his contract employer, T. C. Bradley & Co.

"Upon motion duly seconded the following resolution was offered and passed:

"Resolved, That the following named gentlemen, to-wit, be accorded and requested to serve as a committee to make the conditions, including weights to be carried by horses contending for the race known as the Kentucky Gold Cup, to which the Commission shall add a gold cup costing $1,000, to be run upon the track adding the largest sum for same, and they are requested to meet on the third day of June at 11 o'clock at Douglos Park race track and to submit said rules and conditions. Programme books for the Douglas Park Jockey Club and the Latonia Agricultural Association for their coming meetings, were received, approved and filed.

RAISE THE PURSES.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Raise the purses or endure the slim fields is the ultimatum issued yesterday morning by a committee from the Eastern division of the Kentucky Horsemen's Association to Secretary Edwards of the Metropolitan Jockey Club. The latter official called in the committee to inquire the cause of the small entry lists elicited by the Jamaica cards during the first two days of the meeting, and the answer was as full and explicit as could have been desired.

The horsemen, through A. G. Blakeley, R. F. Carman, Emil Herz and Lawrence Casey, declared the present scale of purses offered by the Metropolitan Club was not sufficiently high to pay the expenses of maintaining racing establishments. Concrete examples of their assertions were pointed out in yesterday's card where, in both the third and fifth events, they said the winner's share of the purse, after deducting The Jockey Club's percentage and the jockey's fee, was exactly $282.50.

"That's the answer to the small fields," declared Mr. Blakeley yesterday afternoon at the track. "Raise the purses and you'll have no difficulty in getting the horses lined up at the barrier. A check for less than $300 to the winning owner on the Metropolitan circuit is rather ridiculous, and you can expect to see no change in the fields until the various stables are given a chance to earn their unkeep."

Asked as to the imminency of another strike such as featured the close the Havre de Grace meeting, Blakeley denied there was a likelihood of such a recurrence.

"No threats have been issued," he said. "The Metropolitan Jockey Club officials wanted an explanation of the paucity of entries and we gave it to them."

J. Claude Rodgers, Midway, Ky., reports a brown filly by Sweep out of Flaming Flamingo by Cesarion. Mare sent to Dick Finnell.

THE KENTUCKY OAKS.

The Kentucky Oaks, the classic race for three-year-old fillies on the American turf, will be run today the closing day of the present brilliant race meeting at Churchill Downs.

The event this season carried $2,500 in added money, of which $500 goes to the second and $300 to the third horse. This is the forty-second running of this great race, it being as old as the Kentucky Derby, having first been run off in 1875.

Many great fillies have earned Kentucky Oaks honors and as a result become regarded by breeders as of almost priceless value. The first Kentucky Oaks was won by Vinaigrette, a daughter of the famous Vandal. Bronzewing won the 1914 Oaks and Waterblossom was returned winner in 1915.

This season the Oaks closed with thirty-five entries and the eligibles embrace the best three-year-old fillies now in training. Among the probable starters in the stake this spring are Mandy Hamilton, winner of the Ashland Oaks at Lexington, a beautifully-bred English filly in the stable of Jefferson Livingston, and a daughter of the great English race horse John O'Gaunt; Jacoba, the best so far of the get of the noted Jack Atkin, which won the Spinaway Stakes at Saratoga last season; Kathleen, in George J. Long's string and a very smart two-year-old performer in 1915; Mary H., which won eight races last year and is already a good winner this season; Julia L., the star two-year-old of the Jockey Club Juarez meeting in 1915 and a stable companion of Mandy Hamilton; Little Sister, winner of the Debutante Stakes last year; Hansa, in H. P. Whitney's stable; Lady Always, Middleton & Jones' daughter of Peter Quince, which was a smart filly last year and is already a winner this season; and such other good performers of the sex and age as Beauty Shop, Dolina, Lucky R., Onota, Lady Worthington, Impressive and Moinen Star, the dam of which filly won this race herself in 1902. The weights in the Kentucky Oaks are 117 pounds, there being no penalty, but there are allowances in the conditions. The event has been a mile and a sixteenth since 1897. Bronzewing, the winner of the stake in 1914, holds the race record, 1:45 3-5.

The sale of five richly-bred two-year-olds from Hamburg Place to Walter Jennings for the already powerful Macomber Stable, was the subject of very general comment by owners and trainers in the paddock at Jamaica yesterday, says the New York Telegraph of May 24. The youngsters already have been transferred to Walter Jennings' training stable at Gravesend, but the horsemen who had looked over Mr. Madden's two-year-olds at Belmont before anything had transpired concerning the sale, expressed the highest opinion of them, both from the standpoint of individuality and breeding.

The discussion of this particular sale led to general comment upon the many big sales Mr. Madden has made from time to time since he put the first crop of youngsters from Hamburg Place on the market. It was remarked that John Madden was a wonderfnl salesman of thoroughbreds.

"It would be better to put it that he has been remarkably successful," remarked another of the group. "Good horses make good salesmen, just as they do good jockeys. Mr. Madden has been able to make many sales for good prices because he has had the goods. If he were in the habit of selling 'crocks' as English turfmen call them, his success as a salesman would not have lasted as it has."

Last year Mr. Madden sold Mr. Cochran thirty-eight yearlings in one bunch, and after the latter had made selections of those in the lot he and Trainer Midgley liked best, he sold off some dozen and a half or more for an average of about $1,100 each. Then, again, it may be remarked that out of the four races for two-year-olds which have been run since the opening of this meeting, three of them, including one stake, have been won by animals bred and sold by Mr. Madden, two of them having been sold to Mr. Cochran (including Wistful, which was bought by Mr. Butler from Mr. Cochran at New Orleans), and the other, Frankness, to R. T. Wilson. And all of these winners were by Mr. Madden's premier sire, Star Shoot.

The attention of American breeders and owners is called to the announcement of Robert Bunsow, who has been doing a large horse export business in England since 1895. Mr. Bunsow would be pleased to submit his sale list to any American horseman who is contemplating buying English stock.

LOCAL NOTES.

John S. Barbee has bought through Phil T. Chinn, the beautifully-bred imported mare, Primbutton, bay, 1911, by Bachelor's Button out of Gay Primrose by Victor Wild, next dam, Miss Primrose by Galopin; third dam Orontes II. by Ormonde. Primbutton was imported to this country last fall and is now in New York, from where she will be shipped immediately to Glen-Helen Stud.

John E. Madden, of Hamburg Place, has sold five two-year-olds in one lot to A. K. Macomber. As a matter of fact, these colts were picked out of Mr. Madden's band of forty thoroughbred two-year-olds by Walter Jennings when he was in Louisville, training Star Hawk for the Kentucky Derby, but Mr. Jennings was given time to think over the big purchase, and he also needed the approval of Mr. Macomber before closing the deal.

Last week Mr. Macomber looked over the youngsters carefully and critically, and concluded he liked the colts and the prices, and Monday Walter Jennings visited Belmont Park and closed the deal, so that the new purchases will be transferred from Belmont Park to Walter Jennings' stable at Gravesend immediately.

In view of the prices which Mr. Madden has been obtaining for the pick of his two-year-olds in the past few years, the purchase of these five looks like a big transaction, for in choosing the five for Mr. Macomber, Jennings had a band of forty from which to make his selections. Although the terms of the purchase were private, judging from the prices John E. Madden realized for some of the best yearlings at Hamburg Place last year, these five colts cost probably a snug fortune.

These colts are unnamed as yet, but their breeding is in the purple. The first is a brown colt, by Star Shoot out of Okitau by Planudes—Ondurdis by Kingston. Planudes, the sire of Okitau, was a royally-bred horse imported by Edward Corrigan. He was by St. Simon out of the great race mare, Lonely, by Hermit. Okitau is the dam of Conning Tower.

The second in the lot is a chestnut colt by Star Shoot out of Belle of Glendale by Sir Dixon out of Queen Regent by Regent. This, too, is a regally-bred colt and a particularly attractive individual.

The third is a chestnut colt by Star Shoot out of The Lady in Blue. This colt should have a rare inheritance of speed, for apart from his rich breeding on his sire's side, he has a dam rich in speed strains. The Lady in Blue was by that marvelous race horse and sire, Himyar (sire of Domino, Correction, etc.) and her dam was British Blue Blood, by Bendigo, and her second dam, Pleasaunce by Cremorne.

The fourth is a chestnut colt by Star Shoot out of Miss Granville by Yankee. This mare was a successful producer, her most brilliant performer being the famous gelding Little Nephew by Uncle. This colt was out in the same year as the sensational gelding Old Rosebud, which he met and defeated on two occasions although he also took second place to the fast son of Ivory Bells more than once. These two sons of Uncle stood out prominently among the two-year-olds of 1913, as especially brilliant performers.

The last of the quintette is a bay colt by Star Shoot out of Busy Maid by Meddler, second dam, Florrie by Hanover. To begin with, Walter Jennings picked out these five colts on their performances and individuality. In view of their breeding, however,, it would appear that he was by no means indifferent or careless about pedigrees when he was making his selections. The dams of some of them already have proven themselves highly successful producers.

John S. Barbee, Glen-Helen Stud, has sold to John Morris, who was acting for K. D. Alexander, of Spring Station, Ky., the brown mare Crossbun, 5, by Peter Pan—Lucy Cross, by St. Simon; 2d dam Verdigris, by Springfield. Crossbun was bred to Sweep this season.

As the date for the auction sale of the late Herman B. Duryea's French-reared thoroughbreds approaches it becomes more and more evident that the vendue is destined to prove one of the most important and memorable turf events of recent decades. It is, indeed, thoroughly safe to predict that every quarter of the American thoroughbred industry will be represented at the Belmont Park salesring today, for the occasion will furnish turfmen and breeders with a rare and most desirable opportunity to purchase thoroughbreds of the choicest breeding and highest racing promise.

On Saturday, June 3, will be decided the fourth renewal of the $15,000 Kentucky Handicap, at one mile and a quarter, for three-year-olds and upward at the Douglas Park track. The date set for the running of this event this season is the sixth day of the thirteen days' meeting at the course this spring, which begins on Monday, May 29, and ends on Monday, June 12. The starters in a race like the Kentucky Handicap are by the date of its running as nearly perfectly fit as it is possible for their trainers to make them, as they have the advantage of careful handling in the good weather during May, and in addition thereto the advantage of a preparatory race or two.

The Kentucky Handicap is now conceded to be the greatest race for three-year-olds and upward in all America. It annually has drawn out a field of most brilliant stars and been productive in every instance of a most sensationally run race.

Among the great racing stars that are being prepared by their trainers to run in the race this year are Regret, Waterblossom, Black Toney, Solly, Hanovia, Hank O'Day, Boots, Royal II., Brynlimah, Manager Waite, Prince Hermis, Bayberry Candle, Roamer, Marion Goosby, Buskin, Ed Crump, Raincoat, Hodge, Borrow, Celesta, Water Witch and such noted three-year-olds as Dominant, Thunderer, Bromo, Prince Harry, Dick Williams, Ellison, Bulse, Lena Misha, Old Koenig, Colonel Vennie, Gillies, Cosmic and Dr. Moore.

LEO SKOLNY WINS AZRA HANDICAP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 23.—In one of the most thrilling finishes of the meeting to date Leo Skolny, R. J. Mackenzie's five-year-old Star Shoot—Lady Alberta colt, won the Azra Handicap, the feature of today's racing card at Churchill Downs. Prince Hermis was only a nose behind the winner at the end, but the other horse ran as if he was the best, as he was off poorly and was taken around his field and finished on the outside. Chalmers was third, a length and a half behind Prince Hermis. The event was at six furlongs and the time for it was creditable, considering that the track was slow. Leo Skolny negotiated the distance in 1:13 1-5.

When the barrier went up Chalmers, as usual, was the first away, and he opened a long lead on Prince Hermis in the early running. Turning for home Chalmers began to show signs of distress, but he hung on in front until well into the stretch. For the first half mile Leo Skolny was far back, but after making the turn for home he began to move up, and he closed with a terrific burst of speed. Chalmers weakened badly near the sixteenth pole, and then the race to the wire between Prince Hermis and Leo Skolny began. When just a few yards from the wire Leo Skolny managed to get his nose in front, and he kept it there.

BLOODSTOCK SALE IN FRANCE.

The sale of thoroughbreds which took place at the Haras de Saint James on April 29 by M. Cheri Halbronn, was one of the most important held in France since the war broke out. The principal lots were those the property of the Duc and Comte Decazes, the latter of which noblemen laid down his life for his country not long ago. Several other sportsmen, including Vicomte de Fontarce and MM. Jean Joubert and R. Levylier, sent up horses for sale. The first lot, Princess Victoria (5 yrs.), by King James (sire of Jameson), made 1,150 francs to M. Maurice Lehmann, and afterwards Vicomte de Fontarce's Botticelli, Mich Mich, and Driss realized 1,900, 1,200, and 1,500 francs respectively. Offered without reserve, the two-year-old Battleaxe, by Rock Sand—Bethanie, by Le Samaritain, was bought by Mr. J. D. Cohn for 4,700 francs, but Brunor and Eglamour, the property of M. Jean Joubert, were retained at 29,500 and 15,000 francs respectively.

M. Conterie's Blue Dun was sold for 2,000 francs, but Red Quill (by Rabelais) was bought in at 4,000 francs. It was, however, when the bloodstock from the Haras du Mesnil came into the ring that business began to be really brisk. The first lot, Ambia II., made 6,000 francs, followed by Quel Amour at 6,300 francs. The three-year-old Blosseville, engaged in the Champion Stakes, Hardwicke Stakes, and Jockey Club Stakes, realized 16,500 francs to Commander Rannucci, who also took Sandy, by Santry, at 6,500 francs. The Sundridge three-year-old Nijinska, made 12,000 francs to Mr. J. D. Cohn, while Mr. Newton gave 7,000 francs, 16,000 francs, and 15,500 francs respectively for Ifold, Bachlyk, and Sweetie, the latter pair of which are by Bachelor's Button and William the Third.

THE FINN WINS METROPOLITAN HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, May 25.—The Metropolitan Handicap, the first big turf event of the Eastern racing season, was won at Belmont Park today by H. C. Hallenbeck's four-year-old black colt, The Finn, by Ogden—Livonia. The Finn, carrying 120 pounds, won by three-quarters of a length from last year's winner, Stromboli, with the top impost of 122 pounds. Spur, three lengths away, finished third with the rest of the field well strung out. Twelve horses ran, Grumpy being scratched and Gainer added. The time was 1:38, within one-fifth of a second of the record for this event. The distance was a mile.

The Finn was second choice in the wagering, the Belmont pair, Stromboli and Friar Rock, being the favorites. The value of the race to the winner was $3,350. Stromboli, though beaten, ran a remarkably clever race, considering the fact that his jockey, Butwell, used him up following the dizzy pace set from the start by High Noon. The first five furlongs were covered in 59 2-5 seconds.

The Finn, admirably handled by Jockey Schuttinger, broke slowly, but raced into a contending position in the first quarter. Turning into the stretch, High Noon's chances were disposed of by Stromboli, which took the lead there, but he did not have enough left to withstand the challenge of The Finn. The Hallenbeck horse drew away in the final drive to win by three-quarters of a length. Spur's was a first-class performance all the way and he beat Gainer, the added entry, a length and a half for third money with High Noon fifth and Slumber II. sixth. Friar Rock, Short Grass, Hauberk, Celandria, Indian Chant and Kingly finished as named.

The New York Steeplechase, the initial race through the field on the Metropolitan circuit this season, brought out some good timber-toppers and provided a thrilling race from start to finish. Marcellinus won it. The remainder of the card was composed of evenly-balanced fields and the big crowd cheered the winners heartily. The weather and track conditions were all that could be desired to make the opening an auspicious one, long to be remembered by racegoers.

J. O. Keene has shipped to George H. Strate, trainer of the Nevada Stock Farm Stable at Louisville, the mares Fairy, Whims and Polistena. The first-named two were mated to Luke McLuke. They are all to be sent to Butte, Mont., where George W. Wingfield, owner of the Nevada Stock Farm, has a number of other horses. The mares will go to the farm at Reno in a short time.

Wooden Shoes, a five-year-old son of Burgomaster and Breakdown, has been sold to the Marrone Stable by the Quincy Stable. The price was said to be $2,000.

The imported four-year-old colt Pinch, which raced in the colors of Grant Hugh Browne in the sixth race of Monday at Jamaica, was claimed by Mrs. Blakeley at $800.

Kathleen, b f, 3, by Sempronius--Boema, by Alvescot.
Jockey Roscoe Goose Up.

THE KENTUCKY OAKS GOES TO KATHLEEN.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 27.—In a manner that demonstrated that she far outclassed her field, Kathleen, George J. Long's three-year-old daughter of Sempronius—Boema, won the Kentucky Oaks, the feature of the closing day at the Churchill Downs race track today. The good filly never left the issue in doubt at any stage of the race, she always having a long lead, and the finish found her ten lengths in front of Mandy Hamilton, which beat Lady Always three lengths for the place. Five fillies contested for the race, Harry Payne Whitney being represented by an entry, Regina and Hansa, but they both performed poorly and brought up the rear.

Jockey Roscoe Goose put up one of his usual excellent rides on Kathleen, and he took no chance with her. Away from the barrier like a flash, he moved her into a commanding lead, and the farther she went the farther she increased it. In the early running Regina was closest to her, with Hansa next and Mandy Hamilton bringing up the rear. Making the turn off the back stretch, however, the Whitney pair began to show signs of distress, while Kathleen was running easy.

Turning for home the Whitney representatives dropped out of it altogether, and Mandy Hamilton and Lady Always began to move up at a rapid gait. Mandy Hamilton was the class of these two, and she had no trouble taking the place. The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was not fast, 1:47 2-5, and Kathleen could have run much faster had she been urged.

The victory of Kathleen was a popular one, as her owner, George J. Long, is a Louisville man, as are Trainer Pete Coyne and Jockey Roscoe Goose. Mr. Long was formerly a member of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, and is the owner of the Bashford Manor Farm near this city. This marked his first stake victory in a long while.

Although Regina had beaten Kathleen by a narrow margin in a previous start in a six-furlong race, it was plain to be seen at that time that the latter was by far the better horse, and the form players evidently thought so today, as Kathleen was the choice at odds of 11 to 20.

The closing day of the Churchill Downs racing found the second largest crowd of the meeting on hand, and Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce gave the patrons of the course something to wax enthusiastic over in the way of a card. The weather and track conditions were ideal when the racing began, but immediately after the running of the Kentucky Oaks a high wind, which threatened for a time to assume cyclonic proportions, came up, and there was a general scattering in the packed grandstand and on the lawns. The wind died out, however, when it began to rain a few minutes later. The sixth race was run in the rain.

Jefferson Livingston's English-bred Royal II. and T. C. McDowell's crack Waterblossom staged a battle in the Baden-Baden Handicap, at a mile and a furlong, that thrilled the big crowd as no other race at the meeting has done. Royal II. triumphed, but only by a few inches, and in the last stride, after a stubborn drive, in which Goose, who had the mount on him, had to display his best wares. The McDowell filly was by no means disgraced, as she conceded Royal II., seven pounds oy actual weight and twelve by the scale. The time, 1:51 1-5, lowers the former track record, held jointly by Gowell and Ed Crump.

The Kingman Handicap, for sprinters which also had $1,000 added, enabled Chalmers to come into his own, for he achieved a brilliant victory in fast time over Hawthorn and Bringhurst, after having led for the entire trip. Bringhurst went disappointingly, and was led by the first two for the entire trip.

The first race, a selling affair at six furlongs, for three-year-olds and up, was won by Amazon, with Jockey Goose in the saddle. Amazon had to be hard urged all the way and was lucky in saving much ground, but held on gamely in the final drive and won by a length from Ed Howard, which was second. Kleburne showed good form and finished third. He was going fast at the end. Ed Howard, away forwardly, ran as if the best of the bunch and might have won but for running out at the stretch turn. After the finish of the race Miller Henderson advanced the winner from an entered price of $1,300 to $2,505, at which figure she was retained. Jockey T. Hunt, who had the mount on Brooks in this race, was given an indefinite suspension for getting his horse away so poorly.

Tom, Jr., by Dick Finnell—Octavo, a first time starter, put up a good performance and finished in front of the youngsters that started in the second race. He assumed the lead at the stretch turn and was under the wire a winner by three lengths in front of Jovial, which finished second a neck in front of Cheer Leader, which landed in third position.

Conning Tower failed to last it out in the sixth race, which was won by Solar Star. Conning Tower, as usual, showed high early speed, but he weakened badly in the stretch. Solar Star was restrained off the early pace, and had plenty of speed in reserve when Jockey Frank Murphy called on him in the stretch. John Gund, which finished third, ran a good race all the way.

Guide Post proved much the best of those engaged in the seventh race, and she justified the confidence the form players placed in her when they made her a 9 to 20 chance. She was in second position most of the way, while Pan Handle was setting the pace, and when the latter began to tire turning off the back stretch she took command and was never thereafter in danger. Pan Handle lasted long enough to get the place position by half a length from Louise Paul. Queen Apple was always a contender, but she weakened a trifle in the final running.

Jockey Roscoe Goose again was very much in the limelight today, he piloting four winners, including Kathleen, winner of the stake. The others he scored with were Amazon, Royal II., and Guide Post.

There was not a race on today's card worth less than $700, and the total distribution for the day was the second largest of the meeting, Derby Day being the exception.

Of the great spring meeting of thirteen racing days which closed today, Manager M. J. Winn, said: "The meeting at the Downs this spring eclipsed all records from every standpoint. In my opinion the attendance on Derby Day was closer to 60,000 than to 50,000, which was the number estimated by the daily papers. I have based my calculations of the crowd by actual figures, and the only guess in this way comes from the mass of people that occupied the free field, and, of course, such a crowd cannot be positively estimated without a turnstile to register these people as they pass through to the gate.

"The Kentucky Derby this year was by odds the greatest in the forty-two years running of the rich event, though Old Rosebud's time was not lowered by the winner, George Smith.

"Next season, as great as the Derby was this spring, judging by the good two-year-olds showing up throughout the country, the event will be even more brilliant. There are also many more importations among the two-year-olds this year than was the case last season, and the 1917 event will be more international in character than it was this year. It has always been my hope as manager of the Downs track to see the day when the Kentucky Derby would draw 100,000 people to the course. Judging by the immense crowd this season and the increase in annual attendance since I have been manager of the plant on Derby Day, I really believe now the day is not far distant when my dreams in this respect will all come true."

DOUGLAS PARK OPENING.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 29.—Under adverse weather and track conditions, which caused the feature race, the Highland Park Handicap, as well as the next event in importance to it on the programme to be called off, Douglas Park opened its gates for the 1916 spring season this afternoon. A crowd of large proportions journeyed to the Beechmont course for the opening, and although Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce was forced to put on two substitute races for the two declared off, he provided a good card, even though five of the seven events were run under selling conditions. With the calling off of the races in question there was nothing on the card that could be classed as a feature.

Local records for big prices in the pari-mutuel machines were broken in the seventh race when Welga, which won the event, paid $560.40 for a $2 straight ticket. There were thirteen $2 straight tickets on Welga and one $5 straight ticket. The holder of the latter received $1,401 for his $5 investment.

The early morning rains turned the track into a veritable quagmire, but it dried out rapidly, especially near the inner rail, as the afternoon wore on. Luckily no rain fell during the afternoon, and the going should be good tomorrow if the elements do not pour forth again.

General Manager John Hachmeister had everything in readiness for the reception of his patrons, and the numerous improvements made at the course under his direction were the subject of much favorable comment.

The sport was highly interesting, though the different finishes could not be termed close. Favorite players started out in auspicious fashion when they selected J. O. & G. H. Keene's youngster Petrovna as the likely one to land the purse, and she made good over Rosewood after a mild drive. Fan G., a first-timer, showed good form to overhaul the others for third place during the stretch drive. Samuel R. Meyer was an outstanding choice in the second race, the first substitute affair, at one mile and having an $800 value. He was at home in the going and led for the entire trip, though in the earlier stages he had to be hustled to shake off Sauterelle. The latter beat out Harry Gardner for the place. Cash On Delivery was expected to be a prominent factor in the race, but he showed nothing and was hopeless from the start.

Trappoid was considered a good thing in the third race, in which fillies met, but she was never seriously formidable, though she suffered interference at frequent periods. Mary H. after plodding along until the last quarter, picked her field up at this point and won handily over Red Cross and Sister Susie.

Sosius and Billy Joe were given the call in the six furlongs $800 substitute, but both succumbed in ready fashion to Skiles Knob, which was away from the barrier fully in his stride and proceeded to assume a lead big enough the others could not overcome. Billy Joe outstayed Sosius in the final drive.

A. L. Kirby's good colt Dr. Tuck was the offender in the fifth race, his defeat being mainly attributable to bad racing luck. Evelyn V., the winner, showed a sterling performance at that to score over him, and she can be rated above the ordinary.

Shyness was regarded with much favor in the sixth race, and she made good handily enough, leading for the entire trip, with Hard Ball offering the most serious contention for the entire trip. She won well in hand, Hard Ball outstaying Irish Gentleman for second place. After the finish Shyness was advanced from an entered price of $500 to $1,205, and retained.

Jockeys Hugh Shilling and Chris Kirschbaum were each suspended for three days by Starter Harry Morrissey for disobedience at the post in the fifth race.

Upon only two previous occasions in the history of racing in Kentucky have better prices been paid on a winner than that which holders of $2 tickets on Welga, winner of the seventh race today, received. She paid $560.40, odds of $279.20 to 1. Wishing Ring and Muzetta W. are the only others which paid longer prices than this.

At Latonia on June 17, 1912, Wishing Ring paid $1,885.50 for a $2 straight ticket, $644.60 for a $2 place ticket aand $172.60 for a $2 show ticket. This set an American record for a big pay-off. Prior to this the American record was $830.70 for a $2 straight ticket, which was what the backers of Muzetta W. received at Lexington, Ky., on May 7, 1910. The price on Welga today was the longest in the history of the two local tracks, Jack Parker holding the record previous to this. The price against him was $411.50 for a $2 straight ticket in a race he won on May 13, 1911, which was a Derby Day.

Other recent notable pay-offs on the $2 mutuels in Kentucky were V. Powers at Latonia November 3, 1911, $279.30; Henry Walbank at Latonia October 27, 1910, $211.40; Charles F. Grainger at Churchill Downs October 20, 1910, $204.30; Silver Bill at Lexington May 2, 1913, $413.30, and Misty Morn, Douglas Park, May 23, 1914, $296.60.

Welga is a three-year-old filly by King James-Wealth. Holders of tickets on her today are of the opinion that the name of her dam would be more appropriate for her. She is owned by J. P. Jones, and her owner did not even have a "sympathy wager" on her today. As a two-year-old last year she started nineteen times, was three times first, four times second and out of the money her other twelve starts. She won $1,335 in purses all told.

Solly and Dreamsome were removed this week from the Kentucky Association course to the farms of their owners, Solly going to Senator Johnson N. Camden's place in Woodford County, and Dreamsome to J. Hal Woodford's farm in Bourbon County.

H. C. Hallenbeck's Metropolitan Winner, The Finn.

CHALMERS WINS MEMORIAL HANDICAP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 30.—Showing phenomenal speed over a drying-out track, and having a length and a half to spare at the finish, Chalmers, Joe Hawkins' four-year-old son of Peter Quince—Lady Hope, won the Memorial Handicap, the feature of the holiday racing card at Douglas Park, today. Seven horses contested for the stake, which was over the six furlong route, Blind Baggage finishing second three lengths in advance of Leo Skolny. The time hung out by the official timer was 1:13, but private timers caught it much faster, some of them catching it in 1:12. Chalmers set a dizzy pace, running the first quarter in :22 3-5 and the half mile in :46 1-5.

The race was worth $2,505 to the first horse, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth, which was Fleuro, saved nomination and starting fees, which amounted to $65.

When the barrier was released Chalmers dashed into a long lead, which he increased until he was six lengths in front of his nearest opponent, which was Blind Baggage. After turning into the stretch he had a lead of five lengths, and Jockey Frank Murphy eased him up toward the end. Blind Baggage was always closest to him, and the way the race was run was easily the best of the others. Leo Skolny, which finished third, was shuffled back in the early running and came with a good rush after turning for home. Gipsey George and Fleuro both showed early speed, but they were in too fast company. Dick Williams was off last and never could get up.

By his victory today Chalmers demonstrated that at the present time he is one of the best sprinters in the country, and he has more early speed than a majority of them. His first quarter of a mile in today's stake was the fastest in Kentucky this spring, and the fact that he ran so fast over a slow track makes his race all the more remarkable.

Memorial Day drew out a banner attendance to the Beechmont course, and again Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce had a good card arranged for the patrons of the sport. With the stake as the headliner, and a purse affair at a mile for three-year-old colts and geldings next in importance on the card, he arranged a programme of five other races, all of which proved highly interesting, and several of which resulted in close finishes.

In the purse affair, which was the fifth on the card, Old Koenig, owned by the Beverwyck Stable, won his third race of the Kentucky season to date, when he scored by a neck over Ellison. Old Koenig led every inch of the mile journey, but he had to be ridden out to the limit to beat Ellison. At that Old Koenig's time for the mile was good, 1:40 2-5. King Gorin made an effort to keep up with Old Koenig in the early running and this cost him one of the money positions, as he tired in the stretch. Ellison was nursed along off the pace by Jockey Guy Garner, and when he was let out he responded with a good rush. Colonel Vennie also finished strong.

The halter brigade was again active during the afternoon and attention was given Brizz and Syrian, the winners of the second and sixth races, respectively. The former was bid to $1,005 and retained, and Syrian was carried from an entered price of $1,000 to $1,605, at which figure he was bought in. Both were bid up by J. Henry, W. Hurd assisting in the last run-up.

Following Transit's defeat in the sixth race, two claims for him were made by Hurd and Shafer and Mrs. J. Shilling. The latter got the Baker horse in the draw and secured a bargain for $980, the amount it required to get him.

A GREAT MARE.

Among the notices of the death of La Fleche, there of course appears the statement that she was a failure at the stud. People have heard this so often that they have come to believe it, and I suppose it will be repeated as long as interest in bloodstock breeding remains, but it is untrue all the same. It may be said correctly enough, that La Fleche had an unlucky stud career, inasmuch as her best stock were prevented from doing themselves justice, but no one can pretend that John o' Gaunt and Baroness La Fleche were not in the very highest class; indeed, Rock Sand was lucky to beat the filly by a head at Ascot, when Martin, who rode her, took the blame of her defeat on himself and declared that Rock Sand would never beat her again. The vicissitudes of John o' Gaunt form a familiar story, and he was really the best colt of his year, but cursed with the most villainous bad luck. There were several other winners out of La Fleche, and her daughter, Sagitta, has proved to be a good brood mare. Opinions differ as to which was really the best daughter of St. Simon. Some good jedges swear by Signorina, and I have heard the late John Watts declare his belief in Memoir, as having been superior to her sister, La Fleche. This may possibly have been so, but on the principle of judgment by results, we are, I think, bound to give the award to La Fleche, which won a Cambridgeshire and an Ascot Cup, besides her classic races. That she was a very great mare is certain, but at the same time she was not so good as her stable companion, Orme, as was proved to demonstration twice over when they were four years old. Nevertheless, while La Fleche has been placed on a pinnacle of fame by turf enthusiasts, they have never given Orme his due, though they all rose at him when he struggled home for his first Eclipse Stakes.

It was Memoir and La Fleche that first gave the idea of combining St. Simon or Galopin blood and Musket, and the Duke of Portland was no doubt acting on that idea when he purchased Carbine to mate with the Welbeck mares. Carbine, however, scored his greatest successes with mares devoid of St. Simon or Galopin. Wallace, Wargrave and Spearmint are cases in point. He sired a good horse, however, Carabine, from a St. Simon mare, and the reverse cross of St. Simon on Musket has again and again "made good" since the time when Bill of Portland went to Australia, to be followed by other Galopin and St. Simon horses, notably Grafton, which was himself out of a half-sister to La Fleche. The St. Simon horses, Positans and Simmer, did excellently well with this system of mating; so, too, did Haut Brion, but as yet the cross of Musket on St. Simon or Galopin has not been sufficiently tried to let us judge of its full effect. Probably Spearmint and Torpoint will before long give us something really worthy of this blood and combined character. La Fleche's son, John o' Gaunt, has done enough for fame if Swynford should be his only great son, and it is very evident that Swynford himself will do great things as a stallion; so not improbably may Bowman, whose dam, Sagitta, is a sister to John o'Gaunt, and whose sire, Chaucer, is half-brother to Swynford. The fame of the old mare is, therefore, not likely to die out, especially as there is another line of her through Baroness La Fleche to maintain the family. These have not as yet done quite as well as might have been hoped, but there is time enough yet.

It was after slipping twins to, I think, Ladas, seven or eight years ago that La Fleche went wrong, and did not breed again, but she had up to that time been a much better brood mare than her sister, Memoir, which was a very shy breeder indeed. What a beautiful yearling La Fleche was! I remember her very well at the old Hampton Court Stud, and I then wrote about her that if anybody could buy her privately for four thousand guineas and take his chance of a profit at the sale he would find it profitable business. So he would have done, for she made five thousand six hundred guineas, and would have made more had not a cable from the late Mr. Marcus Daly to buy her arrived too late. Two years before that Memoir and Sainfoin had been sold as yearlings at the same stud, which never had more than about eighty acres of land, and was crowded with bloodstock year in and year out. Yet I think no stud has ever reared a Derby and Oaks winner for sale on the same day. Nor was La Fleche the last of the Mohicans, for the year following her they sold Best Man and also Sierra, the dam of Sundridge. It is a great pity that this stud was then dispersed, when at the very zenith of its prosperity, but its extraordinary success should always prevent us from dogmatizing too freely about horse-sick pastures, limestone land, and so forth.

FRIAR ROCK SCORES IN SUBURBAN.

NEW YORK, May 30.—For the third time in the history of the Suburban Handicap, which had its first running in 1884, it was won by a three-year-old today. August Belmont's Friar Rock, the chestnut son of Rock Sand and Fairy Gold, was the one to add his name to the glorious roster of a race that has never been won by a bad horse. Two lengths back of him Emil Herz's English horse, Short Grass, took the place, and three lengths further away came Stromboli, a stablemate of the winner, and the horse to win the same race last year.

There were 50,000 persons on the lawns, in the stands and grouped in the infield, and not for many years has there been a like enthusiasm at the finish of a race. Mighty cheers went up for the colt as he led home the older horse, while not a few were cheering Short Grass lustily for the magnificent run he made through the stretch in an effort to snatch victory from defeat.

H. C. Hallenbeck's The Finn, victor over Stromboli in the running of the Metropolitan, was the one to finish fourth, and he was right at the tail of Stromboli. Ten lengths back Sharpshooter, under the silks of Schuyler L. Parsons, and making his first start of the season, was fifth, and W. R. Coe's Hauberk was last, two lengths further away.

This was not the only Belmont success of the day, for at the end of the program his good filly Malachite won her second race of the year when she scored very easily from four other fillies over the five and a half furlong distance.

The International Steeplechase resulted in one of the most sensational races ever seen through the field and it was won by Thomas Hitchcock's Brentwood after a heart-breaking battle with the Greentree Stable's English jumper Marcellinus. The Searington, a high-weight handicap at six furlongs out of the chute, marked the first victory of the season for Schuyler L. Parsons when Hanson was the winner over August Belmont's Fernrock. A claim of foul came out of this running when Haynes, who rode Fernrock, charged that Hanson had crossed his mount and interfered with him. The winner did cross Fernwick when well inside the last sixteenth, but at the time he was clear and there was no occasion for changing the order of the finish.

In the opening race Basil, a son of Voter and Mintcake, beat rather a nice lot of two-year-olds over the four and a half furlong distance and the other race of the day was a six-furlong affair for selling platers that went to Presumption, from the stable of James MacManus.

It was a remarkable day of racing and not since the time when the sport was on the crest wave of success has there been anything approaching the enthusiasm that was manifested by the tremendous crowd.

There was a hope that Andrew Miller's Roamer would be an added starter in the Suburban, but when Trainer Goldsborough brought him out at 2 o'clock, with Butwell in the saddle, and worked him a mile and a quarter it was known that he would not go to the post. It was a trial for his race in the Kentucky Handicap, to be run at Douglas Park, Louisville, Saturday and after he had covered the distance in 2.06 preparations were made for his shipping and he is on his way to Kentucky now.

Then C. J. Brockmiller's selling plater Grumpy was scratched and it left just an even half dozen, with two of them appearing under the Belmont silks—Friar Rock and Stromboli.

The Finn was one of the first to appear on the track for a warming up gallop and he was accompanied by a pony. After he had been breezed through the stretch at a moderate pace he was jogged completely around the track. Short Grass was sent along in a real smart warm-up and the others were jogged but not asked to step very fast.

As the parade started for the post it was observed that Trainer Hildreth had decided to use blinkers on Friar Rock. He had not worn them in the Metropolitan, and the fact that he was returned the winner would make it appear that blinkers are an important part of his equipment. In fact, every horse in the field with the exception of Short Grass wore blinkers.

No time was lost after the field had jogged slowly to the backstretch chute, where the mile and a quarter start is situated. As the barrier was released Stromboli was first to show his nose in front, with Hauberk second, Sharpshooter third, The Finn fourth, Friar Rock fifth and Short Grass last, but they were all so closely lapped that it was a hard matter to pick them out.

The lightly-weighted Hauberk quickly raced away from Stromboli as Haynes took hold of the Belmont five-year-old when he had him well in his stride. McTaggart permitted Hauberk to step right along, and he quickly opened up a lead of a couple of lengths. In the meantime Friar Rock, also a light-weight, rushed around on the outside and, taking the place of his stablemate, Stromboli, he was in second place. Stromboli, in turn, was just showing in front of Sharpshoter, while three lengths further away came Short Grass and The Finn.

Schuttinger was riding a waiting race on the Hallenbeck colt with the very evident intention of conserving his energies for one run through the long stretch. He was carrying 127 pounds, and it would seem suicidal to try to keep step with the lightweights so early in the running.

Through the backstretch Hauberk continued to set a merry pace, but he could not successfully shake off Friar Rock and, after rounding the turn and heading for the stretch, the Belmont colt ran over him and went into command himself. He was racing so very strongly that Garner let him run, but at the same time kept a snug hold of his head. Stromboli was still in third place and it was apparent at that stage of the running that he could go to Hauberk at the first asking.

Swinging for home Friar Rock was well clear of his field and Stromboli was close enough to make it appear that the Chairman of The Jockey Club would be both first and second at the finish. Sharpshooter was unable to improve his position and it was evident that Hauberk had shot his bolt and was all through.

Then as The Finn and Short Grass swung around the last corner it was seen that they were not through by any means. Schuttinger had the black colt on the outside, while the big bay had made a closer turn and he was thundering along in a manner that made certain he would at least run over most of those in front of him. First the cry went up for The Finn and then it changed to Short Grass as the black faltered slightly while the big English horse continued to close.

But Friar Rock had no intention of surrendering his lead. He was a very fit colt, and though Garner had taken him to the front comparatively early in the running he had kept plenty in reserve. Inside the final furlong Short Grass had raced by Stromboli and he continued to draw up on Friar Rock, but right at the end Garner shook up the son of Rock Sand and he came away again, to win with something to spare by two lengths.

By this magnificent run through the stretch Short Grass very readily took the place from Stromboli by by three lengths, and The Finn was right at the tail of the English horse.

It was a cleanly run race and Friar Rock had scored a well-earned victory. True, he carried a lighter weight than had ever before been carried to victory in a Suburban, but he stamped himself as a really first-class colt, and the fact that Africander, which won the Suburban in 1903, and Fitz Herbert, which won in 1909, were the only other three-year-olds to be returned winners made his performance an altogether remarkable one.

Fairy Gold, the dam of Friar Rock, is a mare for which Mr. Belmont paid $18,000, and she has been one of the most successful of the Nursery matrons. She is a daughter of Bend Or and Dame Masham by Galliard, and two of her notable colts are Fair Play, himself a high-class stock horse now, and Flittergold. She is in foal to Trap Rock.

After the running of this Suburban it was announced by the Westchester Racing Association, which has taken the race over from the Coney Island Jockey Club, that next year it will have an added value of $5,000 instead of the $2,500 that was added to today's running. Thus racing is coming back to its own in New York.

SEVEN MONTHS RACING.

NEW ORLEANS, LA., May 31.—While many local business men do not look with favor upon the plans of Curley Brown to establish another race track on a tract of land in Jefferson Parrish, just across the boundary line from New Orleans and within a stone's throw of the famous old Oakland race track, Brown and his friends here, especially Harry S. Gerson, Vice President and General Manager of the Home Builders' Company, who is negotiating with Brown for purchase of the land, say that Brown does not intend to fight the New Orleans Business Men's Racing Association and will not conflict with it in its dates.

His idea is to run from November 1 of each year to December 31. He will stay closed until March 15, then open and run until May 15. In this way Brown plans to give New Orleans continuous racing, or seven months of it.

KING EDWARD HOTEL CUP WON BY RAINCOAT.

TORONTO, CANADA, May 27.—This morning's early rain made a muddy track at Woodbine for the final day of the spring meeting, and was responsible for the reduction of the field in the King Edward Hotel Gold Cup race to four starters, the withdrawals being the probable choices of the race, Rancher and King Hamburg. None of the other races suffered from scratching on account of the changed footing, and the two-year-old stake had one more starter than the card showed, Yellow Sally being added, while all the others stayed in. The sky was threatening, but no rain fell after the early hours of the morning until after the last race was run, and an unexpectedly large crowd saw a good day's racing.

Between Us ran off with the first race in the absence of Outlook, and Kootenay was not able to get dangerously close when he made his effort. This was the second purse of the meeting to go to an Ottawa owner, the Ottawa Stable's Gentlewoman having scored earlier in the week. Between Us is owned by Mr. J. Lumsden of Ottawa.

First and third money in the Canadian-bred two-year-old race were earned by Mr. Seagram's representatives, Belle Mahone and Sturdee. The winner is by Ypsilanti II., and Sturdee is a son of Havoc and the English mare, Kate Kittleberry. He is not much of a workhorse, and is not as far on in condition as Belle Mahone. Later in the season he should be better than the filly. The Brookdale Stable's Pax, which split them on Saturday, came very strong in the stretch, but tired before reaching the leader. When Ben Quince won the last race and was offered for $600 there was no response. Not a single bid was made in a selling race at the whole meeting, and only one claim, that of H. G. Bedwell, for Ask Ma.

The two-year-old stake was well worth winning, having $2,500 added, and not only did the thirteen carded starters stay in, but Lieut. Ross added Yellow Sally. She had to carry 119 pounds, top weight, and just failed to do it and win. It was a two-horse race throughout. Yellow Sally took an early lead, and was not headed until the closing strides, when Manokin got up in time to beat her by one of the narrow margins that had been so frequent during the week. The race was worth $2,315, and the irony of the occasion lies in the fact that Capt. Presgrave, trainer of Yellow Sally, made a present of Manokin to Mr. Bedwell as a yearling. On Saturday the gift horse came back and beat him for the most valuable event for which Yellow Sally was eligible.

The useful Raincoat could hardly be classed as a cup horse, but over a considerable distance of muddy ground it takes a pretty good horse to beat him. Today the going was just to his liking, and the opposition was not such as to outclass him. He was outrun for three-quarters of a mile, as is always the case, but closed ground like a lion, and was lucky that Jockey Warrington swung wide into the stretch with the leader, Achievement, in order to get better footing. This let Raincoat come in right on the rail, and saved him enough ground to win the race by, as Achievement was only beaten by a nose. The success of the consistent black horse was very popular, and his spectacular stretch run was cheered all the way. The cup was presented by the Vice-President of the club, Sir Lyman Melvin Jones, to Trainer Howard Oots, who promised to have another try for it next year.

Appropriately enough, Sir John Hendrie won the William Hendrie Memorial Handicap, which was probably the race of the whole meeting that he desired to win. Splutter went into an early lead, and though Lady Curzon threatened for a time the Martimas horse always held her safe, and finally won by a couple of lengths in pretty easy fashion. Fair Montague is wrongly gaited to make a success of racing in the mud, and never could get near the contenders.

Handrunning was withdrawn from the steeplechase on account of the death of Capt. Rockwell's brother, who was an aviator in the United States Army.

Most of the horses which raced at Woodbine will continue at the Dorval and Blue Bonnets meetings, though some go direct to Ottawa, and others will not start again until Hamilton.

THE "NEW DERBY" WON BY A FILLY.

LONDON, ENGLAND, May 30.—The substitute for the Epsom Derby, called the "New Derby," was run at Newmarket today and was won by E. Hulton's chestnut filly Fifinella, by Polymelus—Silver Fowl. Mr. Fairie's bay colt Kwang-Su, by Cicero—Galicia was second and John Sanford's bay colt Nassovian, by William the Third—Veneration II. was third. Ten horses started. The prices against the three placed were 5 ½ to 1 on Fifinella, 3 to 1 on Kwang-Su and 5½ to 1 on Nassovian.

Fifinella is the sixth filly winner of the Derby, the others being Eleanor in 1801, Blink Bonny in 1857, Shotover in 1882, Signorinetta in 1908 and Tagalie in 1912. She was considered the best two-year-old in England last year, being rated eight pounds better than the best of the colts in the official Free Handicap, but was unexpectedly beaten by Lord Derby's filly Canyon in the One Thousand Guineas, May 5. Her success in the Derby gave Mr. Hulton his first triumph in any of the five classics. Mr. Sanford's Nassovian again ran to the same position he gained in the Two Thousand Guineas and again was beaten by Kwang-Su, which is a half-brother to the celebrities Lemberg and Bayardo.

SALE OF THE ELLERSLIE YEARLINGS.

Durland's Riding Academy, New York, will present a busy scene next Tuesday night when the Powers-Hunter Company will conduct the sale of the Ellerslie yearlings, the property of Arthur B. Hancock. The first of these future racers is scheduled to pass under the hammer at 8:30 o'clock. The sale is one of the most important of the year and will attract horsemen from every section of the country.

Celt is the leading sire represented, while Ballot, Sain, Glorifier and Marathon have also sent yearlings to this sale. Nineteen of the future racers are by Celt and all are out of well-bred mares. In this lot is the first foal of Follie Levy, a good winner over the Eastern tracks and a mare of great speed. The first of her progeny is a brown colt.

Celt and Network have sent to the races two excellent performers in Embroidery and Paddy Whack and they will be represented in this sale by a chestnut colt. Network is also the dam of many other good performers including Workman, Workmaid and El Bart. All the youngsters catalogued for sale are excellently bred and good prices should result.

THE KENTUCKY HANDICAP.

The Kentucky Handicap at one mile and a quarter for three-year-olds and up will be run today at Douglas Park. The best the East and West can produce will compete in this big event and the West hopes to regain the laurels lost in the Derby.

The first spring meeting at Douglas Park was run in 1913, and it was then that the Kentucky Handicap was introduced as the big feature race of the meeting. It already has wide distinction as a great turf event and stands as the only race ever run on the American turf that annually has carried in its entire history $10,000 in added money. Last year, and in fact every season, it has so far been run, it ranks as the richest turf prize of the year on Kentucky tracks, and the same applies to this season. It is today the richest stake for horses, three years old and upward, run off in America.

In selecting this race for the big feature event of the annual Douglas Park spring meetings Manager Hachmeister made a happy choice. He no doubt got the idea of such an event for horses, three years old and upward, from the racing guides of the past, which show that all such events of big magnitude have proved successful every year and annually called to the post the very best horses in training as a field of starters.

In the earlier years of the Eastern turf, right after the close of the Civil War and up to the early eighties, when the leading race course of New York was at Jerome Park, the Fordham Handicap, for horses three years old and upward, one mile and a quarter, was regarded as the chief event annually of the metropolitan racing season. With the passing of this track the honors of the leading metropolitan race track fell on Sheepshead Bay, and in 1884 for the first time was run the celebrated Suburban Handicap. Like the Fordham Handicap and the Kentucky Handicap, the Suburban has always been at a mile and a quarter in distance, and for years, in spite of the prestige of the great Futurity of the autumn season of racing in that state, the Suburban was looked upon as the biggest of all races run in New York state. While at Washington Park, Chicago, the American Derby was always regarded as that track's biggest race, it had comparatively little prestige over the Wheeler Handicap, which was modeled in conditions and distance like the Fordham, Suburban and Kentucky Handicap races. Using the Fordham and Suburban Handicaps as a guide, Phil J. Dwyer, when he essayed to make a great course out of the Gravesend track, modeled the Brooklyn Handicap after those races and made that event for many seasons the biggest feature race of that noted track.

There is one great recommendation to an event like the Kentucky Handicap. There are no chances of it failing to draw a great field of horses to the post in any year, while at times Derby races or any great events for performers strictly of one age will have one or two starters, no matter how large the fields, that will badly outclass their opposition, and there has been as a result, cards of two and three-year-old events of great money value run off in this country that have been one-sided in the final results.

Those believed likely to go to the post are:

In the nature of a reply to an article published last week, which was intended to be an explanation of why Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce had declared off the Derby consolation purse of $1,500 and substituted the Oaks preliminary purse of $700 at Churchill Downs, John S. Ward today gave to the press the following signed statement:

"I had been told that Mr. Pearce had said that the Derby consolation would not fill, and I also know that the committee appointed by the State Racing Commission had recommended, and it had been approved by the State Racing Commission, that all races shall close with four entries. In view of this fact, and that there are very few races left for such three-year-olds as Dodge, I was naturally anxious that the race should not be declared off, and therefore, as is the custom, tried to get enough horses to go in to make the race fill. In order to do this I agreed that if Dodge should win I would be willing to take $700 as first money, leaving the other $800 to be divided among the other horses in the race. This, I think, I had a perfect right to do, and I defy Mr. Pearce or any one else to show where any fraud was intended."

If anyone knows of the whereabouts of Dick DeNeffe of Parsons, Kansas, he will confer a favor on his mother, who is ill, by advising THE RECORD.

William O. Finney of Bel Air, Harford County, Maryland, writes THE RECORD as follows regarding activities in the thoroughbred line in his county:

Having a few minutes to spare thought I would let you know of some of the breeding going on in Harford County. There is quite a number of fine mares in Harford, but on account of no stallions we have been unable to produce any good colts. At present we have sent a few over to H. G. Bedwell's farm at Laurel to be mated to Prince Ahmed. If we get as good looking colts as Mr. Bedwell has by Prince Ahmed, I think Harford will take care of some of the money in the East a little later on.

I have a fine foal born May 21 out of a mare by Racine, by that old campaigner Merry Lad, raised by McCarter Potter and later raced by Ed Trotter. This is Merry Lad's first get and he is a beautiful bay colt with star, left hind foot white, big bone and large frame. Although Harford has been a little slow in the production of race horses I think she will be heard from, from now on, as a breeding association is about to be started with H. G. Bedwell at the head.

Nashville advices announce the purchase at auction of the famous old Belle Meade homestead and twenty-two acres of park by Walter O. Parmer for $22,000. Belle Meade was in its palmy days probably the most noted nursery of thoroughbreds in the United States and Mr. Parmer is likely to revive its ancient glories. He has one hundred and thirty-five head of thoroughbreds at his Edenwold Stud on the other side of Nashville.

John H. Morris has twelve foals at his Bosque Bonita Farm, this season, ten his property and two belonging to K. D. Alexander. Mr. Morris is particularly fortunate in the large percentage of colts among his lot, there being only two filies.

The full list of foals at Bosque Bonita for the season of 1916, follows:

After a consultation with Cosmic's owner, J. G. Greener, Trainer J. W. May has decided to ship that performer to Beaumont Farm and turn him out until fall. The son of Countless wrenched his back in his work recently and while not thought to be permanently injured, no attempt will be made to race him again until late next fall.

From now on Trainer Will Wallace will endeavor to carefully point the crack colt Big Smoke for his engagement in the rich Latonia Derby, which $15,000 race is run this year at that track on Saturday, June 17.

The success of the Baker Brothers during the Churchill Downs meeting was phenomenal. They won fifteen races in thirteen days, while their stable jockey, Roscoe Goose, was considerably in the limelight in bringing home the winners during the meeting. In the past week he rode fifteen winners, probably a jockey record at Churchill Downs. Goose clearly towers over all other Western riders by a wide margin, and he is the most valuable asset in the pretentious Baker-Adair establishment.

Grace Navarre, by Henry of Navarre, out of E. S. J., by Hanover, foaled a chestnut colt by Ogden on May 10th, at T. B. Jones' Ashdale Stock Farm.

All my yearlings, foals of 1915, by imported Star Shoot and imported Ogden are for sale privately at Hamburg Place, Lexington, Kentucky. The only purchasers desired are those who can give assurance that the yearlings will be placed in the hands of experienced trainers. The yearlings remaining unsold will be trained by me, and sold privately as two-year-olds.

WOODFORD CLAY DIES SUDDENLY.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 1.—Woodford Clay, of Paris, turfman and thoroughbred breeder of national reputation and scion of one of Kentucky's most famous families, died suddenly of apoplexy at 6:30 tonight at his suite in the Galt House. He was 43 years old.

Although Mr. Clay had been under the care of a physician and a trained nurse for the past ten days, his condition was not regarded as serious, as he was able to attend the races at Douglas Park Tuesday afternoon. He appeared in good spirits today and remarked to a friend early in the afternoon he was going to the race course tomorrow afternoon to see his filly Triad, run.

"I expect to win with her tomorrow," he remarked jokingly.

Mr. Clay ordered his dinner sent to his room a few minutes after 6 o'clock. Wallace Steele, a friend, was with him at the time. Mr. Clay, seated on the edge of the bed, was stricken just as the bell boy knocked at his door, bringing his dinner to him. He died within a few minutes. Relatives in Paris were notified, and Undertaker William O. Hinton, of that city came to Louisville tonight in an automobile to take charge of the body. It will be returned to Bourbon County for burial.

Mr. Clay's fondness for the turf came naturally, as his father, Colonel E. F. Clay, owner of Runnymede Farm, near Paris, has been one of the most successful breeders of race horses in America. Most of the thoroughbreds, raised and raced by the son, were got on Runnymede Farm, by one of the famous sires, Hindoo, Sir Dixon or Star Shoot.

Horses and mares, raised and raced by Mr. Clay, have been successful, not only on all of the famous race courses of America, but on European tracks as well. Roamer, winner of the championship honors during the past years, which is entered in the Kentucky Handicap Saturday; was raised and raced as a two-year-old by Mr. Clay. He sold the famous racer for $4,500, while he still was a two-year-old. Running Water, a mare which Mr. Clay raised and raced with great success on the American turf, sold for $20,000.

Mr. Clay has been a prominent figure in American racing during the past eighteen years. He has raised and raced such thoroughbreds as Flying Ship, Kentucky Beau, Nimbus, Outcome, Memories, Kilmarnock, Ocean Bound, Buckhorn, Lady Amelia, Content, Magnet, Carey and Angler. Kilmarnock sold for $6,000 as a two-year-old and afterwards raced with success in Europe.

Mr. Clay is survived by his father, Col. E. F. Clay, and two sisters, Miss Mary and Mrs. Samuel Clay, of Paris, and two brothers, Buckner Clay, lawyer of Charleston, W. Va., and Brutus Clay, telephone expert, of Atlanta, Ga.

SHE'S A REPEATER.

NEWMARKET, ENG., June 1.—Fifinella, the winner of the New Derby Stakes last week, today finished first in the New Oak Stakes of $5,000.

Salamandra was second and Market Girl ran third. Seven horses started.

The Oaks Stakes was for three-year-old fillies and the distance was about one mile and a half.

DURYEA SALE A BIG SUCCESS.

NEW YORK, May 27.—The sale of thoroughbreds from Haras du Gazon, France, the breeding farm of the late Herman B. Duryea, which took place in the paddock at Belmont Park today, under the management of the Powers-Hunter Co., proved brilliantly successful. The horses offered were of extremely high class, and in view of the fact the sixteen offered for sale realized a total of $66,100, no comment is needed concerning the success of the sale. An average of $4,131.25 each certainly is a good one, and one which serves to show that men of means throughout the country regard the future of racing as more than ordinarily bright. George A. Bain was in the auctioneer's box.

The attendance at the sales ring was large and representative. Among those present were Joseph E. Widener, George D. Widener, Schuyler L. Parsons, Harry La Montagne, Joseph E. Davis and Mrs. Davis, R. Lee Rose, H. J. Morris, Ral Parr, F. Ambrose Clark, John Sanford, F. R. Hitchcock, Thomas Hitchcock, H. C. Hallenbeck, Mrs. H. B. Duryea, Charles Schwartz, Morton L. Schwartz, R. T. Wilson, William K. Vanderbilt, Jacob Pincus, Samuel T. Riddle, A. J. Joyner, Matthew Allen, Foxhall P. Keene, Thomas J. Healey, James McLoughlin, Jesse Lewisohn, Oscar Lewisohn, Walter Lewisohn, Frederick Lewisohn, Harry Page, Harry H. Knapp, Clarence L. Robbins, James G. Oxnard, Henry T. Oxnard, George McManus, B. F. Kellridge, Allan McCulloh, Grant Hugh Browne, H. W. Sage, Ralph Strasburger and Joseph Rhinock.

As the yearlings belonging to the shipment had suffered from a slight indisposition soon after their arrival from France, some of them were hardly in sale condition, and Mrs. Duryea, acting on the advice of Trainer Thomas Murphy, decided not to offer them today. They will be sent to Saratoga almost immediately and will be offered for sale there sometime in the early part of the Saratoga race meeting. At present they are in perfect health, and are coming on finely, but as yet some of them are a trifle thin, and a month at Saratoga cannot fail to improve their appearance materially.

The horses offered and sold today consisted of one five-year-old horse, two three-year-old colts, and thirteen two-year-olds, of which seven were fillies and six colts.

The highest priced animals of the sale were the three-year-old chestnut colt, Crimper, by Maintenon—Frizette, by Hamburg, with which the late Mr. Duryea hoped to win the English Derby, and which he rated as a much better colt and brighter Derby prospect than Dunbar II., ever had been; the five-year-old chestnut horse Frizzle, the bay two-year-old colt Tranby, the chestnut two-year-old colt, The Belgian, and the bay two-year-old filly Farce.

Trainer Thomas Welsh opened the bidding on the three-year-old with an offer of $5,000, but the bidding quickly ran up into much higher figures, with George Odom, John Sanford, Thomas Welsh and Ral Parr doing the bidding. He was finally sold to Ral Parr on a bid of $16,500.

Next, as far as the purchase price was concerned, was the grand looking chestnut five-year-old horse, Frizzle, by Biinou—Frizette, the dam of Crimper. He was in high spirits, and so full of play that at times he made things rather lively for the spectators in the sales ring, as well as in the paddock. He did not mean any harm, as he is as gentle as a lamb in his stable, never showing a desire to hurt anybody, but some people object to horse play, and whenever Frizzle began his antics, he cleared a large space in his immediate vicinity. Thomas Welsh was the first bidder, his bid being $2,500, but after that the contest became animated, with Thomas Welsh, William Garth and H. K. Knapp as the principal bidders. Frizzle finally went to H. K. Knapp for $7,500.

Tranby, the splendid bay son of Irish Lad—Frizette, was the highest priced of the two-year-olds, and he was the object of a spirited bidding contest in which Ral Parr, George Odom and John Sanford were those most frequently heard from, but the last named turfman outstayed his rivals, and John Sanford became the owner of Tranby at $6,600.

The chestnut colt The Belgian, by Rabelais out of Suffragette IV., was another well-liked two-year-old. Ral Parr, P. A. Clark and S. L. Parsons all wanted him, but he finally went to Ral Parr for $5,100.

Farce, the bay daughter of Rire-aux-Larmes, appeared to be the best of the two-year-old fillies, and she was liked for both breeding and individuality. The most aggressive bidders for this filly were Thomas Welsh and A. J. Joyner, and she finally went to A. J. Joyner's bid of $5,000.

Trainer Joyner, who bought Muckross and Killadar, was buying them for M. L. Schwartz, and Farce and Teetotal were for George D. Widener.

A full summary of the sale follows:

THE LATONIA DERBY.

The Latonia Derby will be run off this season on Saturday, June 17. This is the fourth day of the coming twenty-four days' summer meeting at the Latonia track, which begins this year on Wednesday, June 14, and comes a close on Tuesday, July 11.

There is no doubt that the Latonia Derby will be the greatest race this year in its long history as a stake, which had its beginning when this great course was opened in 1883, and has enjoyed an unbroken history, though during its first four seasons it was called the Hindoo Stakes, named by the first secretary of the Latonia track, Elias Lawrence, the Hindoo, in honor of one of the most brilliant race horses of all time, and after he had gone to the stud sent to the track the mighty Hanover.

There are sixty entries in the Latonia Derby this season, and of this number are sixteen three-year-olds that were not entered in any of the previous big events for colts, fllies and geldings of this age on the Kentucky tracks. These compose Bellita, Big Fellow, Sansyming, Mandy Hamilton, winner of the Ashland Oaks at Lexington; Curraghaleen, Oratorium, Onota, Captain Rees, James Oakley, Old Koenig, Ellison, The Carmet, Cane Run, Dick West, Thornwood and Hubbub. There will be a great deal more class in the race this year than ever before.

The distance of the Latonia Derby is the same as the great English Derby—one mile and a half—and is the real test of a great three-year-old.

There are eight other stakes to be run during the coming Latonia meeting and they filledwith a wonderful array of entries, embracing the very best horses in training, the stars of all the leading stables of the country. Next to the Derby, of course, the feature race is the Cincinnati Trophy, which with $4,000 added, is the richest two-year-old event run off on the American turf annually, with the exception of the Eastern Futurity. The sensational Harry Kelly is entered in this stake this season, and he is also eligible to the Harold Stakes, which is run previous to the Cincinnati Trophy. In addition to the added money and the value of the stakes in the Cincinnati Trophy, the winner of that event as usual, this year, takes down a beautiful silver loving cup as a trophy, which is lined with gold and manufactured by Manager Hachmeister's order at a cost to the Latonia Jockey Club of more than $500. A popular race at the coming Latonia meeting is the Clipsetta Stakes, which was named for a brilliant two-year-old filly owned by the first President of the Latonia Jockey Club, the late T. J. Megibben. This event has been an annual fixture at Latonia since the opening of the first meeting at this traek in 1883. It closed this year with seventy-six nominations.

If Latonia holds up in proportion to the Churchill Downs meeting, and there is every reason to believe that it will, the old track is in for the biggest and best year of its long career.

KENTUCKY HANDICAP WEIGHTS.

LOUISVILLE, KY., May 29.—Weights for the $15,000 Kentucky Handicap, the big feature race of the present Douglas Park meeting, which will be run off as the fifth race next Saturday, have been announced by Handicapper J. B. Campbell.

The five-year-old Roamer is asked to carry the top weight, 132 pounds, which is five pounds more than he had up in the same race last year as a four-year-old. Next is Borrow with 129 pounds up. His weight last year, when he won the big race, was 126 pounds. The weights then scale down from 123 on the unbeaten Regret to 100 pounds on fourteen of the entries. Of the latter collection, however, Dick Williams is the only probable starter in the event.

Of the other likely starters which raced in this event last season, Hodge is in with 122 pounds; Prince Hermis, 109 pounds, and Royal II., with 114 pounds.

Waterblossom is in the big race Saturday at 114 pounds, which is the same weight she carried in the Canadian Derby when she beat out The Finn and Royal II. Ed Crump is asked to pick up a pound on his recent fast winning race at the Downs at a mile and an eighth, and Bayberry Candle gets in at 108 pounds, which is a pound less than she had up in the recent Clark Handicap. Water Witch is in Saturday's race at 105 pounds, which is three pounds more up than she had when she won the Camden Handicap at Lexington.

Of the three-year-olds entered in the rich prize Star Hawk is given the post of honor with an impost of 107 pounds, which is ten pounds off of the weight he carried when he ran second to George Smith in the recent Kentucky Derby race.

The weights in the coming big race indicate that Handicapper Campbell has spent much study on them, and he has added his share to making the event more doubtful than ever so far as the winner is concerned. Of the dozen or more probable starters in the stakes every one can be regarded as now weighted as having a good fighting chance to become the fourth winner of the great race, the richest stake for three-year-olds and upward now run off on the American turf. The list of weights follows:

Ed Crump, the Kentucky Handicap Winner.

ED CRUMP WINS KENTUCKY HANDICAP.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 4.—Before the largest crowd that ever passed through the gates of Douglas Park Ed Crump, John W. Schorr's four-year-old son of Peep O'Day—Evaline, won the Kentucky Handicap, the richest stake in the country for horses of the older division, yesterday afternoon. The Schorr colt saved the day for the West over the East by only the margin of half a length, as Roamer, Andrew Miller's noted speed marvel was second, but the way the race was run Ed Crump demonstrated his superiority. Water Witch was third, a scant length behind the place horse. The time for the mile and a quarter, 2:04 3-5, was not as fast as it was expected the race would be run, and the fractional time was much slower than horses which contested in the big race are capable of making.

The victory of Ed Crump yesterday made the second time that this rich stake has fallen to the Schorr stable, Luke McLuke having turned the trick for the Memphis turfman in 1914. It has been run only four times. Yesterday it was worth $11,650 to the winner, $1,500 to the second, $600 to the third and the fourth horse which was Hodge, saved nomination and starting fees, which amounted to $200.

The weather and track conditions were perfect for the running of the big race yesterday, and as early as noon the turf patrons of this city and vicinity were on their way to Douglas Park. The big race was the fifth on the card, and it was 4:59 o'clock when the field of eleven starters reached the barrier. Several times Starter Harry Morrissey had them ready for a perfect start, only to have it broken up by Hank O'Day, a notoriously bad post horse, and they were at the starting gate six minutes before they were off. When they did get away the start was a perfect one. Waterblossom, however, was pinched off directly after the break and this made it appear as though she received a bad send-off.

Roamer broke in front with his usual speed, but but before he had gone many yards Marion Goosby. Borrow and Old Koenig had overtaken him. However, it was plain to be seen that he was running under restraint, and that Jockey Jimmy Butwell was not trying to get him to the front like he usually runs. Butwell said after the race that his riding instructions were to keep off the pace, and that in his opinion these same instructions brought about the defeat of Roamer. At the six furlong pole Old Koenig had a short lead over Borrow with Roamer third, but the leader appeared to have shot his bolt, and it was evident that he was not going to stay in front very long.

Near the half mile Borrow got a lead of a head over Roamer, but his lead was short lived, and making the turn off the backside Roamer dashed to the front, and soon was a length and a half to the good. It was at this juncture that Ed Crump loomed up menacingly, and Borrow began to drop back. Jockey Butwell plied his whip as hard as a rider ever plied it when he got Roamer to the front, and Jockey Guy Garner, who rode Ed Crump, also went to work on his mount with a vengeance. Turning into the stretch the race looked like a two horse affair, Roamer and Ed Crump, with the former on the rail.

The sixteenth pole was reached before Ed Crump, lapped on Roamer, and from there to the wire the two horses battled it out. Roamer, however, was ready to stop, while Ed Crump appeared to be getting stronger. When Ed Crump got on even terms with the Miller gelding, Butwell made one final and determined effort to get him up with his whip. The horse seemed to take a new lease on life, but it was only a flash, and amid the cheers of the vast multitude Ed Crump was returned the winner.

The race that Water Witch ran would be a winner nine times out of ten, and Waterblossom, although beaten, was not disgraced. Water Witch was far out of it in the early running, but, after passing the half mile pole, she came through with her usual burst of late speed, and she was beaten only a length and a half for all the money. Hodge, another late beginner, also finished with a rattle, but he ran his race and had no excuse.

The worst disappointment in the race was Borrow, winner of the same stake last year. Jockey Joe Notter, unquestionably the premier race rider of America, came here from New York to ride him, but he was of little help. The gelding had one burst of speed and he used it, then dropped back rapidly. Notter did not persevere with him after he saw he was hopelessly beaten, and as a result he beat only one horse, Old Koenig. In view of his recent good workout, it was expected that Borrow would be the contender, even though he should not prove the winner, and his bad race came as a surprise.

Ed Crump ran coupled with Dick Williams as the J. W. Schorr entry, and he demonstrated that he was as high-class a stake horse as this country can boast of at the present time. He carried 121 pounds, which was eleven pounds less than Roamer's impost, but he is a four-year-old, whole Roamer is five years of age. Unlike the Keutucky Derby, in which a majority of the starters hailed from the East, in the Kentucky Handicap the East was represented by only three thoroughbreds, Roamer, Borrow and Old Koenig, and the latter two made a dismal showing.

Speculation on the race also set a record for Douglas Park, and every horse had plenty of admirers. Although Roamer went to the post the choice at the equivalent odds of 39 to 10, Borrow and Hodge were not far behind him in this respect, they both being at odds of 17 to 4. The Schorr entry was next in demand and the Memphis turfman's horses came in for plenty of consideration. The entry paid $12.60 for a $2 straight ticket.

General Manager John Hachmeister was elated over the attendance and the interest manifested in the race, and on the outcome of the race itself, not on account of the horse that won it necessarily, but because of the great contest and the high grade of horses which contested in it. Long before post time for the first race the grandstand and adjoining lawns were jammed to capacity.

Many persons ventured the opinion that Roamer was a trifle short, and that one or two more workouts or perhaps a race prior to the stake yesterday would have helped him, but it is doubtful if he could have beaten Ed Crump under any considerations. Too much credit cannot be given the winner for the excellent race he ran, and likewise Jockey Guy Garner is entitled to a large share of the praise.

In addition to the big stake race, Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce provided a good all-around racing card, even though most of the events were run under selling conditions. The Central Park Handicap, which had an added value of $800, and was for three-year-olds and upward at six furlongs, was secondary in importance to the stake, and this drew a crack field of sprinters to the post. A purse affair for maiden two-year-olds also brought out a nicely balanced field of juveniles. The selling races as a rule were fought for by the higher grade of platers.

Leo Skolny won the Central Park Handicap, but he just did get up in time to get the verdict by a nose from Chalmers. The time for the race was 1:11 3-5, and the place was a dizzy one all the way. Chalmers was in front until just a jump before reaching the wire, and he ran the first quarter in :22 3-5 and the half mile in :46 2-5. He carried 120 pounds and he tired under the impost in the later stages of the race. Conning Tower ran closest to the pacemaker until after turning for home, when Bringhurst took up the running. He also carried 120 pounds, and the weight told on him. Leo Skolny was far back in the early running, but after making the stretch bend Jockey Danny Connolly called on him and he finished with a cyclonic rush on the outside. Only six horses started in this race and Solar Star and Dr. Larrick were never contenders.

As was the case when he won a race at Churchill Downs recently, Leo Skolny again was a good price, this time paying $22.70 for a $2 straight ticket. Chalmers was the favorite at odds of a trifle less than 3 to 2.

Four of the events on yesterday's racing card were at a mile or over, and the route racing made a big hit with the large crowd. The various fields were small, which made them all good mediums of speculation, but even this did not give the talent any the best of it, as picking winning favorites was a difficult task. In the first four races only one choice got home in front, Grasmere at odds of 6 to 5.

The opening race was attended by a bad start, by which the long shot players benefited, as Mary H., paying $56.80 for a $2 straight ticket, managed to get the best of it, and she held the lead all the way. The finish found her two lengths in advance of Port Light, with Droll third. Port Light ran as if he were the best, but he was off last and could not get up. Droll was always well up. Resign showed a lot of early speed, but he wants a route. Blanchita was never formidable. Droll was the choice at odds of 2 to 1, but Resign was $2.15 to $1 and Port Light was $2.60 to $1.

Rosewood, a half-sister to the celebrated Roamer, accounted for the second race, but it is doubtful if she was the best horse in it. America, a full sister to The Manager, finished second, and but for suffering a whole lot of interference she would have been returned the winner. Walter H. Pearce was always well up, but he was overmatched. Velvet Joe ran a good race, and is about ready for a winning effort. Dreadnaught, a full brother to Great Britain, was never in the hunt. The long price players again profited in this race, as Rosewood paid $15.70 for a $2 straight ticket. Walter H. Pearce was the favorite at odds of 21 to 20.

Grasmere balked at going to the post, but he did not hesitate after he got there, neither did he hesitate at any stage of the race. He led his small field all the way and won by a length and a half from Jessie Louise, with Charles Francis third. Jessie Louise was closest to the leader most of the way, but she never seriously threatened him. Charles Francis closed fast to get third place. Howdy Howdy ran well up in the early stages, but weakened. Louise Paul finished fast. The winner was a "good thing," and paid odds of 6 to 5 as a result.

Billows and Little Bigger fought it out in the sixth race, the former getting the verdict by half a length. Jockey Hugh Shilling gave Billows a hustling ride and kept her going in the stretch when Little Bigger set sail after her. Little Bigger, as usual, was far back in the early running, and closed with a good rush. Thanksgiving also came fast toward the end. Commauretta was in last place the first part of the journey and never made up much ground until after turning for home. Virgiedot showed a lot of early speed. Booker Bill also went well in the first part. World's Wonder quit to a walk. Thanksgiving was the favorite at odds of 11 to 5.

Brooks did not have to be extended to win the seventh race, as he galloped in front all the way and won by four lengths from Guide Post, with Olga Star third, Jockey T. Henry rode Brooks yesterday and the performance of the horse was a direct contract to his previous effort. Yesterday he was at a long price also. Guide Post was much the best of the others, and was in second place all the way. Olga Star came with her usual rush at the end. McAdoo made an early bid but dropped back. Guide Post was the favorite.

Three horses were bid up yesterday and one of them, Brooks, winner of the last race, changed hands. He was in for $1,200 and was bid to $2,000 by former Jockey John Henry. Grover Baker bid $1,800 on him. He was sold to Henry. Mary H., winner of the first race, also was bid up by John Henry. She was advanced from $1,000 to $1,505, and Owner John Huffman retained her. Henry's horse, Port Light, was second, and he gets sixty per cent. of the advance. Ed Elkins advanced Grasmere, winner of the third race, from $500 to $805. W. V. Walsh kept him.

The jinx which has followed the Livingston stable persistently of late got in its work again yesterday. While at the post in the Kentucky Handicap Old Koenig put Royal II. on the shelf for a while by kicking the son of Your Majesty on his right hind leg. A deep gash was cut in the right hind leg of the Livingston colt and as the result he will have to be thrown out of training temporarily.

Owner Livingston announced last night that it will be impossible to get Col. Vennie ready for the Latonia Derby on account of his injured leg. Col. Vennie was kicked several days ago while at the post by Old Koenig, which again showed a dislike for Livingston's horses by putting Royal II. on the shelf.

Col. Vennie was given a royal chance by the wiseacres in the Latonia Derby, and it was with regret that Mr. Livingston told Trainer Brandt last night not to attempt to get the colt in shape for the big race at Milldale. Mr. Livingston has earned a wide circle of friends on the turf due to his efforts to uphold the best traditions of the sport and many hoped to see his colors in front again this year in the Latonia classic.

Another record pay-off in the pari-mutuels was established at Douglas Park yesterday when the three-horse combination, which embraced the races won by Leo Skolny, Billlows and Brooks, paid $1,073.50 for a $2 ticket. There was only one winning ticket on it, and the lucky holder of the card won the entire pool, less the five per cent. taken off by the racing association.

Had the holder of the ticket parleyed his $2 at the equivalent straight odds against the three winners he would have received $1,662.21. However, a parley in the pari-mutuel machines would have cut his price to some extent, and it would have figured about the same as the combination paid. This is the largest price ever paid on a winning combination since this form of wagering was established in the pari-mutuels in Kentucky.

The two-horse combination, which took in the races won by Mary H. and Rosewood, was not such a bad-paying proposition itself, as it was worth $363.85.

HANCOCK SALE RESULTS SATISFACTORY.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A. A. Riley, who purchased two colts and a filly at the Powers-Hunter sale of the Ellerslie yearlings of A. B. Hancock Tuesday night, is a newcomer on the turf. Twenty-four sold for $44,550; average, $1,856.

The attendance at the sale was large and representative and the yearlings offered were without exception of good size and in ideal sale condition. A large number of ladies occupied seats in the galleries.

Word comes from Hot Springs, Ark., that Essex Park will be reopened in the fall for a meeting of twenty-one days, extending from November 30 to December 23. The promoters are spending $25,000 on the grandstand, clubhouse and stables. Essex Park in the old days was one of the best appointed tracks in the South. It will not be run in opposition to Oaklawn Park, which held a meeting in March. The latter race-course probably will resume business next spring. The revival of the sport at Essex Park means that horsemen who race in Maryland or Kentucky after the New York campaign ends in September will not be idle before New Orleans again opens on New Year's Day.

The Trinidad Breeders' Stakes, six furlongs, was won on May 25 by Rosey, ch f, 3, by Frontenac—Rosefinch, by a length. W. E. Nunn, 3, by Hammon—Jane Grey, was second, and Mallet, 3, by Hurst Park—Prophetess, was third. All the above horses were bred in Kentucky and sold to British West Indies parties last year.

Of the $35,000 added money attached to the next Melbourne Cup, $7,000 will go to the second horse and $3,500 to third. Last year second money was $8,000 and third $4,000. Even on the reduced scale, second and third moneys will make satisfactory consolation prizes.

The lowest fence in the substitute for the Liverpool Grand National, run at Gatwick in March last, was four feet six inches and the highest four feet ten inches. At Liverpool they average from four feet six inches to five feet.

WOODBINE PARK RACING STATISTICS.

On the subject of two-year-old racing the late Harry Custance, who was a fairly sound judge, delivered himself as follows:—"I am not an advocate for going back to yearling or early two-year-old racing, but only wish to show that the early running of two-year-olds (unless they are big, overgrown horses) does not interfere with their stamina to any great extent. Take, for instance, The Bard. He ran sixteen times as a two-year-old, and a little horse named Folkestone ran fourteen times, while Thormanby also started in the same number of races as a two-year-old. Of course, I should not make it a rule to run all young animals so early or so often, and I only quote these instances to show that no benefit accrues by bottling up young horses unless they are overgrown or suffering from lameness, or from some other ill to which animals are subject. We have more instances of good horses running as two-year-olds than we have of those that have been kept until they are three before asking them the question. Of course, there are exceptions to every rule, and the cases of Blair Athol, Doncaster, Bendigo, Merry Hampton, and Common can be cited."

The stewards of the Canadian Racing Associations held a meeting in the clubhouse at Blue Bonnets Montreal, on Wednesday. Applications for jockey licenses from several riders were passed upon. The following is a list of the licenses granted:

Trainers—R. Brook, A. Castin, R. D. Davies, A. F. Dayton, G. Foley, M. Gorman, N. W. Gray, E. M. Hall, W. L. Carter, B. L. Cole, T. E. Cummings, T. A. Hatchett, J. Hope, S. R. Howser, S. Judge, J. Breeders are experiencing such a bad time in England that the "Special Commissioner" of the London Sportsman (Mr. W. Allison) suggests that the bookmakers and starting-price officers should pay a fixed toll, the whole of which should, with the permission of the Jockey Club stewards, be devoted to paying a certain sum to the breeder of every winner throughout the season. In France, prior to the war, breeders benefited greatly in this fashion through the totalizator.

SPUR IS WINNER OF THE WITHERS.

NEW YORK, June 6.—James Butler's Spur by his wonderful victory in the Withers at Belmont Park today stamped himself as probably the best three-year-old that has been shown this year. He only beat Foxhall P. Keene's Churchill by a narrow margin and August Belmont's Friar Rock, the one to finish third, was very much abused in the running, but Spur had gone lengths farther than any other colt in the field, and his speed and his courage were severely tested.

It is unfortunate that in the running Loftus, who rode Spur, put Friar Rock on the fence shortly after leaving the backstretch and this knocked the Suburban winner back very badly. After this occurrence Friar Rock, when he recovered, ran an excellent race to finish third, but the winner was plainly the best of his company. For this offense Loftus was suspended for the rest of the Belmont Park meeting, while Haynes, who rode Friar Rock, threatened to take the law into his own hands after the running.

It had been reported, on presumably excellent authority, Monday afternoon that Spur had struck himself in his work and would not be started in the Withers. This was a surprise to James Butler, and it was explained by Trainer McCormack that while Spur had hit himself his injury was so trivial that he did not consider it worth reporting to Mr. Butler and that he had no intention of withdrawing him from the Withers. The report did not come from the stable of his injury, but it was so widely circulated that there was general surprise when the colt was sent to the post.

Excellent sport came out of the program that was offered by the Westchester Association and the class of horses engaged was better than has been the recent rule at the big Nassau County track.

Second in importance to the Withers was the mile of the Bayside Handicap, and this brought about one of the best finishes of the day when Sharpshooter, from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons, just beat home W. R. Coe's lightly weighted Mustard. In the opening race of the day there was a popular victory when Mr. Coe's White Hackle, the colt for which he paid John E. Madden a big price last August, was returned winner over some good three-year-olds. It was the first time White Hackle has raced under the Coe silks, for he went wrong shortly after his purchase. His victory was a most impressive one.

The steeplechase was a most exciting number when G. Bernard Fenwick's Mo was winner over J. F. Flanagan, Jr.'s, Dixon Park and Lissberger Jacobs' Syosset. In this race Abdon, from the Milltown Stable ran such a disgraceful race that Trainer William Hogan was called before the stewards to explain. In his previous race, under an equal weight, he had forced most of the pace to win easily, while yesterday he could scarcely raise a gallop, and he was ridden very apathetically by Cantwell. Hogan put the blame on the rider and said that he had expected his horse to win. No ruling was made known in the matter.

George D. Widener, Jr., won his first race of the season and A. J. Joyner saddled his first winner since his return from England when Columbine scored in the four and a half furlong dash through the straight for two-year-old maiden fillies. The other race of the day was a mile and a quarter for selling platers, and it saw A. R. Bresler's Saratoga winner. After the race Saratoga was boosted to $1,600, but was retained by his owner.

It was the forty-first running of the Withers and the field of five that went to the post was a representative one. Spur, the winner, saddled for James Butler, had finished third in the Metropolitan Handicap; August Belmont's Friar Rock, sent to the post by Trainer S. C. Hildreth, had won the Suburban Handicap; John E. Madden's Gillies had gone into winter quarters last year with the Homebred Produce Stakes to his credit, and Harry Payne Whitney's Chicle was a first-class two-year-old, one of his accomplishments being a victory in the Champagne last year. Churchill, the starter from Foxhall P. Keene's stable, only escaped from the maiden class at the present meeting, but he had shown evidences of class.

Starter Cassidy lost little time at the post, and the five colts were sent away in good alignment with Chicle showing the way and Spur bringing up the rear.

Roscoe Troxler, who had the mount on Chicle, permitted him to step into a lead of a couple of lengths under a nice steadying restraint, and Churchill was the one to head the others; he had a neck advantage over Gillies, while three lengths further back Spur was just heading Friar Rock.

Chicle sped away like a quarter horse and he readily increased his lead of two lengths, creating the belief that he might make a runaway race of the famous old fixture. Churchill was still second, and he was all of four lengths before Gillies and still Spur and Friar Rock were trailers.

It was shortly after leaving the backstretch and when Friar Rock, on the rail, was lapped by Spur that the Butler colt swerved over on him, and as he was crowded Haynes was seen to take up sharply and drop lengths out of the running.

This was when Spur began his run that eventually made him the winner. Loftus was forced to go to the outside to find clear sailing, and just as he circled outside of Chicle, on the stretch turn, the Whitney colt swerved out badly, and as a result the son of King James was carried well beyond the middle of the track and lengths further than anything else in the race.

Chicle had shot his bolt and it was a tired swerve. That gave Churchill his opportunity and he quickly raced by the son of Spearmint and for an instant he was showing the way. But Spur was coming along gallantly under the energetic riding of Loftus, and at the furlong pole the two had hooked up for the drive to the finish. Gradually Spur drew away under punishment and at the end he had beaten Mr. Keene's colt a length.

Friar Rock, after his rough trip, was taken the short way by Haynes, and he readily came through on the inside through the stretch to land in third place, but many lengths back of the first two, Gillies was a close fourth and Chicle, after his exhibition of early speed, pulled up last.

The interference from which Friar Rock suffered was so apparent that for a time it was thought there would be a protest, but none came, though the later action of the stewards, in suspending Loftus for the rest of the meeting, evidenced that the stewards took notice of the fouling.

As a matter of fact, it would hardly have been fair to have set Spur back, for he had gone lengths farther than the others and had demonstrated beyond argument that he was the best colt in the field.

Sharpshooter from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons adequately wiped out his defeat in the Elmont Handicap, which was won by Captain Edward B. Cassatt's Flying Fairy, when he was winner of the Bayside Handicap at a mile that was the third offering. It was one of the best finishes of the afternoon, and he was doing his level best at the end to head out W. R. Coe's Mustard. D. J. Leary's Roly, after making all the pace, was the one to finish third.

From a good start Roly jumped to the front and set a merry pace down the backstretch. He was two lengths to the good, and Sharpshooter was just showing the way to Mustard. Gainer, after breaking very sluggishly, readily raced by Eagle, while Tartar was a very distant trailer and dropping back further at every stride.

Before the stretch was reached Roly began to shorten stride slightly, and both Sharpshooter and Mustard closed on him. As Davies made his move he went to the outside, while McTaggart chose the inside with the Coe colt. At the head of the stretch both were close on Roly, and it was apparent then that he was to be beaten.

As Sharpshooter drew alongside and Haynes went to the whip on Roly he bore out and carried him out, affording Mustard his opportunity on the rail. McTaggart rushed the colt up into the opening and at the furlong pole both Mustard and Sharpshooter had Roly beaten.

Through the last furlong Roly hung on very gamely, but Sharpshooter was too good and right at the end he was winner by a head. Two lengths back of them Roly had no trouble in saving third from Gainer, which swinging wide in the stretch, came with a belated rush.

Eagle and Tartar were always badly outrun, and they were beaten off ten or fifteen lengths.

In his last previous race at the Locust Valley course Mustard was well beaten, but this was accounted for by reason of a girth breaking during the running.

W. R. Coe's White Hackle was a very easy winner of the opening six-furlong dash, and as it was the first start of the season for the son of Star Shoot and Mary Talbott there is every reason to believe that he will go on to much greater things as the season advances.

At the finish he was showing the way by a long margin to James Butler's Miss Puzzle, while John E. Madden's Marse Henry was the one to finish third.

Miss Puzzle and Marse Henry were the ones to cut out the early running, while Johnny McTaggart rated White Hackle along behind them and so well in hand that it was apparent he could go to the front at the first asking.

It was nearing the stretch turn that he shook up the Coe colt and he readily raced around the first two and swung into the stretch with a safe lead. From there to the finish the race was never in doubt. He just galloped away from his company and at the end had a lead of ten lengths. Then Miss Puzzle outgamed Marse Henry and she was a handy second.

The others in the race cut very little figure in the running, and of them Emil Herz's Daddy's Choice proved best when, closing with a rush through the stretch, he was fourth, though not close enough to in any manner threaten Marse Henry.

The victory of White Hackle was a distinctly popular one. He is a colt for which Mr. Coe paid John E. Madden a big price last year and he went wrong shortly after being turned over to Trainer Carroll. He has been going along this spring in a manner to suggest that he is worth all that was paid for him, and this his his first effort was impressive enough to warrant the prediction that he will make his way among the best three-year-olds of the year.

The mile and a quarter for selling platers, that was the second offering, was easy for R. L. Bresler's Saratoga when he lead home John O. Talbott's Pandean, C. H. Robbins' Little Nearer, which has been jumping unsuccessfully this season, and R. Newman's Daingerfield.

The start was a good one and Lyke at once went out to make the pace with Pandean, and the others were content to trail along in Indian file behind him with Saratoga racing in second place and Little Nearer heading Daingerfield.

Leaving the backstretch Pandean had a lead of a couple of lengths and was going well, but he showed a slight disposition to bear out. There Little Nearer moved up slightly on the outside and Saratoga closed up, but Lyke shook up the Talbott plater and he drew away again very readily.

In a previous race Pandean had run out at the head of the stretch, but making the turn in this race he held his position cleverly and he still had a good lead when he entered the straight. Then Haynes brought Saratoga along on the outside, and a quarter from the finish he forced Lyke to go to a drive in a vain effort to hold the lead.

Pandean faltered badly when driven, and from there to the end Saratoga came away handily and the result was no longer in doubt. Campbell made an effort to drive Daingerfield through on the rail in that stretch run, but it was not in the old gelding and Little Nearer had no trouble in beating him home for the short end of the purse.

George D. Widener, Jr., won his first race of the season, and A. J. Joyner sent his first winner to the post since his return from abroad in the four and a half furlongs dash at the end of the card. The winner was Columbine, the handsome chestnut daughter of Garry Herrmann and Navarre's Hope.

At the end she was going away a length before Yankee Witch, the filly sold by John E. Madden recently to S. D. Riddle, owner of the Glen Riddle Farm, while Mr. Madden furnished the third horse in Priscilla, a daughter of Star Shoot and Yankee Sister.

From a good start, Priscilla was the one to cut out the running, while Columbine, which had swung over to the outer rail, had a lead ever Idle Hour, the daughter of Hamburg and Matinee, that raced for H. P. Whitney and Yankee Witch.

Of these Idle Hour was the first to drop back and the race narrowed to three, with Priscilla and Yankee Witch fighting it out well towards the middle of the track and Columbine racing strongly on the outer rail.

Priscilla fought very gamely, but when well inside the last sixteenth Yankee Witch had her beaten. It is probable that Davies imagined he had the race won when he had disposed of the Madden filly, for right in the closing strides he did not persevere. In the meantime, though, McTaggart was hard at work on Columbine on the extreme outside. She was finishing with great gameness, and at the end was winner by a length.

Probably Columbine would have won under any conditions of ride, but Yankee Witch would certainly have been closer had Davies driven her out right to the last stride.

HIGH NOON WINS TOBOGGAN HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Since its first running in 1890 there have only been three horses that have won the Toboggan Handicap twice. High Noon from the stable of James Butler, was the latest to add his name to the list when he was winner yesterday at Belmont Park in very handy fashion over the imported Benevolent from the stable of Oscar Lewisohn, and Phosphor from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons. The others that have two victories to their credit are Octagon, which won in 1897 and 1898, and Banastar, which won in 1899 and 1901.

When High Noon won last year he took up 109 pounds, while for the running yesterday he was top weight under 124 pounds, and his score was a remarkably easy one, and one to pronounce him right at the front of the sprinting division.

It was a day of real sport at the big course, and in spite of the morning showers and the threatening weather all afternoon there was an immense crowd on hand. The infield was thrown open to the public as usual on Saturday, and it afforded a point of vantage to almost as large a crowd of enthusiasts as that out on Memorial Day.

In addition to the Toboggan Handicap, the Fashion, for two-year-old fillies, and the Elmont, a mile and a sixteenth handicap, were notable features of the program. The Fashion was won in a hard drive by Schuyler L. Parsons' Koh-i-noor from Frederick Johnson's Pleasant Dreams, while the Elmont went to Captain Edward B. Cassatt's good mare Flying Fairy, when she handily beat John E. Madden's Woodward and Schuyler L. Parsons' Sharpshooter.

The victory of High Noon in the Toboggan was the second for James Butler during the day, for in the opening dash his Schoolboy had beaten John O. Talbott's Emden. Sam McMeekin won another selling race for August Belmont, over the mile distance, and at the end of the program Max Hirsch's two-year-old Kathryn Gray beat a cheap lot. A claim of foul came out of this last race when Garner, who rode Gloomy Gus, the one to race second, protested that Warscher, on the winner, had interfered with his mount, but the claim was not allowed.

When High Noon was returned an easy winner of the six furlongs of the Toboggan Handicap it was his second victory in the same old stake, for he was the winner last year. For this later running he proved himself a sprinter of parts by taking up 124 pounds, the top weight, and beating home Oscar Lewisohn's imported Benevolent and Phosphor, from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons.

Others in the field were August Belmont's Tea Caddy, G. A. Muller's Fenmouse, John E. Madden's Gillies and Schuyler L. Parsons' Hanson.

High Noon broke from a position in the middle of the track and he was very quick leaving the barrier. Loftus rode him away smartly and he had foot enough to come clear. Tea Caddy, leaving from the inside, was second at the break, but he was not able to keep step with the pace that was set by the son of Voter and he soon gave way to Phosphor, which was also in one of the inside positions.

Right at the break both Benevolent and Gillies bore out badly to the outside, and it was considerable of a handicap for them. Benevolent was straightened and pulled away from there by Fairbrother, but Gillies held a place out there where he had all the worst of the footing.

In the meantime Phosphor was giving High Noon lively chase, and when the son of Voter swerved slightly the Parsons sprinter showed in front. It was only for an instant, for Loftus straightened High Noon with the whip and he came away cheerfully. From there to the finish he held his company perfectly safe. He had set a pace that had them all dizzy, and at the end he was in hand to win by three lengths.

Right at the end Benevolent, swinging over to the middle of the course, caught the tiring Phosphor, and he was an easy second, while Phosphor himself had to give up his best to save third from Fenmouse.

High Noon came out of the race in excellent condition, and he showed less distress than any horse that had raced.

Mr. Butler was very much elated over the victory of his horse, as well he might be, and he was doubly proud of the fact that it was a second success in the same handicap. Voter, the sire of High Noon, was himself a Toboggan winner, having scored in 1900.

Captain Edward B. Cassatt's Flying Fairy was a very clever winner of the mile and a sixteenth of the Elmont Handicap that was the second offering, over John E. Madden's Woodward, and Sharpshooter, from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons. The only other starter was Archibald Barklie's Holiday.

Tommy McTaggart had the mount on Flying Fairy and he was more alert than the other riders at the barrier, shooting the daughter of Aeronaut away in front and it was an advantage that she did not lose at any stage of the running. She went along very smoothly in front, and though taking up the top weight reached the furlong pole in :11 2-5, and the first quarter in 23 seconds.

Woodward had gone into second place and was racing nose and tail with the mare, while Sharpshooter on the inside, was lapped on the Madden runner, while Holiday was utterly unable to keep up with the pace and was already a distant last.

With never a sign of weakening Flying Fairy reached the three-furlong pole in :34 2-5, the half in :47 2-5 and the five-furlong mark in 1:00. This kept the others very busy behind her and still she was racing stronger than anything in the field. McTaggart swung out slightly making the turn for home and Woodward was outside of her. There Davies tried for the inside with Sharpshooter, while little Holiday was under a drive and closing somewhat himself.

Inside the last sixteenth Flying Fairy faltered for a few strides and swerved out slightly, but McTaggart promptly straightened her and she came on again fast and true until at the end she still had the advantage of a length and a half. Right at the end Davies drove Sharpshooter vigorously and he just failed by a stride to catch Woodward, and third was his portion.

It is just possible that with an earlier effort Sharpshooter would have been closer, but he had no chance to beat Flying Fairy, for at the finish she had more left than any of the others.

Captain Cassatt came on from Berwyn to see Flying Fairy perform and he was very much elated over her victory.

Trainer Healy said after the race that the mare had run a better race than he expected for he did not consider her exactly tightened up. She came out of the race in excellent condition and it it probable that she will bear the Cassatt silks in the Ladies Handicap to be run next Thursday.

Koh-i-noor, the Dr. Leggo—Priceless Jewel filly from the stable of Schuyler L. Parsons, was the winner of the eighteenth running of the Fashion Stakes when she just beat out Frederick Johnson's Pleasant Dreams over the five furlong distance. Third went to Gifford A. Cochran's Triple Crown, and the only other starters were Harry Payne Whitney's Idle Hour and R. B. Strassburger's imported filly Ginger Snap.

The three placed horses have had a certain amount of education by actual racing and the showing of both Idle Hour and Ginger Snap in the race could in a great measure be attributed to their inexperience and greenness.

Triple Crown was very elert at the break and she was the one to show the way from the barrier, while Pleasant Dreams and Koh-i-noor were in close attendance and Idle Hour was also showing becoming speed. As for Ginger Snap, she broke very sluggishly and it was apparent early that she would cut no figure in the running.

Idle Hour, for a furlong dashed to the front, but it was only a flash and she stopped, swerved and did almost every other foolish thing that an uneducated filly could reasonably be expected to do. In the meantime Triple Crown, on the outside, continued to outfoot the others and to the last furlong she looked a winner. There she faltered and Koh-i-noor and Pleasant Dreams, in the middle of the track, and running closely lapped, began the fight to the finish.

It was first one and then the other to the last stride, where the black filly nodded her nose down in front. Five lengths back of them Triple Crown was a very easy third.

August Belmont's Sam McMeekin was again winner over selling platers when he scored very easily over the mile distance from J. J. Mulrenan's Sasin and the Marrone Stable's Ambrose. The start had some bearing on the finish, for while McMeekin was off in the first flight Sasin left sluggishly and had an immense gap to close to reach second place.

Ambrose was rushed out to set the pace by Lyke, and Flag Day and Sam McMeekin went after him, with Charmeuse next, and even the sluggish Springmass was showing the way to Sasin by reason of his misfortune at the break.

Before the turn out of the backstretch Sasin had moved up on the outside, but he was still lengths away from the leaders. Ambrose was showing the way, but approaching the stretch turn he repeated his performance that brought a suspension to Jockey Ball. That is to say, he bolted sharply toward the outside. He did not go as far out as in his previous race, but it took him out of command very effectively, and as Flag Day was about through Sam McMeekin was left to show the way.

Hayner had cut the corner with the Belmont plater and the race was practically over. Sasin had worked his way up on the outside and he landed safely in second place, while Ambrose, despite his run out, saved third.

The erratic course of the Marrone horse in this race should go a long way in exonerating Jockey Ball from blame when he rode the same horse.

For the opening six furlong dash through the straight three of the five three-year-olds that performed were out for the first time. They were Emden, Keziah and Eleanor. The other two were James Butler's Schoolboy and A. J. O'Toole's Dr. Gremer.

Schoolboy was a very easy winner, while Emden saved the place from Keziah and Dr. Gremer was fourth, while Eleanor was pulled up last after Garner realized that she had no possible chance.

The start was a good one and Emden was one of the first to leave. Schoolboy had broken from the inner part of the course and he also left very promptly, but he swerved over well to the outside and he raced in that position throughout.

Early in the running Schoolboy raced by Emden and once out in front the result was never afterward in doubt. Loftus kept him straight after he had changed over to an outside course and at the end he was well in hand.

Lyke was of little help to Emden, but he rode him hard in an effort to catch the winner. Keziah lost some ground by crossing to the inside and she finished well, but at no time threatened the first two, while Graner pulled up Eleanor after she was well beaten.

Emden is an imported son of Broomstick and Miss Hamburg, which was in the Whitney stable last year. He now races for John O. Talbott and the fact that he was entered to be sold for $700 would make it appear that he is not the gelding he was reported to be last season.

INCIDENTS IN THE CAREER OF BANASTAR.

Banastar, by Farandole—Blessing, one of the best race horses of his day and winner of the Brooklyn Handicap and Toboggan Handicap for W. H. Clark in 1899, and of the Metropolitan and Toboggan Handicaps in 1901 in the colors of Clarence H. Mackay, died Wednesday at the farm of Troop A., at Huntington, L. I. When he broke down shortly after important victories as a six-year-old, Mr. Mackay presented the noted racer to Capt. Fred Dubois. He has done useful service since as a sire of army mounts.

Banastar was a brilliant race horse but of uncertain temper, and two years before he won the Metropolitan for Mr. Mackay he was the direct cause of the loss of the services of Danny Maher to the American turf. At that time Banastar was owned by the late W. H. Clark, corporation counsel of New York, and had performed so well in previous races that he was made a strong favorite for the Suburban Handicap. Maher had the mount and, after a delay of nearly an hour at the post, the crack jockey got his mount away, only to have him wheel and refuse to run. There was a scandal over the affair, and Mr. Clark, who had a contract with Maher, kept him on the ground, in addition to which he was punished on the technical ground of having beaten the horse.

Mr. Clark had paid $10,000 for Banastar to the Oots Brothers of Kentucky, and sold him to Mr. Mackay for the same amount. He proved his worth when he carried top weight 123 pounds in the Metropolitan of 1901 and, in the hands of Odom, defeated a big band. A few days later he won the Toboggan with the same jockey and 130 pounds in the saddle. Banastar was twenty-one years old and his death was supposed to be due to heart disease.

THE LATONIA MEETING.

On Saturday, June 17, at the Latonia track will be run the last of the great races of the Kentucky season which carry in added money $10,000.

This event is the Latonia Derby for three-year-olds, one mile and a half, and is the feature race annually at this famous track, which is the only course in Kentucky that since it was first opened as a racing plant in 1883 has never failed to hold annually both a spring and a fall meeting.

The meeting at Latonia this summer begins on Wednesday, June 14, and comes to a close on Tuesday, July 11, a racing period of twenty-four days. This covers Independence Day, Fourth of July, and in addition to this holiday there are four Saturdays of racing at Latonia this summer. This makes it possible for lovers of the sport throughout Kentucky, Ohio and other states to see much racing at this great plant this season, as many of these patrons of racing can only avail themselves of its enjoyments on Saturdays and holidays, like Fourth of July.

Latonia has under the management of John Hachmeister won its way as the leading race track all around of practically the whole country. That is, it would be possible to hold a longer meeting any season at this track and maintain it throughout daily with wonderful success than at any other race plant in the country under the present conditions around the great courses of New York.

Latonia is in touch with the chain of great cities outside of its neighboring town, Cincinnati, a number of which people can come from and get home even after the races for a late supper, and others are not nearly a day's ride from the great track. These embrace Louisville, Columbus, Dayton, Toledo, Detroit, Pittsburg, St. Louis, Chicago and Indianapolis, to say nothing of such smaller cities as Lexington, Zanesville, Youngstown, Hamilton, Chillicothe, Massillon, Marietta, Mansfield, Lancaster, Ironton, Portsmouth, Piqua, Steubenville, Tiffin and Warren.

Of the big races in Kentucky this season carrying $10,000 in added money the Latonia Derby drew out the largest number of entries, the event having this season sixty nominations, which exceed by four the entries in the Kentucky Derby and by ten the entries in the Kentucky Handicap.

Among the prominent three-year-olds now being pointed for the big Latonia event are: George Smith, winner of the recent Kentucky Derby; Big Smoke, which won the Ft. Thomas Handicap last season; Blind Baggage, the three-year-old star of E. R. Bradley's stable; Franklin, which ran third in the Kentucky Derby; Dodge, his stable companion, that finished fourth in that race; Blackie Daw, winner of the Cincinnati Trophy last season; Bulse, which won five of his six starts as a two-year-old last year including the Harold Stakes at Latonia; Col. Vennie, the crack three-year-old of J. Livingston's stable; Mandy Hamilton, the winner of the Ashland Oaks at Lexington this spring; Old Koenig, which has been breaking records this spring at Louisville in sprint races; Ellison, winner of the Bashford Manor Stakes last season, and Dick Williams, which shows a keener liking for the distance than any three-year-old in the Schorr stable since Star Charter raced at that age.

H. P. Whitney has no less than eight nominations in the Latonia Derby this year, and it is probable that one of his three great horses at least of this age—Dominant, Thunderer or Bromo—will be sent from the East to the Latonia track to run in the great event.

The Latonia Derby in fact this season will undoubtedly be the greatest contest in its long history as a race and will unquestionably draw to the course on the date of its running (Saturday, June 17) the record crowd for this track and an assemblage the equal anyway of any that ever witnessed a race run in the state of Kentucky.

During the coming twenty-four days' racing at the Latonia track there are eight other rich stakes down for decision. The first of these, the Inaugural Handicap, with $2,000, is the feature of the opening day of the meeting, Wednesday, June 14.

There are no less than four great two-year-old stakes on the meeting's card, these embracing the Cincinnati Trophy, with $4,000 added, the richest race for two-year-olds run annually on the Kentucky Circuit tracks and which will be decided this year on Saturday, July 8. In addition to the first money in the event the owner of the winner will receive a handsome trophy called the Cincinnati Trophy Loving Cup, which is solid silver, lined with gold, and manufactured at a cost to the Latonia Jockey Club of more than $500. The other two-year-old events are the Clipsetta, Harold and Valuation Stakes. The last named race carries $1,500 in added money and to each of the former events $2,000 is added. The latter two races have a history as old as the Latonia track.

The big feature race for the national holiday Tuesday, July 4, is the Independence Handicap, with $2,500 added, which, with the exception of the Kentucky Handicap, is the richest race for three-yaer-olds and upward run in Kentucky this season. The other events of the stake character during the meeting are the Quickstep Handicap, with $2,000 added, and the Merchants' Stakes, with $1,500 added.

There will be no purse during the coming Latonia meeting of less than $600 in added money and the special purse events and over-night handicaps on the card from day to day will even exceed this amount in added money.

With a day between the close of the meeting now on at Douglas Park, Louisville, and the opening of Latonia, this will give Manager Hachmeister an abundance of time to reach his office at the latter course early on the Tuesday morning before the opening of the twenty-four days' racing season at the great plant.

Alleging that Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce had declared a race off when there were six horses entered in it, a committee of horsemen composed of Pat Civill, W. H. Fizer, John Gallaher, Frank E. Brown, Miller Henderson and C. T. Worthington called on Stewards Charles F. Price and T. J. Clay Wednesday to protest the action of that official. The stewards referred the horsemen to the Kentucky State Racing Commission with their alleged grievance.

According to Secretary Pearce, the race in question was an extra race, and up until 10:25 o'clock in the morning there had been only three entries in it. He said he saw no possibility of it filling and he put on another race instead of it. At 10:50 o'clock Pat Civill made an entry to it, Pearce says, and this was twenty minutes past the time for the entries to close. The race then filled to the extent of six horses, but in the meantime another extra race filled with eight horses, and the latter was allowed to stand.

According to the rules of the Kentucky State Racing Commission, and these are the rules which govern Pearce's position, the racing secretary is empowered to use his own judgment in the matter of extra races, and he can declare one off regardless of how many entries there are to it if he so chooses.

LOCAL NOTES.

Ed Crump, the fourth winner of the Kentucky Handicap, is a well-made, good-looking four-year-old colt, that is better right now than at any time in his turf career. He was bred by J. S. Barbee, at the Glen-Helen Stud, and bought privately by John W. Schorr, his present owner, when a weanling, in the season of 1912.

He is a son of the successful dead sire, Peep O'Day, son of the English Derby winner, Ayrshire, and is out of Evaline, by Deceiver. Evaline is a half-sister to the great horse Pessara, they both being out of Sister Monica, the sister to Audrain, an early winner of the Latonia Derby. It is the famous Galopade family.

Ed Crump won five races and earned $4,635 as a two-year-old in 1914. Last reason he earned $9,860, winning seven races, and with his winnings in the Kentucky Handicap he has now crossed the mark of $25,000 turf winners.

His next engagement is the Inaugural Handicap, which will be run on the opening day of the coming Latonia summer meeting, Wednesday, June 14, and he is also engaged in the Independence Handicap run at Latonia on July 4.

The Kentucky Handicap was worth $14,250 gross and $11,650 net to the winner. Ed Crump is the second winner of the event to score in the Schorr colors, the Memphis turfman having captured the stake with Luke McLuke in 1914. The time, 2:04 3-5, was the next fastest time scored in the race.

In publishing the foals from John H. Morris' Bosque Bonita Farm in THE RECORD last week, the mares Foremost by Aintree out of Forelock by Knight of Ellerslie, and Tardy by Lord Esterling out of Tarpeia II., by St. Blaise, were reported as dead. This was a mistake as Mr. Morris says they are very mueh alive.

Owners John Ward and Jack Weaver were each fined $250 as the result of charges brought by Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce to the effect that they attempted to "pad" the entries so that the Derby Consolation race, a $1,500 purse affair, would fill at Churchill Downs recently. The charges were originally brought before the Kentucky State Racing Commission, and that body referred them back to the stewards who served at Churchill Downs for action. The fines were imposed by Charles F. Price and Charles F. Grainger, who were in the stand at the other track. These officials held that the charges which Pearce brought were substantiated sufficiently to deserve the fines which they put on the two owners.

In spite of the prestige of the unbeaten Harry Kelly, it seems a settled fact that he will have a lot of opposition in the rich Spring Trial Stakes next Monday, the big feature race of the closing day of the meeting atDouglas Park. This event holds a great deal of interest to turfmen, as the stars that annually contest for it figure the following spring among the Derby candidates.

Phil T. Chinn has bought from Emil Herz the black horse Black Pine, 6, by Rock Saud—Black Poplar, a black mare imported by August Belmont in 1905. She was sired by Petronel, first dam Mettle by Burnaby, second dam Castanet by Cymbal, third dam Peeress by The Earl. Although Black Pine was fit to go on racing, Mr. Chinn did not buy him with the view of racing him. He is a richly-bred son of Rock Sand and an admirable individual, about sixteen hands high, well furnished and possessed of an excellent racing conformation. As Mr. Chinn is desirous of seeing the valuable Rock Sand strain perpetuated as extensively as practicable in Kentucky, he looked upon this American horse of strictly English blood lines as well adapted for the purpose.

Black Pine will be brought to Kentucky and it is improbable he will be seen under racing silks again. He should prove a valuable addition to the breeding ranks of Kentucky.

The condition book for the first eight days of the Latonia meeting is out. The front of the book is adorned with a picture of Royal II., winner of the Latonia Derby last year, and Owner Jefferson Livingston and Trainer Herman Brandt. The $10,000 Latonia Derby is the chief stake in the book this spring, but there are eight other valuable stakes to be decided at the Milldale course.

I see that a three-year-old daughter of John o' Gaunt named Mandy Hamilton has brought off a 14 to 1 chance at Lexington in the Ashland Oaks, beating fourteen others in easy style at the finish. Her time for the mile, 1:41 4-5, was almost a record for the race since it was reduced to that distance in 1890. Mandy Hamilton was bred in Ireland by Mr. F. W. Dunn, and was bought as a yearling at the Doncaster Sales for 185 guineas by Mr. P. Chinn. Her dam, My Sweetheart, is by Galeazzo out of Lady Chancellor, by Bona Vista. It is no wonder that Mandy Hamilton only came out at the finish of the race, for she is bred to stay on both sides, and one of Lady Chancellor's sons, Challacombe, won the Doncaster St. Leger. The family is quite an outside one, No. 32, but it produced a French St. Leger winner in the "seventies" in the shape of Communitant, and good horses in this country before them in FitzGladiator, Arthur Wellesley, and Barbarian, of which the last-named ran second for Daniel O'Rourke's Derby.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

The last will and testament of Woodford Clay, the Bourbon County horseman, who died in Louisville last week has been probated in the Bourbon County Court. The document, which was dated November 15, 1914, after directing the payment of his just debts and funeral expenses, directs that his interest in the firm of Clay Brothers and the thoroughbred horses owned by him individually be equally distributed between his three brothers, E. F. Clay, Jr., Brutus J. Clay and Buckner Clay, and all of his driving horses and vehicles he bequeaths to his sister, Mary Clay. A number of minor bequests are made to his brothers Brutus and Buckner. He further directed that his silverware and other jewelry be equally divided between his sisters, Amelia and Mary, and the residue of the estate he leaves to his sister Mary. The Court appointed Mr. Clay's father, Colonel E. F. Clay, as administrator. He qualified by furnishing bond in the sum of $5,000, with his sons, Buckner and Brutus Clay, as sureties. Since the drawing of the will Mr. Clay's brother, E. F. Clay, Jr., has died.

The Brighton Stable has purchased of John E. Madden the chestnut colt Woodward, 3, by Star Shoot—Sardine. Although a colt of fine individuality and rich breeding, Woodward is a maiden. As a two-year-old he ran three times unplaced, and this year he has started three times and has one third and two seconds to his credit. As is well known, his sire, Star Shoot, is one of the most fashionably bred of the imported sires of this country, his success in the stud having been proved long ago. Woodward's dam, Sardine, is also very fashionably bred, being by Bassetlaw (son of St. Simon) out of Sardonyx by Sir Bevys which won the Derby of 1879, out Onyx by Oxford, the progenitor of the great Sterling—Isonomy—Isinglass strain, of which Star Shoot is the most noteworthy representative in this country.

Woodward makes the third thoroughbred which Mr. Madden has sold to the Brighton Stable since the opening of the Belmont Park meeting, the other two being the brown two-year-old filly Cheer and the two-year-old bay gelding Yellowstone. Both these two-year-olds have earned brackets during the current meeting at Belmont.

M. L. and Charles Schwartz have purchased the two-year-old colt Sortie (brother to Cressbrook, a winner in England) from John E. Madden for a price said to be in the neighborhood of $10,000. This youngster is a son of Watercress and Enterprise and was purchased out of the Haggin sale for $4,600, F. B. Lemaire being the bidder.

Some of the horse of J. O. and G. H. Keene and those of Mrs. J. Shilling were shipped to New York Wednesday night, and they will race the season out on the Metropolitan circuit.

Everything is in readiness at the Latonia Jockey Club track for the opening there next Wednesday of the twenty-four days of racing. A number of the stables now racing at Louisville will not wait for the close of the present Douglas Park meeting to ship to Latonia, but will reach the latter track by the last of the present week. The usual race special of horse cars will leave Douglas Park at the close of the meeting there next Monday. By early Tuesday morning all of the candidates and probable starters in the rich $10,000 Latonia Derby, one mile and a half, to be decided next Saturday, June 17, will be housed in the barns at the Latonia track.

J. W. Schorr's entries in the Latonia Derby, Ellison and Dick Williams, appear now to be certain starters in the rich event. Ellison ran a nice race last Tuesday at Douglas Park behind the two older horses, John Gund and Marion Goosby. He closed resolutely in the stretch of the mile and seventy yards dash and proved conclusively that he possesses a rare liking for a distance of ground.

There are not a few who believe that if George Smith and Franklin, make any mistakes in their running in the coming big Latonia race, Ellison is liable to loom up most dangerously at the finish. The Schorr stable appears to be in good luck this season, and this had a bearing on a lot of followers of racing, who imagine that anything the Tennessee turfman sends from his stable to run in a big race has a good winning chance.

In spite of the prestige of George Smith the Latonia Derby should be the greatest contest in its history this season.

John E. Madden has sold the two-year-old Thoughtful to J. S. Hendrie, through Richard Whyte, the latter's trainer. This colt is a son of Marta Santa and Divination, which finished third to Ivory Black in his only effort. He was beaten off, but raced greenly and is certain to improve. Good two-year-olds are very scarce in Canada and Thoughtful should not be long in earning brackets in the Dominion.

R. B. Strassburger, a recent addition to the turf, has has purchased the three-year-old Fern Brook, by Fayette—Bettie Bramble, from John E. Madden. This colt is a maiden and has never faced the starter.

The Illinois Jockey Club, Chicago, will give thirteen days of racing at the Hawthorne race course, opening Saturday, July 15, and closing Saturday, July 29. Frank A. Froehling is president of the club; E. V. Beifeld, secretary and treasurer, and M. Nathanson racing secretary. Capt. T. J. Clay will be the presiding judge and J. F. Milton starter.

All my yearlings, foals of 1915, by imported Star Shoot and imported Ogden are for sale privately at Hamburg Place, Lexington, Kentucky. The only purchasers desired are those who can give assurance that the yearlings will be placed in the hands of experienced trainers. The yearlings remaining unsold will be trained by me, and sold privately as two-year-olds.

IMPROVEMENT AT DOUGLAS.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 8.—Varied weather was again the rule here. It started out at race time with sunshine and good prospects for an ideal day, but just before the running of the third race came a shower, which lasted until after the running of the fourth race. The third and fourth races were the outstanding features, resulted in good contests and the winners made good time in each.

Water Witch was the winner in the La Grange Handicap with $800 added at one mile and an eighth. The W. J. Young filly scored in game fashion over Donerail after a strenuous stretch drive. Donerail showed the most speed in the early running and held Hodge safe when it came to the final drive.

The third race was at the odd distance of one mile and one hundred yards and Jack O'Dowd's feat of running the distance in 1:45 4-5 reduced the former track record, made by Lawrence P. Daley in 1908. Jack O'Dowd showed a sensationally high flight of speed during the middle quarter and it carried him into such a long lead that he had the race practically at his mercy when the stretch turn was reached.

The Baker-Goose combination was again conspicuously successful during the day, for Goose accounted for three races, two on Jerry and Fan G. from the Baker stable and another on Water Witch. F. Murphy was right there also with good wins, for he had the mounts on Fly Home, Jack O'Dowd and Katahdin, the latter winner of the opening dash at an extremely long price. She is owned by George Long and it was her initial appearance under coloss.

The promising conditions at the outset were responsible for an immense mid-week attendance. Speculation also showed improvement and was on a par with banner days, when no outstanding features are carded.

General Manager John Hachmeister announced today that next Monday, the closing day, when the Spring Trial Stakes is set for decision, will be ladies' day. All ladies, accompanied by escorts, will be admitted free to Douglas Park on that occasion.

The Hamilton Derby is to be run June 28.

FALL DATES ALLOTTED BY COMMISSION.

At a meeting held at Louisville Saturday of the Kentucky Racing Commission dates for the fall racing season were granted to the four tracks in Kentucky. The fall season, as usual, will be ushered in at Lexington, with Douglas Park, Churchill Downs and Latonia following in the order named.

The Lexington track was given ten days, beginning September 6, while Douglas Park will open September 18, with a meeting of eight days. The same number of days was allotted to Churchill Downs with the local season ending October 5. Latonia was given nineteen days this fall, an increase of three days over the meeting last year.

A rule was offered which, if adopted after laying over for thirty days, will do away with the picturesque auctioning of winners of selling events. The rule offered provides for those who wish to buy winners of selling events to place sealed bids with the Racing Secretary within fifteen minutes after the running of the race. Should the owner wish to retain his horse he may do so by the usual five dollar advance.

A report was received by the Commission from the committee appointed to make up the conditions for the event to be known as the Gold Cup. The scale of weights is adjusted and a nomination fee of $25 with $75 additional to start is suggested by the committee.

The official minutes of the meeting follow:

The following fall racing dates were granted:

Kentucky Association, Lexington, Ky., Wednesday, September 6, to Saturday, September 16—ten days.

Douglas Park Jockey Club, Louisville, Ky., Monday, September 18, to Tuesday, September 26—eight days.

Churchill Downs, at Louisville, Ky., Wednesday, September 27, to Tuesday, October 5—eight days.

Latonia Agricultural Association, Saturday, October 7, to Saturday, October 28—nineteen days.

On motion, duly seconded, the following amendment to Rule 158 was offered:

In all selling races the winner will not be sold at public auction. At any time within fifteen minutes after the official board has been displayed any person in good standing may put in a sealed bid for the winner with the racing secretary. Money must accompany the bid, unless the person bidding has sufficient funds in the office to cover the amount. Bids may be made only in units of $100. Failure to place the proper amount in the envelope will not vacate the bid, but it will be considered in force to the amount of the even $100 under the fraction of the $100 that might be placed in the envelope. Thus for example, if there should be $725 in the envelope the bid will be accepted as $700. When the envelopes are opened the owner of the horse will be notified and will have the option of protecting the horse for the customary $5 or letting it go to the highest bidder, to whom an order for the horse will be given. Should there be two bids for the same amount those bidding will draw lots for the horse. The owner must protect his horse within five minutes after the bids are opened or the horse will go by default to the bidder. All other rules in conflict with this rule are hereby repealed to the extent of the conflict.

On motion, duly seconded, the application of a jockey's license for William Buchanan was referred to the License Committee.

A following resolution was offered and adopted that W. H. Hogan be allowed to get another trainer for his horses, formerly trained by John Hogan.

The stewards of the New Louisville Jockey Club reported their investigation of the charges made against certain horsemen to "pad" the Derby Consolation race at Churchill Downs. It was the sense of the Commission that the laws now in force cover this case, and it was referred back to the stewards for suitable action in said case.

The committee appointed by the Commission at its last meeting to write the conditions of the Kentucky Gold Cup race made the following report:

The Kentucky Gold Cup, valued at $1,000, with..... dollars in money in addition, of which the second will receive.....dollars and the third.....dollars added to a sweepstakes of $25 each entrance, $75 additional to start for three-year-olds and upwards, three-year-olds to carry 112 pounds, four-year-olds 122, others 124; mares and geldings allowed three pounds.

Respectfully submitted:

J. B. RESPESS,
T. C. MCDOWELL,
HAL PRICE HEADLEY,
T. H. TALBOT.

The Secretary of the State Racing Commission was instructed to notify the other members of the committee of the action of these gentlemen and to see if they approved of same, or suggest any changes they might see fit and to report back at the next meeting of the Commission on June 24, 1916, at Latonia Agricultural Association.

GEN. WOOD ON THE CAVALRY HORSE.

No man in America is better qualified to speak on the question of preparedness than the Major General Leonard Wood, regarded as a dark horse for the Republican nomination, being looked upon as a compromise candidate. What he has to say is always worth reading. While interested in all branches of the service, the General is an enthusiast on matters pertaining to the cavalry branch of the Army, having given special attention to the remount service.

"I am sorry that the appropriation for experimental work in horse breeding at Front Royal and other stations under governmental supervision has been curtailed from the $50,000, at which it was originally placed, to $25,000, and we, in the service, who know the necessity of having an adequate supply of cavalry remounts are hopeful that the Pittman-Scully bid asking for an appropriation of $200,000 for the placing of stallions of the proper type in different States of the Union where the farmers may have access to them will be approved. Though the work which has been done to date by the Government has been beneficial, it has undoubtedly been a costly experiment. It is safe to say that from all the stations we have not had more than one thousand horses a year. As the cost of maintaining the stations would aggregate probably $300,000, this figuring the cost of the animals, gives us the price of more than $500 for the finished product, and in the end we do not get a top-notch horse.

"If we could place the proper sort of sire—and when I say that I mean the thoroughbred—in the horse breeding communities," continued the General, "and the Government would pay the farmer say $200 for his three-year-old in the autumn, both the Government and the farmer would benefit by such an arrangement. The farmer should give an option on the progeny of every mare bred to one of our sires, and if sold to the Government no stud fee would be charged. If he had a desire to develop the animal for a hunter or saddle horse, then the fee, which should be a small one, should be paid. Only mares which would be approved by Government inspectors should be bred. All inspection of both males and females should be under the cavalry branch of the Army, and the Quartermaster General should have control. Care should, of course, be exercised in the selection of the sire, and only those of good constitutions, amiable dispositions, proper conformation, and with the right kind of bone, should be utilized. I believe in the thoroughbred horse absolutely for an officer's mount, with the half-bred for the trooper. Of course, the stallion should not have been raced much as a two-year-old, as this system, I believe, tends to make nervous wrecks out of many of our horses, besides leading to unsoundness, and I am such a believer in maturity before asking for a crucial test that I would not expect the proper kind of service out of our troopers before their five-year-old form. As a matter of fact, a well-prepared and seasoned five-year-old should be good for twelve years of efficient service.

"I have had a great deal to do with thoroughbred horses and have three of them here at the island now, one by Rock Sand, one by First Chord, and another by Octagon. My daughter has ridden thoroughbred stallions ever since she was ten years old, and she has found them tractable and delightful mounts in every way. In my opinion, they are unapproached as foundation stock for the general improvement of all branches of the equine family. They have the qualities we seek to incorporate into all our horses, and we are only following in the footsteps of foreign countries when we utilize them."

GETTING READY AT FORT ERIE.

Preparations for the opening 1916 meeting at the Fort Erie race track are already under way. The first meeting this season will take place July 4-11, and in connection with this President J. H. Madigin of the Niagara Racing Association announced Monday that there would be ample room for all stables owned by horsemen in good standing. The feature of the opening meeting will be the renewal of the Canadian Derby, one mile and a quarter, for three-year-olds.

RICHARD BENSON DROPS DEAD.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Turfmen of all classes were grieved and shocked at the news of the death of Trainer Richard Benson, who since early in 1914 up to a few months ago had been in charge of James Butler's thoroughbreds and of his East View Farm, near Tarrytown.

From telegrams received at Belmont Park by several of Richard Benson's friends, it was learned that he dropped dead in Kansas City Monday night. He was a victim of Bright's disease and excessive blood pressure, but his death was wholly unexpected, for although in bad health he had been up and about all spring and thus far during the summer. He visited Kentucky and witnessed the big races, and it is assumed that he was on his way to the home of near relatives in the West when he was stricken.

No one of Trainer Benson's many friends at the track appeared to be more profoundly impressed by the sad intelligence, than his former employer, James Butler. He spoke in the highest terms of Benson's absolute loyalty and unswerving honesty under all circumstances.

"Last season," Mr. Butler remarked, "Dick Benson begged me to get another trainer, because he felt that in his failing health he was unable to do justice to my horses, but I assured him that I was satisfied with his training, whether my horses won or lost, and that as long as he would consent to hold his job I would not look for a new trainer. Last winter he told me that I would have to get some one to fill his place, as he was physically unable to perform the duties of a trainer, and I reluctantly began to look for one, as he desired.

"Dick Benson was simply incapable of doing a mean or dishonest act, and I was extremely sorry when he found it necessary to quit my employ. He knew well that I would willingly pay him his salary, whether he was able to work or not, but that was not the kind of a job he would be content to hold.

"Last summer he was stricken in this way once, and I was afraid for a time that the end had come. It was the day that Pebbles won his only race as a three-year-old, and Benson was working about in his box getting him ready for the race, when he suddenly reeled and fell. He soon regained consciousness, although he was not allowed to get up. He was particular to give the boys a message for me, telling me not to allow anything to be changed in the way in which Pebbles was to be rigged for the race, or any change in the plans he had mapped out as to how the horse should be ridden. The poor fellow, sick as he was, appeared to be more anxious that the colt should have a fair show, than he was about his own condition, although he knew he was in a very bad way."

Richard Benson, after having been successful as a trainer and developer of trotters, turned his attention to thoroughbreds something over twenty years ago. In 1895, he visited New Orleans, having imported Percy and some other thoroughbreds belonging to Robert and John Stewart in his charge. Percy, although a stylish, fashionably bred, fast and game horse, had only indifferent manners, and was seemingly on the verge of a breakdown, but Trainer Benson managed to keep him on his legs and campaign him successfully through the winter meeting.

Before this Richard Benson had been training trotters for the Stewarts, and among them was the sensational Ryland T., which held the gelding race record for considerable time. He also handled Walter H., a winner of the Charter Oak Stake at Hartford. Still later, he developed two great trotters in John Nolan and The Roman, both of which won the Charter Oak.

In fact, Benson discovered Nolan as a three-year-old in the rough. He was a pacer at the time, but was converted and made a stake winning trotter of extremely high class. One of Benson's specialties was shifting a horse from the pacing, to trotting gait.

Richard Benson was about 60 years old and unmarried. His surviving relatives are a sister, who lives in Kansas City, and a brother, whose home is in Seattle.

On the first two days of the recent Australian Jockey Club's Autumn meeting the values to the respective owners of the winners of the principal races were: Autumn Stakes, $7,695; St. Leger, $7,180; Doncaster Handicap $10,330; Sires' Produce Stakes, $16,980; Sydney Cup, $21,710, and Champagne Stakes, $12,135.

Jake Byer, acting for P. S. P. Randolph, has purchased the three-year-old Schoolboy from James Butler, and the two-year-old Barry from the Brighton Stable.

THE PEARCE CONTROVERSY SATISFACTORILY ADJUSTED.

At a called meeting at Louisville last week of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, Hal Price Headley, President; T. C. McDowell, Milton Young, J. S. Barbee, T. P. Hayes, J. O. Keene and F. A. Forsythe, acting Secretary, being present, for the purpose of hearing complaints of the horsemen racing in Kentucky on the conduct of Walter H. Pearce as Racing Secretary, it was the unanimous opinion of the horsemen who tendered their opinion that the further services of W. H. Pearce as Secretary were detrimental to the best interest of the turf in Kentucky and John Hachmeister, general manager of Douglas Park and Latonia Racing Associations, was requested to ask W. H. Pearce for his immediate resignation.

A request for the appointment of either Mr. W. H. Shelley or Mr. J. B. Campbell was made. It was also requested that this action be taken at once in the interest of fair dealing and the welfare of the turf.

The horsemen who appeared before the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association recommending the above were as follows: P. M. Civill, W. Scully, E. R. Bradley, J. W. Schorr, Charles Van Meter, Charles Worthington, J. B. Respess, Miller Henderson, James T. Looney, J. C. Milam, W. F. Martin, H. R. Brandt, Wm. Hurley, Mr. Crain, F. D. Weir, Fletcher Driver, Louis Tauber, John Gallaher, Charles Bogan, Z. Arnold, Kay Spence, J. S. Ward, A. L. Kirby, A. J. Baker, W. V. Walsh, W. F. Knebelkamp, W. H. Fizer, Dan Stewart, John Nichols, J. H. Baker, W. J. Young, C. W. Gasser, Pete Coyne, John O. Whitlow, Louis Cahn, G. R. Senn, R. L. Baker, J. F. Schorr, Charles Ellison, E. B. Elkin, J. F. Stevens, Walter Grater, W. H. Fry, Frank Gehring, W. K. Nichols, John Goode, F. A. Forsythe, Homer Selby, T. C. McDowell, J. S. Barbee, David Vittitoe, M. Young, Harry Hunter, W. F. Cisco, W. E. Applegate, R. L. Rogers, W. L. Lewis, E. H. Roseacher, J. L. Paul, F. Hennessey, A. W. Booker, Matt F. Dortch, James Everman, A. O. Bianchi, Jack Weaver, Danny Miller, J. O. Keene, W. P. Reed, H. Price Headley, T. P. Hayes, John Huffman, Jack Adkins, Joe Redmond, G. H. Keene and J. B. Cloher.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 10, 1916.—Mr. Hal Price Headley, President Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association. Dear Sir: An unsigned paper purporting to give the proceedings in part of a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, in connection with various horsemen is before me.

"That communication demands the summary and peremptory dismissal of Walter H. Pearce as racing secretary of this club, for the reason as stated in the paper that his further services 'were detrimental to the best interest of the turf in Kentucky.

"Inasmuch as Mr. Pearce was selected by the Kentucky State Racing Commission to fill this position last year and has served at Churchill Downs meeting this spring, without objection, and as his present appointment has the approval of record of the Racing Commission, that body, before approving a successor to him, may want to know the reason for this summary action if we should thus remove him.

"The paper you present contains no charges against him, neither did the horsemen whose names appear appended to the paper, sign it. They are said merely to have been present and expressed themselves verbally, but we have no means of knowing what was said or what charges or reasons were advanced. While we will go as far as possible to uphold the honesty, fairness and cleanliness of the Kentucky turf, that same fairness suggests that before we cast the stigma which his summary dismissal would imply on Mr. Pearce, or more appropriately the Racing Commission, we should be advised specifically of the charges against him or of the acts or conduct which form the basis of such charges and, in view of the fact that you have given your paper to the public press simultaneously with its delivery to me, these charges should likewise be given similar publicity. You will all agree as fair men that every accused person is entitled to know of what he stands accused before being convicted. This much we would require before summarily dismissing any employee; besides we are not at liberty under turf rules and practices to summarily and capriciously change racing officials after we have nominated and the turf governing body has approved them.

"Assuring you of our highest consideration and that it will be our pleasure to co-operate with you to punish, suppress and prevent corrupt turf practices or conduct unbecoming racing officials upon the part of any officer or employee of this track, we desire to suggest that, in our opinion, it was without due consideration to us or to the welfare of the turf that this matter should have been exploited publicly in the midst of our present meeting and upon our track, thus creating suspicion in advance of either charges or proof, that corrupt and unfair practices have prevailed, and if your communication is to be taken by us as a mere petition for the removal of a racing official because of the individual preference of those promoting it for another person to fill that position, and is not to be considered as involving any turf turpitude, it is proper that you be reminded of the fact that there is a total of 461 registered horsemen and breeders participating in this meeting, a complete list of which is here appended, while but seventy-six of this number were, according to your statement, connected with this movement.

"If the selection of the racing secretary is to be made a matter of mere preference of the horsemen, it is suggested that at least a majority should express that preference before action.

"Inasmuch as this statement involves matters of the greatest importance to turf and breeding interests, and it is as essentially a matter pertaining to the regulation of racing, for which purpose the Racing Commission was created, we hesitate to take any further action and suggest that you promptly bring it before the Commission, which body as stated, has previously selected Mr. Pearce for this position and has approved his selection for other meetings. Very truly yours,

"JOHN HACHMEISTER,
General Manager."

The rejoiner of the breeders follows:

"LOUISVILLE, KY., June 10, 1916.—To John Hachmeister, General Manager Douglas Park and Latonia Racing Associations.—Sir: We, the undersigned horsemen and directors of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, having heard the testimony of over seventy horsemen of character and high standing, relative to the qualifications of the present racing secretary, W. H. Pearce, find from that unanimous testimony that said W. H. Pearce is not qualified to fill the important position of racing secretary.

"We state to you that from this testimony the further retention of W. H. Pearce as racing secretary is a menace to the good of the turf. We therefore request his immediate removal. Respectfully,

"HAL PRICE HEADLEY, Pres.
"T. P. HAYES,
"C. H. BERRYMAN,
"T. C. MCDOWELL,
"MILTON YOUNG,
"J. O. KEENE,
"F. A. FORSYTHE,
"J. S. BARBEE."

Secretary Pearce's statement follows:

"Although Manager John Hachmeister, of Douglas Park, has been requested to ask me for my resignation as racing secretary for Douglas Park and Latonia, I have yet to receive any official notice that my resignation was desired by the directors of the Breeders' Association. No specific charges have been registered against me and I have been denied the opportunity of ascertaining the reasons my removal is desired.

"In my official capacity as racing secretary I have at all times endeavored to the best of my ability to protect the public and the interests by which I am employed. In doing this I have made bitter enemies of certain horsemen. If protecting the public and the best interests of racing cause personal enmity then I welcome the enemies I have made.

"The office of racing secretary has at all times been conducted openly and in a proper and efficient manner by myself and the special committee appointed by the Breeders' Protective Association will find me more than willing to answer any charges that they may make in writing regarding the conduct of my office.

"It is rather unfair, however, that these gentlemen who desire to purify the turf, should make a demand for my immediate removal without stating their objections. A communication containing the names of some seventy-five horsemen has appeared in the public prints, stating that my resignation was desired.

"Some of those whose names are on the list are not even racing horses with us, while others have stated that they have not the least objection to my remaining in my present position. Other turfmen have informed me that they have been threatened with trouble in the event they failed to join certain turfmen in their effort to remove me from office.

"If charges in writing are made against me and sustained by any fair-minded body I am not the proper person to hold the important position of racing secretary, but when the true facts become known I feel sure that my action in calling off the Derby Consolation race and other events and the refusal to allow certain horsemen to take any advantages in my office will be approved.

"Without desiring to enter into a lengthy discussion of the affair I feel that I can state without fear of contradiction that personal animosity of certain horsemen will be found to be the only basis for the complaint registered."

A short meeting of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, attended by many horsemen and the full directorate of the association, was held in the paddock at Douglas Park at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. After President Headley had called the meeting to order Thomas C. McDowell read the following signed statement:

"Fellow Horsemen: The Board of Directors of the Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association feels the present trouble has been satisfactorily adjusted, and will be worked out in a short time to the satisfaction of all concerned.

"We assure you that from now on your interests will be protected. We are at present unable to give details. We want to thank you for the support you have given us, and will count on you in the future.

"HAL PRICE HEADLEY, Pres.
"T. P. HAYES.
"THOMAS MCDOWELL.
"A. B. HANCOCK.
"MILTON YOUNG.
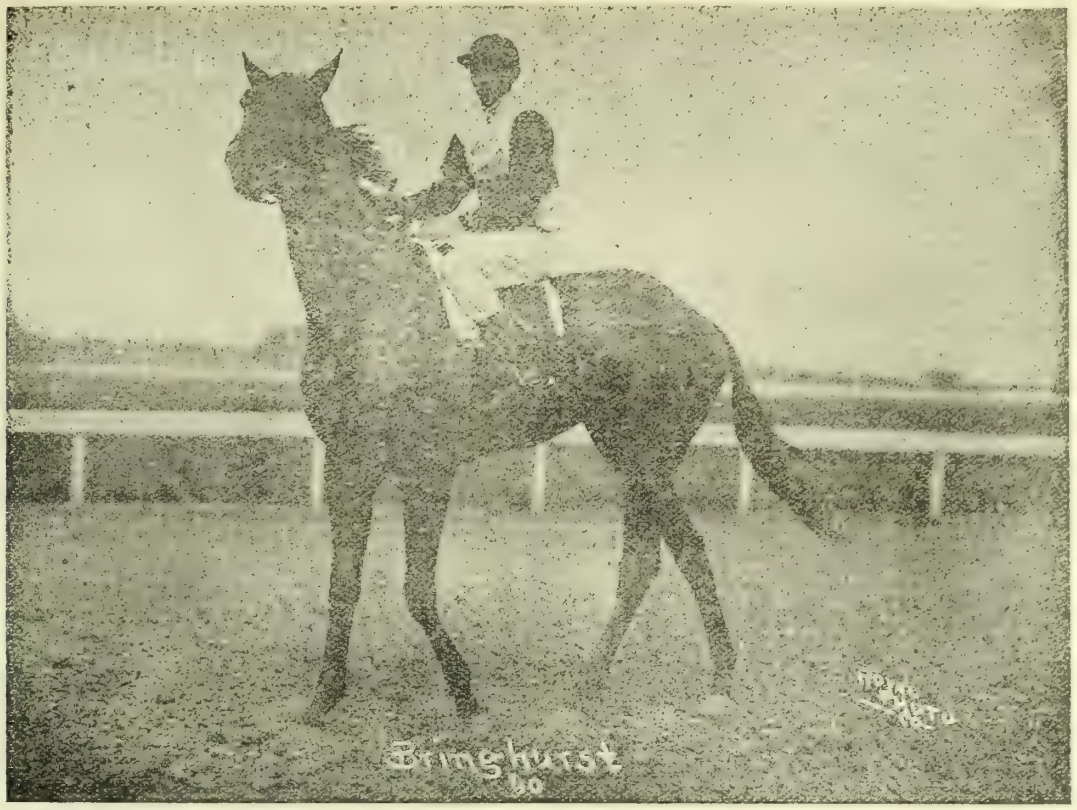
"F. A. FORSYTHE."



The meeting then adjourned. Beyond the statement issued none of the directors would speak further for publication. Before the paddock meeting there was a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Thoroughbred Horse Association at one of the leading downtown hotels, and it is presumed that decision on the course of action was reached then.

General Manager Hachmeister refrained from comment except to say:

"I am glad the controversy has been satisfactorily adjusted, and I am now bending every effort to make the Latonia meeting the high-class one originally planned."

Can the gentle turfite imagine the United States Government entering and running horses in thoroughbred races just the same as an individual? No, indeed, he cannot. But that is just what the British Government is doing. It is running horses in races under the name of the National Stud. About a year ago Colonel W. Hall Walker, being a very patriotic man, donated his stock farm and horses on it to the British Government, the total value being more than half a million. The Government accepted the gift, for it recognized that the encouraging of the thoroughbred business meant preparedness in time of war. So after its acceptance the Government had to maintain the farm, and the only way to do so was to race the produce from it. Many of the reformers in England opposed the gift, but the Government saw the great advantage in having such a farm and accepted it.

It was declared at the time to have been a most radical step, and one which, in the words of the ultra good, must eventually warrant the Government in joining hands with those interested in the furtherment of racing because of the admitted necessity for the state to interest itself in breeding. That this state of affairs has come to pass and is in line with precedents established by the Government studs of Germany, Austria and Russia is evident by the announcement just made as follows: "The stewards of the Jockey Club, to give effect to a resolution passed at a meeting of the club, are prepared to recognize, for the purposes of the rules of racing, leases and entries signed by the official director of the National Stud. The entries are to be made in the name of the National Stud." That this is a distinct step forward in so far as the good to breeding and racing is concerned almost goes without saying, and the evident action of the English Government in declaring itself for racing in such an unqualified manner will lessen to a marked degree the troubles which have emanated from the policy which has threatened England's supremacy in the thoroughbred world from both a breeding and racing standpoint.

IVORY BLACK WINS KEENE MEMORIAL.

NEW YORK, June 14.—James Butler's Ivory Black, the half-brother to Old Rosebud, was a very easy winner of the Keene Memorial at Belmont Park this afternoon and it is probable that he is the best juvenile that has been uncovered since the opening of the New York season. Of course there are many good ones that are ailing, and it is impossible now to hail any one juvenile as a champion, for as a matter of fact no one stands out. But Ivory Black has done what has been asked of him like a real race horse, and he is a much better looking colt than his illustrious half-brother.

It was the closing day of the Westchester Racing Association meeting at Belmont Park and it marked the close of the most successful season of sport over the big Nassau County track since the return of racing. Handicapped by many days of inclement weather and continuously by lack of horses fit to race there was every excuse for failure, but the sport has such a strong hold on the public that the crowds were exceptionally large and the sport singularly free from any semblance of scandal.

For the last day at Belmont Park a good card was provided and while there was no steeplechase plenty of interest was found in the other numbers. For the first time this year a horse started twice in the same day, when Fred Foster sent Balgee in both the second and the fifth races. Each was a mile affair, and he did not meet with any great measure of success when he was only third in his first effort, while he finished last on the second time he appeared under silks.

The Oneck Stable was very much in evidence, taking down two of the races that were offered for juveniles. The first, a five furlong dash for selling platers, went to Spectre, a daughter of Ballot and Star Dreamer, while the other was won in sensational manner by Artemis, a daughter of Star Shoot and Oneck Queen.

Second in importance to the Keene Memorial was The Sprint, a handicap through the six furlongs of the straight course. This brought out a high-class field, and J. W. May's Bayberry Candle was winner over John E. Madden's Marse Henry and E. F. Whitney's Rhine Maiden. A couple of selling races at a mile, for cheap ones, went to Good Counsel and Old Broom respectively.

There were six starters in the Keene Memorial and it marked the first New York appearance of the colors of A. K. Macomber, when both Star Gazer and Fell Swoop were sent to the post from his stable. The others in the field were James Butler's Ivory Black, Richard T. Wilson's Campfire, Harry Payne Whitney's Tumbler and the imported colt, Omar Khayyam, from the stable of C. K. G. Billings.

Little time was lost at the post and while the field left in good alignment Tumbler swerved very badly right after the break, while the two Macomber starters seemed unable to settle down to a racing stride.

Ivory Black, with his advantage of a racing education, stepped right to the front and Keogh, who had the mount, hustled him along smartly to hold his advantage. Campfire was giving close chase and after his erratic swerving Tumbler went into third position. Omar Khayyam for a time was in close attendance, but he, too, was lacking in racing knowledge and he did not long remain within striking distance.

The half-brother to Old Rosebud ran as straight and true as a veteran down the middle of the track and he soon had a couple of lengths of daylight behind him while he was going much stronger than anything else in the field. Schuttinger was riding Campfire hard in an effort to reach the brown colt, but it was of no avail, and at the end Ivory Black still had plenty left to win by a couple of lengths. Right at the end, and when too late, Tumbler came along to finish nose and tail with the Wilson colt, and the other three were well strung out, with Fell Swoop last.

GREAT RACING FAMILIES IN AMERICA.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Not the least fascinating feature of the current racing season will be the comparison of our home-bred thoroughbreds as individuals and in point of speed with those that have come from abroad. Two youngsters of purely foreign lineage, Hourless and Jack Mount, have already won, and as the season progresses and more of the imported colts and fillies sport silk the interest will increase.

There have been in all since January 1, 1915, more than 350 registrations with the Jockey Club, and of these 160 are two-year-olds, of which about one-fourth are entirely American-bred or out of American mares that were sent abroad during the period when the turf languished in the United States.

Much has been said and written about the benefit which will be derived from these importations of fresh blood, some of the best families being represented in the lot. In discussing this point on Saturday W. H. Rowe, the registrar of the Jockey Club, and an acknowledged expert in blood lines, said:

"No doubt there are many winning families represented in recent importations and a satisfactory number of them will produce animals of merit, but American breeders should not lose sight of the fact that we have at home some of the greatest racing blood, viewed in the light of achievement that turf history has recorded. Take, for example, the Maggie B. B., Ballet and Galopade families. There is scarcely a classic in this country that hasn't been won by descendants of these mares, while they figure in the pedigrees of the winners of the Derby and other great turf events of England and Continental Europe.

"Despite their achievements we find that descendants of Wanda and Ballet are barred from registration in the English and French Stud Books because the female line as recorded in the American Stud Book does not trace to an English source. Durbar won the Derby, but he couldn't get into the English Stud Book, it having been ruled some four or five years ago that only horses that traced in all points of their pedigree directly to that authority were eligible for that honor. France, on March 1, 1913, put up the bars in like manner, and Shannon and Blarney, both good horses and winners of big money in that country, would not be eligible for registration under the present English ruling because their sire, Irish Lad, doesn't trace through the female line to the British authority. This has produced a peculiar condition of affairs, for while Colin is registered in the English Stud Book, a sister or brother to him or their produce would be refused.

"This is the time for the American breeder to study the blood lines of the families he wishes to amalgamate," went on Mr. Rowe. "He shouldn't be carried away by brilliant top-crosses, but should delve into the female lines and see that they contain the qualifications he wished to incorporate into his product. We have been accused of breeding a lot sprinters, but I think that if our horses were trained to stay they would show stamina of a high order. Speed must be served, of course, and it is the first essential every great race horse must possess. If we find the happy blend that results in speed and staying powers we have reached the apex of our endeavors."

In discussing the decline in the registration of thoroughbred foals from the high-water mark of 4,415 in 1905 to less than 2,000 last year, Mr. Rowe said: "The registration of 4,415 foals in 1905 doesn't imply that we hadn't more than that number of thoroughbreds born in that year. There were many that died, and others that were not worth recording, in the estimation of their owners, so that I should say that taking last year's figures as a working basis, the number of thoroughbred dams in the United States and Canada had decreased by more than one-half in ten years. It's going to take a long time to get back to our former figure. With the increased interest that is being taken in the thoroughbred, however, and the part he is bound to play in the government's breeding policy, the gain will, perhaps, be more rapid than under conditions that existed some years ago.

"There is no dearth of material," said Mr. Rowe, in conclusion, "for the prosecution of the breeding of army horses, as sires that possess the characteristics necessary for the production of that type, but lack the strains of blood that would make them desirable to produce racehorses, are abundant. Many of the English importations are horses of size and bone, and would make an admirable top-cross for the cold-blooded mares that are to be found in every rural community."

SAND MARSH LANDS FEATURE.

JAMAICA, N. Y., June 15.—The Excelsior Handicap, the feature of the opening day's racing at Jamaicia attracted a large and high-class field of the second division of handicap horses. Sand Marsh won it from Flying Fairy and Slumber II.

The crowd seemed to welcome the change from Belmont Park to Jamaica. Being a mile course, it is possible to follow much more closely the horses than at Belmont, which is a mile and a half track. Then the reverse manner of running at Belmont caused many horses to run out that would have run truly on the regulation course.

FOR PRIVATE SALE.

The following beautifully bred young brood mares have recently been imported to the United States from England by Mr. Irving H. Wheatcroft, and are for private sale.

Owing to the war, Mr. Wheatcroft has decided to reduce the size of his Stud in England, and has a large number of choice brood mares for sale, in addition to these which have just been imported.

HARRY KELLY WINS THE SPRING TRIAL.

LOUISVILLE, KY., June 12.—Maintaining his perfect record and leading his small but select field all the way, Harry Kelly, John W. Schorr's two-year-old son of Ultimus-Woodlane, won the Spring Trial Stakes, the feature of the closing day's card at Douglas Park this afternoon. This race marked the fourth start for Harry Kelly and four victories are to his credit. However today he did not perform in a sensational manner as he beat Green Jones only a length and a half and the time for the five furlongs was :59 4-5. He was on his worst behavior at the post, but finally managed to get off in front after trying in vain several times to unseat his rider.

Five horses contested for the stake race, Green Jones finishing second five lengths in advance of High Gear. Berlin was fourth, he beating Buford a head for this position. The race was worth $3,380 to the winner, $525 to the second and $200 to the third horse. The fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees, which amounted to $75.

Ideal weather and track conditions, coupled with the fact that it was Ladies' Day, when women were admitted free, served to draw the second largest crowd of the meeting to Douglas Park. The stake race was the stellar event even though on form it appeared a one-sided affair, but the rest of the card was a good one.

When Harry Kelly went to the post he had a rope around his nose, and Jockey Guy Garner had a good hold on him because of his bad post habits. After a delay of four minutes during which time he ran through the barrier several times and then started to run the wrong way of the track, Starter Harry Morrissey got the small field away to a good start. When Harry Kelly does break he breaks fast, and today was no exception. He was off on top and never left the issue in doubt at any stage of the journey.

Berlin essayed to try to catch him the first part of it but he found this a hopeless task and was forced to give it up. Then Green Jones took up the running, and he demonstrated that he is a colt of no mean ability. He hung on with grim determination and was going strongly at the end. However, Harry Kelly was a trifle too good for him. High Gear, which finished third, was a trailer in the first part of the race, but he finished with a good rush. Buford, of which much was expected, failed to cut any figure in the running.

*Imported.

A good card was provided the patrons of Douglas Park for getaway day, and the way they turned out showed their appreciation of it. It was the last chance for local turf enthusiasts to see the thoroughbreds peform until next fall. Form was upset in a majority of the races today, and the talent had rough sailing. The women race patrons also showed their appreciation of Manager Hachmeister's kindness in allowing them to witness the final day's racing free of charge, as there were any number of them on hand.

In addition to the stake race there was a handicap with an added value of $800 on the card, named in honor of the neighboring city of Lyndon. This was for three-year-olds and upward, at six furlongs, and Bars and Stars, owned by E. B. Elkins, was returned the winner. At the finish he was a length in front of Bringhurst, the favorite, with Converse third. Six horses fought it out for this event. Converse set the early pace, but he could not stick it out and Bars and Stars took up the running. He stood a terrific drive to the wire to outstay Bringhurst.

The latter dropped back in the early running, but came strong in the stretch. However, he was not good enough. Hawthorn showed a high flight of early speed, but weakened in the final running. Waterblossom was taken back soon after the start and and trailed the rest of the way.

The sixth race, a $700 purse affair at a mile and seventy yards, fell to Votary in a driving finish with Pif, Jr., the winner getting the verdict by a head. Capt. Rees finished third. Brooks cut out the early pace, but he went too fast and was forced to quit, with the result that he finished last. Votary was always well up and he was equal to the occasion when Jockey Eddie Martin put him to a hard drive in the stretch. Pif, Jr., was away back in the early running and ran as though he were the best horse. Dr. Moore showed high early speed. Pif, Jr., was the favorite.

Uncle Hart outclassed his field in the opening race and won by four lengths from Luzzi, which beat Grosvenor two lengths for the place. The winner was rushed into the lead soon after the start and was never in danger. Grosvenor was well up throughout, but could not outrun Luzzi. York Lad came fast in the last part of the race. Lukemae also closed with a good rush. Twelve horses contested for this race, but the event was between the three horses which finished in the money positions all the way.

Perugino got up fast in the last sixteenth of a mile to beat Brookfield by half a length in the second race. The latter was in front most of the way, closely followed by Perugino, but he could not stick it out when the latter made his move. The change from Jockey Art Carroll to Paul Lowder helped Perugino considerably. Harwood, which finished third, ran a good race. He was far back in the early running, but he closed with a good rush. Miss Fannie was never a serious contender. Col. Tom Green showed his usual early speed.

Skiles Knob did not stop as per custom today when he was collared, and he managed to stick it out in the third race long enough to beat Port Light a nose. He was in front all the way. Port Light moved up fast in the stretch and just did miss getting up. Droll came fast in the final running, after being well up all the way. Water War weakened in the stretch. Billy Joe could never untrack himself. Wanda Pitzer was never prominent. Port Light was the favorite by five cents on the dollar over Water War.

Impression took down the long end of the purse in the closing race of the meeting by three lengths from Waterproof, which beat George Roesch a length for the place. The winner went to the front after making the first turn, and he stood a drive most of the way to win. Waterproof was always closest up and finished strong. George Roesch also finished fast. Lady Worthington weakened in the final running. Helen M. was off last and could never improve her position. She was the favorite.

After Uncle Hart's victory in the first race he was bid up from $400 to $705 by Harry Fink He was retained. Johnny Henry bid up Skiles Knob, winner of the third race, from $1,000 to $1,505, but Owner William Feuchter protected him. Henry was second in this race with Port Light.

The meeting which closed today was the best in the brief history of Douglas Park. The daily attendance was much better than on any previous occasion, and the volume of speculation was larger. The racing was clean as a rule, and there were no complaints on the part of anyone in this respect. It is the intention of General Manager John Hachmeister to make many improvements before the fall meeting opens at the Beechmont plant.

FRIAR ROCK IS WINNER OF BELMONT STAKES.

NEW YORK, June 11.—August Belmont's Friar Rock, the sturdy three-year-old son of Rock Sand and Fairy Gold, was a very easy winner of the mile and three furlongs of the Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park yesterday and he very effectively wiped out his recent defeat in the Withers when he was third to James Butler's Spur and Foxhall P. Keene's Churchill. Both of these finished back of Friar Rock in the Belmont and the chestnut was an easy winner by a margin of three lengths.

It will be remembered that Friar Rock was put on the fence in the running of the Withers, and as a result Loftus, who rode Spur, the winner, was suspended for the rest of the Belmont Park meeting. The running yesterday would suggest the entire possibility of Friar Rock having won that race had it not been for the interference. Those who remain loyal to Spur, and there are many, will contend that he was very seriously handicapped in the running of the Belmont by reason of the suspension of Loftus, for there is no denying that McDermott, who rode, was unable to give him proper help over such a trying route.

In spite of the fact that it was another day when wraps were necessary to make out-of-door sport entertaining and the track was still muddy from recent rains, the crowd was an immense one and the sport that was offered was excellent.

The Amateur Cup, the Whitestone Steeplechase Handicap and the Hyde Park Handicap were other features. There was a six and a half furlong dash for selling platers, and at the end of the card a smart lot of two-year-olds met over the four and a half furlong route.

The Amateur Cup went to Andrew Miller's Bac, cleverly ridden by John Tucker, while Raymond Belmont on Top Hat just nosed out Cecil Brabazon on Virile for the place. Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Hibler won the Whitestone from end to end from Lewis Garth's Rhomb and the Northwood Stable's Bill Dudley, while Thomas Hitchcock's Hustler, the only other starter, fell. The Hyde Park was taken by John O. Talbott's Prince Henry, which readily beat home Emil Herz's Sasin and Richard T. Wilson's Montresor. Armament won the selling race for Henry J. Morris and then he was boosted, but bought in, while at the end of the program Campfire won for Richard T. Wilson, while Harry Payne Whitney's Tumbler was second and the Wickliffe Stable's Felicidad third.

Only four went to the post for the Belmont Stakes, and three of them had shown enough this season to merit respect. These were James Butler's Spur, recent winner of the Withers; August Belmont's Friar Rock, winner of the Surburban Handicap, and Foxhall P. Keene's Churchill, which was such a good second in the Withers. The other was Harry Payne Whitney's imported colt Chicle, and while he has not thus far distinguished himself this season he was a real good two-year-old.

The fact that Spur had beaten each one of the trio under equal weights in the Withers made him the most talked of starter, but many doubted, with good reason, whether McDermott was strong enough to give him a capable ride over the mile and the three furlong distance.

Friar Rock was considered as the most dangerous contender and with good reason for he had been severely roughed in the Withers and it was argued that it was the interference in that race that cost him the purse.

Churchill had shown real quality in the Withers and he looked exceedingly fit. This made him the choice of many a critical judge for there was no denying that he looked a more fit horse than the Butler colt.

As for Chicle it was generally agreed that he was not up to such a test, but the fact that Joe Notter was in the saddle make it certain that he was going to be intelligently handled and that counts for a whole lot over that Belmont route.

As they jogged to the post each horse looked fit and ready and there was ample reason for the kind things that were said in the paddock by the admiring groups while the horses were being saddle for the fray.

Starter Cassidy lost no time at the barrier and the four were sent away in the same stride. Churchill was the first to show his nose in front, with Chicle second, Spur third and Friar Rock last. But Notter did not ride Chicle away after he had the son of Spearmint in his stride. He knew that his only chance would be to conserve the extreme speed of the son of Spearmint if he was to have him home winner. He took hold of him and pulled him back, while Churchill was also eased back by Keogh. Haynes, on Friar Rock, and McDermott, on Spur, had no such fears for their mounts and they permitted them to go along freely, though naturally under slight restraint.

This saw the pair of them cutting out the running as they dashed over to the trip around the training track, and Spur had a slight lead over the Belmont colt, though it was so slight that it did amount to anything. Chicle, under double wraps, was racing third, and Churchill was a length and a half further away.

Both Spur and Friar Rock were going very freely, and as they disappeared behind the trees on the furthermost part of the course the Butler colt was showing the way. As they emerged there was a general change in the order. Friar Rock was out in front and Chicle was racing him along at a merry clip, while Spur had fallen back to third place, with Churchill still trailing the field and racing as though he did not altogether relish the muddy going.

It was not until nearing the stretch turn that Haynes let Friar Rock down, and when he did the son of Rock Sand dashed away from his company with ridiculous ease, and swinging into the stretch he had a long lead. The race was on here and McDermott went after him with Spur, making an excellent turn into the straight. Chicle had shot his bolt and Keogh was hard at work on Churchill in an effect to catch the leaders.

There was only one horse in the run through the stretch. Friar Rock had won when he raced away from his company going to the stretch turn, and he was never afterward threatened, to win with plenty to spare by three lengths. Spur, hard driven, was second and he was three lengths before Churchill, while Notter pulled Chicle up and cantered in many lengths back when he found that his mount had no chance.

With a stronger rider in the saddle Spur would undoubtedly have made it a better race, but it is not probable that under any handling he could have beaten Friar Rock. The score of the son of Rock Sand was as impressive as almost any that has been scored in the long history of the Belmont.

FAMOUS HORSES OF THE PAST.

[J. F. P. in London Sporting Life].

The year 1881 was rendered notable by the victory in the Derby of an American-bred colt, the animal to so distinguish himself being Iroquois, the property of Mr. Pierre Lorillard. This particular year indeed was a great one from an American standpoint, for it was during that season that Foxhall, which also hailed from the land of Stars and Stripes, carried off the Cesarewitch and Cambridgeshire for Mr. Keene. Foxhall was unquestionably "some" horse, but he has already had an article to himself, and it is now the turn of his classic compatriot.

Iroquois was a brown colt by Leamington out of a mare named Maggie B. B., and first beheld the light of day not far from Philadelphia. Iroquois, with other of Mr. Lorillard's budding thoroughbreds, was sent across the Atlantic in 1879, and made his first acquaintance with an English track in the May of the following year at one of the Newmarket meetings. His reputation had preceded him, and he started favorite for his first race, which, moreover, he won very easily. He failed to finish among the leading trio in his next race, the Woodcote Stakes, among the runners for which was Voluptuary, which later in life won the Grand National.

The American had no difficulty, however, in defeating his only opponent for a minor stake two days afterwards, but was among the "others" in the New Stakes at Ascot. Then in the July Stakes he got the worst of a fine tussle with Bal Gal, Lord Falmouth's filly winning by a head, but in the same week he easily won the Chesterfield Siakes. Odds were laid on him for the Great Kingston Two-Year-Old Plate at Sandown Park, but once again he was unplaced. At Goodwood he won the Lavant Stakes, but met more than his match in Wandering Nun—belonging to the late member for Wimbledon—in the Findon Stakes.

It was not expected that he would seriously trouble Bal Gal, which had been displaying great form, in the Champagne Stakes at Doncaster, in which he was unplaced; while he also ran poorly in the Hopeful Stakes at Newmarket in the autumn. His final effort of the season was made in the Clearwell Stakes at the Second October Meeting, in which he again ran up against the almost invincible Bal Gal. It will thus be seen that Iroquois altogether ran a dozen times as a juvenile, winning on four occasions.

Iroquois opened his second season in the Two Thousand. He was in anything but good condition, and it was not astonishing in the circumstances that 50 to 1 was offered against him. What was astonishing was the bold bid which he made for victory, the only animal to finish in front of him being Peregrine, which had not run previously. Peregrine subsequently became a warm favorite for the Derby. Among those who favored the chance of Iroquois, however, was Fred Archer, who had ridden a horse belonging to Lord Falmouth, known as Golden Plover, in the first of the classic races. The famous jockey, indeed, went so far as to ask Pincus, who trained Iroquois, to let him have the mount at Epsom, and not unnaturally the request was readily granted.

A victory in the Newmarket Stakes, in which he was opposed only by Lennoxlove, was followed by a "walk-over" for the Burwell Plate. Then came Epsom, by which time Iroquois had improved considerably and had developed into a pronounced fancy, though Peregrine maintained his position at the head of the market right to the end. Just the barest shade of odds were obtainable by friends of the Two Thousand hero, Iroquois being second in request at 11 to 2 against. It may here be noted that America supplied two other candidates in Don Fulano and Marshal Macdonald, both of which carried the colors of Mr. Keene.

The contest attracted numerous Americans to Epsom, though Mr. Lorillard was not of their number. The race itself does not require much notice. Peregrine had been lying handy during most of the journey, and eventually joined the leading lot, but when asked for a greater effort he swerved. This gave Iropuois his opportunity, and he drew up on the inside. A furlong from home the issue rested with the two favorites; but it was soon decided. Once Iroquois gained the lead he refused to be deprived of it, and passed the winning-post half a length ahead of the favorite, Lord Rosebery's Town Moor being third, two lengths away. The victory created great satisfaction in America, there being rare jubilation in Wall Street.

Much of the credit for the victory went to Archer, who had ridden one of his best race. In which connection an amusing story was going the rounds at the time. On the day following the race the successful jockey happened to be in the weighing-room enclosure when an enthusiastic American whom Archer had never seen in his life addressed him thusly: "Look here, Mr. Archer; if you will come over to the States with me and allow yourself to be exhibited for two months you can have ten thousand pounds before you start!" Archer, however, stayed in England.

At Ascot Iroquois won both the Prince of Wales' Stakes and the St. James' Palace Stakes, though in the latter he only beat Leon, to which the opposition was confined, by a neck. He was not seen out again until the St. Leger, for which he started favorite at 2 to 1 against. This he won by a length from Geologist, with Lucy Glitters third, among those in the rear being his old opponent, Bal Gal. A couple of months later he took part in the Champion Stakes, in which the Derby winner of the previous year, Bend Or, also competed. Odds were laid on the four-year-old, which won by three-quarters of a length from Scobell, Iroquois filling third place. With a victory over Ishmael and a couple of others in the Newmarket Derby, the racing career of Iroquois came to a close. Subsequently he returned to the land of his birth and entered upon stud life. If he achieved nothing sensational in his new sphere he was anything but a failure.

THE LATONIA DERBY.

The Latonia Derby will be run today and a glance at the list of horses most likely to start, will afford sufficient assurance that this last of the events carrying $10,000 in added money, given in Kentucky this year, will afford a rattling contest. This race is the real test of a great three-year-old, regulated as it is in distance after the famous English Derby, run for the first time in 1780 and always at a mile and a half.

The following horses will in all probability compose the Derby field:

George Smith	127	Roscoe Goose
Big Smoke	122	R. Small
Votary	122	E. Martin
Jack O'Dowd	122	L. Gentry
Gypsey George	122	W. Andress
Ellison	122	F. Cooper

There are not a few who regard George Smith one of the greatest three-year-olds seen on the American turf in recent years. And if past performances are any criterion, he is certainly entitled to all respect. J. W. Schorr makes no secret of the fact that he thinks Dick Williams' chances are better than good, whild Franklin's admirers like him better at the Latonia Derby distance than that of the Kentucky Derby. Big Smoke has been giving a good account of himself lately and if he has come back to his two-year-old form, he must be considered, because his liking for a distance is a well established fact. Of course there are other probable starters among them Votary, Gipsey George, Jack O'Dowd and Ellison that add considerable interest, as there have been many races of a like character in greatness which have been marked by surprises and dark horses have proved masters of the champions that faced the barrier in such a race. The classic today is surely going to be what all along has been claimed it would be, the greatest race in its history, and with fast track conditions it is quite possible that a new Kentucky track record for a mile and a half will be set in this event this season.

It is rumored that the purpose of the increase in the stock of the New Louisville Jockey Club is to enable it to purchase Douglas Park, close up the old plant and move out to the new one. The Churchill Downs property is in the city limits and is almost becoming too valuable for racing purposes. Both John Hachmeister and H. C. Applegate denied knowing anything of such a deal. Colonel Applegate, however, admitted that he has urged this plan for several years, if Douglas Park could be purchased at a reasonable figure.

The distance was five furlongs, which he negotiated in 1:00 2-5, and won easing up. Buford won his first out at five furlongs in a minute flat.

It was a big day for John E. Madden's Hamburg Place at Belmont Park yesterday. Four of the five winners were bred at his famous farm, while another of the winners was sold by Mr. Madden, to say nothing of one of the placed horses.

The winners to come from Madden were his two-year-old Priscilla, winner of the opening dash; Good Counsel, which now races for H. Neusteter; Cheer, a filly that was recently sold to the Brighton Stable, and F. Ambrose Clark's Lysander, winner of the steeplechase. Of these Star Shoot is represented in Priscilla and Good Counsel, while Cheer is a daughter of Plaudit and Lysander a son of Ogden.

Hanson, winner of the Blackstump Highweight Handicap, is one that was sold by Mr. Madden to J. N. Camden and afterward purchased by S. L. Parsons, his present owner, while Sam McMeekin, the one to race second to Hanson, was sold by Mr. Madden to August Belmont last season. Altogether, the racing of the day was a convincing evidence of the class of the Hamburg Place thoroughbreds.

The one exception to the Hamburg Place rule was in the last race of the day, when Brookdale bred Old Broom was a very easy winner for John O. Talbott. Incidentally, it might be mentioned that of the four that started not one came from Hamburg Place. [New York Telegraph, June 10.

WATERBLOSSOM WINS INAUGURAL HANDICAP.

LATONIA, Ky., June 14.—Leading her field all the way Waterblossom, owned by T. C. McDowell, won the Inaugural Handicap, the feature of the opening day at the Milldale course. The daughter of Waterboy—Bassetting showed a high flight of speed over the entire route of a mile and one-sixteenth, and she negotiated the distance in 1:44 1-5, which is within two-fifths of a second of the track record. At the finish she was a length and a half in front of Pif, Jr., and the latter beat Water Witch half a length for second money.

Six horses contested for the stake, making it worth $2,590 to the winner, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth horse, which was Ed Crump, saved nomination and starting fees, which totaled $65. Hodge and Dr. Carmen were scratched early in the day, while Dick Williams, which was to have run coupled with Ed Crump, and Hanovia were taken out late in the afternoon.

When the barrier went up Jockey Eddie Martin got Waterblossom off in front. She carried her field a merry clip all the way, running the first quarter in :23 4-5, the half mile in :48, the six furlongs in 11:2 3-5 and the mile in 1:38 1-5. Ed Crump, winner of the Kentucky Handicap, carried 128 pounds today and essayed to catch her, but his effort was of no avail, and after laying in second position most of the way he finally weakened.

Pif, Jr., was restrained off the early pace until after turning for home, and then he came with a terrific burst of speed. He could not catch the flying mare, however, and it is doubtful if he would have been second had not Water Witch encountered some bad luck on the back stretch. Donerail showed some early speed, but he could not stick and dropped back. Ellison trailed the field all of the way.

The fourth race brought out a high-class field of two-year-olds. Buford was the best in this race by a long way, and, taking the lead at the start, was never in danger—in fact, his backers had no anxious moments at any time. America was the best of the others, if that is any consolation for the holders of tickets on her. Lytle, a long shot, came along and got the short end of the purse.

Al M. Dick won the opening race of the meeting by half a length from Sleeper. Another race which drew out a good field was the second, in which four horses contested, and which was won by John Jr. Hawthorn was at odds of 1 to 2 for this event, but the best he could do was to finish second, being beaten by the margin of half a length. Guide Post led her field from start to finish in the third race. Othello, the favorite, won the sixth race by the margin of half a length from Skiles Knob, which beat Port Light the same margin for the place. Grasmere proved best of those engaged in the seventh race, and he won by a length and a half from Fly Home, with Samuel R. Meyer third.

The largest crowd for an opening day, with the exception of occasions when the Derby has featured the opening, was on hand at the local track today. The weather was of the best sort and the grandstand and surrounding lawns were crowded long before post time for the first race. Society turned out en masse for the occasion in the clubhouse. Track conditions likewise were of the perfect variety, and fast time was the order of the day. The local turf enthusiasts were provided with an excellent card, with all of the fields being small and evenly matched. In addition to the stake race, there were four events on the card with an added value of $700 each.

INCREASE OF ENTRIES IN WINDSOR STAKES.

DETROIT, MICH., June 14.—The Windsor Jockey Club's total stake entry list this year is eighty-nine in excess of what it was in 1915. With the exception of the Canadian Handicap, all of the fixtures this year attracted a larger number of nominations than were received by Secretary Parmer for the same features last year. The total received is 380 as against 291 in 1915. The three stakes to be decided at the first summer meeting across the river, July 15 to 22 inclusive, are the Frontier Handicap, the D. & .C Stakes and the Edenwold Stakes for two-year-olds. At this meeting will be run also the second half of the Windsor Double Event for Dominion-bred foals of 1913, now three-year-olds, and for which $1,500 prize twenty-two horses are eligible.

The increase in the value of the Frontier Handicap from $4,000 to $5,000 is mainly responsible for fifty-seven of the leading racers in the handicap division being nominated to Windsor's leading stake race. The Frontier presents the cream of the thoroughbred racers on the Kentucky, New York and Canadian tracks. There are also several imported horses entered in the race in Royal II., Arriet and Colonel Vennie.

Among the well-known owners having subscribed to the stake are R. L. Baker, James Arthur, E. R. Bradley, M. A. Colton, T. P. Hayes, George M. Hendrie, Mrs. L. A. Livingston, Jefferson Livingston, M. C. Moore, W. R. Mizell, L. Marion, R. J. Mackenzie, N. Macfarlane, J. K. L. Ross, J. H. Stamper, Jr., J. Sinnott, Mrs. A. B. Stelle, Charles Straus, J. S. Tyree, Wilfred Viau, H. P. Whitney, H. Waterson, R. E. Watkins and E. T. Zollicoffer.

Mr. Whitney has made the biggest entry, his nominations including Regret, Borrow, Pennant, Slipshod, Bromo, Hansa and Chicle.

Mr. Baker names his three stars, John Gund, Pif Jr. and King Gorin, while M. Moore has Marion Goosby, Booker Bill and Gipsey George entered.

Windsor racing this year will be characterized, as usual, by the assembling of many of the leading horses seen on the Eastern tracks, in Kentucky and on the Canadian circuit, and in this turf melting pot attractive sport may be looked for.

The comparative totals of nominations to the Windsor stakes in 1916 and 1915, are as follows:

Frontier Handicap	57	40
D. & C. Stakes	79	63
Edenwold Stakes	70	65
Detroit & Windsor Ferry Co. Handicap	69	39
George Hendrie Memorial Handicap	70	46
Canadian Handicap	35	38
Total	380	291

LATONIA DERBY WON BY DODGE.

LATONIA, KY., June 17.—In muddy going, which could not have been better made to order for him, Dodge, the son of Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby, owned by the racing firm of Weber & Ward, won the Latonia Derby today, and he won it in such a decisive manner as to leave no doubt as to which was the best horse under the conditions. George Smith, which won the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs, finished second, beaten four lengths, but the Eastern representative was not disgraced by any means, as he carried the heavy impost of 127 pounds and ran in going to which he was never partial. Dick Williams was third, six lengths behind the place horse. There were seven starters in the race, Capt. Rees, King Gorin and Franklin, which was to have run coupled with Dodge, being the withdrawals.

The largest crowd that ever passed through the gates of the Latonia race track witnessed the race. Early in the day climatic conditions could not have been improved upon and it looked as though the historic Derby might be run over at least a good track, but immediately after the first race a heavy downpour of rain upset calculations and turned the going muddy.

It was 4:27 o'clock when the seven horses reached the post to try for the rich prize and there was a delay of six minutes at the barrier, due to the bad post habits of several of the starters. When Starter Harry Morrissey pulled the webbing he got them off to a perfect break. George Smith was the first to leave, followed by Votary, Dodge, Gipsey George, Ellison, Big Smoke and Dick Williams in the order named. Passing the grandstand Gipsey George was in front by a length over Dodge, with George Smith in third place, four lengths back of the second horse. It was plain to be seen that Gipsey George was not going to last it out and that the race was going to resolve itself into a three-horse race between Dodge, George Smith and Dick Williams.

The latter was running under restraint, but Dodge, which was ridden by Jockey Frank Murphy, was right at home in the mud and also apparently taking things easy. Just before making the turn out of the back stretch Dodge moved up and took command and Gipsey George began to fly the distress signal. Then George Smith moved into second place and Dick Williams anchored himself in show position, and the procession continued this way to the end. George Smith was doing all that a game thoroughbred could do, but he did not fancy the mud and he could not get up. It was just the opposite with Dodge, however. He was right where he wanted to be and the further he went the further he drew away.

It looked as though Dick Williams might catch George Smith in the last quarter of a mile, as the latter was floundering about, but the J. W. Schorr representative tired unexpectedly. Big Smoke, which had trained well for the race, finished in fourth position simply because there was nothing behind him. He was never a serious contender and he had no excuse as he has always shown a partiality for the mud.

The race was worth $9,950 to the winner, $1,750 to the second and $750 to the third horse. The fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees which amounted to $235.

By his victory Dodge demonstrated that he is one of the best horses in the country over a route of ground in the mud. He can also run well on a fast track, as he demonstrated at Louisville in the Kentucky Derby, when he finished fourth to George Smith, Star Hawk and Franklin.

Despite the elements, Latonia entertained the greatest crowd ever within its gates. The coming of the early showers probably kept 500 or a 1,000 more persons away, for many automobiles parties turned back when the deluge came.

In the early afternoon the weather gave promise of remaining fair for the entire day, but those pesky showers came along to ruin not only the chances of one horse in the Derby, but hundreds of dollars worth of fine raiment, for milady considers Derby Day one of those times when the ultra fashionable in clothes must be displayed. The crowd in the space between the grandstand and the track and on the steps and aisles of the grandstand was so dense it was impossible for everybody to get shelter. The first shower came so suddenly that all could not get under cover and so many of the fair ones were drenched. No attendance figures were given out by the management, as they had not computed all the tickets at a late hour, but it was freely stated the figures would go far beyond that of any other year. A conservative estimate, however, of the crowd that saw the Derby run is 15,000.

Early in the afternoon, in fact at 12:30 o'clock, it was apparent to those who have seen Derby crowds that the one today was going to break all records. The crowd came early and at 1 o'clock not a seat was to be had in the grandstand. This was one hour and a half before the horses went to the post in the first race. The street cars carried their quota and the trains had so many aboard that it was impossible to take up all the tickets, while at least 2,500 persons came in automobiles. The automobile parking system as devised by the management worked admirably and there was little delay and confusion in getting away.

One hour before the bugle sounded for the first race every vantage point in the grandstand, the aisles, the steps and the clubhouse was taken, and those who delayed their betting operations only caught fleeting glimpses of the thoroughbreds as they raced down both the back stretch and the stretch proper. But then they didn't mind that, all they wanted to see was the Derby. If King Horse was ever popular in the days of long ago in this section he is more than popular now; he is adored.

Racing Secretary Walter H. Pearce had a good card arranged, with an $800 handicap for three-year-olds and up at a mile and a furlong as the secondary feature to the Derby, but the change in track conditions spoiled it, and it wound up in only three horses going to the post, Embroidery, Solar Star and Fels. They finished in this order, with the winner having ten lengths to spare at the end and Solar Star beating Fels half a length for the place. The mud just suited Embroidery, and she went to the front soon after making the first turn, and was never in danger thereafter. Solar Star had to be hard ridden to outstay Fels for the place. Embroidery was the favorite at odds of 9 to 10, and her victory marked the third in a row for the form players, Money and Dodge being the other two choices to score. The talent got off wrong when Highland Lad, owned by Rome Respess, won the opening race over Lady Ivan, the "good thing," and they fell down again when Hard Ball, favorite for the second race, failed to get any portion of the purse.

Frank Murphy, the jockey who rode the winner, was developed as a jockey by Tom Brown. He is a product of Cincinnati and his home is on Baymiller Street. Murphy has been riding four years and his first mount was on old Coppertown, which he rode to victories many times. Murphy was under contract to Tom Brown until the latter left the turf, when his contract automatically expired. He has been riding better this year than ever before.

J. S. Ward, part owner and trainer of Dodge, is a Louisville man and has just lately purchased a beautiful home in that city. He has been training horses for more than a score of years and was always ranked as one of the best Western trainers. His partner, Mr. Weber, is a wealthy butcher in Kansas City.

The betting went far above that of last year despite the handicaps. A total of $286,000 was bet, which is considerably under the amount for the Derby at Louisville. On one race no showing betting was to be had, and in another race 5,000 persons were huddled in the grandstand and clubhouse unable to get to the betting ring on account of the downpour. In the betting ring it became so congested at times that it was impossible to get to the machines. At that the betting was nearly $25,000 in excess of that of last Derby Day.

Over $61,000 was bet on the Derby this year. Last year it was around $49,000.

The run-ups entertained the crowd around the judges' stand. W. Covington, who lost Fels by the claiming route at Louisville, retaliated by bidding Harry Gardner up to $1,200, at which figure he secured him. J. M. Henry, Jr., put in a $600 boost for Money when he won, and it cost Joe Hawkins $1,205 to retain him.

George Smith's game effort recalled to Dick Stagman, the local horse owner, some remarks Ed McBride made at Bowie. Stagman was felling a little blue over losing his filly Lobelia. "Oh, never mind," said McBride, "she didn't amount to much; she was too small. Last fall he said I got rid of a lemon when I sold George Smith to John Sanford." After that Smith went out and won the Kentucky Derby and would have rolled home on a fast track in the Latonia Derby.

A. W. Hoots, who was ruled off at Juarez for failure to give up the mare Useeit when claimed by Tobe Ramsey, was given permission by the Juarez stewards to sell his horses. His racers consist of Useeit, Utelus and Husky Lad. The latter was sold today to W. H. Armstrong at private terms.

HOW THE ENGLISH DERBY WAS WON.

Never has a finer finish been witnessed for any Derby than that which we were privileged to witness yesterday, while as the result carried with it confirmation of the leading juvenile form of last season, there was further satisfaction to be derived from that fact. It was very difficult to get a glimpse of the competitors prior to the race, as the paddock was very crowded, and some of the candidates were kept in their boxes until the order for mounting was given. Figaro, looking very well indeed, was walking round the railed enclosure in company with Flaming Fire and Sirian, of which the last named was sweating, as is his wont. I had to wait until they came out on to the course to see most of the remainder, of which Fifinella showed strong disinclination to go to the post until some of the others came along to give her a lead. Her tail was swishing vigorously as she cantered down, but this is a habit of hers which means nothing. Kwang-Su and Nassovian were both sweating slightly, but Canyon to all outward appearance was cool enough.

Except that Canyon's price extended, and that Flaming Fire hardened considerably, there was little noticeable in the way of market changes, Kwang-Su starting favorite from Fifinella and Nassovian. Much sympathy was expressed with Nassovian's jockey, Spear, on account of his being supplanted at the eleventh hour by the Franco-American, O'Neill. Mr. Sanford's colt, like many others, has his peculiarities, but Spear understands him well. As they came into the straight the colt was lying last, but he made up his ground very rapidly afterwards, and fairly tackling Kwang-Su as they came out of the Dip, it seemed as though they would be first and second. Fifinella was in an awkward position on the rails, but her jockey cleverly contrived to find an opening, through which he brought the half-sister to Silver Tag to swoop down upon and beat the two colts. It was a thrilling moment, but without doubt Fifinella was the best animal in the field, and thoroughly deserved her success, which gave Mr. Hulton his first classic triumph.

It is satisfactory to find last year's form working out so well, and with Kwang-Su, Nassovian, and Figaro finishing in the same order as in the Two Thousand Guineas, the three-year-olds cannot be charged with inconsistency. Canyon, of course, must be given another chance, while as to Nassovian, it is not in the least unreasonable to contend that, with his regular jockey up, he might have won fairly comfortably instead of suffering so narrow a defeat.

Mention should be made of another pleasing feature—yesterday was the second triumph this season of Friar Marcus in the Chesterfield Handicap. When the son of Cicero just prior to last year's Two Thousand was found to be deficient in stamina—after the majority of his Majesty's loyal subjects had made up their minds that the Royal colt was the classic champion in embryo—there was no other alternative but to restrict the "Friar" to shorter courses, and it is, at all events, satisfactory that in sprint company he has few if any superiors. Needless to add, his latest victory was heartily received.—[London Sporting Life, May 31.

A. L. Aste has presented the good looking colt, Estimator, to the Breeding Bureau of The Jockey Club. This colt is a rich mahogany bay, sixteen hands and half an inch high, and finely proportioned. He is by King Hanover out of Estimate by Sir Dixon, second dam, Reckon by Pizarro. King Hanover, this colt's sire, is by Hanover out of Lady Agnes by St. Blaise.

It is probable that this colt will be sent to George P. Servis at Mount Morris, N. Y., in the Genesee Valley. Mr. Servis formerly had Goodrich in the stud and is a good horseman. Estimator should weigh 1,300 pounds and ought to reach sixteen and a half hands at maturity, for he is a big fellow even now, although he was a late foal, having been foaled in May. He has good flat bone below the knee and fine shoulders, valuable qualifications for a sire of saddle and cavalry horses.

ROLY WINS LONG BEACH HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, June 21.—David J. Leary's good four-year-old Roly was winner of the Long Beach Handicap at Jamaica today, and at the end of the mile and a furlong he was well flattened out to beat home Emil Herz's English horse, Short Grass, by a head, while three lengths further away Harry Payne Whitney's Chicle, also English bred, was third.

The race was run during one of the downpours of rain that greatly marred the enjoyment of the program, but this condition did not bring any scratches, the original ten, named overnight, going to the post.

The Metropolitan Jockey Club has had more than its share of rainy weather for the second half of its meeting, which comes to a close Friday, and the fact that most of the grandstand is roofless makes it anything but a comfortable course when the weather man is on his bad behavior. In spite of all this the attendance has been remarkably large, and the Long Beach Handicap brought out a big gathering.

After the running of the second race, a mile and seventy yards, for selling platters, John O. Talbott's Monocacy, which finished second to M. Foster's Balgee, was disqualified for having fouled Ray o' Light, the one to finish third. This was the first disqualification of the meeting and it moved Lucky George into third place.

A handicap over the six furlong route was the second best race of the day and it resulted in a well earned victory for W. P. Burch's Corsican over John Whalen's Pullux and the Marrone Stable's J. J. Lillis. Yellowstone, the two-year-old that John E. Madden sold to the Brighton Stable, won a five furlong dash for juveniles and the other two-year-old race, over the same route, went to Ralph D. Earle's Mirza. The other race of the afternoon was a mile and seventy yards for non-winners of two races and Abe Garson's Half Rock, after sulking most of the way, was the winner.

When the horses left the paddock for the Long Beach Handicap the rain was coming down in torrents and the crowd was sorely put to it to find points of vantage under shelter. Some were so interested that the rain had no terrors and they forgot all about the inevitable drenching to have a good look at the race.

Starter Cassidy lost little time after the ten lined up and the barrier rose to a first-class start. Celandria was first to show out of the crowd, but she is proverbially slow to find her racing legs and was at once swallowed up by the others until, when the stand was reached, at the end of the first furlong, she and Short Grass had a rear view of the field.

Chicle has shown on other occasions that he knows well how to step away from the barrier and Lowder sent him along to such good advantage that at the first turn he was a couple of lengths clear and going very freely. The track still had a firm bottom, in spite of the rain, and the going did not seem to be any handicap to the son of Spearmint.

Flying Fairy was showing in second place and He Will was closely lapped on her. The others were all in close order with the exception of Short Grass, which was lengths behind his field. Roly is another that likes to come from behind, and he, too, was in the rear division.

Before the backstretch was reached Johnny McTaggart had moved into second place with He Will, but Chicle had increased his lead to four lengths and he was pulling Lowder out of the saddle. Flying Fairy was well within striking distance, going along in third place, and James Butler's Capra showed the cherry and white well up in the front division.

At the turn out of the backstretch Chicle had increased his lead slightly, and he had raced to the five-furlong mark in 1:00. Lowder still had a good hold of his head, and it seemed there that he might stick it out for the nine furlongs and come home winner. He Will hung to second place and also was outfooting the others. Flying Fairy had dropped back, but Roly was gradually making his way up on the outside, while Short Grass was improving his pace and drawing nearer his company.

At the head of the stretch McTaggart again called on He Will, and as he closed slightly on Chicle, Lowder shook up the Whitney colt, but as he was well into the straight, the son of Spearmint swerved over slightly into the soft going near the inner rail. It was the last challenge of He Will, and when he failed to go to the leader he faltered badly, while Roly was swinging around on the outside with a great rush.

Roly caught Chicle at the furlong pole and after a short fight had him well beaten, but he was hardly through with that before Short Grass came along with a mighty rush and, right to the end, Haynes had to ride in his very best style to have the Leary colt home winner by a head. This final rush of Short Grass took him three lengths before the tired Chicle, which beat He Will for third by two lengths.

When too late Celandria closed some ground, but the others were well strung out, with Sharpshooter the last one to finish.

SOME SPECIAL WINDSOR ATTRACTIONS.

DETROIT, MICH., June 21.—A special race not embraced in the stake prospectus, but which will rank in class and value with the majority of the early closing fixtures at the Windsor Jockey Club's meeting, July 15-22, is the Metropole Hotel Cup race at a mile, to be run on Tuesday, July 18. In addition to the cash distribution, the owner of the winner of this race receives a costly silver cup, which is already in the hands of the engravers. The Metropole, entries for which close the day before the race, will attract a group of seasoned milers that ought to furnish rare contention. It is a surety that, weather and conditions being favorable, the cream of the handicap division at Windsor will be out on review in this event.

Another special event at the first summer meeting across the river, will be the running of the second half of the Windsor Double Event, nominations to which closed two years ago. This race, which will be run on the fifth day of the meeting, has about twenty-five entries, all three-year-olds, and is the most valuable stake for that division of Canadian-bred horses offered by any of the Dominion associations. The distance is at a mile and an eighth, the same horses contesting which covered the five-eighths as two-year-olds last year. This event has $1,500 added money by the jockey club, silver plate valued at $1,500 and 50 per cent. of the subscription fees. One thousand dollars additional will go to the winner if he or she captured the event as a two-year-old.

SPUR WINS SOUTHAMPTON HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, June 18.—James Butler's Spur added the Southampton Handicap to his list at Jamaica yesterday and the clever manner in which he handled 125 pounds, over the mile and a sixteenth route left no doubts of his quality. Of course he had no Friar Rock in the field opposing him, but the race was another demonstration of how he had been handicapped in the running of the Belmont, when John Loftus was not permitted to ride. It will be remembered that Loftus was suspended for rough riding in the Withers in which he steered Spur to victory.

In the running of the Southampton W. Viau's Achievement was the one to race to the place and he was in receipt of nine pounds from Spur, while the Elkwood Park Stable's Celandria, with a four-pound advantage, was the one to race third.

It was a real holiday card that was offered by the Metropolitan Jockey Club and although the weather was again anything but seasonable for out-of-door sport a big crowd was on hand.

After Churchill and Whimsy had been withdrawn from the Southampton there were six left to race. They were James Butler's Spur, the Elkwood Park Stable's Celandria, W. Viau's Achievement, Harry Payne Whitney's Chicle, W. R. Coe's Mustard and Gifford A. Cochran's Pleione.

Little time was lost at the barrier and with the exception of Pleione, which broke very slowly, the field went away in excellent style. Tommy McTaggart hustled Chicle to the first turn and the son of Spearmint reached that corner with a goodly lead. Mustard was in second place and Celandria was right at his saddleskirts with Spur on the outside and a good fourth. Achievement raced right at the tail of the Butler colt and Pleione, after her sluggish break was a bad last and not making up any of the ground that she had lost leaving the barrier.

After Chicle had swung into the backstretch four or five lengths to the good McTaggart eased him back to his company and at the half mile ground he was just showing in front, while Loftus had moved up with Spur and was showing the way to Mustard, which raced along on the rail. Achievement had moved when Spur did, and he was a very close fourth and a couple of lengths before Pleione, which at that stage of the running had gone on by Celandria.

It was seen there that Chicle had about shot his bolt, although McTaggart was nursing him along skillfully. Spur was going very strongly and Loftus was letting him go along well within himself. This was ample to carry him to the front just as he was leaving the backstretch. As he took command Taplin went after him resolutely with Achievement and the Viau three-year-old was racing well lapped on the son of King James at the three furlong pole. But Spur was going along under a slight restraint while the son of Hastings was plainly flattening down and doing his best.

Chicle was sticking to third, but he also was doing his level best and there was nothing to fear from that quarter. Mustard was all through, but Celandria had found her racing legs and she had raced by Pleione, though still many lengths from the two leaders.

Riding a very confident race, Loftus made no effort to come away from Achievement until he had rounded into the stretch. There he shook up Spur once, and he jumped away to come on to a victory of a length and a half and well in hand. Achievement, in his vain effort to head the Butler colt, had drawn well away from the others, and five lengths back of him Celandria very readily disposed of Chicle.

The race was a thoroughly good one considering the track conditions, for it was slow from the rain of the night before, while down on the rail it was deep and muddy in some spots. Incidentally this condition had much to do with the defeat of Koh-i-noor in the Rosedale. The Parsons filly was in a contending position on the rail when she stepped in a hole and, stumbling badly, narrowly escaped going down. In that same running Yankee Witch, the winner, was jumped on and slightly cut.

The Glen Riddle Farm was the winner of the Rosedale Stakes, a five furlong dash for two-year-old fillies, when Yankee Witch, the daughter of Ogden and Event, that was purchased from John E. Madden, scored very easily over James Butler's Wistful and the Oneck Stable's Artemis.

There were six starters, the others being Koh-i-noor, from the Schuyler L. Parsons stable, the Brighton Stable's Cheer, and C. J. Brockmiller's Solveig.

There was some delay at the post for which Artemis was principally to blame. Finally the field was sent away in good order, but Artemis, Wistful and Cheer, which had the three outside positions left slowly.

Yankee Witch went away on her toes and she was early hustled into a good lead by Schuttinger. As a matter of fact she had the race won in the first furlong, when she had come clear and was in a position to pick her going.

Solveig and Koh-i-noor were in pursuit to the first turn, when the Brockmiller filly drew away slightly. Shortly after making the turn Koh-i-noor, racing down on the inner rail, stepped in a hole, went to her knees and dropped completely out of contention.

In the meantime Yankee Witch had widened her advantage and she was going along very strongly when she made the turn for home. At the end she was still four lengths clear. Wistful, after leaving the post sluggishly, had a big gap to close, but through the stretch she was running over her company to land in the place, while Artemis outfinished Cheer, both of which had been slow to find there racing legs. Solveig stopped very badly and at the end Koh-i-noor headed her handily.

Harry Payne Whitney's Tumbler, the handsome chestnut son of All Gold and Flip Flap, was a very easy winner of the five-furlong dash at the end of the program, and after not having been let down at any stage of the running he very readily disposed of W. P. Burch's Alvord. The only other starters were Andrew Miller's Ticket and Mrs. Sandy McNaughton's Spinster, but they cut very little figure, Ticket finishing a distant third.

Troxler rushed Alvord away from the barrier with such success that he early opened up a lead of a couple of lengths on Tumbler, but Tommy McTaggart was wisely permitting the Whitney colt to settle into his stride before asking him to run. As for the other two, they were beaten from the first pole and were utterly for-gotten.

It was not until nearing the stretch turn that Tumbler began to close on Alvord, and he made up the ground under a nice steadying restraint. McTaggart chose the outside, and when Troxler swung out with Alvord in search of the good going the son of All Gold was carried very wide.

At the furlong pole, with McTaggart sitting still, Tumbler was showing in front, and from there to the finish it was no contest to have him winner by a length. Troxler drove Alvord through that last furlong in a vain hope to save the day, and the Burch gelding responded gamely, but he was up against too good a colt.

In his Belmont Park performances Tumbler raced very greenly, but he is learning his racing lessons and though he is a colt of bad temper, it is entirely possible that he will be developed into a first-class one.

Mrs. G. L. Peine's aged gelding Repubican was winner of the mile and seventy yards that was the second offering, but it was only after a long drive through the stretch that he beat home W. P. Austin, Jr.'s Illuminator. Mrs. J. Shilling's Transit was the one to race third and I. M. Hedrick's Jesse Jr., the only other starter, was badly beaten off.

From a good start Illuminator rushed out to make the pace and both Jesse Jr. and Transit beat Republican away. Lykes took the winner well out from the rail at the first turn, in search of good going and when the backstretch was reached he had him in second place having easily raced by Jesse Jr. and Transit.

Down the backstretch Lykes was content to trail in behind Illuminator and on the far turn he moved up, but as he did so Garner shook up Illuminator and he held his lead cleverly. In the meantime Transit had shaken off Jesse Jr., and was closing some ground.

Lykes made his second move at the head of the stretch and as he did so Illuminator bore out badly. carrying him well beyond the middle of the track. This offered Transit his opportunity and Shilling drove him hard in an effort to save the day.

All the way to the finish Illuminator continued to carry Republican out and it was only a hard drive that brought him home winner.

Joseph E. Davis took down the opening six-furlong dash when Brooks, a three-year-old that he purchased from Mrs. J. Shilling for $3,500 before post time, beat home a lot of platers. C. W. Gasser's Dolina was the one to race to the place, and James Butler's Grasp was third.

There was some delay at the post, and when the barrier rose David Gideon's Little Dipper jumped to the front, and Dolina and Edna Kenna were right there in the front end. Ataka, Lady Little, Excelsior and Garnet were the tail-enders.

Little Dipper was rushed along into a good lead and Dolina hung to second, while Shilling was working his way up on the outside with Brooks. Grasp was in close quarters and Edna Kenna was having a rough journey.

At the head of the stretch Little Dipper bore out very badly, and Dolina and Grasp also lost considerable ground. Edna Kenna saved ground and she loomed up dangerously for an instant, but then along came Brooks on the outside of all of them and, finishing very gamely under a long drive, he was up in time to win by a head over Dolina, while Grasp was third only half a length further away.

R. Newman's Daingerfield was just up in the last stride to win the mile and a sixteenth of the fifth race from M. Foster's Balgee, while J. J. Mahon, Jr.'s, Royal Meteor, after cutting out all the early pace, was a distant third.

From a good start Taplin drove Royal Meteor along on the rail to the first turn where he was showing the way to Balgee by a narrow margin, while Day Day was racing third just half a length before Daingerfield, while Monmouth and Trovato brought up the rear.

Through the backstretch Royal Meteor held to his lead of a length and a half and he was under a slight restraint. Balgee still was showing in second place, while little Campbell had moved up on the outside with Daingerfield and he was going along very strongly in third place.

Royal Meteor was all through when three furlongs from the finish and as he dropped back Balgee and Daingerfield raced off in front and the fight was on to the finish. At the head of the stretch it seemed certain that Daingerfield would run over the Foster plater, but he was far from being through and when he bore out badly, and carried the Newman gelding with him it was a battle all the way home.

First one and then the other showed his nose in front until in the very last stride Campbell dropped Daingerfield's nose down in front. This battle took them out ten lengths in front of the tired Royal Meteor, but he had no trougle in saving third.

JULIAN IS WINNER OF ENGLISH SUBURBAN.

LONDON, June 17.—The substitute for the famous City and Suburban, the Suburhan Handicap of $5,000, was run off today at Lingfield and won by Lord Carnarvon's Julian, b c, 3, by Valens—Altiora, ridden by Smyth. J. Buchanan's Gay Lally, ch h, 5, by Lally —Girsha, with Fox in the saddle, was second and Achtoi, br c, 4, by Santoi—Achray, owned by W. Singer, third, with Trigg up.

Fifteen entries were received for this important handicap, but only eleven horses went to the post.

The betting was: Julian 4 to 1, Gay Lally 7 to 4, and Achtoi 8 to 1.

Trainer Goldsborough is giving Roamer a careful preparation for the Brooklyn Handicap, and he reports that Mr. Miller's wonderful gelding is taking kindly to his work for the big race which will be run June 24, the opening day of the meeting at Aqueduct. His report concerning the two-year-olds in his charge is not unqualifiedly favorable, as some of them are not up to his expectations thus far. He says that Skeptic, by Sain, out of Inspiration, has turned out to be an uncommonly good colt, and that he likes Mother Machree, out of Lady Quex. Both of these he regards as youngsters of unquestionable promise.

W. T. Anderson's three-year-old filly Renard, a fast daughter of Voter and Prinzessin, has been destroyed by her owner. This filly was badly cut down at the post in her only start of the season at Havre de Grace this spring. Despite her injury, she raced with exceeding gameness and was only defeated by the slightest of margins. Upon Renard's return to the stable the full extent of her injury was ascertained, but it was believed that she might be saved for breeding purposes. This hope, however, had to be given up.

TUMBLER WINS YOUTHFUL STAKES.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Harry Payne Whitney's Tumbler still has James Butler's Ivory Black to beat before he can be hailed as the early season champion, but the easy manner in which the handsome big chestnut son of All Gold and Flip Flap won the Youthful Stakes at Jamaica today makes it certain that Ivory Black has more to fear from him than any two-year-old that has been raced about New York this season.

The Youthful was the big feature of the Metropolitan Jockey Club racing day, and Tumbler was being pulled up at the end by Tommy McTaggart after he had accepted the worst of the break. It was a race to suggest that had he been as good a colt for the running of the Keene Memorial, in which he was third to Ivory Black and Campfire, he would have at least made it very interesting for the half-brother to Old Rosebud instead of finishing third to him.

While at the barrier for the Youthful, Tumbler demonstrated that he is still something of a rowdy and he was responsible for a delay in the line-up. When the barrier was sprung both he and Ballad were off badly, while Basil, Dunga Din and Koh-i-noor left running. The Butler colt was particularly unfortunate, for in addition to breaking slowly he was bumped by Tumbler as the big son of All Gold went by and he was knocked back so far that any chance he may have had for a part of the prize was hopelessly gone.

Tommy McTaggart accepted the break with Tumbler and he very wisely did not make any attempt to rush the big chestnut colt until he had settled nicely into his racing stride. In the meantime Basil, Dunga Din and Koh-i-noor were being hustled along in front and Ballad was a distant trailer.

That was the order to the three-furlong pole, where McTaggart saw an opening and he shot Tumbler through. In a dozen strides he dashed from fourth place to the lead, and the race was over.

Through the stretch Garner went a bit wide with Basil and he was driving him hard for the run home, but the big son of All Gold was only romping in front of him, and right at the end he was being pulled up to win by a couple of lengths.

Basil, though he bore out badly in the run home, very readily saved the place, and Dunga Din, after having raced prominently all the way, saved third from Koh-i-noor by a half length. This last named filly was giving away considerable weight and she faltered under the burden when the real test came.

As for Ballad, after his misfortune at the break, he circled around his field cleverly and closed such a gap that he would have beaten the filly for fourth in a few more strides.

Sky, the Ogden—Stars filly that John E. Madden sold to R. L. Bresler, beat a field of maiden juveniles over the five furlong dash in the opening number. L. Becker's old campaigner Brighouse disposed of a big field of sprinters in a six furlong dash. Slumber II. was winner of the Montague Handicap, a companion feature to the Youthful, in which he made all the pace for a mile and a sixteenth to dispose of Blue Thistle and Star Gaze. Sam McKeekin won another mile and a sixteenth selling race for August Belmont, and then came back lame; while at the end of the card Emil Herz's Sasin was an easy winner of the two-horse race, over the mile and seventy yards, from the Quincy Stable's Sky Pilot.

STARTLING WINS NEWTOWN SELLING STAKES.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Rain was a starter in almost every race at the Jamaica course today. There would be a lull between times, but the general order was a drenching downpour just about the time the horses were due to leave the paddock. As the sloping lawns at the course of the Metropolitan Jockey Club are particularly good vantage points this starting of the rain with each race was something of a handicap to the big crowd that had been fooled into the belief that the summer shower would be over long before post time for the first race.

The Richmond Handicap was run in one of the intermittent downpours of rain, and the track was sloppy when the horses left the barrier. Harry Shaw broke well, but it was a field that fairly bristled with speed, and of the lot Ormesdale, with his light weight of 103 pounds, seemed to be most favored. He quickly raced to the front, while Hanson raced at his tail, and he was two lengths before Marse Henry, which led Conning Tower by a like distance. After breaking in front Harry Shaw was soon last.

Shortly after leaving the backstretch Marse Henry went to Hanson and he very handily raced by the Parsons starter. In fact he went up so resolutely that he was soon well lapped on Ormesdale and he was hailed as a sure winner before he had made the turn into the stretch.

As the two hooked up Ormesdale quickened his pace and the pair of them very readily drew away from Hanson and there was nothing to fear from the other two for they were already well beaten At the head of the stretch Ormesdale had not more than a neck advantage and he was apparently doing his best, but Marse Henry was well flattened out himself and could come no closer.

From the furlong pole to the finish it was a bitter fight and Johnny McTaggart had to depend on a hand ride, for Ormesdale does not relish the whip. This hand ride did the work, but at the end he was only a head before the son of Ben Brush and he was doing his level best.

Richard F. Carman's Startling has always shown a partialty for the muddy going, and a heavy downpour just before the running of the Newtown Selling Stakes just suited him, and he was returned winner over Etruscan, which was starting for the first time under the silks of Mrs. Godfrey Preece. After the finish little Preece, who had the mount on his mother's horse, had to be lifted from the saddle and carried to the scales, and an examination revealed that he had ridden the race with a broken right leg. He had been hurt at the post, and the ride was a wonderfully game performance.

Etruscan was the one to cut out the early running, but on the far turn Startling raced by him handily, and the result was never afterward seriously in doubt. Bonnie Tess, from the Quincy Stable, and one that was favored by the track conditions, was a bit slow leaving the barrier, and she had to close a big gap to finish in third place.

Feminist, the Gifford A. Cochran starter, had gone with some of the early pace, but she quit very badly when the real test came, while Plaudito and Finalee were always badly outrun.

Beyond doubt the serious injury that came to little Preece had much to do with the defeat of Etruscan. The marvel of it was that the little fellow stuck to the saddle at all. He did much more than that, for, making the turn for home, he saved ground, and, in his crippled condition, gamely made an effort to drive his horse.

He was carried back to the scales after the race and Dr. J. Bertram Dowd, the track physician administered first aid, and after the broken leg had been bandaged in splints he was sent to the hospital.

This was not the only misfortune that visited the Preece family in the Newtown, for Etruscan was claimed from Mrs. Preece for $1,600 by M. F. Mount, who had started Finalee.

An X-ray examination of Jockey Preece's leg disclosed the fact that there were three separate fractures in the lad's leg. He was crowded in between horses while at the post. Getting his mount off in front, he rode in such a vigorous manner that not one person in the stand or on the lawns was aware of the accident.

The Jay, b c, 5, by Goldfinch—Clara J., by Watercress, won the Mayville Handicap, one and one-eighth miles, at Durban, Africa, on May 6.

On the same day the Ascot Handicap, six furlongs, was won by Wise Judge, b c, 5, by Golden Maxim—Verdict, by Tyrant.

Harry La Montagne has bought from the Oneck Stable the four-year-old chestnut gelding, Distant Shore, by Yankee out of Lady Schorr.

R. B. Strasburger has purchased from James Butler, Panacea, b c, 3, by Peter Pan—Mintcake.

HANOVIA WINS AVONDALE HANDICAP.

LATONIA, KY., June 19.—Mud again was the order of the day at the Milldale course, the going being unusually heavy. This was particularly true of the feature event, the Avondale Handicap, at a mile and a furlong for three-year-olds and upward, which fell to Hanovia by the margin of half a length over Grover Hughes, with King Gorin third. Olga Star was the only other starter in this race and at the finish the field was less than three lengths apart. The event had an added value of $800 and was worth $665 to the winner.

If there is anything Grover Hughes likes better than mud it is more mud, and he showed that today, but the distance was a trifle too far for him. He went to the front at the break and led until after passing the sixteenth pole in the stretch. Hanovia was given a well timed ride by Jockey Clyde Van Dusen and when he let her out she came with a rush. She overtook Grover Hughes near the finish and stood a hard head and head drive with him. At the seventy yards pole, however, she drew into a short lead and held it. King Gorin chased after Grover Hughes most of the way, but weakened in the final running. Olga Star made her usual stretch run, but she could not get up today.

So bad were track conditions today that one race, the fourth on the card, an allowance affair at six furlongs for three-year-olds, had to be declared off and in its place was substituted a selling event at one mile and seventy yards. The weatherman did not send any rain during the afternoon, although it looked threatening shortly after noon, but this did not hold down the attendance. The crowd was the largest in a long while here for a Monday.

The shortest priced horse of the meeting showed up in the third race in Frigerio. The Baker horse was quoted at 1 to 4, and won with ridiculous ease, although his backers had many anxious moments along about the quarter pole. Goose sent him out into a lead, but when they got up to the last turn Buford was gaining fast, and just for a brief instant it looked as though he might overtake him, but no chance, he was too good, and when Goose gave the word Frigerio moved up, opened up more daylight and never was in danger.

The original fourth race was riddled by scratches and a new one substituted, and it fell to Mose Goldblatt with his Sosius. Sosius was made an odds-on favorite and really should have been at a shorter price, judging by his performance. His backers never had one anxious moment, for he flew to the front and was going like a Derby horse at the finish, being many lengths ahead of all the others. Miss Fannie was the best of the others and was chasing Sosius all the way. She tired in the stretch, but managed to stick it out. George Roesch dropped into the third place after Blue Cap had made her run on the upper turn and failed.

The first event for two-year-old fillies went to Bourbon Lass (by Bourbon Beau—Lassie), which easily outran everything in the race. She got away in a forward position and then ran like a frightened deer, finishing in front with eight lengths to spare. Ginger Quill picked up Little Spider when that one tired and, in a driving finish, got the place by a nose. The others, including Feint, a good thing, were far back.

The spill took place in the second event, when Sansyming, one of the favorites, jumped on the horse in front of him just before rounding the clubhouse turn and went down in a heap. Murphy, on John W. Klein, the favorite for the race, pulled out of the way of the fallen horse, and this ruined whatever chances he had of winning. Elkton was out showing the way and was another winner by a good, big margin. Margaret E., a long shot, was second and The Carmet third.

Mex had the speed and set the pace in the sixth race. Tillotson laid in third position most of the way and then came on in the stretch and won out. Morristown also moved up in the stretch, but never got to Tillotson. Choctaw dropped into third position.

Samuel R. Meyer could not get to the front in the early stages in the seventh race, which ruined his chances, and Yenghee could not stick it out, after leading nearly all the way. Sauterelle, rather inconsistent, moved up from second place and won easily over Yenghee. Jessie Louise was third for the most part of it.

The official time for the second race was 1:50 2-5, but practically all of the private timers caught it in 1:56 3-5, Timer S. K. Hughes admitted that he made a mistake, but he said that he did not know how far off he was. This race was at a mile and one-sixteenth, and for the fourth race, which was at a mile and seventy yards and won by Sosius, a much better horse than Elkton. The official time hung out was 1:51 2-5, a full second slower.

DISPERSAL OF THE FAMOUS COBHAM STUD.

In consequence of the approaching termination of the lease on the property, the whole of the stock at Cobham Stud, England, comprising stallions, mares and foals, yearlings, and other stock, will be sold at public auction on the premises on Wednesday, July 26, 1916. Mr. Allison was the principal shareholder in the old Cobham Stud which commenced its sales in 1873 and had four Derby winners (Blair Athol, Macaroni, Blue Gown and George Frederick) all standing there, and he has been the lessee of the property for over twenty-four years, of which the lease for the last twenty-one terminates in December this year. Therefore, a sale of all the stock is absolutely necessary, and buyers will find in such a sale a very exceptional opportunity.

There is not a civilized country in the world which has not greatly improved its blood-stock by importations from Cobham. Among stallions sold from or through the Cobham Stud during the twenty-one years' lease are: Bill of Portland, Haut Brion, St. Gatien, Carnage, Patron, Earlston, Soult, Kenilworth, Dieudonne, En Garde, Arizona, Wisemac, Pure Gem, Gascony, Great Scot, St. Damien, Galtee More, Ard Patrick, Sandringham, Pistol, Uniform, Sir Tristram, Bardolph, Skopos, Sir Robert, St. Savin, Royal Scot, Paper Colllar, Cupbearer, Shaddock, Spate, Slave Trader, Standen, Friar Tuck, Rock Sand, Persian Knight, Caiman, Ahab, Kaross, Nobleman, Arkle, Islington, Juvenal, Chesney, Star Ruby, Watercress, Shapfell, Sorcerer, Flotsam, Ercildoune, and many others.

Winners too numerous to mention have descended from these mares: Harmonicon, the fastest horse of his day in England, is by Disguise II. out of Harpsichord. Broomstick, the leading sire in America for the past three years, is out of Elf (imp.) by Galliard out of Sylvabelle (imp.).

Mr. Allison writes of the sale as follows:

"The stud will come up for sale just when its fortunes were looking brightest. Never has a young stallion been, in my experience, so thoroughly well patronized as Javelin. Flotsam, Ouadi Halfa, Cornstalk and Jingling Geordie are all in high favor.

"There has been an absolutely clean bill of health for years, and it is beyond question that but for the impending termination of the lease, the Cobham Stud would touch a higher point of greatness than it ever did; but the sale is an inexorable necessity and that, too, at a time when War prices will be all in favor of the buyers.

"I shall be very glad to act for any who cannot themselves be present and will favor me with their instructions. Any lots purchased can be kept at Cobham until there is an opportunity to ship them."

BREEDERS' FUTURITY FOR 1918.

Secretary Garret D. Wilson announces the full conditions of the ninth renewal of the rich Breeders' Futurity in this issue of THE RECORD. The Breeders' Futurity just opened like that of 1917, will be run at the autumn meeting instead of in the spring as formerly, the distance being over the Futurity Course, about 170 feet less than six furlongs. $2,500 is added to this stakes, which has grown to be one of the most valuable events for two-year-olds now offered in America. The first Breeders' Futurity to be run in the fall will be that of 1917, which closed with 260 nominations, 200 making second payment, and which has an estimated value of $12,000, making it second only to the Futurity among important juvenile fixtures.

Entries for the Breeders' Futurity will close on Saturday, July 1, and with the very nominal fee of $5 to enter, surely no breeder will overlook this opportunity to enhance the value of his colt. The nominators of the first, second and third horses receive $300, $200 and $100 respectively. For full conditions see announcement elsewhere in this issue.

SALE OF THE OXNARD YEARLINGS.

The sale of the yearlings of Henry T. Oxnard's Blue Ridge Stud will be conducted by the Powers-Hunter Company Monday evening, June 26; at Durland's in West 66th Street, New York. Durland's tan barked arena was the scene a fortnight ago of the sale of the yearlings of Arthur B. Hancock's Ellerslie Farm and the fact that twenty-three head brought $44,550 indicated that the thoroughbred market had recovered its old strength.

Mr. Oxnard's farm is brilliantly represented on the American turf this season by Spur, winner of the Withers and Southampton Stakes; Roly, an exceptionally fast miler; Old Koenig, Royal Martyr, Lady Rotha, Corsican, Little Nearer, etc., and it has horses of various ages racing successfully in Great Britain, South Africa, India and Australia. But there are no two-year olds from Blue Ridge racing this season because all the Oxnard yearlings were destroyed by fire last spring. The youngsters that will be offered at Durland's on the 26th, are sons and daughters of King James (sire of Spur), Superman (sire of Superhuman and Judge Wright), Golden Maxim (sire of Roly and Old Koenig), Sir Wilfred (sire of the Futurity winner Trojan and the ill-starred Headmast), and other horses. Golden Maxim is a full brother of Jim Gaffney, the sire of the Latonia Derby winner Dodge, and of Dodge's equally distinguished stablemate Franklin.

Blue Ridge now ranks among the leading American breeding farms. Mr. Oxnard sends to the races more thoroughbreds than any breeder in the country save John E. Madden.

Catalogues of the sale may be had at THE RECORD office.

HAMILTON MEETING AROUSES INTEREST.

With the Hamilton Jockey Club's seven-day meeting scheduled to open today race-goers in that vicinity are preparing to enjoy a whirl at the sport. Hamilton will run for seven days and then the thoroughbreds will move on to Fort Erie for another seven-day meeting, beginning July 4.

With a fine list of stake events the Hamilton meeting this year should result in one of the most successful gatherings ever staged in that Canadian city. Opening day will see the running of the Dominion Plate, one mile and an eighth, a steeplechase and five other races.

Among the other stakes to be decided are the Hamilton Derby, which will be run on the fourth day; the Spring Brewery Stakes, and the National Handicap. The eligible list for the Derby is a big one, and many of the three-year-olds entered in this event are also eligible for the Canadian Derby to be run at Fort Erie.

Many stables from Kentucky will ship or have shipped to Hamilton. The Blue Grass Region will be well represented in Canada from now on, the start being made at Hamilton and continuing on down through the Fort Erie and Windsor meetings, and winding up in northern Canada and at Toronto in the fall.

Keen interest is manifested in the Hamilton races by Buffalo race-goers on account of the fact that the same horses will later race at the course across the river. A big delegation will go over from Buffalo today.

LOCAL NOTES.

Dodge, Weber & Ward's crack Jim Gaffney colt, winner of the Latonia Derby and numerous other races, is not named for Mr. Ward's brother-in-law Major V. K. Dodge of Lexington, as is generally supposed, but for the popular automobile by that name. Mr. Ward is three-fifths owner of the Phoenix Motor Car Co., of this city, which handled the Dodge and Franklin cars at the time Dodge was named, and as he was not considered as high-class as Franklin, he was named for the cheaper car, and Franklin (also by Jim Gaffney) for the higher-priced one.

This year Mr. Ward has carried out the same idea in naming his two good two-year-olds by Jim Gaffney, Berlin and Sedan after two models of the Franklin car, this firm is now selling.

The beautifully bred English mare Collar of Roses recently imported by Irving H. Wheatcroft, was sold this week to Corrigan and McKinney for their Wickliffe Stud, the sale being made through THE THOROUGHBRED RECORD CO. Collar of Roses is a bay mare foaled in 1909 by Collar out of Trent Rose by Trenton, next dam Rosalys by Bend Or. Collar of Roses has a splendid filly foal by Fitz Grafton at her side and is in foal to imp. Assagai. The mare and foal were quartered at Edenwold Stud, Tennessee, along with other of the Wheatcroft horses, and were shipped from there to Lexington Wednesday morning.

Mr. Irving H. Wheatcroft has had the misfortune to lose the bay mare Standard Bread, foaled 1907. During a severe wind storm at Edenwold Farm a tree was blown down and fell on her, killing her instantly. Standard Bread, (own sister to Sir Robert) was by Collar (sire of the winners of over $450,000), out of Tartine, dam of Tartoller, Sir Robert, Tarsant, Half a Slice), by Trenton; 2d dam Cabrina (own sister to Brigg—winner of over $20,000—and dam of Grain, etc.) by Brag, etc.

Not as many foals were reported from John E. Madden's Hamburg Place this year as usual, and in seeking the reason for this, we found that Mr. Madden had early in the year disposed of quite a number of mares, which have since had foals in various ownerships. Taking into consideration these foals, with those reported from Hamburg Place, the splendid average of this breeding establishment is maintained with its annual output of something over one hundred youngsters.

Secretary Eugene V. Beifeld of the Illinois Jockey Club writes THE RECORD, under date of June 20, as folows:

"Up to the present time we have received great encouragement from the merchants of Chicago. Our subscription of $25,000 which is needed to run the meet is almost complete. Among the subscribers are—C. K. G. Billings, Hotel Sherman, Congress Hotel, Blackstone Hotel, New Southern Hotel, Lexington Hotel, Grand Pacific Hotel, States Restaurant, College Inn Restaurant, North American Restaurant, Rectors, Heiny's Restaurant, Mandel Brothers, Boston Store, The Fair, Seigel Cooper Co., Clive Runnells, Edward S. Moore, William A. Pinkerton, Adolph Busch Magnus, James A. Pugh, Fred Upham, etc.

"We expect to have a number of overnight handicaps from $600 to $1,000, no purse to be under $500 added.

"The track has been put in grand condition and all the pincipal stables have been re-roofed and whitewashed. The grand stand is also being put in splendid shape and will accommodate 10,000 people, including 1200 box seats at $5 per seat for Derby Day. We have already received reservation for boxes from some of Chicago's leading society people, and all indications tend to show that the Derby Day crowd will be a very fashionable gathering."

Joseph Hubbard sold to W. G. Richards, of Kimball, S. D., the race mare Flossie Walker. Mr. Richards bought Golden Ramble last year from Mr. Hubbard and raced her with much success up in his country.

Roly, winner at Jamaica Wednesday of the Long Beach Handicap, in which Short Grass brought up second and Chicle third, while He Will, Celandria, Flying Fairy, Sarpshooter and Capra finished in the ruck, is a son of Thomas M. Murphy's Golden Maxim. So is Corsican, the four-year-old gelding which defeated Pullux, Top Th' Morning, J. J. Lillis and several other light-footed sprinters in the third race.

Four of the contestants in the Rosedale Stakes at Jamaica Saturday were bred at John E. Madden's Hamburg Place, and this quartette included the first three at the finish.

Dodge, the winner of the Latonia Derby, is a bay colt by Jim Gaffney—Flora Willoughby, and was bred by Judge W. F. Schulte at his farm, near Louisville. As a yearling he was purchased by Lon Jones, together with two other yearlings, for $2,500. Jones, a few months later, sold the three colts to J. S. Ward, his present owner and trainer, for $6,000. William H. Shelley, clerk of the scales at Latonia, purchased the colts from Schulte for Jones. Dodge ran fourth in the Kentucky Derby. Last year this colt started seventeen times and won ten races, was second five times and once third and won $11,355.

T. C. McDowell's good-looking filly America, which ran third in the Clipsetta Stakes at Latonia Wednesday, and W. W. Darden's filly Lady Ivan which made all the pace in that event, are both eligible to the $6,000 Cincinnati Trophy, which is set to be run off this year on Saturday, July 8. Neither fancied the heavy going that marked the track conditions the day the Clipsetta Stakes was run off, but both showed their class by putting up very fair performances in spite of the handicap against them in going that does not suit the stride of either speedy filly.

A. B. Hancock's good four-year-old mare Embroidery, while she will also probably start in the Merchants' Stakes today, has surely qualified by her last two wins for her engagement in the $4,000 Independence Handicap, the feature race of July 4th. The distance of the Independence Handicap, 1 3-16 miles, seems to be just to the liking of the chestnut daughter of Celt. When she beat out Hanovia and Fleetabelle, the former of which is also an Independence Handicap eligible, on Wednesday, that race marked a round dozen wins for this four-year-old filly, and she is also coming up as a money-winning performer, having earned to date on the turf $7,324. She won two of these races as a three-year-old last season, six when she was a two-year-old in 1914 and four so far this season. While she has yet to win a stake, she ran second in the Ashland Oaks last year to Waterblossom, beating out a big field of other starters.

With the impost she is sure to get in the Independence Handicap, Embroidery now looks like having a winning chance in the rich event on the Fourth of July, as she is apparently even better this year than she was in either her two or three-year-old form. On a heavy track she is even more at home than in fast form, still some of her best races have been run over a fast course.

HILTON'S SILVER TAG WINS THE HUNT PLATE.

NEWMARKET, ENG., June 20.—The Cambridgeshire Hunt Plate of $2,500, which substituted the famous Royal Hunt Cup, was the feature race at the two days' extra meeting held here today and resulted in a win for E. Hulton's Silver Tag, with J. Childs in the saddle, which beat the Duke of Westminster's Ali Bey, with Dick up, by two lengths. J. B. Joel's Polystome, ridden by Bullock, was third, a short head behind.

Betting was: Silver Tag, 8 to 1; Ali Bey, 11 to 8, and Polystome, 100 to 8. Twelve horses went to the post.

Following so soon after winning both the Derby and the Oaks with Fifinella, today's success brings Mr. Hulton to the top of winning owners with close on $40,000 to his credit.

A GREAT AMERICAN RACEHORSE.

A great American racehorse and a good sire has recently died in U. S. A. in Ornament, winner of several of the American Derbies, the Brooklyn Handicap, and other races, worth in all something like 18,000 sovs. Ornament was foaled in 1894, and was by imported Order out of Victorine, by Onondaga. Order was a beautifully-bred horse, being by Bend Or out of Angelica (own sister to St. Simon and dam of Orme), and was sent to the States as a three-year-old in 1891. As far as I am aware Order never ran, at all events in this country, but bred as he was he was bound to make a good sire, and he very soon made his mark, siring Ornament before he had been two years in the States. On the side of his dam, too, Ornament boasted some good English blood, for his maternal grandsire, Onondaga, was by the dual Chester Cup winner, Leamington. The fact that neither the sire nor the dam of Ornament had won a race caused a well-known American sporting writer ("Hidalgo") to express the opinion that too much racing might have been the cause of the failure of some well-known English stallions to head the winning list. He instanced Rataplan and Vedette amongst others, and concluded by remarking that every stallion should be either withdrawn from the turf at the end of five years or added to the list.

To head the list of winning stallions is no doubt an excellent thing, but the contemporaries in this country say of Stockwell, Hermit and St. Simon, that they were given but little chance of doing so, when the celebrities named were at their zenith. The American writer in question was not exactly happy in his inclusion of Rataplan and Vedette in the list of those he thought would have done better at the stud but for being raced too much. At any rate, Rataplan may be regarded as the fountain head of the Wisdom line, and as for Vedette, had it not been for him there would have been no Galopin and consequently no St. Simon. In addition to siring Galopin, Vedette got Speculum, from which are descended in tail-male such other notabilities as Rosebery, Amphion, Sundridge and Sunstar. Truly heading the winning list is not everything. King Tom did so two years in succession, but his male line is almost extinct in this country, whereas the St. Simon and Speculum branches of the line of Vedette, have been very much in the limelight of late years.—[Vigilant in London Sportsman.

AURIGA WINS CLIPSETTA STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., June 21.—Over a track, fetlock deep in mud, Auriga, F. Schaller's two-year-old Waterboy—School Mistress filly, won the Clipsetta Stakes, the feature event at the Milldale course today. The race was at five furlongs, and, considering the condition of the track, the time, 1:05 4-5, was good. At the end the winner was half a length in front of Bourbon Lass, which beat America a length and a half for the place. Nine two-year-olds fought it out for the stake, making it worth $2,860 to the winner, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth horse, which was Lady Ivan, saved nomination and starting fees, amounting to $65.

The field of juveniles were at the post nine minutes, and Auriga did her share of the bad acting, running through the barrier and far back of it several times. Starter Harry Morrissey finally got them away in good order, with Lady Ivan in front. When the break came Jockey Eddie Martin, usually an alert boy at the post, was not prepared with America, and as a result she got the worst of it.

Lady Ivan got a slight lead in the first part of the race, closely followed by Rosewood. The pacemaker seemed to like the going, but it was evident that Rosewood did not fancy it any too strongly. Making the turn off the backstretch, Auriga moved up into second position, closely lapped on Lady Ivan, and Jockey Lloyd Gentry was working hard on her. Turning into the stretch for home, Jockey Claude Hunt took Lady Ivan into the deepest going, and this stopped her. Gentry saved ground with Auriga, and this gave her the race.

Bourbon Lass and America were far back in the early running, and they were forced to run in phenomenal fashion to get the moneyed positions, which they did. Jockey Walter Andress put up a rousing finish on Bourbon Lass, and she was going strong at the end, as was America. Yermila ran well in the early stages and was a contender until well into the stretch, when she flew the distress signal. Fan G. ran her race at the post and was never in the hunt.

FAMOUS COBHAM STUD

AT

Cobham, Surrey, England.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THE APPROACHING TERMINATION OF THE LEASE, THE WHOLE OF THE STOCK AT COBHAM STUD, COMPRISING

STALLIONS, MARES AND FOALS, YEARLINGS, AND OTHER BLOODSTOCK

WILL BE SOLD BY

Messrs. Tattersall

ON THE PREMISES

Wednesday, July 26, 1916.

In addition to the world-famous mares that will be sold, the following stallions will go under the hammer:

JAVELIN, (1909), by Spearmint, out of Full Cry (winner of the Prince of Wales' Stakes of £2,400 and dam of Fortafix, her first foal, winner in England and of several races in Australia, including the "Perth" £2,000; (Javelin is her second foal), and Compton, winner in Belgium) by Flying Fox out of Lady Villikins (winner of races and dam of Marcovil, etc.), by Hagioscope. Javelin won the Friary Nursery Handicap, at Derby, beating a field of nineteen and carrying top weight, and the Exeter Stakes, Newmarket, beating Cylgad by five lengths. His dam, Full Cry, was sold at December Sales, 1913, for 4,600 guineas. Has had a full subscription each year he has been at the stud, and his foals and yearlings are exceptionally good.

FLOTSAM, (1900), winner of the Middle Park Plate (beating Rock Sand), and well over £10,000 in stakes, never running unplaced. By St. Frusquin out of Float, the best two-year-old filly of her year, and three-parts sister to Glare, the most wonderful brood mare of our time, and dam of Lesbia, Flair, and Vivid—all by St. Frusquin, and grandam of Prince Palatine and Ladylike, the best mare in Germany 1909. Flotsam was sent abroad in 1905, and the average price realized in Buenos Aires for Flotsam's first South American produce was the highest of the year; and in 1909 a Flotsam colt sold for £3,850, and another for £2,275—seven colts by Flotsam bringing the magnificent average of £1,432½. Owing to the fact that his Uruguayan stock are no longer eligible for the chief Argentine races, his owner decided to dispose of his stud, and St. Frusquin's best son was acquired by a syndicate of English breeders. He is the sire of the winners of over £23,000 in South America. Flotsam is a powerful bay horse, standing 16 hands with the very best of limbs, great bone, strong, clean hocks, and has always enjoyed perfect health.

CORNSTALK, brown, (foaled 1902), by Trenton, out of Glare (dam of Flair, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and Middle Park Plate; also of Lesbia, winner of the Middle Park Plate, Prince of Wales' Plate at York, the Champagne Stakes, beating Ardentrive, Vamose and White Eagle, at Doncaster, and the Coronation Stakes at Ascot; also of Vivid, the best two-year-old filly of 1908, and Bright Steel, a big winner in Australia; grandam of Prince Palatine, etc.), by Ayrshire; out of Footlight, by Cremorne; out of Paraffin (grandam of Ladas, Chelandry—dam of Neil Gow—and Gas, dam of Cicero), by Blair Athol. Cornstalk, which is the best bred of all Trenton's sons, was tried a thoroughly good horse and proved stayer, but owing to straining a suspensory ligament he could not be wound up after his two-year-old season, though, had he stood training, Mr. S. Darling quite expected to win the Cesarewitch with him. Cornstalk is half-brother to Flair and Lesbia, both winners of the Middle Park Plate and sold for 24,700 guineas in July, 1909. He is the sire of Sagittari filly, the Resin colt, Reynella, N. V. E., and Cornsheaf (winner of the Durham Stakes of 500 sovs.) all his runners being winners.

JINGLING GEORDIE, chestnut, 1909, by Santry (most brilliant son of Gallinule) out of Merangue, by Cyllene; out of Biscuit, by Barnaby; out of Reversion, by Reverberation; out of Lady Palmer, by The Earl or The Palmer. Jingling Geordie always ran in the best company and he won £4,549 in weight-for-age stakes, besides being second in the New Stakes, Ascot, National Breeders' Produce Stakes, £5,000, Sandown Park, and the Royal Stakes, Newbury—beaten a neck only by Stedfast. Jingling Geordie was beyond question one of the best of his year, and he is individually a magnificent horse with great bone and the best of limbs. He holds the Board of Agriculture certificate for soundness and took a King's Premium this year.

OUADI HALFA, dark bay (foaled 1904), by Persimmon, out of Yesterling (dam of Sterling Balm and five other winners), by Sterling; out of Yessel (dam of winners), by Blinkhoolie; out of Vlie, by Zuyder Zee. Ouadi Halfa was a first-class racehorse in France, winning close on 10,000 sovs. in stakes, including the French Two Thousand Guineas. Among other notable animals which he defeated in weight-for-age races were Punta Gorda, Eider, Querido, and Roi Herode. He is a sure foal getter. Sire of good two-year-olds.

ST. NEOTS, bay, 1909, by Isinglass—St. Neophyte, by St. Simon; out of Neenah, by York. St. Neots won among other races the Eglinton Handicap, 1⅜ miles; walked over for the Inveresk Handicap, 1⅜ miles, etc. Isinglass won the Derby, St. Leger, Two Thousand Guineas, Jockey Club Stakes, Ascot Gold Cup, etc., and is the sire of Veles, Cherry Lass, Louviers, Star Shoot, etc.

Animals bought at the Cobham Sale can, if the buyers wish, remain there on reasonable terms for keep for a while.

For buyers who are unable to attend, Mr. W. Allison will be happy to execute Commissions, and select Yearlings or Mares.

Foreign buyers should cable instructions to "Ciliary, London," and their interests will be most carefully studied.

FRIAR ROCK WINS BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Born in a burst of speed, a new turf idol sprang into being at the Aqueduct racecourse today when August Belmont's Friar Rock came past the finish in front of a gallant field in the twenty-eighth running of the Brooklyn Handicap.

This royally-bred son of Rock Sand and Fairy Gold was two lengths in the lead of Harry Payne Whitney's Pennant, which beat Slumber II. a length and a half for second position. Running over the others came Emil Herz's Short Grass, which was beaten but a neck for third place and which in two more leaps, would have been lapped on the second horse.

After looking like a misplaced hope following through the dust kicked up by six others of the field of eight, while more than 20,000 enthused souls stood upon tiptoes, some breathless and others shouting, Friar Rock added to his honest effort and swept past the others like an overland express whirling past freight cars. And in this maddening rush for the finish there were two races, for after having loafed in the last place in his own sluggish way, Short Grass came to life in the latter half of the stretch run and ploughed past the others just as the winner had been passing them.

Giving way to the final rush of Short Grass, Andrew Miller's Roamer, champion of two previous years of racing, pulled up a poor fifth. He was four lengths back of the fourth horse and two lengths ahead of Achievement, with Churchill seventh and Sand Marsh a miserable last, dying on his feet from the heart-breaking pace he had set for more than half the journey.

And that it was a heart-breaking pace the fractional timing of the race will show. The mile and an eighth journey was traveled in the remarkable time of 1:50. This beats the track record of 1:50 3-5 made by Tartar in the winning of last year's Brooklyn. Also it was just two-fifths of a second slower than the world's record for the distance which was made by Roamer when he ran it at Laural last year in 1:49 3-5.

The fractional time was twelve seconds for the eighth, :23 3-5 for the quarter, :34 4-5 for the three-eighths, :47 for the first half, :59 for the five-eighths, 1:11 for the three-quarters, 1:24 for the seven-eighths, 1:37 2-5 for for the mile. Experts conceded that the track today was not so fast as Tartar found it in the same event last year, all of which adds to the fame earned by Friar Rock.

Starter Mars Cassidy was on the alert every second when the eight starters lined up across the track in the chute. When he caught them well in line and sprung the barrier Jockey Haynes had Friar Rock toeing the mark and was first to flash in front. Schuttinger shot Sand Marsh out of the middle of the bunch and when the field flashed into view of the crowd he was out in front. Tommy McTaggart had Slumber II. in third place at this point, with Pennant in fourth place and Roamer fifth, Churchill sixth, Achievement seventh and Short Grass, as usual, last.

The first shock that came to the spectators was when it was seen that Roamer was not up in front as he had been expected to be, or at least, close by the front runner. Running into the backstretch, Friar Rock fell back into seventh place. Sand Marsh was going away as if he was to make it all his own by steadily increasing his lead until he showed off all by himself. Pennant was leading the others with Slumber II. close up, and open space of at least two lengths showing ahead of Churchill, which led Roamer and the others.

Down through the backstretch they went, Sand Marsh setting his record-breaking pace. Why was it, the spectators kept wondering, that Jimmie Butwell seemed to be taking Roamer back and rating him along instead of getting closer to the front. It was upon Roamer all this time that the eyes of the majority of the big throng rested. They were puzzled and many voiced their wonderment at Andrew Miller's champion of yesteryear being so far outspeeded.

Joe Notter was keeping Pennant in a nice position, and his mount was going as if he could forge ahead when his jockey chose to let him down. None of the others were trying to catch Sand Marsh. These jockeys were thinking, just as those watching the race were saying, that such pace was more than Sand Marsh could stand, and that he would come back when he reached that long, final journey through the stretch.

They rounded the far away turn for the straight run for home and then things began to happen. Little attention was being paid to Friar Rock, which still was rolling along, rated at an even pace and looking as if he could do no more than finish in the ruck. As the leaders rounded into the stretch Haynes began to urge Friar Rock along. There was no chance to get through and it looked like a long journey for him to take to get around that bunch of leaders. The boy and horse ventured it, however, and when they had straightened for home Friar Rock was beginning to pass some of the more tired ones.

Still in the rear, Friar Rock once more had to be piloted to the outside of the track and it was at the last quarter of the journey that he began to show that he was in a way to mow the others down. On and on, and on, he came, running with racing machine precision and never faltering, never boddling, but always overtaking and passing others in the field.

As they came past the long grandstand, the shouters began to cry for Friar Rock. Sand Marsh had quit and Pennant and Slumber II. seemed to be fighting it out for first place. Also there were heard cries for Short Grass, which was beginning to overtake the front runners.

And then as Sand Marsh died away to a lowly last Friar Rock slid out in front and, keeping the middle of track, he led in the tiring seven and another running of one of the turf's oldest classics had passed into history.

In his winning of the Brooklyn, Friar Rock became the maker of another record than that for time. With this score he did something that no other three-year-old has accomplished, for he has won the Belmont, Suburban and Brooklyn all in one year and now is pointed to the Brooklyn Derby to be run next Thursday, when he will meet the crack Star Hawk. But that's another story.

From sire to son has come the record of a triple winning as a three-year-old, for in 1903 Rock Sand, the mighty sire of Mr. Belmont's prize, won the Two Thousand Guineas, the Derby and the St. Leger, England's three greatest events for thoroughbreds of that division.

The crowd that saw this running of the Brooklyn was one of the largest seen at the races this season and far greater than attended the same race last year or in any of the more recent years.

"Friar Rock's victory is naturally very pleasing to me," said Mr. Belmont as he made his way to the paddock to she his great colt cool out after his record breaking race.

"I must confess,' he continued, "I was prejudiced against him as a two-year-old because of his unattractive neck and shoulders, and then he had a half-sister that showed a lot of temper, and that was held up against him in my estimate of his quality. But the colt has improved marvelously this season and he will go to the Nursery Stud when he is through racing.

"He is of the size that I like in race horses, 15.3 to 16 hands, and he has the balance which all good race horses should possess. He represents my ideal in blood lines and the $18,000 I paid for his dam was money well spent, as she given me some good horses."

Harry Payne Whitney, like the good sportsman he has always proven himself to be, was loud in his praises of Friar Rock and he took the defeat of Pennant graciously. "I think Rowe did wonders with Pennant to bring him to the post in the condition he did after practically two years' retirement."

While, of course, the Brooklyn Handicap was the big affair that drew enormous crowds to Aqueduct today, it would not have been a regular racing day without the other five races. They were befitting the opening of the Queens County Jockey Club meeting and formed an interesting setting for the big handicap.

Harry Payne Whitney's Tumbler was the one to win the companion feature to the Brooklyn when he scored in the Hudson over A. K. Macomber's English colt Hollister, August Belmont's Woodtrap and three others. It was the third straight score for the son of All Gold, his last previous effort being a victory in the Youthful at Jamaica, and at this time he is perhaps the best juvenile that has been shown.

Tumbler, was of course, looked upon as a sure winner of the Hudson, but A. K. Macomber's Hollister, making his first appearance, attracted a deal of attention in the paddock. Walter Jennings has him looking exceedingly well and it was reported that the son of Sunstar and Our Lassie was the best of the English juveniles brought over for Mr. Macomber. He is a bit coarse about the head, but otherwise a colt of magnificent conformation.

August Belmont's Woodtrap, winner of the first race of the New York season at Jamaica, May 18, was another that attracted a deal of favorable paddock comment, and Yellowstone, the Brighton Stable's candidate, was fresh from two victories.

The other starters were the Wickliffe Stable's Basil and Andrew Miller's Ticket.

Starter Cassidy did not lose much time at the barrier and as it rose Woodtrap, from an inside position, jumped to the front. Basil, one of those on the outside swung over sharply and Hollister left in good order. Thus the three pocketed Tumbler before he could be under way. He has shown in most of his races that he is just a trifle sluggish at the barrier and it was small wonder that he should find himself blocked when Basil made his move from the outside.

In the meantime Yellowstone, which had drawn the outside position, was away well in his stride and entirely free of the temporary crowding on the inner rail. Ticket, which was on the inside, was not as fortunate, as he was last to leave.

For a full three-sixteenths of a mile Tumbler remained closely bottled up behind Woodtrap, Hollister and Basil, and of the trio Hollister was going the strongest, and at the elbow for an instant he had Yellowstone headed. It was shortly after making the elbow that McTaggart found an opening for Tumbler, and when he shook up the All Gold colt he readily went to Hollister and, racing by him, had a slight advantage at the final furlong pole.

Once in front McTaggart took hold of his colt slightly, and though the English colt came along gamely and true right to the end, Tumbler held him absolutely safe, though at the end his margin of victory was only three parts of a length.

The pair of them were a good two lengths before Woodtrap, and right at the end Butwell swept along on the rail with Ticket, driving to the limit, and he had his nose at the Belmont colt's saddle skirts. Yellowstone, after his advantage at the break, spoiled it considerably by going wide at the elbow, and through the closing stages he was stopping, although he beat Basil home.

It is natural to expect that Hollister will improve over this showing. The race should do him a great deal of good, and many excellent judges have predicted that he will turn the tables on Tumbler the next time they meet.

The Hudson is a stake that was first run in 1887, when it was won by Kingfisher for the Dwyer Brothers. In all the years of its running only once before have the Whitney silks finished in front. That was in 1900, when the late William C. Whitney's Prince Charles was the winner.

The steeplechase of the day, though framed for selling platers, furnished an interesting spectacle and went to J. F. Flanagan, Jr.'s Dixon Park. There were eleven raced and of the lot Archibald Barklie's Royal III. was the only one to fall. He came down two fences from the finish, when a close contender, but fortunately both horse and rider escaped injury. In the same race Leonard Jacob's Zellwood refused at the eleventh fence and he was the only other one that did not finish.

Frederick Johnson won a six-furlong dash with Top o' th' Morning and then lost his horse, for when he was boosted from an entered price of $600 to $1,200 he was not protected and went to G. Alexandra. Top o' th' Morning showed considerable improvement over his last previous race, but he came out of that running lame and the fact that Trainer Patterson did not protect him makes it appear that he did not have much confidence in the son of Peep O'Day.

James Butler's Kilkenny Boy came back with another good race when he led from end to end of a mile race to beat Saratoga and Woodward.

Then at the end of the program Passing Fancy, a filly from the Wickliffe Stable, beat a smart lot of selling plater juveniles over the five-furlong distance.

The five imported English thoroughbreds consigned to S. L. Frank at New York brought $450 when offered at sale by the Collector of Customs in default of the payment of duty amounting to $2,900. The nine-year-old stallion, The Battler, brought $250 of the $450.

CHICLE WINS THE BROOKLYN DERBY.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The most surprising result attended the running of the Brooklyn Derby today when Chicle amazed ninety-nine per-cent. of the spectators by winning in a canter after leading from start to finish. The favorites, Friar Rock, Star Hawk and Spur, were badly beaten. In fact, Star Hawk was the only one of the trio to give the winner a respectable argument at the finish. Spur tried to get to Chicle in the early stages of the race and half way down the stretch seemed to have a chance, then quit abruptly and Churchill, which was always well up in the second division beat him for third money. Friar Rock was always beaten and never in forward contention at any time. It was a case of Chicle all the way. At the finish Star Hawk gained a trifle under the whip but could not get even dangerously close to Mr. Whitney's horse. Chicle has at last shown a bit of the form expected of him and to which he has not run up to until today.

Whether Friar Rock's Brooklyn Handicap performance injured his chances or whether he was not capable of giving away the weight is not quite clear. The first and second horses are both imported, though Chicle is out of the American-bred mare Lady Hamburg. Chicle was worked a few days ago in blinkers with Borrow and beat the latter. In today's race the blinkers were added to his equipment.

The colt White Hackle, for which W. R. Coe of the Shoshone Stable is reported to have paid $20,000 last year, died last night after being sick with lung fever for the past seventeen days. He won four of his six starts, including his only start this year.

SPLENDID BEGINNING AT HAMILTON.

HAMILTON, ONT., June 24.—The Hamilton Jockey Club's inaugural meeting for the season began today under most favorable auspices. A record-breaking crowd was in attendance and it required two big specials to bring the crowd from Toronto, while Buffalo was well represented.

The pari-mutuels had their introduction here this afternoon and they went with a rush. The plant is said to be the best on this continent and no trouble was experienced by the bettors in making wagers.

The card was a good one and furnished exciting sport. Rancher beat the sprinters in a six furlong handicap and the favorite, Fair Montague, won the Dominion Handicap. The steeplechase, which was run as a flat race, went to Cu Bon.

D. A. O'Meara of Quebec this morning purchased the Canadian-bred horse Corn Broom and turned him over to H. G. Bedwell to train. Corn Broom is a horse of moods and when he takes a notion to run can hold his own with any of the Canadian-breds.

Bob Potee was an arrival from Baltimore. He will remain on the Canadian circuit for the rest of the season.

Roddy P. Marshall was an arrival this morning. He motored up from Pittsburg with his family and will remain up here for a couple of months. Mr. Marshall's horses have been here for several days. They are in charge of A. B. Goode.

Jockeys Joe Dreyer, Paul Lowder, A. Carroll and J Kederis were arrivals. Dreyer, Hoffman and Lowder came from New York and the other two lads from Kentucky.

Sam Louis has purchased the plater Boxer from D. Raymond and has turned him over to James Johnston.

W. O. Parmer came in from Tennessee and acted as one of the honorary stewards. Judge Monck was the other honorary steward.

D. Hoffman will do the riding for the Mrs. L. A. Livingston stable in Canada this year.

F. Musante got in from Baltimore with five horses, the property of J. F. Sweeney.

W. A. McKinney was an arrival from Montreal with the two horses, Dundreary and Mud Sill.

LADY ROTHA CAPTURES MERCHANTS' SELLING STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., June 24.—Although Lady Rotha, owned by the Baker Bros., won the Merchants' Selling Stakes, the feature of today's racing card at the Milldale track, her owners quit loser as far as the purse was concerned, due to her being bid up from $700 to $2,900. The bidup totaled just $10 more than the purse was worth to the winner; $2,190, and A. B. Hancock, whose Embroidery finished second, is the chief beneficiary, as he gets 60 per cent. of the advance. The last bid he made on the winner was $2,500, and then Grover Baker bid $2,900.

Lady Rotha got a run at the barrier, and this served her well, as she won by only a length and a half, but she stepped along at a fast gait, the mile being run in 1:38 1-5. Checks headed her by a small margin momentarily on the backside, but he could not stand the gaff. Favored by the light weight, 99 pounds, she increased her lead as she went along, and was never again in danger. After Checks dropped back Grover Hughes took a run at her, and then Embroidery took up the chase. The Hancock mare made a gallant bid, but could not overcome the lead.

Grover Hughes hung on to take third money easily, but he was beaten three lengths for the place. Hank O'Day, which was well up throughout, had no trouble landing in fourth position, and thus saved starting and nomination fees, which amounted to $50. Second money was worth $350, and the third horse received $150. Eight horses contested for the stake.

While Lady Rotha was out in front winging she made her pursuers dizzy with the pace she set. She ran the first quarter in :23 4-5, the half mile in :47 3-5, the six furlongs in 1:12 and the mile in 1:38 1-5.

Despite the fact that there were nearly 100,000 persons in line in the preparedness parade in Cincinnati today, the attendance at Latonia did not suffer in the least, and it was the best Saturday crowd in a long while with the exception of Derby Day. The racing card was the best of the meeting to date, as there were three $800 purses on the card and two of $700 added values, in addition to the stake race. The going was at its best and the weather ideal for outdoor sport. The various races brought out evenly matched fields, and this resulted in a heavy volume of speculation.

The best field of horses went to the post in the third race, which was a purse affair for three-year-olds and upward at a mile and one-sixteenth. The event fell to Franklin, which finished third in the Kentucky Derby, and he beat two older horses, Waterblossom and Ed Crump, which finished in the order named. There were only three starters in the race. He ran right off the "prep" which he had received to run in the Latonia Derby, but which track conditions prevented, and demonstrated that he is a high-class colt. Waterblossom got the best of a bad start and led most of the way, but in the stretch Franklin caught her and stood a hard drive to best her half a length. She in turn beat Ed Crump a length and a half for the place. The McDowell mare was the favorite.

The Baker Bros. made it a double on the day, and Frigerio made it six wins in a row when the son of Marathon—Grace Commoner got the verdict by a nose over America in the fifth race. It was chiefly due to the masterful ride which Jockey Goose put up on Frigerio that he lasted long enough. He demonstrated that he is a game colt, however, as he gave weight to his opponents and stood a hard drive to win. America finished with a rattle and was going strongest at the end. Highland Lad seemed to run in spots and finally managed to land third money. The bridle broke on Lytle and this killed his chances. The time for the race was good, 1:00 4-5.

The other $800 purse on the card was the second, the Cuvier Press Club Handicap, and it fell to Chalmers, which finally found his right weight and won by a length and a half from Leo Skolny. Chalmers dashed into the lead at the outset and never left the issue in doubt. Bars and Stars was closest in pursuit of him until after rounding into the stretch, when Leo Skolny came along with his usual rush. He could not quite get up, however. This race was also an unusually fast one, the six furlongs being run in 1:11 4-5. The first quarter of a mile was run in :23 and the half mile in :46 3-5. Bars and Stars weakened himself in an effort to catch Chalmers, and as a result he could do no better than finish third. Solar Star and Vogue were outplaced all the way.

After Fly Home won the seventh race he was bid up from $700 to $1,005, and was retained. W. Covington bid him up to $900, and E. B. Elkins carried him the other $100.

Velvet Joe, after many trials finally graduated from the maiden ranks in the first race, but had to stand a hard drive to outgame Lady Ivan and beat her a nose right at the finish. Trusty was in front by a small margin the first part of the race and then Lady Ivan took up the running, while Velvet Joe was being nursed off the pace. In the final furlong Jockey Lloyd Gentry got Velvet Joe up with a rush and he responded gamely. Lady Ivan had no trouble holding the place safe. Piraeus finished with a rush to take down show money. Trusty quit badly. Lady Ivan was the choice.

Another close finish came with the running of the sixth race, in which Droll just did get up in the last jump to beat Mars Cassidy by a nose. Port Light finished third, being beaten less than half a length for all of the money. Port Light set the pace until after passing the eighth pole and then Droll came with her usual late rush. Mars Cassidy also moved up strongly and just missed getting up. Skiles Knob weakened in the stretch. Hawthorn also quit.

The seventh race, as usual, was the upset race of the day and again it looked as though one was run down in front. Guide Post was the favorite, but she did not run her race and Jockey Roscoe Goose repeatedly took her back. She finished out of the money. Fly Home was returned the winner by two lengths over Goldcrest Boy with Star of Love third. Sauterelle and Impression set the early pace, but both weakened to nothing. The money horses all came from behind.

BELMONT PARK RACING STATISTICS.

During the eighteen days of racing, given by the Westchester Racing Association, which began May 25 and came to a close June 14, one hundred and eight races were decided and $99,660 was distributed in stakes and purses, representing a daily average of $5,536.67. Of the ninety-four owners, who shared in this distribution, the following were winners of $500 or more, with J. Butler heading the list and A. Belmont second:

SALE OF THE OXNARD YEARLINGS.

NEW YORK, June 26.—That there is no falling off in the demand for thoroughbred stock was proved last night at Durland's when twenty-two yearlings from the Blue Ridge Stud, Virginia, sold for $34,550, an average of $1,570 a head. The sale was under the management of the Powers-Hunter Co. There were few cheap ones in the lot and any purchaser who got one of the King James or Superman youngsters for less than four figures probably got a bargain.

Sandy McNaughton came to the front as the big buyer of the night and after a spirited bidding bee in which Andrew Miller and the Quincy Stable took part, obtained what is believed to be the prize of the sale in the brown colt by Superman—Mary Stuart and for which he paid the top price of $5,000. This colt resembles his noted sire and also is recommended as a racing proposition because he numbers among his half brothers such noted racers as Royal Captive, Scholar, Schoolmarm and Royal Martyr. McNaughton also bought a bay colt by Superman—Verdict for $2,500 and a chestnut filly by Superman—Gatien Belle for $2,300.

James Butler added several likely looking yearlings to his stable, two by King James and two by Superman, while the Quincy Stable paid $2,650 for a brown colt by Superman out of the noted race mare Notasulga and $2,450 for another Superman colt out of Award. The sales:

TRAINERS AT FAULT ASSERTS VOSBURGH.

W. S. Vosburgh, handicapper for The Jockey Club, has been moved to comment on recent assertions made by trainers that there are too few stakes for three-year-olds offered by the racing associations at this season. He writes as follows:

"I read with interest some interviews with trainers of racehorses in which they complain of the absence of valuable stakes for three-year-olds, alleging, what is quite obvious, that the stakes of value are nearly all for the two-year-old class and that a three-year-old has so few events of value that he is compelled to race with the older horses.

"In doing this I fear they complain of a condition which their own efforts have contributed to produce. They do not care to start a horse for a race unless they think they have the best of it; they are looking for 'a sure thing.' If more stakes for three-year-olds were given they would probably produce races in which one colt of class would be opposed by two or three inferior ones running for second and third moneys—this, especially so after the Withers, Belmont and Brooklyn Derby had established the 'form.'

"The racing associations have no prejudice in the matter. They offer such stakes as they believe will produce good races. Within the past few years it has been found that stakes for three-year-olds at even weights do not draw fields, especially after July 1, when a few races have classified the colts, and handicaps and 'penalties and allowances' are the only means of bringing the three-year-olds together.

"Events for two-year-olds make better races, hence the clubs in making them the most valuable have only catered to the demand. The consequence is that while they may not be so with the general public, the stakes for two-year-olds are the most popular with owners and trainers, and to win the Futurity has become the highest aim of racing ambition.

"The evil effects of this upon breeding is evident. However, that is aside from the subject under consideration. But it is a curious fact that owners and trainers are never alive to the necessity of valuable stakes for three-year-olds until they find themselves in possession of one or more 'crack' colts of that age. Poor old Human Nature!

"Properly, the important stakes for three-year-olds should be closed for yearlings—say in August or some date 'before trial.' But it has often happened that when so closed some of the best colts of the year were omitted, and the plan of Washington Park's American Derby of closing the winter before the race is run answers better for the purpose of these times.

"In earlier days the Withers, Belmont and Louisville stakes were closed for yearlings in August, and valuable stakes were the result. But that which was once right is not always right. It may be in morals, in which the primal obligations do not vary; but in institutions social, political, or even sporting, the fluxion of time and habits necessitates frequent readjustments, readaptations and revisions, caused by changes in environment.

"Many of our owners have not kept racing stables until rather late in life, and, distrusting their own knowledge, leave everything to their trainers. To the trainers racing is merely a matter of business. The tenure of his position depends upon the results of his management; he cannot hold it unless he wins races. Therefore, he is diffident of taking chances—he is looking for 'sure things.' He will not start his colt on the 'outside chance,' and the stakes result in races of little or no interest. Thus it is, the racing associations have found stakes for three-year olds yield such poor results that they have ceased to offer them; until after June they have become rare, and would not be rare if they had been esteemed."

REPRESENTATIVE CITIZENS BACK RACING REVIVAL.

[Chicago Tribune, June 25.]

Sponsors for the Illinois Jockey Club, who have announced a thirteen day meeting to begin at the Hawthorne track July 15, with a "revival" of the American Derby, yesterday made good their promise of a list of representative Chicagoans as guarantors of a fund to revive horse racing in Illinois without betting.

The names of the sportsmen who have lent the prestige of their names, as well as their money, to the effort to bring back the former thrills of thoroughbred speed tests are so representative, embracing practically every avenue of the city's commercial life, that the coming meeting will become practically a quasi-civic affair.

In these columns several weeks ago an outline of the plan to be followed at Hawthorne was given from a confidential source. At that time the writer's informant asserted the class of men who thought Chicago entitled to a limited period of sport would prove a surprise when announced officially. It did.

Aside from the fact that the list, as announced by Secretary Eugene V. Beifeld, assures the financial stability of the meeting and is an insurance to horsemen that stake and purse money will be paid, the prominence of the men who voluntarily stand forth as sportsmen is a guarantee that the meeting will be conducted just as advertised—without open betting so far as lies within the power of officials to prevent it. That fact alone should quiet those who have sought to attack the contemplated racing—at least until they have seen whether any of the promises are violated.

With all doubt removed as to the meeting and the payment of purses the attendance test will come after the opening day. It may be assumed that an immense crowd will throng the Hawthorne stand and infield for the race of crack three-year-olds over the mile and one-quarter route. The event will draw, if only as a spectacle. Whether Mr. Public, who likes to back his opinion, will be content to lay only friendly wagers with his companions on succeeding days is where the question will be answered whether Chicago will support betless racing.

Chicago's racegoers answered that question negatively in 1904, when the great Washington Park track was forced to close its gates a few days after the running of the last American Derby, which was won by Highball. Perhaps human nature has changed. Perhaps the insistent wooer of chance will find an accommodating handbook maker within the loop before he journeys to the oval.

Whatever the result, no fault can be found with the generous intentions of those seeking to bring back racing on a high plane. Those familiar with turf affairs always have thought racing could be conducted in Chicago for a limited period with the right kind of prestige behind it. It seems to have gained both. If the meeting is conducted properly, as it undoubtedly will be with the officials secured, it will be a powerful argument in favor of a bill for a state racing commission.

Horse racing in itself is one of the greatest sports. Those who have profited by it have been its worst enemies. The men who are standing guarantors for the prestige fund do not look for financial profit. If there is a surplus or they get anything back, well and good. If not, they simply have made a contribution to Chicago as a summer resort and as an attraction for visitors.

Capt. Thomas J. Clay of Lexington, Ky., has been named presiding judge and James F. Milton starter. Before Martin Nathanson, racing secretary, departed for Cincinnati last night to secure additional entries, he declared that during his stay in Montreal he had received promises of seventy-five horses to be shipped to Chicago. Most of these will come after the Fort Erie meeting. There is every promise of a large number of horses from the Kentucky tracks which close July 11.

Trainer James Fitzsimmons led a flock of rail birds over the fence and away from the paddock at Jamaica in the early training hours when an army of bees invaded the place and insisted upon possession.

"I used to watch John E. Madden jump over the fence without touching a hand to the barrier when he was training his horses," remarked one rail bird, "but I'd back Fitz against him after this gallop he's just had."—[New York Telegraph.

The Brookfield, Mo., fair, August 8 to 11, has only running races on its speed program. There are twenty-two races announced for the four days.

NASTURTIUM DIES AT THE MEADOWS.

George J. Stoll's good race horse and sire Nasturtium was found dead in his stall at The Meadows Monday morning. Death was supposedly due to heart trouble, as the horse was apparently in good condition when put up for the night. Nasturtium was bred by the late James B. Haggin at Rancho del Paso in California, being by Watercress out of Margerique by Order. He was foaled in 1899 and was therefore seventeen at the time of his death.

Nasturtium won as a two-year-old his first start, five furlongs in 1:01 1-5, was second to Blue Girl in the Great American, $12,500, won Double Event, $5,000, with 122 lbs., up, last five and one-half furlongs, Futurity Course in 1:04 1-5, won Flatbush, $5,000, seven furlongs in 1:25 1-5. Guide says won cantering, never in danger of defeat, with mouth open, beating a field of good horses, among them the great Endurance by Right. He was sold to W. C. Whitney as a two-year-old for $50,000, and was taken to England to start in the Derby, a pretty good evidence of his class. However, he went amiss and was returned to this country.

With limited opportunities in the stud he sired a number of useful horses among them being Stamina, Bar None, Sylvestris, Judge Walton, Harlem Maid, Floral Day, Drexel Hill, Mary Emily, Saraband, Foundation, Yemassee, Rosturtium, No Manager, Sonny Boy, Disturber, Luzzi, Tony Fashion, Yellow Flower, Radiant Flower, etc.

CESARION DOING WELL IN AUSTRALIA.

"You will be pleased to know that Cesarion seems to be keeping up his reputation for siring winners here. Of his first lot of two-year-olds only one has started to race around the courses here. She is Cesarionette and has won four out of her five last starts.

"I sold three Cesarion colts at the yearling sales, they realized a good average of £317. They were out of the following mares; The Wheedler, by Positano—Circe; Lilymea, by St. Leger—Cecilia; and Buddah, by Mostyn—Wilga.

"Conquistador and Cesarius, two of that lot of yearlings that Mr. I. H. Wheatcroft sent out here for sale, have done well, the former by Cesarion—Yolanda has won seven out of his last eight starts, and is now the best horse racing in Queensland, and in the eighth he ran second. The latter is out of Merry Queen, and he has won two good races at Randwick, one of them The Red Cross Handicap, 1¼ miles, the feature race of the day, and several other races around here.

"The old horse looks more like a ten-year-old, showing no signs of wear, and this batch of foals are the finest and best developed lot I have ever had on the place. My idea has always been that it is safer to trust an old horse that shows a wonderful constitution, by looking half his age, rather than trusting a young one that has it all to prove, and this lot of foals seems to me to prove it."

Mr. Wheatcroft, when he sold Cesarion to Mr. Hart, retained the right to send four mares to Cesarion for four years, which he has always availed himself of, and this arrangement has just been completed.

J. O. Keene, the well-known local breeder, owner and trainer and master of Keeneland Farm on the Versailles pike, has received a cablegram from Petrograd, Russia, asking if he will go to that country at once to train eighty thoroughbred horses belonging to the estate of Michael de Lazereff.

Mr. Keene replied by cable that he would accept the position, if a satisfactory proposition as to renumeration pay for his services is made.

During 1902 and 1903 Mr. Keene had phenomenal success on the Russian turf as the trainer for Michael de Lazereff, who died about seven months ago.

Johnson N. Camden, Chairman of the State Racing Commission, has arranged with J. C. Milam to continue as trainer during 1917 of his Hartland Stud thoroughbreds, and today he will send to the Kentucky Association track from his Spring Hill Farm in Woodford County a number of yearlings to be broken.

Dan Morris will open a stable at the Kentucky Association course this week for the purpose of breaking yearlings. The first he will take up will be four, the property of W. H. Fizer.

John H. Nichols has taken up six yearlings belonging to Jefferson Livingston. Joe S. Hawkins will break the John W. Schorr yearlings.

GREEN JONES WINS HAROLD STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., June 28.—By the margin of a head and after a terrific stretch drive Harry Kelly, J. W. Schorr's crack two-year-old colt suffered the first defeat of his racing career today in the Harold Stakes when Green Jones, owned by the Baker Bros. took his measure. The stake was a five-furlong affair and Green Jones negotiated the distance in 1:00 1-5.

Harry Kelly was on his worst behavior today, and it took some time to get him to the barrier. He refused to go by a gap in the fence near the five and one-half furlong pole, and as a last resort Starter Harry Morrissey was forced to go after him and lead him to the barrier himself. At the barrier he kept rearing and plunging and several times when he went up in the air Jockey Guy Garner had a hard time holding on. After a five-minute delay at the post Starter Morrissey got the field away in perfect alignment, but Harry Kelly broke fast and went to the front at once.

Green Jones set sail after him and remained closest to him until after turning for home. Harry Kelly was enjoying a good lead, but he could not stick it out, and after passing the eighth pole Green Jones got on even terms with him. Both Jockey Garner, who rode Harry Kelly, and Jockey Roscoe Goose, who was astride Green Jones, went to their whips with vigor, and it was a pretty race to the wire. Harry Kelly made a valiant effort to get up, but it was too much for him, and at the twenty-yard pole it was apparent that he was a beaten horse.

The race was worth $2,725 to the winner, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees, which amounted to $65.

The defeat of Harry Kelly today marked his first loss in his five starts. He carried 125 pounds, and there are many experienced turfmen who are of the opinion that he would have won had he not used himself up so much going to the barrier. However, his post habits seem to get worse instead of better with each race, and it hardly looks probable that he ever will be curbed in this respect.

Today was the first ladies' day of the season at the Latonia track, and the attendance was the second largest of the meeting, Derby Day being the exception.

The Norwood Handicap, at a mile and a sixteenth, for three-year-olds and upward, for a purse of $800 added, was the next best race of the day, and this fell to the Schorr stable, Ed Crump turning the trick. He won by a length and a half from Solar Star, and he was the choice at odds of 19 to 20. Only four starters contested for this race, Capt. Rees finishing third and The Grader last.

The Baker Bros. had a strenuous day in every respect, winning two races, including the stake. Fan G. was the other winner from this barn, but they lost the filly, as Jack Adkin bid her up from $800 to $1,500, at which figure they dropped her. They sold Frigerio for $12,000 to E. R. Bradley this morning. This colt has won six races in a row out of seven starts. Most of the horsemen racing here figure him cheap at that price. His only defeat was in his first start at Lexington this spring, when he finished fifth.

Harry Fink claimed Peachie out of the third race for $1,175. He tried to withdraw his claim after he put it in, but the stewards would not let him. He was represented in this race by Trusty, which he recently claimed from Jack Adkin.

ACHIEVEMENT WINS THE HAMILTON DERBY.

HAMILTON, ONT., June 28.—Wilfred A. Viau's Hastings colt Achievement accounted for the Hamilton Derby when he beat a band of three-year-olds in the afternoon's feature race. He was ridden by Metcalf, trailed the pacemaker, Damrosch, for a mile, then assumed an easy lead and won going away by three lengths. The mile and a quarter was run in 2:06 2-5, good time for the track. Damrosch set a very fast pace in the early stages, but the 125 pounds told on him at the end and he tired badly. Achievement will be shipped back to New York to join the remainder of the Viau horses, which are at Aqueduct.

Extract from "Irish Times" June 13th, 1916.

"Last year's Irish Derby winner, "Ballaghtobin," was saddled for the Dublin Plate (value £400) but Lord Decies' colt, which was looking remarkably well, experienced bad luck in the race, and Barrett eased him when he recognized the futilty of catching "Fair Mac," which won with plenty to space from "La Poloma." The winner was only recently sold by Mr. Parkinson through the Irish Bloodstock Agency, to the American sportsman, Mr. G. H. Browne, who had not long to wait for the return of some of his outlay.

"Camping on Mount Mitchell."

The Southern Railway has issued a very complete booklet containing 31 pages of descriptive matter with illustrations, including maps, etc., regarding places for summer camps in the United States forests in North Carolina.

Much of the data contained in this booklet is furnished by the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture.

Copies of this booklet and information with regard to round trip fares, etc., will be gladly furnished on application to B. H. Todd, D. P. A., Louisville, Ky.

Mont Blanc, George W. Wingfield's imported two-year-old by Grey Leg—Bernina, contracted lung fever while en route from Tijuana and died June 24. This strapping big colt had all the qualifications of a race horse. Trainer Walter Heath stated that he was the best prospect he ever put a saddle on. He started four times, winning twice, once second and once unplaced.

The Latonia management estimated that there were fully five thousand ladies on hand Wednesday. Hardly a seat in the big grand stand was occupied by a man and the ladies overflowed onto the lawn, with the steps and aisles jammed with them.

BAYBERRY CANDLE SHOWS QUALITY.

NEW YORK, June 27.—While the Canarsie for two-year-olds, over the five-furlong distance, was the stake offering at Aqueduct today the real feature was a mile handicap in which ten first-class ones performed. It went to J. W. May's good mare, Bayberry Candle, and she proved herself a really first-class mare when she shouldered 126 pounds and beat home C. J. Brockmiller's Grumpy and the rejuvenated Harry Shaw from the stable of John Powers.

An unfortunate accident came out of the running of the first race when Charmeuse stumbled and fell on the first turn with Jockey Roscoe Troxler. Beyond a severe shaking up and some bruises the rider escaped injury, while the mare was not hurt. In the same race, after the finish, Striker unseated Jockey Buxton, but he, too, escaped with a hard bump and no other hurts.

The Gifford A. Cochran silks were first in both of the two-year-old offerings. Genesis took the Canarsie quite easily from the Oneck Stable's Artemis and Richard T. Wilson's Straight Forward, while Burlesque just beat home John Madden's Star Finch in the last race of the day. While Star Finch was outgamed there was a grain of comfort for Mr. Madden in the fact that he had sold both Genesis and Burlesque to Mr. Cochran. As a matter of fact the three placed horses in the Canarsie were all by Star Shoot, while the first and second in the last race were also the get of Mr. Madden's good stallion.

Emil Herz won a race with his English selling plater, Hanworth, when he outfooted his field over the six-furlong distance. John O. Talbott's Monocacy scored over the mile distance and C. H. Robbins' Little Nearer was over the mile and a sixteenth route. After Little Nearer had scored he was boosted from an entered price of $600 to $1,000, but he was protected and bought in for Mr. Robbins by Trainer Whalen.

After Magnet had been withdrawn from the mile handicap it left ten to race and it was a real good field. Sandman II., Bayberry Candle, Harry Shaw and Rhine Maiden were the most talked of ones in the field, though some fancied Gainer and Bac was another that was liked.

When the start came, to a good alignment, Gainer backed away from the barrier sharply, and his every chance was gone before Tommy McTaggart could have him in motion. Harry Shaw was another unfortunate, for the field closed in on him as he left a bit sluggishly and he was pinched off and crowded out of the running.

Bac, Grumpy, Wooden Shoes and Bayberry Candle were in the van, and Sandman II. was not far away. The others were in a fairly close bunch, and but for the unruly action of Gainer and the misfortune that came to Harry Shaw no excuse could be offered for the others.

Fairbrother rushed Sandman II. right from the break, and while Bayberry Candle was just showing in front, Bac and Sandman II. were almost with her, and the Talbott gelding was rushing along at a pace that soon carried him out in front of the mare. He assumed a lead of almost two lengths and was going along strongly. Loftus had eased Bayberry Candle slightly and he was not induced to race her out so early in the action.

Swinging for home Sandman II. began to tire from the way he had been rushed, and Bac was right with him, while Bayberry Candle was coming again on the rail and Loftus was handling her with rare skill, working his way up gradually and always saving something for the finish.

Then Harry Shaw, after having overcome his early handicap, was sweeping up from the field in irresistible fashion. But Harry dearly loves to race on the rail and there was no chance to come through there. Schuttinger finally succeeded in pulling him out, but it was not until the last furlong pole was reached and too late to give him a chance for victory.

Grumpy had been raced well off the pace until the last quarter and he has not the same rail running habit. As a result he came along free and clear on the outside and at the end he had Bayberry Candle well flattened out to win by a neck, while Harry Shaw was third, having beat the tired Sandman II. a like distance for the short end of the prize.

When Genesis was winner of the Canarsie for Gifford A. Cochran, it marked her third straight score, her last previous victory being in the Greenfield, a selling stake at Jamaica. She was a good filly today and really the easiest winner of the day.

Only half a dozen started and after breaking well McCahey shot the daughter of Star Shoot over to the inner rail where she qnickly opened up a safe lead and, outfooting her company to every pole, she was winner by three lengths over the Oneck Stable's Artemis, which in turn just beat home Richard T. Wilson's Straight Forward.

There were only six starters after a like number had been withdrawn and it was generally agreed that of the lot Genesis, Artemis and Straight Forward were best. This idea was eminently correct for that was just the order of the finish.

Felicidad, from the Wickliffe Stable, flashed to the front in the early stages, but it was only for an instant and when he swerved out badly at the elbow of the course his every chance was gone and at the end The Dean was the only one he beat home.

DICK WILLIAMS WINS INDEPENDENCE HANDICAP.

LATONIA, KY., July 4.—The largest Fourth of July crowd in the history of the local race track was on hand to witness the running of the stake today, and the attendance was not much less than that of Derby Day. Every point of vantage within the spacious grounds was taken long before post time for the first race. The day was of the best for the sport and the track lightning fast.

Eight horses went to the post in the Independence Handicap, the richest all-aged stake of the year, the Kentucky Handicap only being excepted. The Schorr stable started two horses, and they were made the favorites. It took Starter Harry Morrissey only a few seconds to get the field away to a perfect start, with Pif, Jr., breaking on top. He could not stay there, and before reaching the judges' stand on the first trip around Hank O'Day had the lead and it was plain to be seen that he was going to make his field dizzy. Franklin was closest to him, and in third place was Dick Williams. The latter was given a perfect ride by Jockey Guy Garner, as he kept him just close enough up to make his move as soon as he saw Hank O'Day showing signs of distress. The procession continued in this order until making the turn for home, when Hank O'Day showed that he had enough and was willing to say "take it." Franklin moved up rapidly at this juncture and at the eighth pole he was in command.

Dick Williams had to be reckoned with, however, although it did look as though Franklin was going to be returned the winner. In the last furlong Dick Williams came with a terrific rush and at the twenty yards pole he had Franklin, but the latter was hanging on gamely. Just a jump or two from the wire the Schorr colt got his nose in front and the race was his.

None of the other starters was ever prominent in the race, and Pif, Jr., had to run at a fast clip to get third money. He was far back the greater part of it and it looked as though a horse might have struck him going around the first turn, which caused him to drop back. Water Witch came with her accustomed speed at the end and finished fourth. Big Smoke and Hanovia were never in the hunt. The pace in the stake race was a hot one all the way. The first quarter was run in :23 2-5, the half mile in :47 4-5, the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5, the mile in 1:38 3-5, and the mile and three-sixteenths in 1:57.

The race was worth $3,100 to the winner, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees, amounting to $65. The winner ran coupled in the betting with Hank O'Day, which was acquired only yesterday by the Schorr stable.

There was a real patriotic demonstration when J. W. Schorr went onto the race track to get the big silk flag which was given by the management of the Latonia course to the winner. Patriotic airs were played by the band as the spectators stood and bared their heads. The applause was deafening, both when the horses passed under the wire and when Jockey Guy Garner brought Dick Williams back to the stand to be weighed out.

The Loveland Handicap brought together the sensational younster Frigerio and Green Jones, but neither one of them got down there at the finish. The race went to the colt Berlin, which won off by himself. Frigerio was second and Green Jones third. Velvet Joe had plenty of early speed and went to the front at one stage, with Frigerio close up. Berlin was always with them. At the half-mile pole there was considerable crowding. When it was all over, Berlin went to the front and was never in danger. Frigerio tired in the stretch under the 125 pounds, but was well in hand and had no trouble defeating Green Jones, which did not possess much run at any stage of the journey.

The Baker Brothers added another horse to their stable in the morning, buying Bringhurst, and then proceeded to win the fourth race, the Bond Hill Handicap, with him. He was much the best, going to the front right at the start and staying there to win by himself. John Jr. was up close to him all the way and held on just long enough to get the purse. Blackie Daw came fast at the start, then dropped back a little, and in the stretch made a good run. The others were not considered.

Although Piraeus got the verdict by only the margin of a nose, he was much the best in the first race and should have won by a length or so at least. He was off slowly and was taken to the inside and the outside and had an unusually rough journey. Then as a climax he stumbled when passing the mile and one-sixteenth pole. He just did get up however. Trapping, which finished second, ran like a nice colt and was going strong at the end. It looked like Ed Alvey's day when he broke on top and held the lead part of the way.

Rome Respess's old cripple is a pretty good horse. Casey Jones is the one referred to. He just came along in the second event at the half mile pole and cantered home, winning by four lengths. Uncle Hart was about the same distance in front of Father Riley. Hawthorn had one burst of speed and then stopped to nothing, while Father Riley, off none too well, closed fast.

There was no speed to go with Howdy Howdy in the last race and he just went to the front and stuck it out throughout the entire journey. Just Red ran up close for about half a mile and then Lahore moved up in second position. They raced that way from the half mile pole home with Howdy Howdy getting the decision easily.

William H. Shelley will be clerk of the scales at the Chicago meeting. He sent his acceptance of the position today.

CAMPFIRE WINS THE GREAT AMERICAN STAKES.

NEW YORK, July 1.—The twenty-sixth running of the Great American brought out a crowd almost if not quite as large as that which turned out for the Brooklyn Handicap, a Saturday previous. There were gasps of astonishment and many comments on a startling reversal of form when Campfire romped home in front with Ivory Black and Ticket, making the big fight of the race, eight lengths back, with Ivory Black just beating Ticket a scant half length for second position.

There was none in the field. Mr. Belmont started Woodtrap along with his imported star, Hourless. This latter colt shared the admiration of horsemen and turf patrons with Mr. Butler's Ivory Black, and Mr. Macomber's Hollister.

After a short delay the juveniles were sent away to as good a break as could have been asked. Campfire took immediate command and was bunched with Hollister and Ivory Black as they made the far away turn. They were all well bunched until they straightened out in the stretch, with Ivory Black clinging to the rail position and running as if he would be the winner.

At the eighth pole, however, Campfire was drawing away with Ivory Black in close pursuit of Ticket, and Mr. Whitney's Bonnie Witch outrunning the Belmont pair. All the cheers from the stand were for Ivory Black, but the Butler black beauty was outrun. Campfire shot past the winning post in a gallop and the race was over.

It was after the race that Mr. Wilson explained that after Campfire had been so disgracefully beaten by Arnold at Jamaica on June 22 they had looked for the cause and discovered a blind split. He said that counter irritants had reduced the trouble, and that the colt had made a quick recovery from the ailment.

For the benefit of the uninitiated it may be explained briefly that in the vernacular of horsedom a splint is a slight bony growth caused by the hardening of the fluids and against which a tendon may run, causing soreness and lameness. The blind splint forms inside and can only be felt and not seen with the naked eye.

Trainer Healey explained that after Campfire's leg had been patched up he had worked well in blinkers, and therefore he had obtained permission from the officials to run the colt thus equipped. Of course he had not seen fit to advertise the fact before the race, inasmuch as the proper authorities had not done so.

The big holiday throng scarcely had recovered from the shock of Campfire's win when Short Grass, from the barn of Emil Herz, ran over a fine field in the Queens County Handicap and broke the track record at Aqueduct when he ran a mile in 1:36 2-5.

Again Andrew Miller's Roamer, which won this race last year, met defeat and was second in front of Gainer, which beat He Will three lengths for third position.

Not only did Short Grass break the track record of 1:36 4-5 made by Tim J. O'Brien's Sam Jackson last year, but he was close to the American record made by Amalfi of 1:36 1-4 over the Syracuse track. And it was a horserace all the way from flag fall to finish; a race that made the spectators stand on tiptoes and once more gasp. Had Short Grass been driven out in a head and head finish, there undoubtedly would have been another fraction clipped from the mark he made. His race was not a form reversal, for in all of his starts he has been running over horses at the finish until today he got in front.

The running of today's Queens County was exactly to the liking of the imported thoroughbred which won it. A fierce pace was set by Roamer, the one most fancied to win, and all the time the leader was being pushed by He Will and Gainer. They were away to a good start. Butwell had Roamer toed up to the barrier and when it shot up he shot out alongside of Gainer, which had a slight lead.

Short Grass, as usual, was badly outrun all through the first parts of the race. Sand Marsh was another surprise because he never was near the leaders. Roamer kept on leading around the turn to the stretch and seemed to be having it all his own way. He was drawing away at the eighth pole, when Short Grass could be seen mowing down his horses and coming down the middle of the track like a speed marvel. The others had raced themselves out with the pace that was being set and they, went back as Short Grass went forward.

In the final sixteenth it could be seen that Short Grass was the winner, and at the finish he was five lengths in front of Roamer, and going easily. The remainder of the field was strung out, with Sand Marsh again in last position, just as he finished in the Brooklyn Handicap after setting a heart-breaking pace for more than half that race.

LATONIA, KY., July 5.—Picking up the impost of 130 pounds and running a mile in 1:38 1-5, the fastest mile of the Latonia meeting this spring, Ed Crump, which hails from the barn of J. W. Schorr, the Memphis turfman, won the Newport Handicap, the feature of the day's racing card at the local track. The affair had an added value of $800, and there were four starters, making it worth $665 to the winner. Solar Star finished second, beaten three lengths, and he in turn beat Embroidery two lengths for the place. Jack O'Dowd was the other starter.

Solar Star set a fast pace, and he kept his small field stepping along all the way, but when Ed Crump set sail he was forced to chuck it up. Jack O'Dowd essayed to keep up in the first part of the race, but he soon found that he was in too tough a spot and weakened to nothing. After making the turn for home Jockey Guy Garner let out a wrap on Ed Crump, and he went to the front. He easily drew away in the final running. Embroidery was slow to get going, and closed strongly when she finally struck her stride, but she could not get up.

The high form shown by Weber & Ward's good colt, Berlin, in the Loveland Handicap at Latonia, Tuesday, adds a renewed interest to the coming $6,000 Cincinnati Trophy, which is the big feature race at Latonia next Saturday, July 8. Berlin has all spring been racing consistenly, and had to his credit previous to his win Tuesday the Idle Hour Farm Stakes at Lexington. On the occasion of his last start in the Loveland Handicap, he cleverly disposed of the $12,000 Frigerio and the crack Green Jones, the latter being the only performer that has defeated sensational Harry Kelly to date. Green Jones is also an eligible to the big event Saturday, and daily now the field in the coming event takes on a wider scope, and every indication points to it being a most remarkable race this season, and the ultimate result a sure forecast on the big Derby races of 1917.

Aside from Derby Day next Saturday is expected to be the greatest afternoon sport, with the largest attendance so far during the present successful twenty-four days meeting at the Latonia track. The meeting will close on Tuesday, July 11, with the Valuation Stakes as the feature race, and this occasion will mark the second Ladies' Day of the meeting, as on that date all ladies accompanied by an escort will be admitted to the grounds and grandstand at the Latonia Jockey Club free.

By winning the Independence Handicap Tuesday at Latonia, Dick Williams marked himself as about the best performer yet sent to the races by the young sire, Dick Finnell, and this representative of John W. Schorr's stable by capturing this event entered the rank of the $5,000 turf winners of the present season. Dick Williams has so far this year started in eighteen races, eight of which he has won, and his earnings to date total $7,971. He will go from here at the close of the meeting at Latonia to the Hawthorne track at Chicago, and make a bid for the American Derby, the big feature race of the coming meeting at that track.

George J. Long's crack filly Kathleen is the first filly of three-year-olds and upward to become a $5,000 winner, her victory in the Quickstep Handicap swelling her turf earnings to date in 1916 to $5,758. She so far this year has a very brilliant record, as, aside from the Quickstep Handicap, she has the Kentucky Oaks to her credit, and in her five starts she has never been worse than second in 1916. At the conclusion of the Latonia meeting Trainer Pete Coyne will ship her to Saratoga, and Western horsemen naturally expect her to be able to beat any three-year-old filly at the Springs that may start against her as a representative of any of the big Eastern stables. With the exception of Regret and Waterblossom, Kathleen is the best filly that has been seen on the Kentucky tracks for several years. Moreover, she is a filly that looks like she will continue to improve, and develop into one of the greatest four-year-olds of any sex racing in 1917.

Kathleen is idolized by her owner, Mr. Long, as he loves the great horse and annually spends thousands of dollars on his training stable, just to secure one good performer to carry his colors with distinction. He is one turfman now in the business that maintains a breeding establishment, and races a string of horses with no idea of even expecting any profit at the business. He never sells any of his great horses, and it is likely that no price could tempt him to part with his slashing filly.

On the whole, the three-year-olds this season in Kentucky appear to be better than the older horses racing now in this State.

Kay Spence has surely had bad luck with his big stable. Of the horses he brought to Latonia Hodge, Egmont, Red Cloud, Money Maker and Commauretta have all gone lame on him, and at the conclusion of this meeting he will ship these five performers to Louisville to join Blarney, Waremore and Joe Blair, all of which have been there for some time, having been fired and turned out to the pasture. The other members of his stable he will send to the Hawthorne track at Chicago, and after that meeting is ended he will return them to Louisville and lay up until the autumn campaign opens in Kentucky. The fact that Red Cloud bowed a tendon in his last start explains why he faltered in the last furlong, when at the head of the stretch he moved up like he would be a keen contender in the race. Spence does not think the ailments of these eight performers will keep them from racing well in a short time again, but none of them will be seen on the turf again until the autumn meetings in this State. The happenings to the various members of his string go to show the uncertainties in training horses, as early in the spring at Louisville it looked like he had in his charge one of the best bread-winning stables on the track.

Twenty-one royally-bred yearlings, selected from the best breeding establishments of France and intended for sale in this country, will leave London on the Atlantic Transport Line's steamship Mongolian, July 8. These young thoroughbreds were selected and are being brought over by Delbert Reiff, one-time trainer for Richard Croker in England. He is a brother of Johnnie and Lester Reiff, and has had considerable success as a trainer in England, France and Italy. As these yearlings have been carefully selected, and as existing conditions in France are particularly favorable for obtaining that country's best thoroughbred products, this importation should mean much to the horse interests in this country.

Mr. Reiff will also bring over ten thoroughbreds belonging to T. P. Thorne, who will race them in this country. It is also anticipated Fred Burlew will sail on the same boat, assumbably with the yearlings bred in France by Clarence H. Mackay.

The Irish Derby was run last week over the famous Curragh course in Ireland. Several English horses were entered for this race. H. Ellis' Furore was the favorite and, ridden by Robbins, won the race by three lengths from Colonel Hall Walker's King Robert, with Walter Griggs up. J. Daly's Brendo was third, with Hunter in the saddle. The betting was: Furore, 2 to 1, King Robert, 11 to 4 and Brendo 6 to 1. Ten horses went to the post.

CARTER HANDICAP WON BY TRIAL BY JURY.

NEW YORK, June 4.—When Freedom from her loftiest of peaks unfurled the standard of the red, white and blue, a combination of colors was created for this fair land. And since that day all true Americans ever have stood ready to pledge their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to the defense of these colors.

And today a thoroughbred race horse carried this red, white and blue to victory when Trial by Jury, Capt. E. B. Cassatt's chestnut son of Fair Play—Princess Chic won the eighteenth running of the Carter Handicap. What more fitting or more pleasing tribute could have been paid our national emblem then this flashing first past the winning post in the feature race of an Independence Day card?

Hats off to the colors, hats off to the winner and hats off to Mr. W. S. Vosburgh, greatest of all American handicappers, who so weighted eleven horses in a seven-furlong race that even when they plowed into the last sixteenth of the running almost any one of the eleven seemed to a have a possible chance to win. Gallantly Trial by Jury came away from the bunch and forged his way to the front. Just as gallantly Ormesdale, from the R. T. Wilson stable, fought it out for second place and took that position from Short Grass, that great British invader, which was making a terrific bid for first past the post in the finishing strides. And Ormesdale was gamely striving to beat the Britisher, even though he had been jumped upon and cut down in the running.

The one disappointment of the race was the poor showing made by John Sanford's Kentucky Derby winner, George Smith.

There was a record attendance at the races today, the crowd at the Aqueduct course being a few thousands in excess of that which saw the running of the Brooklyn Handicap on the opening day. And those who went to Aqueduct were repaid for their journey.

Of all the twenty-odd thousand at the course none was so happy as Captain Cassatt, whose face after the big race shone brighter than the American flag he wore in his necktie. He was jubilant over the winning of Trial By Jury. It was a race worth winning, and it was won in a way that was most pleasing to the owner.

The Carter, of course, was the big event of the day, but there still was a lot of interest in the Clover Stakes, which was won by Harry Payne Whitney's golden bay filly, Bonnie Witch, by Broomstick—Bonnie Star, which is a daughter of that great sire Star Shoot. This great little filly, which gives much promise of greater things, ran the five furlongs in 59 seconds, and was eased up to win from Yankee Witch and Kittenish. The latter may be mentioned in passing as one which is more than apt to be heard of again later on in this season of racing.

This Clover Stakes, in which the witches ran past the other fillies in the race was the twenty-fifth running of this classic, which was inaugurated at Gravesend course in 1888, along with the Brooklyn Handicap. It brought out eight fine daughters of famous sires and dams. Madeira, heralded as the best of Gifford A. Cochran's star lot, was scratched, the owner being content to have Genesis and Queen of the Water carry his colors. Also George Odom scratched Mae Murray, the only entry from his Brighton Stable. Of those starting the two witches, Bonnie and Yankee, were both fancied with a host of admirers for the Cochran entry.

As the Clover turned out it was scarcely a contest so far as the winner went, the Whitney filly taking command soon after the start and winning off all by herself with Jockey Mink looking over his shoulder and smiling at Butwell, who was fighting it out to win the place by half a length on the Glen Riddle Farm's Yankee Witch from A. K. Macomber's Kittenish. Mr. Cochran's Genesis, which ran well up at one time, finished fourth with her stable mate, Queen of the Water fifth. It was at the close that Kittenish was coming with a great rush after having a hard time to find her way through in the stretch. Wistful failed to live up to all expectations, and Vague and Tragedy were a pair of green ones.

Eleven starters had been entered for the Carter Handicap and all started. And these were considered among the country's best short-distance racers. George Smith, in which chief interest seemed to center, was the quiet one at the barrier so much so that he seemed almost asleep and anything but aware of what was expected of him. This dullness wound up with his getting away poorly from a bad positition in the field.

Of those at the post, Trial by Jury was the most fractious one, with Harry Shaw also acting badly, and the antics of these two delayed the start for four minutes after they reached Starter Cassidy. When the barrier was sprung the colors of Gainer were first to attract attention at the front, but Ormesdale was seen close beside him. Garner got Coquette away in third place with High Noon a close fourth. The others were bunched and George Smith was the last to get going.

High Noon and Sand Marsh raced into the front as they made the turn for the stretch, but on this turn Trial by Jury could be seen going up and climbing past his horses with even strides. Short Grass, which had broke last with George Smith, as usual, dropped into last position in the early part of the running and kept that pace around the turn.

Those who were paying most attention to George Smith were not long in finding out that his was a hopeless case. He was forced to take the overland route and didn't seem up to the effort though he had been reported in excellent trim. At the stretch turn Sand Marsh was showing his flight of speed, but he gave way to the rush of Ormesdale and hung on with Phosphor for a few strides.

When they had passed the eight pole Short Grass was coming with his long leaps and all were in such positions that it looked as if any one of half a dozen might be in front in the final running. At the end Trial by Jury was coming almost as speedily as Short Grass and the race came when they reached the field stand with Trial by Jury running Ormesdale into the ground.

And on and on and on Short Grass was coming, so that when they reached the final effort Trial by Jury had started to draw away and Ormesdale and Short Grass were racing lapped. In the final stride Short looked as if he had raced into second place, but that position was given to Mr. Wilson's Ormondale colt.

Phosphor was five lengths back for fourth position, with Sand Marsh a bad fifth and the others strung out down the stretch. After her first flash of speed Coquette quit utterly and was next to the last one in. The time was 1:25 2-5, just three-fifths of a second slower than the record of Roamer of 1:24 4-5 for the track, made in the running of this same race in 1914.

With both the Carter Handicap and the Clover down for decision, it was naturally a real holiday program that has been prepared by the Queens County Jockey Club at Aqueduct today, but that was not all. The other four races were well worth while and excellent sport came out of each one of them.

True as Steel was winner of the opening five-furlong dash through the straight, and then P. S. P. Randolph had to stand a raise of $600 over the entered price before he could retain his fast plater. This bidding was done jointly by George Alexandra and W. Dunn. Then Richard F. Carman claimed My Donnie from H. C. Hallenbeck out of the same field, paying $900 for him.

In the fifth race, after Kilkenny Boy had been returned the winner, he was boosted by J. W. Hedrick and Alexandra from $1,500 to $2,000, but James Butler kept his useful plater by bidding the necessary five more.

The other two races were under selling conditions, but each winner escaped the run-up. One was a steeplechase, that went to Mrs. Philip Stevenson's Repentant, while the other was a dash for two-year-olds, over the five furlong route, and The Dean, from the Crossways Stable, was returned winner.

The Epsom Derby was instituted in 1780, and took its name from the twelfth Earl of Derby, who had taken the Epsom meeting under his special protection, the Oaks being named after an estate of his on the edge of Banstead Downs, a favorite meeting-place for racegoers as far back as the reign of Charles II. This Earl won the Oaks the first year it was run for with a filly named Bridget, but it was not until 1787 that he won the coveted Blue Riband with Sir Peter Teazle. Singular to relate, since that time the Stanley colors have never been carried victoriously in the great race.

ROUGH RIDING AT AQUEDUCT.

NEW YORK, July 3.—Really the best number that was offered at Aqueduct today was a mile that was framed for horses that had never won two races. It might have expected that such conditions would bring together an ordinary field, but there were some really high-class three-year-olds engaged that were only eligible because their racing opportunity had been limited. This race proved easy for George D. Widener, Jr.'s, Lady Hillington.

The sport began in sweltering temperature, and the first race was run over a fast track. Then there came a heavy summer downpour, which, while it did not seriously affect the going took the edge off the fast track and still left the footing good.

A disqualification came out of the opening dash when Jockey Shilling roughed Deer Trap with Election to to such an extent that the stewards found reason for setting him back and awarding the race to the Belmont starter. At the same time Shilling was suspended for three days for his offense.

Then in the third race, when Tommy McTaggart rode Yellowstone to victory, in the other two-year-old race of the day, he was suspended for five days for cutting across the field at the start, though his mount was not disqualified.

Raconteuse upset some calculations when she escaped from the maiden class by beating some winners over the mile distance. Gallop won over the same route and was boosted from $800 to $1,500, but was protected, while Republican, in the same race, was claimed by Mrs. E. Arlington.

The other race of the day was the Willett Handicap of six furlongs and it went to Emil Herz's Daddy's Choice in a very close finish with Richard F. Carman's Startling, the one that really should have been returned the winner.

The race for near maidens was best for the reason that it marked the first start of the year for James Butler's Fair Count, a full brother to Ballot, which has been on the shelf since June a year ago, while he only started twice that year.

Then there was Gifford A. Cochran's Air Man, which had not won two races, first start last year. On that occasion he nosed out Dominant, one of the truly best juveniles of the year. There was the English colt Engelbert that A. J. Joyner sold to Mickey Miles, to say nothing of Lady Hillington, the one that Mr. Joyney saddled for George D. Widener, Jr.

Of course, there were some sure-enough near maidens, and they cluttered up the course. Most of them will continue to be near maidens, but those spoken of need only stand up to be heard from in first-class company.

It was a good start, and Johnny Loftus stepped Fair Count right to the front, but he soon gave way to Engelbert, and the English horse was the one to cut the running to the stretch. Lady Hillington was off fairly well, and she worked her way up on the outside of the leaders, until at the head of the stretch she had disposed of Fair Count and was a good second to Engelbert.

Erom the furlong pole home she came away from the Englishman in handy fashion to win with plenty left, while Loftus, by presevering with Fair Count, induced him to head out Engelbert for the place, though a stronger ride on the son of Caius would have reversed this order.

Air Man met with some interference in the running, but he was along in time to be third. It was an eminently proper finish, for the first four at the end clearly outclassed the others.

Mrs. Livingston has sold Prime Mover and Wise Man to the Montreal owner, Jas. Barry. Mr. Barry is the owner of Thornhill.

GREAT FIELD FOR AMERICAN DERBY.

CHICAGO, July 3.—"Every horse of Derby caliber in the East is entered for the revival of the American Derby."

That was the cheering greeting with which Martin Nathanson burst in upon the meeting of the Illinois Jockey Club officials in the Hotel Sherman today. And in his pocket he had concrete assurance, in the shape of signed entry blanks, of national indorsement of the revival of horse racing in Illinois when the Jockey Club stages its thirteen day meeting July 15 to 29 at the old Hawthorne race track. It was a remarkable victory for the men who recently organized the Illinois Jockey Club and a personal victory for Mr. Nathanson, racing secretary of the club.

About ten days ago Secretary Nathanson went to Latonia and listed about 375 horses for the Hawthorne meeting during his stay in Cincinnati and at Latonia. All of the important stables in Kentucky will be represented with a string of horses including many for the American Derby, the Chicago Merchants' Handicap and the Illinois Jockey Club Gold Cup Handicap. Then he went to New York with fear and trembling. He had been told that Eastern horsemen feared that the Illinois people did not mean business. There seemed to be a fear that the proposed meeting was to be an opportunity to put across an "under cover" betting affair and the New Yorkers were wise enough in their own experience to realize that such a move would kill racing.

But luck was with him. During his absence from Chicago, officials of the jockey club had been successful in interesting such men as J. Ogden Armour, C. K. G. Billings, Samuel Insull, Otto Lehmann, Clive Runnels and scores of others in a betless meeting, obtaining their financial and moral support for such an affair and the news of this accomplishment preceded the racing secretary. When he arrived in New York leading horsemen were talking of the Illinois revival and little else.

He called on August Belmont. There were some details regarding the track that he and his trainer, S. C. Hildreth, wanted to have made clear. He was perfectly satisfied with the names of the subscribers, several of whom he knew personally, but he wanted to be assured that stable and track conditions would be taken care of properly. He remarked that the track had been closed since 1904 and that considerable money must be spent to get everything shipshape, or rather steedshape. M. Nathanson was able to convince Mr. Belmont that nothing would be left undone. The backers have spent thousands of dollars and are spending much more in getting everything in readiness, the racing secretary told the millionaire horseman and convinced him that he could not afford not to be represented in the revival of the American Derby. So Mr. Belmont advised Hildreth to make the Derby entries and the Chicago public will have an opportunity to see Friar Rock, the only three-year-old which ever won the Suburban and the Brooklyn Handicaps, at the post when the Derby here is started. Mr. Belmont also has entered Malachite.

Another attractive entry for the American Derby evival is Achievement, Wilfred Viau's Hamilton Derby winner. This horse was bought from R. F. Carman, who still trains him.

Star Hawk, A. K. Macomber's nomination, and which the wise ones say is about due to win a big race, ran second in both the Kentucky Derby, close up to the popular favorite, George Smith, and in the Brooklyn Derby.

The candidates of Foxhall P. Keene, already announced—Churchill and Tipperary—are deserving of comment chiefly because they came from the stables founded by the late James R. Keene, internationally noted sportsman and father of the present owner. Mr. Keene will be in Chicago for the races.

John Sanford's George Smith also has been announced as an entry for the Derby. This speedy three-year-old won the Kentucky Derby and ran second in the mud to Dodge in the Latonia Derby.

From the Bedford Stables, owned by Jesse and Oscar Lewisohn and in charge of one of America's greatest jockeys of former days, James McLaughlin, will come the filly Celandria.

In the mails is expected the nomination of Spur, James Butler's good colt, and, in view of the fact that the Hawthorne meeting conflicts in dates with the meeting sponsored by Mr. Butler himself, this is considered a real tribute to Illinois racing.

In addition to the Derby candidates, Mr. Nathanson made public the entry of a horse that will be watched with interest during the meeting, inasmuch as it is owned by Emil Herz, famous in the former Chicago racing days as the owner of such a horse as McChesney. This is the eight-year-old Short Grass, which last Saturday made the fastest mile ever run at Aqueduct, the time being 1:36 2-5. This horse, which is entered for the Gold Cup here, was purchased in England, where agents of the German Government had tried to buy him for the Graditz Stud at a price said to have been $12,500.

Memberships and subscriptions are coming in fast, according to Eugene V. Beifeld, secretary and treasurer of the Illinois Jockey Club, and, if one may judge by the demand, there will be little opportunity to get boxes for Derby Day after the first of next week, each mail bringing in reservations, many of which are from persons well known in society.

Hawthorne has been restored to something like its appearance of the days when it was the scene of important racing. The ravages of twelve years of comparative disuse have been repaired to a really surprising extent. Right now, barring some need of paint and a good washing and scrubbing, the grandstand is fit and ready for its designed uses. The paddock stalls have been bedded with soft tanbark and the whole paddock is as good as it ever was. Across the track newly roofed and renovated stables present a neat appearance. In fact, Hawthorne is quite a sightly racing plant and will, no doubt, be more improved and presentable when its gates are thrown open to the racing public July 15.

Quite a force of men were at work Sunday in various fields of renovation. The race track was being levelled, harrowed and dragged. It had been thrown up from the inside to the outside to fit it for auto racing and required considerable labor to bring it back into condition for racing. In its palmy days Hawthorne was a safe track, but never an especially fast one. There is something in its present appearance suggesting that it may now prove to be faster than it was in 1904. All around its ellipse the inner and outer tracks have been placed in good condition and it is now to the eye a sure enough race track.

As yet few horses are at the track and probably are not desired there for at least a week. That time should suffice to make the going perfect. Then the horses can come and find the course fit for exercise galloping.

RUNES WINS FOURTH OF JULY STAKES.

FORT ERIE, July 4.—The Niagara Racing Association's firt summer meeting opened today with a tremendous crowd in attendance. The recent extraordinary heavy rains had left the track a trifle slow, which accounts for the withdrawal of several important factors from the Fourth of July Handicap. It came down to three horses which provided an interesting race and a thrilling finish, in which the gallant little Runes won by a nose from R. J. Mackenzie's Leo Skolny, with All Smiles third. The last named was beaten all the way. Leo Skolny looked to be thoroughly beaten, too, when Runes collared him in the stretch and took the leadership from him, but he came on again, and was as near as possible to making a dead heat of it at the finish.

- Voorhees: Solitaire II. (Ayrshire); Carnation II. (Solesky)
- Chiffie (Imported.): Prism (Flambeau); Petticoat (Amalia, Uncas, Rainbow, Doncaster, Pelisse)

The Thorncliffe Stable won both the two-year-old events. In the Canadian-bred division Britannia had a stout argument from the Montreal filly, Javato, for a brief period in the stretch, but Britannia came away, and the other weakened and swerved under pressure.

Incog, a filly by Ogden—Mariti, won the open two-year-old race in very handy fashion, with R. J. Mackenzie's Fan G. second, Queen of the Sea third and Bondage fourth. The winner was beaten at the barrier in her last start, when she dwelt instead of going away with the others in the walk-up start.

The sprint handicap had a fine field of eight runners, two of which, Bars and Stars and Mars Cassidy, are just from Kentucky. The Masquerader took the run out of Back Bay, in a head and head race for five furlongs, and then Ed. Trotter's A. N. Akin came on and outstayed The Masquerader. The race was run in 1:14 4-5, very good time for the track.

H. G. Bedwell's Ben Quince, which he bought from W. C. Weant at Hamilton, beat Sam Louis' Ask Ma in the sixth race and Louis bid him up. Ben was entered to be sold for $1,000, and Bedwell retired from the bidding when Louis took him up to $1,600.

The racing officials of the meeting are:—Steward representing the Canading Racing Associations, Joseph A. Murphy; Stewards of the meeting, J. B. Campbell, Francis Nelson; Judges, Francis Nelson, W. Horace Lerch; Racing Secretary and Handicapper, J. B. Campbell; Starter, A. B. Dade; Clerk of the Scales, Joseph McLennan.

At a meeting of the Committee of the Canadian Racing Associations here today a number of trainer and riders received licenses.

Trainers—J. D. Atkins, Joseph Brown, Fred Foster Wm. Martin, J. B. Respess, J. Schafer, Fred. Teahar F. Wright.

Jockeys—J. Callahan, J. F. Clark, M. Fallon, L Gentry, O. Gentry.

LEXINGTON, SATURDAY, JULY 8, 1916.

SALE OF BOSQUE BONITA YEARLINGS.

The next important sale of thoroughbred yearlings of the season will be held at Durland's in West 66th Street, Monday night, July 17th, when the Powers-Hunter Company, of New York, offers the produce of John H. Morris' Bosque Bonita Stud. Mr. Morris, one of the best known of the breeders of Kentucky, has reared many a good racer at Bosque Bonita, his most notable recent contribution to the turf having been Forward, a winner in Great Britain and India.

The yearlings the Powers-Hunter Company will offer on the 17th, mostly are sons and daughters of the famous Burgomaster, the star American three-year-old of 1906 and the only son of Hamburg that has won distinction as a stock horse; Bryn Mawr and Textile. Before he was sold at a big price to go to South America, Burgomaster sent up Whimsy, Dinah Do, Hidden Star, Sand Mark, Slipshod, Ufizzi, Frijolee, Wooden Shoes, Etruscan and many another sterling performer from Harry Payne Whitney's Brookdale Stud. The Burgomasters are famed for both speed and endurance. Slipshod, Flimsy and Sand Mark were capital two-year-olds last season. Etruscan is an exceptionally fast sprinter; Wooden Shoes and Dinah Do have proven tough and enduring distance runners and Frijolee is a first rate fencer.

Bryn Mawr is the sire of Dalhousie, Cintrella, Aylmer, Belle Mawr, Acton, Bwana Tumbo, Brynary, Dr. Samuel, Shippegan, Faker, Uncle Bryn, Amans, Tab Her, etc., and Ophelia W., Lucile P. and Gretchen R., two-year-old winners this year. The Bosque Bonita yearlings are a most desirable lot and should be in good demand.

Either by the steamship Minnehaha of the Atlantic Transport Line, due to arrive this week, or by the Mongolian of the same line, which should arrive about July 22, Hon. J. N. Camden will receive two extremely valuable thoroughbreds. One is the famous broodmare, Double Dark, and the other is the great race horse and young sire, Light Brigade, 6, by Picton—Bridge of Sighs, by Isinglass. Picton, the sire of Light Brigade, was by Orvieto—Hecuba, by Isonomy. This is without doubt one of the most valuable sires imported to this country since Mr. Belmont brought over Rock Sand. He is particularly rich in winning top crosses, and his own racing career was a brilliant one. His sire, Picton, ran second to the great Spearmint in the English Derby, while he receives the priceless Isonomy strain through both that great horse and his best son, Isinglass.

A. J. Joyner, who saw Light Brigade frequently in England, entertains an extremely high opinion of him, both as to breeding and individuality, aside from his brilliant achievements on the turf. He says he is a brown or dark bay horse over sixteen hands high, and one which no horseman could help admiring.

BAYBERRY CANDLE RUNS AWAY FROM HANDICAP FIELD.

NEW YORK, July 5.—J. W. May has a right good mare in Bayberry Candle, which outran Harry Payne Whitney's Borrow and four others and won the mile handicap at Aqueduct today.

Not only did Bayberry Candle beat Borrow and take the best race of the day, but her winning way was such as to call attention to her and bring forth much praise for her efforts. Captain E. B. Cassatt's Sun God, the most lightly weighted one of the field, ran into third position behind Borrow, beating Grant Hugh Browne's Gunbearer three lengths for third place, with C. J. Brockmiller's Grumpy lapped on the latter and E. F. Whitney's Rhine Maiden away back in the rear. Bayberry Candle led all the way from flagfall to finish and traveled the distance in the easy time of 1:38 2-5.

It was a good start that Mars Cassidy gave them after they had been at the post for three minutes. Bayberry Candle stood in first position at the post and the good daughter of Cunard—Tower of Candles kept that same position from that time on until her number had been flashed as first past the post. Rhine Maiden was a flash in the pan that showed in second place for a few jumps, with Borrow in an easy third position and Sun God well in command of the other two.

Before they were through the backstretch old Borrow had headed everything but the mare. She was rolling along with something of the same easy stride that the old black mare, Imp, used to show when she was running her good races. As they made the round of the turn Borrow opened a gap of more than a length ahead of his closest pursuer and took out after the leader.

As they came down the stretch Bayberry Candle was still going along as evenly and as easily and gracefully as a fast yacht under full sail, giving an occasional toss of her sedate head, just flirting with those behind. There was little of excitement to the race down the long stretch. There were those of the crowd in the grandstand who were yelling for Borrow to come on, and he was coming under as vigorous urging as Jockey Joe Notter could give him. It was Sun God which was making the most impressive run in the final furlong, and when he had come up and challenged Gunbearer, Lykes appeared perfectly willing to give up.

Just before the finish Johnny Loftus began to ride Bayberry Candle for the first time during the journey, but she never had been fully extended and the urging was just to make certain that Borrow did not come too close. The winner had a good length or more to spare and Borrow was five lengths in front of Sun God. Under the effortless ride of Lykes, Gunbearer would have been fifth in another couple of strides, but just took fourth place from Grumpy by a nose.

Howard Lewis has sold to W. M. Carter the eight-year-old chestnut gelding, El Bart by Fatherless out of Network. El Bart performed creditably through the field last year and in previous years under the colors of Joseph E. Widener, but thus far this season he has failed to win brackets out of four starts, in which the best he has done has been to take two thirds. El Bart is a half-brother to Embroidery and James Butler's Paddy Whack, both of which are by Celt. Network is by Eon. The price paid for El Bart was not made public, but it has been said that it was $1,500 or thereabouts.

Mrs. Nettie Arlington, whose horses are being trained by E. H. Garrison, has purchased the five-year-old chestnut gelding Transit, by Transvaal out of Resignation, from Mrs. J. Shilling.

LOCAL NOTES.

Charles F. Hill has arranged with the Powers-Hunter Company to sell another bunch of French-bred yearlings, property of Clarence H. Mackay, from the Haras de Fresnay, Normandy, France, at Saratoga on Saturday, August 12th. These yearlings left France on July 1st, and will be shipped from London on or before July 8.. They can be seen at Saratoga after July 20. The initial sale of yearlings from Mr. Mackay's French breeding farm, held at Durland's on the night of December 23d, 1915, under the management of Mr. Hill, the Powers-Hunter Company conducting the vendue, was eminently successful, the prices secured for these horses bordering on the sensational. The consignment included thirteen yearlings and two other horses and realized a total of $50,000, or an average of $3,333 per head.

The strong demand for high-class yearlings seems to presage another record-breaking sale when the present crop of yearlings from Haras de Fresnay is offered to the public.

Barry Shannon, manager of E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farm, shipped last Saturday to Sheepshead Bay the six yearlings that the Quincy Stable recently purchased of Mr. Bradley. They will be taken charge of by Trainer Steve Lawler. They are a fine lot of yearlings, their breeding being as follows:

Bay colt, by Ballot—Discipline, by Greenan.

Chestnut colt, by Ballot—Blush Rose, by Star Ruby.

Chestnut colt, by Ballot—Miss Crittenden, by Royal Flush III.

Bay colt, by Cunard—Mrs. F. G. Hogan, by Sir Dixon.

Bay filly, by Helmet—Eonic, by Eon.

Bay filly, by Helmet—Grail, by Atheling.

This makes ten yearlings which the Quincy Stable is now possessed of, the others being a chestnut filly, by Transvaal—Lady Aristocracy; chestnut colt, by Celt—Sallie Washingten; bay colt, by Superman—Notasulga, and a bay colt by Superman—Award.

Charles F. Hill shipped on Sunday to Saratoga the quartette of French-bred three-year-olds, property of Clarence H. Mackay, which he has in his charge. These horses will be disposed of during the meeting at Saratoga, after they have been raced sufficiently to establish their true form.

The lot includes:

Baffouilleur, b c, 3, by Meddler—Ballantrae by Ayrshire. Full brother to Mediant, Melody, Night Rider, etc.

Esprit Gaulois, br c, 3, by Rabelais—Gunfire by Hastings.

Mahwah, b c, 3, by Uncle—Semiramis II. by Sheen.

Trouble Fete, b c, 3, by Meddler or Troubled Waters—Irish Eyes (dam of English winners, Critic and Sassenach) by Isinglass.

In a recent letter to THE RECORD Thomas J. Macabe, Secretary of the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society, Toronto, has the following to say of Anmer, the son of Florizel II., recently presented to Canada by the King of England:

As a matter of interest to the thoroughbred horse world I thought you would like to hear of Anmer's success since arriving in Canada in April last. Anmer you no doubt know was selected from the Royal Stud by Lord Marcus Beresford and presented by His Majesty to Canada. He is in our charge and stationed at Ennisclare Farms, Oakville, Ont. Many of our most successful breeders have bred their good mares and up to the present he promises to be a very valuable horse. Among the good producers sent to Anmer is the dam of the Harry Giddings' St. Bass, Lady Betz, a Hanover mare. He has been pronounced a grand individual, stands sixteen hands and possesses a beautiful top line and has lots of quality, showing a strong St. Simon character. His legs, feet and hocks are exceptionally good and of good proportion in every particular.

The Duryea yearlings by Irish Lad and Sweeper will be sold at Saratoga on Tuesday, August 1.

August Belmont has sold the black horse Dragoman, by Rock Sand—Donna de Ora, to Matt Byrnes, who will use the horse for breeding purposes at his Eatontown, N. J., farm. Dragoman is five years old. Mr. Byrnes also is in the market for a number of mares and fillies for breeding purposes.

L. L. wants to buy a young stallion and mare. See ad.

W. H. Laudeman's chestnut filly Cynthia Dwyer, winner of the first race at Latonia Thursday, was named for W. H. Dwyer's pretty little daughter.

Waterblossom, T. C. McDowell's great four-year-old mare, has been taken out of training and will race no more until the fall season opens. One of her ankles has filled and this has occasioned her temporary retirement.

J. C. Milam has retired the fillies Satin, Sard and Hermione at Hon. J. N. Camden's farm; also, the racers Iron Master and Norumbega.

John W. Schorr has purchased Hank O'Day, br g, 4, by Peep O'Day—Eric Belle, from J. S. Hawkins for $3,500. The horse worked a mile and a furlong in 1:51 2-5 last Saturday morning.

Emmanuel March, of Memphis, Tenn., has purchased Brown Baby from W. M. Wallace.

Jefferson Livingston has purchased Aldebaran, b g, 7, by Planudes—Passan, from Mose Goldblatt.

SEVERAL HIGH-CLASS YEARLINGS FOR SALE.—During the week, we have had placed in our hands for immediate sale, several corking looking yearlings. All of them are well-bred and are well worth the money at which they are priced. We will take pleasure in giving full particulars to any intending purchasers. No yearling in the lot, however, is priced at less than $750.

It is not generally known that when Ed Crump, carrying 130 pounds, finished a mile at Latonia Wednesday, he ran one of the greatest races at that distance that has ever been recorded. But two horses in the history of American racing ever ran as fast a mile as Ed Crump did last Wednesday with more weight up than he carried upon that occasion. The record is held by King James, scored by him at Sheepshead Bay, 1:37 4-5. with 132 pounds up. Like Ed Crump, he was then a four-year-old. When he was a five-year-old at Brighton Beach, Hermis carried 133 pounds, and ran a mile in 1:38. These are the only two performances that have ever gone with 130 or more pounds up a mile faster, or as fast, as Ed Crump ran in the Newport Handicap at Latonia on Wednesday last. That race with his win in the Kentucky Handicap last spring at Douglas Park, gives the son of Peep O'Day the right to be ranked with the very best horses now racing on the American turf.

BONDAGE CAPTURED THE NIAGARA STAKES.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 6.—The Niagara Stakes, a dash of five furlongs, with a net value of $2,020 to the winner, was offered as an attraction by the Niagara Racing Association this afternoon, and it drew out a large crowd to Ft. Erie. A field of the best youngsters racing on the Canadian circuit went to the post in this race, and it furnished a stirring contest in which Bondage came from behind to get up in time to beat Manokin out a head in the closing strides.

It was a busy afternoon for the haltermen, and Sam Louis figured prominently in the run-ups. After Handfull won, H. G. Bedwell boosted him $200 over his entered price, but Louis protected the colt. In the following race, which was won by Little Nephew, Louis carried the winner from $400 to $800 and secured him. Louis also claimed Baby Cal, which finished second to Little Nephew, for $850.

Miramichi came out of his race yesterday in bad shape. Shortly after the start he was jumped on and one of his tendons was almost cut in two. Trainer Burttschell has but little hope of ever getting him to the post again.

Recoil, the Ogden-Hammerless racer, owned by the Thorncliffe Stable, died last night of a twisted bowel. Recoil was a useful racer, and won six of her last nine starts. As a two-year-old she outworked Calgary, and was highly regarded as a brood mare prospect. This is the first horse that Mr. McDaniel has lost in the three years that he has been training for Mr. Davies.

It developed that the sprinter Peep Sight was claimed by W. Smith, owner of the jumpers Cu Bon and New Haven, after he was beaten in his race on the closing day of the Hamilton meeting.

In the Argentine there is a successful, though unknown in the rest of the racing world, line of Musket blood. This is through Tonic, which was sired in England by Dan Godfrey (son of Musket), and as a foal was sent to South America with his dam, Midnight Prowl. Dan Godfrey, which was bred at the Royal Stud at Hampton, was out of Orchestra, and died at the age of twelve years.

SOME SOUND ADVICE TO BREEDERS.

The Compton Stud, together with other establishments of a similar kind where good stallions are kept for the purpose of begetting satisfactory half-bred stock, has done much for breeding in England; but many farmers are very careless, not only in looking after mares which are in foal, but also in regard to selecting a suitable horse as to conformation to put to the mare or mares they own. The following advice, which appears in a pamphlet issued by the proprietors of the Compton Stud, cannot, in my opinion, be too widely circulated or known, for it appears to me to be thoroughly sound in all respects. It may therefore be of interest to many if I reproduce here the suggestions as to the proper treatment of mares and their offspring:—

Care Of Mares Before And After Service.

Mares should not be too highly fed; beans and vetches should be especially avoided. A mare that is over-fat is often difficult to get in foal. Mares should under no circumstances be stood in the stable with or turned out to grass in the same or next field to a gelding for some weeks after being served, as the latter will often tease the mare and prevent her holding or taking the stallion properly; and mares that have been fed on hard food and kept in hot stables should be prepared for stud purposes a week or two before being sent to the stud farm. They should have a dose of physic, and then be fed on roots and bran or grass, and gradually cooled down to stand without clothing in an airy or open box. If often happens that owners complain because their mares keep turning to the horse, and the cause invariably proves to be their running mares and geldings together in the same field. Breeders cannot be too careful in this respect with their mares.

Those Suitable For Breeding Hunters.

A mare to suit thoroughbred stallions should be bony and thick and on short legs, for it is from the dam's side that bone and substance should be found to combine with the quality of the thoroughbred sire. In some instances valuable hunters have been bred from cart mares, but a cart mare to be suitable should have good shoulders—not back of the knees—should have good feet, and above all have her toes straight, and stand true on her legs; she should be very short-legged and long, and of course have as many good qualities as possible. If she carries her tail high instead of the usual drooping rump of the cart mare, this would be a great point in her favour, as would also be the setting on of the head and neck. Breeding from cart mares is, however, very speculative as to results; one may breed a great many too short of quality before a good one comes along. Rather than recommend the cart mare pure, preference should be given to one of the fillies sired by a thoroughbred horse out of a cart mare, or a mare of the stamp such as might be expected from that cross. Another cross again of the thoroughbred, however, would give a better prospect of success; in fact, there is no doubt but that the more crosses of the thoroughbred in the mare the more certainty there will be of breeding valuable stock, except when the mare be too small and weedy. It is better to select a mare low in stature with true formation than a tall animal, narrow or leggy, or wanting in limbs. A brood mare should have good action and should be free from hereditary diseases.

Mares That Pay To Breed From.

Breed from the best, not from something indifferent simply because one happens to have it. In selecting a first-class mare, the owner has a chance of winning the Compton Stud and other prizes, which will go against the keep of the mare. If a mare be not good enough to win prizes she should be one which can be made useful for slow work, or a three-year-old filly should be bought, and put to the horse; she would throw a foal at four years old, after which she could be sold at a considerable profit on her three-year-old price, and there would be the foal to sell as well. It does not pay to keep a mare exclusively for breeding, unless she be exceptionally good-looking; otherwise she should be one that can be made use of, or she should be young and growing into money. The latter class of mare will throw the strongest foals, and it will not be the slightest detriment to them. It is disappointing to find that so few farmers have followed this advice and prefer to continue to breed from underbred and very moderate blood mares when there are plenty of young mares in this country sired by the Compton Stud horses that might be bought for the purpose cheap enough and sold after at a profit. It is a great mistake for a farmer to breed a horse with no other object than that of its being adapted for his own common use only; if he breeds horses he should aim at breeding the best for the market, and if he miss that mark the animal is then useful for common general purposes.

Doubts As To Whether In Foal Or Not.

Owners must not conclude that their mares are not in foal because they in some cases seem to come in season. It is of frequent occurrence that mares apparently come in season after they are in foal, but each time they do so they should be sent to the horse to be tried. Every year fresh instances arise of owners complaining that mares are barren which afterwards proved to be in foal. In one case the owner hunted his mare within a month of her foaling, because he thought she was empty. Under such treatment nine mares out of ten would have slipped foal unknown perhaps to the owner, and a barren mare be recorded against the stallion. Recently an experienced breeder sent his mare to the stud in February to be served by the horse, and she foaled the following May, being in foal all the time. Owners should never hunt a mare or treat her as barren until the end of January.

The Foaling Period.

SYMPTOMS.—Mares frequently foal before their time; they should therefore be shut up by themselves at nights a month before the time. On no account should they be kept entirely confined in a box when they are in foal; they should have a run out, if only for an hour or two every day. If this be not attended to, small, weak, deformed, or dead foals will be the consequence. A month before a mare's time is due, if the weather be cold she should be brought in under cover at night, and should be seen every day so as to observe any change in the appearance of her udder. Some mares do not drop their udder until only a few days before foaling, and such mares require great attention. The attendant must then be guided by the dropping of the quarters, which usually takes place about two days before foaling; but as a rule the udder begins to show about a fortnight before, and in some cases three weeks. The udder continues to increase until wax appears; this, a yellow substance, remains on the fronts of the teats about a day, and when it drops off milk begins to show and continues dropping away. As a rule, the mare will foal within ten hours of the change from wax to milk. In some cases a mare will wax and the wax drop off without being followed with milk; she may then go some time before waxing again, perhaps a fortnight or three weeks in some cases. When the milk once appears, the mare then wants looking to every hour or so; and the next sympton is the mare will begin to look uneasy and smell about, and she may then be expected to foal at any time, and should not be left for more than ten minutes or a quarter of an hour.

ATTENDANTS.—It is of great importance that the mare should be accustomed to one attendant before foaling, so that she may not be nervous at his coming in or out, and great caution should be observed at this time by the attendant, who should come in very quietly in case the mare should be down foaling, in which case she might get frightened and jump up. It is advisable to let a mare foal in a place with as much room as possible, and in a case when the door opens inside it is best to have another way of getting into the box, as she might be down against the door, and no one could then get to her. The mare if not watched might, for instance, go down to foal with only one or two feet from her tail to her side of the box. In such a case she would have to be got up, and she would then go down again; or if the mare had got half through her foaling, if help could be obtained she might in some cases be pulled round by the tail so as to allow room from the wall.

TREATMENT.—When the mare commences to foal, the first thing that should appear is the water bladder, which comes out until the fore feet have come out far enough for the attendant to take hold of them. He then breaks the bladder with the finger, and taking hold of the legs may gently assist the mare by pulling quite straight and steadily, just at the time when the mare heaves. As soon as the foal is born the string should be tied close to the colt's belly, and it should be cut close to the tying. The next thing is to draw the foal up to the mare's head and let her smell and lick, and she may be given a little oatmeal gruel before she gets up. She may then be left for half an hour, after which some warm mash may be given, and while she is eating it the foal should be taught to suck by holding its head to the teats and placing one in its mouth. It takes two men to do this, one to hold the foal behind, and as soon as the foal has sucked, the mare and foal may then be left to themselves and the quieter the better. Before leaving, the attendant should see that the foal has dunged and passed water, as this is a matter of great importance. In case of a bad mother, or where a foal has to be reared by hand, cow's milk given to foals should be mixed with a little pepsine.

EXCEPTIONAL CASES.—The above is an outline of the general treatment of mares, without going into any details of the various complications that might occur, such as a foal coming wrong—hind legs first, head doubled back—when it will generally be found that the bag, as a rule, does not appear first, as in the natural course. In any cases of irregularity a veterinary surgeon should be sent for at once. If a mare, after she goes down to foal, should seem to have difficulty, and be unusually long without any satisfactory results, a veterinary surgeon should be sent for. In natural cases of foaling a mare should not be longer than half an hour or so in labor, though in many cases the foal is born in ten minutes.

Treatment Of Foals.

WEANING.—Foals should be taught to eat crushed oats as soon as they will do so, and they will afterwards miss their weaning much less in consequence. They should be fed the first winter, as it is of far more importance to them than any other winter, and in the end less oats go a longer way; they will make much more growth afterwards in consequence of being well kept at first. If not thoroughly well kept the first year what is lost then can never be regained, and it may just have made the difference between a bad and a good colt. Breeding will never pay those who will not liberally feed their colts the first winter. Foals, yearlings, and unbroken colts may be forced on in condition by a few boiled beans. Maize is very cheap feeding, and answers well for youngsters.

WORMS.—Young colts should be carefully looked to, and when they show any fall off in condition more food should be given. Then if one looks bad amongst others that look well, the colt is either robbed of its food by the others or he has worms. The latter are easily got rid of by using worm powders, following up the same with a dose of linseed oil, and for a few weeks giving half a drachm of sulphate of iron once a day.

Castration And Docking.

The best time to castrate colts is when they are suckers, about five months old, and as soon as the development is sufficient to admit the performance of the operation. This never checks the growth as castration does later, and they grow just as high in the crest. It is important to impress on all breeders the great necessity of not docking their horses; there is a considerable feeling against docking. A horse can always be docked if necessary, but the dock cannot be put on again when once taken off.

RICHEST RACE RUN IN SPAIN.

SAN SEBASTIAN, SPAIN, July 2 (via Paris, July 3.)—The Grand Prix of 70,000 pesetas (approximately $14,000) was run here today in the presence of King Alfonso and a vast crowd of enthusiastic sportsmen and was won handily by J. D. Cohn's Teddy, ridden by Bliss. Spirt was second and W. K. Vanderbilt's Meigs (by Peter Pan—Meggs) was third.

The race takes the place of the famous classic of the Continental turf, the Grand Prix, usually run in Paris, but suspended on account of the closing of all French tracks during the war.

Some of the best racers in Europe participated in the event. Three Vanderbilt horses, Gigh, Royal Eagle and Mazzara, were favored in the betting.

The course and the grand stand, which had been prepared under American supervision, displayed a number of American flags, and in the royal box the American and Spanish colors were mingled.

AERSCHOT WINS NEWBURY SUMMER CUP.

LONDON, July 1.—The Newbury Summer Cup Handicap of $2,500 was run off today at Newbury over a course of a mile and a half. The large number of thirty-eight entries was received for this handicap, but only fourteen horses went to the post. Captain R. Kidston's Aerschot, b h, 5, by St. Brendan—Hoopoo, ridden by Colling, won the race, a length ahead of W. Singer's Prawle Point, b h, 5, by Torpoint—Papola, with Smith in the saddle. J. Cooper's Corn Sheaf, b c, 4, by Cornstalk—Lady Cringle, with Balding up, was third. The betting was: Aerschot, 100 to 8; Prawle Point, 5 to 1, and Corn Sheaf, 10 to 1.

KATHLEEN WINS QUICKSTEP HANDICAP.

LATONIA, KY., July 1.—Showing high speed for the entire trip and standing a terrific stretch drive, Kathleen, owned by George J. Long, won the Quickstep Handicap, the feature of today's racing card at the Milldale track. She only beat J. J. Murdock by the margin of a neck, and he in turn beat Dodge, which won the Latonia Derby last Saturday, half a length for the place. There were only five starters in the race, Chalmers and Othello being the other two, and they finished in the order named.

The race was worth $2,465 to the winner, $400 to the second, $200 to the third, and the fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees, which amounted to $130.

Chalmers was off to a flying start, as usual, after he used himself up for five minutes at the post plunging through the barrier and twisting around with the impost of 124 pounds on his back. He led until after turning into the stretch, when Kathleen, which was closest to him in the early running, overtook him, and she began to do some real running. At this juncture J. J. Murdock also began to move up, and Dodge likewise made his move. Chalmers weakened badly while the other three were fighting it out.

It looked as though J. J. Murdock might catch Kathleen as they passed the seventy yards pole, but Jockey Danny Connelly put up a powerful finish on the Long filly, and she was equal to the occasion of standing a hard drive. Othello quit to nothing and finished a bad last.

An accident which resulted in the death of Vachel Worth came with the running of the third race. She went down at the first turn and sustained a broken leg and her trainer, W. M. Cain, found it necessary to destroy her. She was owned by J. N. Mounce and was claimed from C. T. Worthington at the recent Hot Springs meeting. She never won a race since she was claimed.

In addition to the stake race there were several events on the card of $700 added values and all of them drew good fields to the post.

J. N. Mounce claimed Guide Post out of the third race for $1,175. He was represented in the race by Vachel Worth.

Joe Hawkins, owner of Chalmers, complained to the stewards that his horse was "given the worst of it" at the barrier in the stake race. Chalmers came back out of the race with a leg cut, and Starter Harry Morrissey said the assistant starter who took care of Chalmers at the barrier never had a whip in his hand and that the horse evidently cut his leg when he kicked the fence. The stewards said that the matter was one for the starter to look after and not them, as a horse is in the hands of the starter when he gets on the track. Chalmers kicked the fence several times while at the post.

The stewards warned Jockey Roscoe Goose about pulling horses out of the money when he could not win and reprimanded him for his actions while astride of his namesake.

A. L. Kirby bought Little Spider and Innocent Inez from W. J. Young, and will campaign them in Canada.

THE MEASUREMENT OF FOALS.

[The Special Commissioner in London Sportsman].

I think few of us have any definite idea how high an average thoroughbred foal stands. I know I had not until the other day, and I have since asked several practical horsemen, all of whom were very wide of the mark in the answers they gave, most of them guessing "about nine hands." Now I was enlightened on the subject when I went down to the Southcourt Stud last Wednesday to see the foals out of four mares which I bought last December for Mr. August Belmont to mate with Tracery. That gentleman had written over to have the measurements of the foals taken, and Mr. Ashby, who manages the stud for Mr. Leopold de Rothschild, had measured them accordingly. He is a veterinary surgeon, and well accustomed to measuring horses, but, as he told me, he had never before measured foals. Here is the result:

Bay colt, foaled April 24, by Lemberg out of Moneta; height, 11 hands; girth, 3 feet 4 inches; bone below knee, 5 inches.

I certainly never realized before that foals stand so high, but there is no question about it. It was very satisfactory to find these all to be well grown and doing well, for the mares took a lot of buying at the limit that was given me, and the four averaged under 450 guineas each. Lemberg's fee is 300 guineas, and to have two foals by him at such a moderate outlay in the purchase of mares is good luck indeed. Moreover, the dams of the two Lemberg foals are very high-class mares indeed. Cattish, which won over £800 as a two-year-old, is a daughter of Melton and tracing to Busybody. Moneta is a young mare by Spearmint out of Jubilee, by Diamond Jubilee out of Jeunesse Doree, by Isinglass. Either of these mares, with Lemberg foal ot foot and covered by Tracery, is worth what the whole four cost. Royal Coinage is a young mare by Minting, tracing to Carine, and Gallows Hill, whose foal is as good as any of them, is by Galashiels (son of Galopin and Thebais) out of Indulgence, by Trenton, her dam Lenity, by Bend Or out of Clemence (dam of Sandiway and grandam of Carbine).

Tracery himself is looking splendid, and I saw some exceptionally good foals by him, notably a bay filly out of that great brood mare Veneration (dam of Nassovian, Craganour, etc.) which is visiting him again. Another Tracery foal from a Sledmere matron is a fine filly out of Stolen Kiss. Altogether there are four mares from Sledmere now at the Southcourt Stud. One of them is Hackler's Pride, which has a well-grown Sunstar filly, the best foal, I think, that she has hitherto produced. The fourth is a young mare out of Vortex, with a foal by Neil Gow. A particularly good Tracery foal is a big bone filly out of Rolandine, by Ravensbury, and there is an excellent colt by him out of Luscinia. Altogether I make no doubt the son of Rock Sand and Topiary is going to prove a thorough success.

Extract from "Irish Times" June 13th, 1916.

"Last year's Irish Derby winner, "Ballaghtobin," was saddled for the Dublin Plate (value £400) but Lord Decies' colt, which was looking remarkably well, experienced bad luck in the race, and Barrett eased him when he recognized the futilty of catching "Fair Mac," which won with plenty to space from "La Poloma." The winner was only recently sold by Mr. Parkinson through the Irish Bloodstock Agency, to the American sportsman, Mr. G. H. Browne, who had not long to wait for the return of some of his outlay.

AMERICA WINS CINCINNATI TROPHY.

LATONIA, KY., July 8.—As a fitting climax to one of the most successful days that he has ever enjoyed on the Kentucky turf, Thomas C. McDowell won the Cincinnati Trophy, the richest two-year-old stake of the year in this section, with America, his juvenile daughter of Voter—Bracegirdle, a full sister to his celebrated horse, The Manager. The victory of America was the third of the day for the McDowell stable, Paramount and Sister Susie, also from his barn, having accounted for races earlier in the day.

Second to America and only a length back was Harry Kelly, which, although beaten, was not disgraced, as he carried 127 pounds, while the winner carried only 108. Berlin, owned by the racing firm of Weber & Ward, was third and Harry Kelly beat him only a neck for the place.

There were ten starters in the stake race, which made it worth $6,020 to the winner, $700 to the second, $300 to the third and the fourth horse, High Gear, saved nomination and starting fees amounting to $100. High Gear ran coupled with Lady Ivan as the Darden & Spence entry.

The race was at six furlongs and the time for it—1:13—was creditable, considering that the contestants were two-year-olds. The first quarter was run in :23 1-5 and the half-mile in :47 1-5.

One thing was clearly established and that was that Starter Harry Morrissey made no mistake when he took Harry Kelly to the barrier each morning for the past week and used rough methods on him to break him of his bad post habits. Today for the first time Harry Kelly paraded to the post with the other horses without a bobble, and once at the barrier he made no effort to cut up. The horses were at the gate less than a minute and Starter Morrisey got them off to a perfect start. Although Walter H. Pearce dashed off into the lead, he had gone but a few yards when Harry Kelly overtook him and proceeded to make it interesting for those behind him.

Berlin set sail after him in the first part of the race, but his presence, even though he was close to Harry Kelly, did not seem to worry the latter. Turning into the stretch Berlin began to weaken, and then America moved up with a rush. Harry Kelly seemed to be running easily until reaching the eighth pole, and then Jockey Guy Garner went to the whip, and he went to it with much vigor. Jockey Eddie Martin, who was astride America, however, also knew what he had his whip for, and he plied it with good results. Toward the finish America kept gaining on the Schorr colt, and passing the seventy-yard pole, the McDowell filly got in front. She was drawing away at the end.

Harry Kelly seemed to be weakening, and had the field had to go a few strides further he would have lost the place position. Berlin was none too strong, either, and he just saved show money by half a length from High Gear. The latter was well up throughout, but he found the pace too fast. With the exception of the first four horses, none of the other contestants was prominent.

When America passed under the wire a winner she was given a tremendous ovation, and it broke out afresh when the band struck up "America." The vast crowd realized that the best horse under the conditions won, and that Harry Kelly, the popular choice at odds of 19 to 20, had no excuses. When the horses came back to be "weighed out," Mr. McDowell was presented with the Cincinnati Trophy, which consisted of a silver set worth several hundred dollars. The stewards, Charles F. Price and Capt. T. J. Clay, together with John Hachmeister and several other officials of the Latonia race track, were in the placing judges' quarters when the handsome trophy was given to the Lexington turfman.

The big two-year-old stake event was the stellar attraction on the card, but the entire offering was one of class, and as a result an unusally large crowd was out. The weather and track conditions were of the best variety and the time made in the various races was unusually good. In addition to the stake there were two handicaps, the Losantiville, at one mile and a furlong for three-year-olds and upward, and the Milford, at six furlongs for the same age horses. Each of these handicaps carried an added value of $800.

The Losantiville Handicap fell to Lady Rotha, from the Baker barn, and she led her field all the way, never being in danger. She ran the first mile in 1:38 3-5, and at the end was three lengths in advance of Embroidery, with Water Witch third. Embroidery came through with her usual stretch run, but could not make it. Water Witch also showed a high flight of speed when it was too late.

The Milford Handicap brought together a fair bunch of sprinters and resulted in a close finish and a trimming for the big favorite Bringhurst. Sparkler, which has been running very consistently, was the one to trim the big horse. Bringhurst got away well and went to the lead, but Sparkler was close to him all the time. It was a battle royal down the stretch between Sparkler, Bringhurst and John Jr., the finish being in the order named.

The McDowell successes started off in the first when Paramount moved up in the stretch and was an easy winner over Immense and Irregular, two outsiders.

Casey Jones made it four straight victories of the meeting when he ran over the others in the stretch in the second event. Casey was a big favorite as he should have been. It was only a question of his standing up to get the money. Liberator was second and Skiles Knob third in the race. Huntress ran well and will be about due the next time out.

Sister Susie led her field all the way in the third race to win by half a length from Brookfield with Langhorne third, half a length behind the place horse. The winner was given an energetic ride by Jockey Eddie Martin and she was never in serious danger. Brookfield was closest up all the way and he finished full of run. Langhorne was off slowly, but made up a lot of ground in the final quarter. Morristown also came fast through the stretch. King Box showed early speed but weakened badly. Brizz was never a serious contender. The winner was the choice.

Goldcrest Boy took the long end of the purse in the seventh race by a length and a half from Booker Bill, which best Irish Gentleman a neck for the place. The winner was restrained off the early pace which was set by White Crown, and when called on he went to the front and drew away. Booker Bill closed fast after being far back in the early running. Irish Gentleman showed to better advantage than in his two previous starts, and he had no trouble holding the show position safe. White Crown weakened to nothing. Disturber also quit in the stretch. Disturber was the favorite.

The halter men were active to-day, there being two winners of selling races bid up. After Casey Jones won the second race he was bid up from $1,300 to $1,800, at which figure Owner Rome Respess let him go. Joe Goodman, whose Liberator finished second, got him. Sister Susie, winner of the third race, was bid up from $500 to $1,005 by John Henry, but Owner T. C. McDowell retained her.

Jockey Roscoe Goose lodged a claim of foul against Graves on Sparker following that horse's victory over Bringhurst in the sixth race. It was not allowed.

AN INTERVIEW WITH W. S. VOSBURGH.

There is no keener critic of racing and the conditions surrounding the sport than Walter S. Vosburgh, the talented handicapper of the Jockey Club, whose work was never more brilliant than during the present season. Mr. Vosburgh got his first taste of racing in the days when Jerome Park was young, and with the sport about to shift to Empire City not so many miles from the historic old saddle-bags course he became reminiscent a few days ago at Aqueduct.

"When Jerome Park opened its gates in September, 1866," he said, "it had a membership that included the foremost men of that time, among them Leonard W. Jerome, Wm. R. Travers, John Hunter, August Belmont, D. D. Withers, George Osgood, Wm. Constable, Judge Alonzo C. Munson, John F. Purdy and Sir Roderick Cameron, and the racing was what might be expected with such men of affairs guiding the policy of the organization. The feature of that first meeting, which was of only four days duration, was the Inauguration Stakes at four mile heats. Kentucky, owned by Messrs. Hunter, Travers and Osgood and which afterward passed to Mr. Jerome, won in straight heats, beating among others Idlewild and Fleetwing. There were four days of sport in the autumn also and these meetings were functions which attracted the elite of the country.

"Not the least interesting feature of these times," continued Mr. Vosburgh, "was what was known as 'Match Day.' On the day prior to the opening of the regular meetings matched races the result of arguments between rival breeders who were eager to back the get of a favorite stallion would be run off. Two-year-olds that had never started were usually the contestants and I recall one race for $10,000 between Sir Roderick Cameron, who backed the get of Leamington against John Hunter who nominated his stallion Censor. Sir Roderick won, and the event was the medium for some heavy outside wagering. There would be five or six of these events and they stimulated the breeding interest tremendously. Those were days of heavy wagering with the first subscription room at Broadway and Twenty-first St., and afterwards located at Madison Avenue and Twenty-seventh Street. There were only a few meetings each year, the season including Pimlico and Jerome Park spring and fall, with midsummer meetings at Prospect Park, Saratoga and Monmouth Park. Most of the races were run over a distance of ground and some of them were at heats. They were days when the trainer gave the bulk of his attention to the making of muscle and the horses of that time were galloped mile after mile under heavy blankets and scraped till every ounce of fat was removed. Naturally this treatment dulled their speed and the result of most of such contests was a trial of endurance. I can only recall one long race that was run at top speed from the fall of the flag—the Maturity Stakes at three miles in 1872, when Harry Bassett and Monarchist ran the first two miles at a tremendous pace, the former being done at that point. If the horses of the present were trained as they were then they wouldn't last through a single season. If a horse started fifteen times in a season it was considered phenomenal.

"A commendable feature of the sport," continued the speaker, "was the large number of races at equal weights that were run. There were many special prizes for three-year-olds, among them the Belmont and Annual Stakes at Jerome Park, each worth about $6,000, the Travers and Kenner at Saratoga and the Jersey Derby, Lorillard and Omnibus at Monmouth Park were of equal or greater value. Owners had fewer engagements and every colt in training that had the remotest chance went to the post. There were stakes where the other horses met at equal weights, also among them the Maturity, already mentioned, which was exclusively for four-year olds. Preakness, Parole and other champions were seen in it. It was a time when every sportsman was proud to see his colors in public. The owners had more to say about the conduct of his stable perhaps than in these days when many of our trainers are afraid to risk a defeat. It's more a matter of business today than in the period of which I speak."

In response to the question of what he considered a fair distance in which to test the speed and stamina of a racehorse Mr. Vosburgh said, "One mile and a quarter should be ample. I shouldn't like to see a revival of those struggles at heats over a distance. They had a blighting effect upon all that took part in them. Weight-for-age races? Mr. Perry Belmont, you will remember wanted each association to place one of them upon its programme, but owners or rather trainers declined to fill them and after a time they were dropped. Wouldn't they serve a splendid purpose? Unquestionably if they received a sufficient degree of patronage to warrant the associations making them a fixture, but until that day arrives I fear we can't look for any movement along that line."

In response to the question as to what horse had the greatest sentimental attraction for him Mr. Vosburgh replied: "Parole. Parole was an idol before and after his English trip. He had only one burst of speed but that was so phenomenal that once witnessed you never forgot it."

The conversation turning upon the imposts possible for a two-year-old to carry to victory Mr. Vosburgh cited the case of Hamburg which won the Great Eastern Handicap with 135 pounds in the saddle. "There were some trainers," said he in conclusion, who begged Mr. Madden to scratch his colt because they didn't want to establish a precedent by having a two-year-old win with that burden. I put 140 pounds on Endurance by Right, but she didn't accept. By the way, there was a wonderful filly—one of the best the American turf has ever produced. Haven't some owners started horses to prove that I had them wrongly weighted. Oh, yes! and sometimes when they won it was embarrassing—for the owners."

LOCAL NOTES.

The directors of the Kentucky Association, at a meeting Wednesday, authorized a number of improvements at the race course. The grand stand is to be extended thirty feet towards the betting shed, and more boxes are to be added. Another room is to be built to the secretary's office; the pavement in front of the grand stand and betting shed is to be raised; space for four mutuel machines will be arranged, and a number of other improvements are to be made.

Brown colt by Helmet—Roman Gold by Brutus.

Chestnut colt by Olambala—Mexoana by Mexican.

Chestnut colt by Olambala—Nightfall by Vôter. Brother to Campfire.

Arthur B. Hancock, of Paris and Charlottesville, master of the Claiborne Farm and Ellerslie Stud, has just received five of the six beautifully pedigreed thoroughbred mares, and three of them with foals at foot, recently purchased in England. They came over on the Minnehaha last week with Johnson N. Camden's stallion Light Brigade and mare Double Dark and her handsome colt foal by Matchmaker. The sixth mare, Silent Queen and her bay colt, suckling, by Santry, will come over on the next trip of the same boat. Silent Queen this year is mated with Thrush. She is an own sister to Braxted and Mercutio.

The mares which have just been taken from New York to Mr. Hancock's Virginia farm are Merriment, and filly by Spanish Prince; Primula, and colt by Spanish Prince; Cerium; Patricia IV. and filly by Adam Bede and Princess Caprice. The first named three mares were bred by J. B. Joel, from whom their new owner purchased them, and they are all bred to Black Jester. Merriment is a four-year-old daughter of Sundridge (sire of Sunstar and Jest), and Marian Hood (half sister to Polymelus). Primula is four and is by St. Denis, out of Little Primrose (dam of six winners). Cerium is six, by Sundridge, out of Isis, a winning daughter of Isinglass. Patricia IV is seven, by Ard Patrick, dam Princess Patti. She was bred in Germany by Herr C. G. Mueller and was sent to England, in 1913. She is bred to Junior. Princess Caprice is five, by Marco, out of Royal Marriage and was bred by the late Major Fife. She was mated this year to Llangibby.

Among the thoroughbreds which arrived in America on the Minnehaha last Saturday were the brood mares Merriment (1912) by Sundridge out of Marion Hood (half-sister to Polymelus); Primula (1912) by St. Denis out of Little Primrose (dam of Sunflower II.), and Cerium (1910) by Sundridge out of Isis by Isinglass. They have all been covered by the St. Leger winner Black Jester, and the first two have foals by Spanish Prince. Other mares and foals on the same boat were Romagne (1909) by Polymelus out of Malatesta (dam of La Farina) by Isinglass, with a filly-foal by White Magic, and covered by Bayardo; Patrica IV. by Ard Patrick out of Princess Patti, with a filly-foal by Adam Bede, and covered by Junior; and Princess Caprice by Marco, covered by Llangibby.

French Brooks, who for so many years broke and trained the horses bred and owned by Colonel E. F. Clay and later by his recently deceased sons, Ezekiel and Woodford, has been employed by T. C. McDowell, and has just taken up his sixteen thoroughbred yearlings to be broken at the Kentucky Association track. He has in the stable also three youngsters, the property of Clay Brothers.

W. B. Jennings has sent three of A. K. Macomber's English two-year-old fillies to Beaumont Farm to be turned out.

Joseph M. Hubbard sold this week to Waldo H. Harvey, of Kaw, Okla., the brown mare Jane, 4, by Czar—Searchlight, by Kingston.

The Kentucky Thoroughbred Horse Association, as was made known Wednesday at a meeting of its directors, now has 476 members whose residences are in all parts of the United States. This is considered remarkable in view of the fact that the organization is only three months old.

Applications for membership received from Montreal and Hamilton, Cadada, were approved.

The directors will meet with the New York, Maryland and Canada committees of the associatton at Saratoga on Friday, August 18, to discuss a number of questions now interesting horsemen everywhere. Among these is the demand for a uniform rule governing selling races and the disposition of the run-up money. The directors expressed a desire to have at once the benefit of the thoughts of all horsemen on this subject in writing.

The impression that jockeys were not eligible to membership in this association was disclosed to be incorrect when the applications of twenty-five riders were accepted.

The articles of incorporation now provide only for the membership of men. The directors voted to recommend the adoption of an amendment at the semi-annual meeting here September 9, which will take in women. It also will be recommended that the word Kentucky be dropped from the name and that thereafter it be known as "The Thoroughbred Horse Association."

A button is also to be adopted at the September meeting.

Bradley Wilson, an organizer for the association, was directed to go to Chicago to conduct a membership meeting at Hawthorne on the evening of Saturday, July 22.

Joseph M. Hubbard is advertising for sale in this issue Blue Jay, Daisy Miekle and Woodcraft. See ad.

The yearlings purchased in May by A. K. Macomber from Headley & Miller were taken up this week and shipped to Louisville to be broken by W. Reed.

The papers in connection with the shipment of thoroughbreds which came over on the Minnehaha became available Monday. The American owners of these animals are as follows:

Clark, broodmare, Cerium; Willis Sharpe Kilmer, broodmare, Romagne; A. J. Joyner, one yearling colt by Phaleron—Last Hope; R. T. Wilson, one two-year-old colt by Primer—Madge Ford.

George Starr shipped this week to W. J. Young at Latonia, Al Hudson, b c, 3, by Santry out of Mirfield, and Galloping Queen, b f, 2, by Ben Brush out of Sister Juliet.

Mr. Starr has been handling these horses for the Kentucky Stable, and they will be shipped to Saratoga along with the Young horses.

SEVERAL HIGH-CLASS YEARLINGS FOR SALE.—During the week, we have had placed in our hands for immediate sale, several corking looking yearlings. All of them are well-bred and are well worth the money at which they are priced. We will take pleasure in giving full particulars to any intending purchasers. No yearling in the lot, however, is priced at less than $750.

FRIGERIO BEATS AURIGA.

LATONIA, KY., July 10.—Carrying 125 pounds and standing a gruelling drive most of the way, Frigerio, two-year-old son of Marathon—Grace Commoner, which E. R. Bradley recently purchased of the Baker Bros., won the Pleasant Ridge Handicap, at five and one-half furlongs, the feature of today's racing card at the Milldale course. At the end the winner had only a neck to spare over Auriga, which beat Phocion six lengths for the place. The race had an added value of $700, and with seven starters it was worth $580 to the winner. The victory of Frigerio in today's race made his first victory since he has been sporting the E. R. Bradley colors, and it made the second victory of the day for this stable, as Blind Baggage won the previous race.

Frigerio carried his weight well today, but he had to be hard hustled at every stage of the race, and especially in the last quarter of a mile. He broke fast and took the lead soon after the start, but Auriga got close to him and she made him run. There was a delay of eight minutes at the post while Guy Fortune was cutting up, and when the break came he did not leave on time, getting off last and remaining there all of the way. At the eighth pole it looked as though Frigerio was doomed to defeat, but Jockey Lloyd Gentry rode him hard and he responded like the good horse that he is. Auriga was making strenuous effort to get up, but she could not gain an inch on Frigerio. Phocion came with a rush to be third by a length over Sol Gilsey.

The time for the five and one-half furlongs is 1:06 4-5, was the best made by the two-year-olds here this spring.

The next to the last day of the spring racing season on the Kentucky circuit drew a banner Monday crowd to the Latonia course today and the weather and track conditions were excellent. The card was a good one also for a Monday, and four of the seven races had added values of $700. In addition to the handicap for two-year-olds, there was a purse race at six furlongs for three year-olds, and a selling handicap at a mile and seventy yards for horses of the same age. The selling price in the latter was fixed at $1,200.

Former Jockey Bryan Steele, who is an assistant to the starter, had a lot of trouble with Almeda Lawrence in the second race and got into an argument with a spectator. He got very abusive and the spectator reported his remarks to the stewards who fined Steele $100 and warned him that a repetition of them would cost him his job.

The horses in the stable of T. C. McDowell, eighteen strong, will be shipped to Saratoga and rested up until the meeting at that point.

A REMARKABLE DAY'S RACING.

Racing of a very remarkable kind took place at Calcutta recently, when there were six races on the programme, the first being a jumping contest. The remaining five were all won by horses ownerd by Mr. J. C. Galstaun, and M. Wing rode all five winners. The two facts in conjunction must surely constitute a record. I do not recall any other instance in which an owner secured five races in one day, and all were ridden by the same jockey.—[Audax in Horse and Hound.

While being unable to trace any similar record in South Africa, Durban racegoers will do doubt remember one nearly if not equally as good, when on Sept. 29, 1906, Mr. F. K. Wade trained six winners out of eight cases on the card—viz., Stourport twice, Cerise, Arcane, Fullering, and Glen Brighty, all of which were ridden by Picaroon.—[The Latest, Durban, Africa.

Mr. John Sanford has received the news that his good English-bred colt Nassovian, won the Princess of Wales Stakes at Newmarket England, last week. This race is worth $15,000; the distance is a mile and a half, and the Sanford colt carried 8 stone 10 pounds. It will be remembered that Nassovian finished a close third in the New Derby. Preston Burch describes him as a big bay colt by William the Third out of Veneration II., the dam of the great Craganour, which, after his Derby victory, was sold for $150,000 to go to Argentina, South America, as a stock horse.

I doubt very much if ever such a remarkable occurrence can be recalled in the history of racing as that which happened at Newmarket on Thursday, when six out of the seven races in the afternoon's programme were won by horses which were previously maidens, and also in each instance bred by their respective owners.—[Horse and Hound, June 24.

TICKET WINS TREMONT STAKES.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The name of Andrew Miller's good colt Ticket, son of Ballot and Princess Orna, was enrolled in distinguished company today as the twenty-seventh winner of the Tremont Stakes for two-year-olds.

There was a good field of seven two-year-olds starting in the Tremont, those called the real stars of the season were not entered, as had been hoped for. Mrs. C. N. Darke added Dunga Din to the original field of six carded on the program and this added starter, it may be mentioned in passing, flattered his owner's faith in him for the first five-eighths of the journey.

Ticket and Hourless were the ones most fancied by the crowd, but there were admirers also for Stargazer, Amalgamator and Ballad, while scant attention was paid Philippic and Dunga Din. The juveniles acted fairly well at the post and were sent away to a good start after Ticket had delayed the flag by a bit of fidgeting. He was ready when the barrier was sprung, however, and had his head in front of Hourless and Dunga Din.

As they went out of the backstretch into the turn Dunga Din had raced into command and was leading, with Ticket in second place and Stargazer third. Philippic was racing well up at this point, but on the turn he staggered, swerved and went all over the track, eventually taking the outside route for it.

Ticket had taken the lead when they reached the straightaway, with Dunga Din still holding on and Stargazer also almost on even terms with the first two. In the final drive for home, however, Dunga Din gave way to Stargazer and then Hourless. The other three were doing nothing worth mentioning.

In the last eighth Ticket had taken a good lead, which he gradually increased until he passed the winning post in easy strides with four good lengths to spare. Stargazer was coming with the greatest rush of all at the end and just nosed out Hourless, which beat Dunga Din two lengths for third place. Ticket ran in blinkers.

As a yearling, Ticket brought $2,100. His dam, Prince Orna, was sired by Ornament. He was one of the season's stars as a yearling, but another Ballot colt out of May Hempstead brought $2,800 at the same time Ticket was sold, and was considered the better of the two. He died, however, before he could prove his racing quality.

There were but four horses down on the card to go in the Brookdale Handicap and when time came for the race two of these had been withdrawn, leaving but Short Grass and Borrow to go after the money. Before Pennant was scratched it was the consensus of opinion that Harry Payne Whitney had the best chance of any one to win the race. Achievement, winner of the Hamilton Derby, was the other one scratched, but his going out was scarcely considered, as compared with the disappointment felt over the withdrawal of Pennant.

Trainer Jimmie Rowe evidently either has another race in sight for Pennant, or else he thought Borrow would improve enough in blinkers to win for him. His horse had worked well in the blinkers, and when notice was posted that he would wear them in his race, it was taken to mean that his stable expected an improved race with the new addition to his equipage.

As one horseman remarked, even a battery added to the blinkers would not have made Borrow the horse to beat Short Grass. For once Short Grass got a chance to make the pace. Borrow's stable evidently figured that the only chance he had was to lay in behind and then try to outrun the imported horse in the final furlong. All of which was bad figuring, as the chances are that there is no horse at the Aqueduct races that could have a chance with Short Grass in the final stretch run.

Short Grass just lumbered his way along with those long, swinging strides of his, Notter laying behind with Borrow until they came to the stretch, when he attempted to move up. When he drew up alongside the leader Keogh just let out a lap and Short Grass went on away again. He came in an easy winner, having traveled the mile and an eighth in one minute and fifty-two seconds.

An ocean breeze swept over from Rockaway and kept comfortable the good-sized crowd that journeyed to the course for the afternoon's sport. The card had an extra race thrown in for good measure, so that besides the Tremont, Brookdale and Glendale Steeplechase Handicap there were four other events to be decided.

Rhine Maiden threw a shock into the admirers of Celandria, Malachite and Lady Hillington when she captured the opening number from those named, which were more fancied for first position in this event. Celandria took second place from Lorac.

Blankenburg beat Duke of Duluth, Martian and Cherry Malotte in the steeplechase. Kilkenny Boy, Sandman II. and Saratoga were one-two-three in the fifth. King Baggot, Brother Jonathan and Buchanan Brady the first three in the sixth, and Spinster, Rebel and Dyson got the money in the closing race.

WALTER H. PEARCE WINS VALUATION STAKES.

LATONIA, KY., July 11.—An attendance that rivaled that of Derby Day was at the Latonia race track today to witness the running of the Valuation Selling Stakes for two-year-olds, and to bid adieu to the thoroughbreds in Kentucky until next September. The stake race, which was at five and one-half furlongs, fell to Walter H. Pearce, owned by the Baker Bros., but when he ran down in front he ran into a new home, as Frank Weir, whose May W., finished second, bid him up from $800 to $3,000 and got him. John Whitlow also bid on the horse, carrying him up to $1,500.

Only four horses started in the stake, which had an added value of $1,500, making it worth $2,405 to the winner, $350 to the second, $150 to the third, and the fourth horse saved nomination and starting fees which amounted to $65. May W., finished in the place position two lengths behind Walter H. Pearce, and she beat Cheer Leader the same margin. Cynthia Dwyer was the only other starter.

The closing day of the Kentucky racing season was a good one for the Baker Bros., as they won four races, including the stake event, and all four of their winners were ridden by Jockey Roscoe Goose. This is the first time in many years that this feat had been performed by any one stable in Kentucky, and all four of the Baker horses were favorites. They began the day's festivities with Mary Belle in the first race and wound up with Lady Rotha in the sixth. With the exception of Mary Belle, the horses from their stable were odds-on choices. As with Walter H. Pearce in the stake race, Lady Rotha also fell afoul of the "haltermen." John Whitlow, who failed to get the other one, boosted her from $2,000 to $2,905, but she was retained.

In the stake race May W., set the pace the greater part of the way, but when Jockey Roscoe Goose got ready to let Walter H. Pearce out he came with a rush and drew away. May W., was the best of the others.

General Manager John Hachmeister made the occasion of the closing day of the spring meeting at the Milldale course one long to be remembered, especially by the feminine turf enthusiasts in this section. Ladies with escorts were admitted free, and there were plenty of them on hand. The racing card was a good one, but in a majority of the events some horse stood out.

The meeting which closed today was the best in the history of the Latonia track from every point of view. The attendance was far in excess of that of last spring and the volume of speculation was also better.

Grover Baker was fined $250 by the stewards for questionable practices as laid down in Rule 214. It was charged that Baker said "sold" when $1,500 was bid in the runup of Walter H. Pearce, and that his agent continued to protect the horse, Baker's action, it is claimed, being done to throw off further bidding.

CANADIAN DERBY WON BY FAUX-COL.

FORT ERIE, CAN., July 11.—The Canadian Derby, which had $3,500 added, and worth $3,200 to the first horse, came down to only three starters. It was only a gallop for R. J. Mackenzie's English colt Faux-Col, which was under restraint throughout. Phil Ungar made an ineffectual run after him at a mile, but Sands of Pleasure was never within hailing distance. Faux-Col was pulled up at the end of the mile and a quarter in 2:05 4-5. His next appearance will be at Chicago in the American Derby on Saturday, when he will carry 126 pounds.

EMPIRE CITY'S BEGINNING.

NEW YORK, July 12.—That racing over an eliptical track is popular hereabouts was proved by the big crowd which witnessed the decision of the opening day's card at James Butler's Empire City track. The special attraction of the day was the Empire City Handicap, which brought out a representative field of horses, including Roamer, Short Grass and others that have been racing hereabouts, together with John W. Schorr's Dick Williams, a recent arrival from Kentucky. Emil Herz's Short Grass was returned the winner in sensational fashion. Short Grass ran around his opponents after being a distant follower and won by a length from Roamer, with Spur a close third. It was a race that brought the crowd to its feet and when Short Grass was seen to be gradually working his way up the crowd went wild. It could be seen a quarter of a mile from the finish that Short Grass would be a formidable contender. Spur was following Short Grass and this tended to make the struggle much more interesting. The field ran bunched in the early racing, with the exception of Short Grass and Friar Rock. The latter was never a contender. Slumber II., Trial by Jury and Roamer were always in the front division, but Roamer was the only one of the trio to hold on. Short Grass caught Roamer when a sixteenth from the finish and after that the only one to be at all dangerous was Spur, which ran far better than it was generally anticipated he would.

Dick Williams loomed up temporarily at the head of the stretch, but failed to go on. It is the universal opinion of horsemen that Short Grass is an exceptional horse at this time.

LIGHT BRIGADE IN KENTUCKY.

Hon. J. N. Camden's recent English purchases (Light Brigade and Double Dark) arrived in Kentucky this week. There cannot be the slightest doubt that in securing such a high-class horse as Light Brigade Mr. Camden has rendered a great service to breeders in Kentucky.

The London Sporting Chronicle has the following to say regarding the Light Brigade sale:—

"For some time past negotiations have been in progress for the transfer of Lord Derby's good horse, Light Brigade, to Senator J. N. Camden, of the Hartland Stud, Kentucky. The British Bloodstock Agency have acted as the intermediaries, and it is with regret that I hear this splendid specimen of the high-class thoroughbred will shortly leave this country for his new owner's stud farm. Standing fully 16 hands high, Light Brigade in make and shape is the beau ideal of a racehorse, and shows not only in coat color (he is a dark brown) but in other features many St. Simon characteristics, though in the male line he is a son of Picton and a great-grandson of Bend Or, his pedigree reading by Picton—Bridge of Sighs, by Isinglass—Santa Brigida, by St. Simon—Bridget (sister to Melton).

"As Picton is out of Hecuba, by Isonomy, that sterling performer's name occurs twice in Light Brigade's third parental generation, a feature in itself which should render the horse particularly suitable for mating with American bloodstock, which, generally speaking, lack the staying qualities and indomitable courage of such champions as Isonomy, Isinglass, and St. Simon. Then Santa Brigida, grandam of Light Brigade, is the dam of Bridge of Canny, a winner of fifteen good-class races, value £14,500, and the sire of such noted performers as Cantilever and Dairy Bridge, and in the Argentine of Piccacero, winner of six races, value £6,700.

"Light Brigade's own racing career is well within recollection, his performances at three and four years of age being particularly brilliant, for he carried off eleven consecutive races at the former age, and earned winning brackets in the Atlantic Stakes, the March Stakes, and the Bridgeman Handicap (at Liverpool) as a four-year-old, his full record for his whole turf career being sixteen winning races, value £11,444. Not a few English breeders have expressed regret at his coming departure, for in his first season at the stud (1915) he sired seventeen foals, mostly of high promise.

"A very good one is from Cylgad's dam, Gadfly, and the report of Light Brigade's foals at Captain Tanner's stud is most satisfactory. American breeders are to be congratulated on the opportunity which Mr. Camden has furnished for using Light Brigade and by this means dipping into some of the best lines in the English Stud Book. I shall watch his stud career in Kentucky with great interest."

We append a tabulated pedigree of Light Brigade for the inspection of American breeders:

Of Picton, the sire of Light Brigade, it is only necessary to remind readers that he won the Dewhurst Plate as a two-year-old; and, the following season, ran second in the Chippenham Stakes at Newmarket, beating Radium a length and a half; and also second in the Derby to Spearmint, with Troutbeck (winner of the St. Leger), Radium, Malua, Beppo, Gorgos (winner of the Two Thousand Guineas), Lally and The White Knight behind him. Picton met with an accident in the Derby, which brought his racing career to a premature close. With Bend Or and Isonomy for grandsires, and Doncaster, Macaroni, Sterling and Hermit for great grandsires, he passed on to Light Brigade, a wealth of the best sire blood to be found in the Stud Book.
